 Excitement in City

Stray Buck Puts up Battle to Escape Sunnyside Officials.
 (From Tuesday's Telegram)
 Successfully eluding capture by lifesavers for an hour and 15 minutes, a red buck deer from the wilds was finally taken by a lassoing lifesaver in the lake at Sunnyside this afternoon and brought to shore in an exhausted condition as thousands of spectators along the waterfront cheered the deer for his gameness.

 What to do with Mr. Deer was the next problem. But for the present it was expected he will find a temporary home in the High Park Zoo.
 The deer came to Toronto to-day via the railway tracks at Sunnyside, from parts unknown, and threw the lifesavers, lakeshore motorists and the police into a form of mild hysteria.
 Ambling across the roadway on the Lakeshore at the Sunnyside bathing pavilion, the young buck was struck a glancing blow by a bewildered motorist and in complete terror vaulted a seven-foot steel fence and raced down the sandy incline of the beach into the cold waters of Lake Ontario.
 At this stage passers-by and motorists, seeing the unusual spectacle, notified the police and lifesavers.
 When Supt. Hilliard Lang, of the Lifesaving Dept., and crew arrived, the buck was swimming strenuously out into the lake, disregarding the buffet-ing waves.
 The buck swam about a mile and a half off shore and evaded all attempt of the lifesavers to lasso him. It was feared the animal, while showing remarkable stamina, would expire from exposure.
 After many fruitless attempts at lassoing the deer, lifesavers changed their tactics and tried to force the animal to swim towards shore.
 The deer proved to be a real battler with a heart as stout as they make them. Finally driven to shore he raced down the sandy beach to a ten-foot fence and with a terrific lunge tried to clear it. Falling backwards he lay struggling on the ground, dazed and hurt. As horns honked and people screamed and lifesavers ran to throw ropes around him he finally charged into the lake again and started once more to swim away with the lifesavers in pursuit. This time, however, he was captured.
 High Park zoo caretakers declared the deer had not escaped from there.

Enjoyable Tea at Buffalo-Ankerite

Mrs. R. P. Kinkel and Mrs. H. G. Laidlaw Joint Hostesses at Pleasant Social Event.
 Mrs. R. P. Kinkel, of the Buffalo-Ankerite, and Mrs. H. G. Laidlaw, of Timmins, were joint hostesses at a tea held in the new community hall at the Buffalo-Ankerite property on Saturday afternoon. About one hundred and fifty guests from Timmins, Schumacher, South Porcupine and the out-lying district were present at the tea. During the afternoon the Buffalo-Ankerite orchestra played many pleasing selections in the hall which was very beautifully decorated for the occasion. The colour scheme was of green and yellow, with pines and chrysanthemums giving the final touch to the setting. The guests were seated at small tables, while in the middle of the hall, one long tea table bearing the lunch and with a centre piece of a huge bouquet of gold and yellow mums, was set. Tall candles threw their flickering lights on the gathering, giving a cosy touch to the general appearance. Mrs. C. G. Kemsley, of the Dome, and Mrs. F. C. H. Simms, of Timmins, presided at the tea table. They were assisted by Mrs. Leslie Walker, Mrs. Purdon, Mrs. A. R. Kinkel, Mrs. S. N. Avey, and the Misses Peggy MacPherson, Jean Laidlaw and Laura Dunn. A very enjoyable afternoon was had by all who attended the tea.

May Bar U.S. From 1940 Olympic Test

Anti-Nazism May Bring Dismissal From International Federation, Says Rome Report
 Rome, Oct. 25—Expulsion of the American Amateur Athletic Union for its anti-Nazi attitude—act on which might prevent United States participation in the 1940 Olympics—was under consideration by the International Amateur Athletic Federation to-day, it was said in Italian sporting circles.
 Bo Ekelund, secretary of the International Federation, world governing body for track and field competition, addressed letters to A.A.U. President Jeremiah Mahoney, and to the Union condemning the omission of Germany from the itineraries of two U.S. track and field teams which barnstormed Europe last year. It was understood that the letters were instigated by the Italian member of the I.A.A.F. Fascist Italy is a close ally of Nazi Germany.
 Mahoney, who bitterly opposed sending a U.S. team to Berlin for the 1936 Olympics, and later succeeded Avery T. Brundage of Chicago as president of the A.A.U., is the Democratic candidate for mayor of New York City. Ekelund's letter was said to have protested "mixing politics with sports."
 Germany invited the A.A.U. to send one of its visiting teams to the Rhineland last summer, but the invitation was rejected. The Swedish secretary of the I.A.A.F. was reported to have informed Mahoney that unless the anti-Nazi boycott was retracted publicly before Dec. 31, that consideration of the A.A.U.'s dismissal from the international body would be included on the agenda of its meeting to be held in London next March.
 Sporting circles here interpreted the action as a punitive one against the A.A.U., rather than a threat against another monopoly of track and field honours such as the United States enjoyed in the 1936 Olympics.
 Letters threatening the expulsion of the A.A.U. from the International Amateur Athletic Federation, had not been received a New York Secretary Daniel J. Ferris told newspaper reporters.
 The letters, reportedly sent by Bo Ekelund, demanding retraction of the A.A.U.'s anti-Nazi boycott, were mailed a week ago.
 Ferris minimized the chances of dismissal of the American body from the Federation, pointing out that it would take a majority vote of the 42 nations. He also said the U.S. track and field participation in the Olympics was not necessarily threatened.
 "The International Olympic Committee includes virtually all nations when invitations to the quadrennial games are sent," he said. "And while the A.A.U. usually certifies the American team membership, I am sure that the International Committee would accept certification by the American Olympic Committee. Dismissal of the A. A. U. might cause enough resentment for the U.S. to withdraw its delegation, but I don't think the I.A.A.F. could prevent us sending a team."
