Steals Car and Claims Reward When Returns it

Aurelle Lajeunesse Displays Height of Impudence. Took Three Other Cars Without Consent of Owners. Received Six Months Definite and Nine Indefinite.

The absolute height of unadulterated nerve was displayed in the person of Aurelle Lajeunesse, aged 16, who appeared in police court on Tuesday and pleaded guilty to four charges of taking and driving automobiles without consent of the owners.

Evidence disclosed that Lajeunesse took Dr. McInnis's car on Saturday, October 31. The next day he went to the police station and asked if a car had been stolen. Receiving a negative reply he went to Dr. McInnis and asked him if his automobile had been taken. The doctor admitted that it had.

Lajeunesse said that he knew where it was and offered to bring it back. When he did so the doctor, well pleased, offered the boy a dollar as a reward. With his tongue in his cheek Lajeunesse took the money and went his way. On Tuesday he pleaded guilty to a charge of taking the doctor's car.

The boy was a problem to his parents, said Inspector Olson. They were not able to do anything with him. He steals cars to go for a ride. He intended to go to Kapuskasing in one of the automobiles he took over the week-end. Last summer he travelled as far south in other people's cars, without their consent. He used between thirty and forty cars between Timmins and Toronto.

The boy's father corroborated the police evidence that his son was incorrigible. He admitted that he would be glad to see him sent to an institution. The Magistrate imposed a sentence of six months definite and nine months indefinite in the reformatory.

Enzebe St. Cyr—Still Is
A charge of non-support against Enzebe St. Cyr, pronounced "yoo-zah-bee-sa-sere", was withdrawn when the Crown came to the man's defence and told the court he still was. He was willing to provide for his children if his wife would give him possession of them. His wife was living with other men and he would not contribute to her support. The Magistrate decided that it was no case for him to decide. The charge was withdrawn.

Company Pays Fine
Burns and Company Limited, through a representative, pleaded guilty to a charge of selling ungraded eggs. Dean Kester, who was acting for the Dominion government, said that the company sold fifteen dozen eggs to the Dominion Stores as Grade A eggs.

Six of the 180 eggs were Grade A and the rest were Grade B. On another occasion of another fifteen dozen, also sold to the Dominion Store, two were sour and the rest under grade. The consumer was the one who paid. He paid for Grade A eggs and received Grade B. This company, said Mr. Kester, had previously been convicted on a similar charge.

Magistrate Atkinson imposed the maximum fine $50 and costs, amounting in all to $63.75.

Reckless Driver Fined
Convicted of reckless driving, Phillip St. Aubin was fined $25 and costs and had his driver's permit cancelled for a month.

C. Courcal said that St. Aubin's car hit his while it was parked near a culvert. Damage amounted to over $100. Constable Munro testified that Courcal's car was parked at the side of the culvert close to the railing. The road was 34 feet wide at that point and there was room enough for three cars to pass, he said. The accused smelled of liquor and three bottles of beer were found nearby.

There were no lights on the parked car, St. Aubin said. He denied that he threw the bottles of beer out of his car. He had not had a drink for two hours prior to the accident.

$100 or Three Months
A bottle of gin in his pocket rather than in his legal residence was responsible for the imposition of a fine of $100 and costs or three months on Frank Boudreau. Sergeant DesRoches said that Boudreau was picked up at the T & N.O. station with the bottle of gin in his pocket. The seal was broken and some taken out of the bottle.

Missions Being Held at St. Anthony's Church Here

FRONTENAC-ADDINGTON RETURNS LIBERAL M. P.

Angus McCallum, Liberal candidate in the Federal bye-election in the riding of Frontenac-Addington, was elected this week by acclamation. No other candidate was nominated on Monday the nomination day, and so Mr. McCallum was declared duly elected. The bye-election was made necessary by the resignation of Colin Campbell who resigned the seat to enter the Provincial field. Mr. Campbell is now Minister of Public Works in the Hepburn cabinet.

Latest Scottish Version of the Newest Neon Signs

The Tail Story Club contributes another tale, this time dealing with a Scotchman named McShan, who kept a small hotel in a town in Arkansas, where, as is well known, fireflies attain great size and luminosity. McShan wanted an illuminated sign for his hostelry, but the cost always deterred him until he had a great idea. He painted the letters "Hotel De McShan" above his door with molasses, and at night the fireflies settled upon the sweet in great numbers, and—there you are!—From "Scotch", published by MacAndrew Melrose, Ltd., Aberdeen.

Magistrate Commits Two to Higher Court Tuesday

George Morissette Committed on Charge of Rape. John Beaudoin Committed on Charges of Carnal Knowledge of Girls Under Fourteen Years of Age. Other Cases at Police Court Tuesday

Two men were committed for trial before a judge and jury by Magistrate Atkinson in police court on Tuesday. They were George Morissette, charged with rape, and John Beaudoin, who faces two charges of carnal knowledge of girls under fourteen years of age and one charge of attempted carnal knowledge, also involving a girl under fourteen.

The woman involved in the Morissette charge gave her evidence at a previous court session. She was cross-examined on Tuesday by Dean Kester, Morissette's counsel. She did not send one of her children for help when Morissette was assaulting her "because I didn't want to bother the neighbours," she said that she did not immediately go to the police because she spoke no English. She did not know that there were French officers on the force or that the Chief Constable spoke French, she said.

Provincial Constable Strickland conducted the investigation which arose out of Morissette's evidence the first time the case was heard. At that time Morissette said that he gave the woman a cheque for some beer he bought there. It did not cover the cost and there was a neighbour present the next morning when he told her he would give her the rest of the money.

Magistrate Atkinson at the last court session ordered the neighbour found. Constable Strickland said on Tuesday that he had located the man, who proved to be J. B. Fournier. Fournier said that he never saw Morissette before. A search of the woman's house revealed no cheque.

"The act is admitted and the woman says it was forcefully done. I will commit this man for trial," said the Magistrate.

Evidence was taken in the preliminary hearing of the Beaudoin case.

New Directors Elect Curling President

Five New Directors Will Elect President, Vice-President and Secretary-treasurer To-night.

Five new directors were elected on Monday evening to the executive of the Timmins Curling Club at the annual meeting held in the O'Hearn Block. The directors will meet tonight to elect a president, a vice-president and a secretary-treasurer.

New directors of the club for the 1937-38 season are: S. A. Caldbick, P. M. Belanger, G. F. Black, T. Blackman, and J. R. Walker. Messrs Caldbick and Belanger were appointed delegates to the T. and N. O. Curling Association.

Present indications are that there will be an overflow of players this year and those who wish to join the club are advised to get their applications in early.

The troupe of thirty-five Scottish curlers which is touring Canada is expected to arrive in Timmins on the morning of Saturday, February 19. Arrangements to entertain the Scots and to arrange for a tournament or whatever kind of test games are decided upon are still tentative.

A vote of thanks was passed to the last year's President, S. G. Lowe, and the directors for their good work.

LATEST ON THE SCOT

(From Magazine Digest)
Advised by a psychiatrist to travel, MacIntosh decided to stay home and let his mind wander.

charge against Siegal arose was Percy Labrash, who faced a charge of theft. It is alleged by police that Labrash, a driver for the Kirkland Fruit Company, stole produce to the value of about $20 and delivered it to a place where Siegal could pick it up.

A week's remand was granted in the Labrash case. Siegal pleaded guilty and his counsel asked for clemency on the grounds that his client had never been in trouble before; had made a clean breast of the incident to police and had made restitution. The Crown denied that restitution had been made.

Magistrate Atkinson granted the remand in the Labrash case and said that he would remand sentence in the Siegal charge as he wanted to hear the evidence before passing judgment.

He covered 2,000 miles by car, said Mr. Connolly, and it cost him nothing. He visited Bujaclance and there saw the huge portable altar in the cathedral, which, the Nationalists say, they will take with them into Madrid to celebrate the first mass there.

In Madrid, said the speaker, they have changed the name of the Hotel English to the Hotel National. There was a great antipathy toward the English both on the Nationalist and on the Communist sides of the lines. That came of sitting on the fence too long.

From the foot of the hill leading into the city of Madrid, the metropolis looked peaceful enough with the sun shining on the red roofs of the houses. However, outside the city one had to step over shell craters to go up into a radio tower which was barricaded with sand bags.

Madrid, in the speaker's opinion, would be easy for the Nationalists to destroy. They were, at the time he was there, right on the outskirts. Franco did not want to destroy the Spanish capital because he loved the city and wanted to make it his own headquarters.

The Nationalists were on one side of Toledo and the Royalists on the other. Shells were going over the city continually. Obtaining permission to go to the ruins of the Alcazar, Mr. Connolly was in the ruined fortress when it was shelled. Fifteen bombs were dropped on the ruins of the building while he and his companions were in the little chapel that served the heroic defenders.

"I can't describe what it was like. It was terrific. The building shook. I couldn't possibly put the sensation I felt into words."

The same night, said Mr. Connolly, while he and his two Associated Press newspapermen were making their way out of the city over the tortuous hills around it, the car in which they were riding slipped over the edge of one of the hills and rolled down to the bottom. No one was hurt.

A member of the Nationalist cabinet told him that Franco would be Regent of Spain within a year and that the monarchy would then be re-established. Don Juan, son of Alfonso, would be recalled and the country governed by a council of fifty representing different groups of industry.

ened with smoke could describe Malaga. It had been estimated that 12,000 people had been put to death in this city of 350,000, while it was under the Red regime.

The city of Cordova was in a similar state. It had been bombed more than 200 times, as often as four times a day, and the ruin was indescribable.

There were 40,000 Italians in Franco's Spain, said Mr. Connolly. They would probably obtain mining rights now held by England as their reward. Germany and Italy were vitally interested because they could not afford to see an extension of Soviet Russia in Spain.
