Timmins Mail Delivery to Cost $20,000 per Year

New System Inaugurated in Timmins To-day is Called "Free," but it Costs the Country Something. W. H. Brownell, of North Bay, Postal Inspector, Tells Kiwanis Club About the Service.

Carrier mail delivery in Timmins will cost $20,000 per year, it was announced at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis Club in an address given by W. H. Brownell, of North Bay, Inspector of Postal Services for this district. Mr. Brownell has been in Timmins for the past week making final arrangements for the new delivery system which went into effect for the first time this afternoon.

During his remarks Mr. Brownell explained the new system fully and officially announced that the delivery would start this afternoon.

Visitors present for the luncheon included Harold Coplan, of Ottawa; Orville Atkins, of Timmins; L. J. Kenny, Collingwood, and the speaker, Mr. Brownell, of North Bay.

Urges Authority Be Given Full Support

Head of Canadian Legion in Canada Says Vigilance Is Needed to Protect Canada

At the seventh biennial convention of the Dominion Command of the Canadian Legion, held this week at Fort William, one of the outstanding addresses was that by General Alex Ross, the Dominion president of the Legion. Gen. Ross will be remembered here for the inspiring addresses he gave at the convention last year in Timmins of the Provincial Command of the Legion.

At the Fort William convention this year all the nine provinces of the Dominion were represented. Timmins was represented by Mr. Austin Neame, past president of the Timmins branch, and Zone Commander for this zone of the Legion organization.

In his address President Ross emphasized the fact that the duty of the Canadian Legion is to "preserve our freedom and our existing rights, and to support constituted authority, and the principles for which we stand."

"We have a direct concern in maintaining our own liberty and our own institutions, and as citizens we have a responsibility in this regard," he said. "We know that efforts are being made to promote communism in this country, and I hear from time to time of efforts being made to advance the principles of fascism."

Those "subversive movements" thrived on opposition, said the general. They could best be counteracted by constant vigilance to protect all constituted rights.

"In this connection it would be well if we gave attention to trends which, although not originally designed to achieve an authoritarian form of government, may, if continued, bring about that result in effect. We have all noted the tendency in recent years to place more and more responsibility upon governmental institutions of every kind, and to substitute state responsibility for individual responsibility. Under changing conditions this may be necessary, but it is for consideration just how far it should be permitted to go."

Freedom of the press and freedom of speech were rights which had been hardy won and were deeply cherished. Efforts to restrict these could be observed. But most disturbing of all was the too frequent tendency to lose confidence in the present system of government.

"Living, as we have been, under trying conditions, blame for these conditions is inevitably placed upon these bodies which have the responsibility of governing, and the motives of those elected to office are too frequently the subject of unjust statement and inference. If this tendency is permitted to continue," said General Ross, "the people as a whole must lose all confidence in our elective system and the field will thus be prepared for those other forms of government."

"I suggest therefore that it is vitally necessary that as citizens we should consider these facts and use our influence to restore confidence and assist those who are charged with the responsibility of government in discharging the responsibility which is placed upon them."

Sister Amputated Leg of Indian Hurt in North

The Sudbury Star.—The aptitude with which northerners handle difficult and pressing situations was again manifested in the action of Sister Marie of the Grey Nuns at Albany, in the James' Bay area north of Moosonee, recently. According to news despatches Sister Marie saved the life of a Cree trapper by amputating his leg in which gangrene had set in from an axe wound.

Dragged 115 miles on a sleigh by Father Lavoie, Oblate missionary, who himself displayed the role of a hero, the Indian was far gone; but the brave Sister went to work on him and today the patient is sitting up, eating regularly and singing the praises of "this White Angel of the Northland."

He Saw His Shadow

Fraser House at Cobalt Involved in Litigation

This is the gentleman who came out from his long winter sleep yesterday to look around and see if there were any shadows around. He saw his shadow, and went back (according to popular belief) to wait for another six weeks of winter.

Saw Fifty Moose During Ten Days in Quebec Bush

The Canadian woods sold themselves so completely to Donal Robertson, Princeton, N.J., last summer, that he decided to see them under snow. He has just returned from a 10-day trip by dog-team to the Club Panache Reserve in the Lake St. John district of Northern Quebec. According to the report which reached C. K. Howard, Manager of the Tourist and Convention Bureau of the Canadian National Railways, Mr. Robertson lost none of his enthusiasm for the Canadian outdoors, even if he did have to leave his fishing rods at home. When he made his trip to the Reserve last summer with Clarence Francis, president of General Foods Corporations, New York, the excitement was trout. On the winter adventure, it was moose. He saw 50 in the 10 days he was on the trail and as many as 15 in one herd.

Appealing Decision of the Mining Court

Robt. Holmes Makes Further Effort to Record Gillies Limit Mining Claims.

Halleybury, Feb. 3.—(Special to The Advance)—On behalf of Robert Holmes, Cobalt prospector, whom Mr. Justice Godson in Mining Court had ruled not entitled to record a Gillies Limit claim last June, George Mitchell, K.C., on Monday here entered an appeal against his Lordship's decision. The case will go to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario. A copy of the appeal was served the same day on J. A. Legris, K.C., counsel for Thomas Mulholland, another Cobalt prospector, to whom Mr. Justice Godson had awarded the claim after a hearing in court here last November. Giving judgment, his Lordship had held that Holmes had not complied with the requirements of staking, inasmuch as he had not satisfied himself as to the enterprise, while Mulholland, who also had assistance in staking, had made the trip around the claim. In giving notice of appeal, Holmes states he will seek to introduce into the hearing before the Osgoode Hall judges an affidavit of Fred Wilson, and relating to work allegedly performed by him at the time of the dispute. Wilson is said to have placed on behalf of Holmes posts numbers three and four. He did not give evidence at the November hearing.

Partner Whist Drive by Ladies' Auxiliary

Enjoyable Event Held at Canadian Legion Hall.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion held a very successful partner whist drive in the Legion hall on Monday evening. Thirteen tables were occupied by members and their friends, and all agreed that it was a very enjoyable evening. Mrs. Hardy, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, very ably took the part of M.C. for the event, and during the evening a refreshing lunch was served by the ladies. Winners at whist were:—1st, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor; 2nd, Mrs. Kennedy and Mr. McDougall; and 3rd, Mrs. A. Parnell and Mrs. L. Parnell.

The general meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary will be held in the Legion hall on Monday evening, February 7th. All members please take note of the date, and do not fail to be present at the meeting.

Drunk in Charge of Car Given Ten Days

Magistrate Warns That Future Sentence May be Increased.

Pleading guilty to a charge of being drunk in charge of a car, Lawrence C. Ward, of Timmins, was sentenced to ten days in jail by Magistrate Atkinson in police court Tuesday afternoon. Ward was represented by J. E. Taylor, who asked for the minimum sentence, pointing out that it was his first time that his client had been in police court on any charge.

In passing sentence the magistrate intimated that future sentences for drunken driving may be increased in severity. While he made no definite announcement he drew attention to the fact that in South Ontario, intoxicated drivers are being given a minimum of thirty days.

Merchant and Postmaster at Bourkes Wins Action

(From Northern News)

A Wickstead, postmaster and general storekeeper at Bourkes, won his suit brought against Mike Podrazantec in division court yesterday.

Judge G. H. Hayward ruled in his favour after listening to the involved parties told by both principles in the case.

The claim included bills for groceries said to have been obtained by the defendant, and for a promissory note for $150 issued to the defendant in 1931.

In passing sentence the magistrate intimated that future sentences for drunken driving may be increased in severity. While he made no definite announcement he drew attention to the fact that in South Ontario, intoxicated drivers are being given a minimum of thirty days.

Pleading guilty to a charge of drunkenness twice within ten days Lena Kaustinen was fined $50 and costs or thirty days in police court here Tuesday afternoon by Magistrate Atkinson. Unable to raise the fine, the woman will be committed to jail.

A charge of common assault against a local man, laid by his wife, was withdrawn by the complainant. Costs of $4 were ordered to be paid.

Found guilty of assaulting Mathias Goulet, G. B. Leblanc was fined $5 and costs. He was represented by Dean Kester, K.C. The alleged assault took place the day following police court two weeks ago at which time a charge of receiving stolen goods against Leblanc, which had been laid by Goulet, was dismissed. Leblanc told the court that he had asked Goulet to come to his place so that in future they could make arrangements to "keep the peace."

Goulet claimed that while he was at Leblanc's establishment that the accused had pushed him in the face, causing his nose to bleed. His two sons corroborated his statements. Leblanc contended that he hadn't pushed or struck Goulet at any time but the magistrate was disinclined to accept his statement and found him guilty.

Judgment Deferred

The magistrate again reserved judgment in the case of Guy Greco, charged with operating a truck as a public passenger vehicle without having the necessary license. Counsel for the accused, Sol Platus, quoted a number of authorities in regard to parallel cases, which will be considered by the magistrate before giving his decision.

Traffic Cases

Three Highway Traffic Act cases were dealt with, George Bickell paying $10 and costs for reckless driving, John P. Boissonneault, $1, and costs for illegal parking and Angelo Rusciotelli, $10 and costs for operating a vehicle without a chauffeur's license. A charge of driving without an operator's license against Jerry St. Onge was adjourned for a week.

On Peremptory List

A charge of reckless driving against Lellwyn Wrin, as the result of an accident here on Christmas Eve, which has been on the court docket ever since, awaiting the recovery of one of the witnesses who was seriously injured, was placed on the peremptory list for next week. In the meantime the testimony of the injured witness will be taken by the Crown at his bedside and submitted at the hearing next week.

Barrie Examiner:—The Penetang Workers' Association is reported as "up in arms" because men on relief have been put on the "Indian list" with respect to beverage rooms in that town. We imagine they will have a hard time working up much sympathy among the ratepayers on that score.

MODELS OF 17TH CENTURY BRITISH WARSHIPS AT ANNAPOLIS

Used instead of blueprints by the British Admiralty to build its 17th century warships, these models, the Colonel H. Huddleston Rogers collection are shown at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md. The entire collection valued at $300,000 and consisting of 107 models, is the finest of its sort in the world. The collection, bequeathed to the Academy by Colonel Rogers, was delivered on Jan. 11. Fred Avery, who worked with Colonel Rogers on the collection is shown among the models after they were unloaded at the Academy.
