

Commercial League Bowlers To Decide Cup To-Night

Teams Play Double-Header to Wind up Successful Season

Play-off Being Staged Between Four Clubs for League Cup. Gamble's and The Advance Tied with Three Points Apiece After First Games Played Tuesday Night.

Final games for the Commercial Bowling League trophy will be played to-night at Stevens' alleys with teams from Gamble-Robinson's, Canada Northern Power, T. & N. O. and The Advance taking part. In view of the fact that all bowling must be completed by Friday the four squads will play a double-header, the winner of the highest number of points taking the silverware.

The first in the series of games was played Tuesday night, Gamble's taking three points from the Power club and The Advance garnering the same number from T. & N. O. Gamble's, who last week won the league championship bowled a total of 3148 in defeating Power, who amassed an aggregate of 3075 and in the second game gained the decision by the narrow margin of one pin.

At the end of to-night's play the four teams will each have met their opponents once in the battle for the league trophy. Gamble's and The Advance, both tied with three points, are favoured to battle it out for top honours. Gamble's have been in great form in recent appearances and with the newspaper crew trying to battle their way out of the doghouse, the grocery gang are favoured to be in at the pay-off.

The following are the scores of Tuesday night's game:

UP THERE BEFORE

Chicago, April 13.—Six Hawks who helped win the Stanley Cup in 1933-34 are with this year's team. Tommy Gorman led Hawks then and had Paul Thompson, Johnny Gottselig, Doc Romnes, Mush March, Louis Trudel and Roger Jenkins. All but Jenkins have played with Hawks continuously.

Northern Wrestlers Seeking the Titles

Timmins, Sudbury and Other Centres to be Represented.

(From Globe and Mail)

The Ontario wrestling championships being held at West End Y.M.C.A. this Saturday are attracting more attention than usual. Dave Strain, Physical Director, has received six entries from Copper Cliff, two from Sudbury and one from Timmins—the largest representation from Northern Ontario ever to enter these championships. The Engineers' Club of Copper Cliff are sponsoring their entry. At present the 145-pound class has the largest entry, with nine men already entered. Morgan Plumb, Canadian champion at this weight, would seem to have the call to date. However, if George Denniston of Central Y.M.C.A. enters it will be a real battle between him and Plumb, as Denniston got the decision over the West End boy in the city championships two weeks ago. The 158-pound class also looks as if it will provide some very keen wrestling, with Harry Peace, the Ontario and Canadian champion, from West End Y, heading up the five entries to date. It is hoped that Joe Schlemmer of Central Y.M.C.A. will enter this class, as he is about the only man in Toronto who can give Peace a hard battle.

The referees for these bouts will include such former wrestling stars as Danny McDonald, Cliff Chilcott, Cliff Worthy, Phil Lawson and Jim Allen.

Cornwall Defeated in First Game 6-4

Trail Smoke Eaters Overcome Two Goal Lead in the Last Period and Win in Overtime.

Staging a dazzling third-period comeback in which they overcame a two-goal lead to tie the score at 3-3, Trail Smoke Eaters went on to win the first game of the Allan Cup finals from Cornwall Flyers in Saskatoon Wednesday night by a score of 6-4.

Nearly six thousand wildly cheering fans saw the western champions overtake the Flyers and dominate the play in the overtime session. Flyers scored the only goal of the first period and added another in the second to make the count 2-0. Trail battled in the first goal of the last period but the Flyers poked in their third counter and continued to lead by two goals. There was only eight minutes left to play but the Smoke Eaters ripped their way through and tied the score just before the end of full time.

HORIZONTAL HI-JINKS

Mr. Bradette Writes on Topics of House

(Continued from Page Six) The result of elections does not truly reflect the views of the people. If confidence in our institutions is undermined, their effectiveness is destroyed. A far greater danger than any of the ills abroad in the country is the belief that electoral corruption—electorism—has undermined the basis of democracy. Thus it behooves the supporters of democracy—especially in these days of contest between the democratic and the totalitarian forms of government—to clean house, and if we do not, then we will be negligent in our duty.

I must also state on this matter that this government bill was drafted by Col. A. M. Biggar, Ottawa lawyer, who served as a chief electoral officer for about seven years, prior to the general election of 1930, and who by the nature of his previous work is an expert on these lines.

The question of unemployment was intermittently discussed most of last week. I wrote at some length about that subject in my last letter, but this question is also vitally important, that I feel duty bound to give still more information on this national problem.

An extensive relief works programme under federal jurisdiction and control, with special attention to development of the tourist industry, was announced by Labor Minister Rogers in outlining the government's unemployment relief policy for the ensuing year. It is reported the government plans to spend around $25,000,000 on what Mr. Rogers defined as "a broad, co-ordinated programme for national development and conservation." It will be continuance of the Trans-Canada highway, tourist roads, national parks development, bridges, restoration of historic sites, additional roads into mining areas, probably $4,000,000 for Western drought re-habilitation, possibly some reforestation, elimination of level railway crossings, etc. Details will not be available until the supplementary estimates are tabled near the close of the session.

The government will hold in reserve its decision on the recommendation of the Purvis national employment commission that the federal government should assume full responsibility for employables who can't get work until the Rowell royal commission on Dominion-provincial relations makes its report. Meantime grants-in-aid to provinces for direct relief will be continued in reduced amounts and the government will substitute its own relief works programme for the former Dominion-provincial plan in that particular regard.

Mr. Rogers indicated the federal government will continue the home improvement plan, the Dominion housing act with added attention to low rental housing, farm placement, youth training with extension of training to older age groups of unemployed, etc.

While reiterating the government's willingness to proceed with a constitutional amendment to usher in a national scheme of unemployment insurance, Mr. Rogers said the government will not proceed with the natural secondary feature of such a plan—a national system of employment insurance—until all the provinces agree to co-operate.

As at Jan. 1 last employables on relief numbered 161,000; total on relief outside agricultural persons, 604,000; farm people on relief, 410,000. These figures represented decreases from a year ago of 37 per cent, and 30 per cent, respectively, for the first two classes, and an increase of 103 per cent, of farm people on relief, due wholly, of course, to the Western drought relief situation.

Mr. Rogers predicted a quick reflection in employment conditions when the West returns to production. He reminded the eastern provinces that they should not forget the Western market has in past year contributed to the upbuilding and expansion of eastern industry. He credited the government's expanding trade policy for having contributed much to the relief of unemployment and he voiced appreciation of the practical assistance given by the Purvis commission.

"There is good ground for confidence in the existing situation in Canada," Mr. Rogers concluded, "if we avoid sectional differences and cleavages there is no good reason why the country cannot solve all its problems."

Many speakers have participated in this debate, with all kinds of suggestions as a solution of the problem such as, a large scale housing and slum clearance programme, much more on technical education and youth training, etc.

Members of the C.N.R.-C.P.R. co-operation committee will be called on May 4 to testify before the Senate railway inquiry committee to show cause why not more than $2,000,000 annual savings have been effected by co-operation since 1933. Later the committee will hear S. J. Hungerford, C.N.R. president, and Sir Edward Beatty, C.P.R. president, on the suggested plan of joint operation. Col. O. M. Biggar, Ottawa lawyer, has been named committee counsel at $100 per day. He is to prepare a brief on the railway system in Britain and France to see if anything helpful in solving Canada's railway problem can be gleaned from the experience of those countries.

Cost of the House of Commons committee, which spent two sessions investigating the high prices of farm machinery, totalled $23,567. Of this sum, Walter Macdonald, Winnipeg accountant, got $9,100, and R. T. Graham, Swift Current lawyer, got $8,756 for assisting the committee.

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation spent $1,161,900 on programmes in the last fiscal year. It employed 280 Canadian artists, counting orchestras, choirs and other groups each as one artist. The Commons radio committee decided not to hear any witnesses outside CBC officials and the inquiry collapsed, much to the disgust of the members.

South Africa has named D. de Wall Meyer as its "accredited representative" to Canada. Mr. Meyer, who has been South African trade commissioner at Montreal for some years past, will have status corresponding to that of high commissioner. This is the first such appointment here as between the overseas British dominions. The plan would appear to be a good one and preferable to the appointment of ministers to foreign countries.

On Friday the 8th instant, a full day was allowed for the discussion of the resolution of Hon. C. H. Cahan, asking for the re-abolition of appeals to the Privy Council. It was a very elevated and academic discussion, which I will deal with in my next week's letter.

On the 8th, Parliament adjourned for over two weeks for Easter, returning on the 25th of the month.

As I have quite a lot of departmental work to do, I am going to stay in the Capital until Wednesday the 13th instant, hoping that by that time most of the questions that are now in abeyance will have been dealt with.

I am waiting very eagerly for the pleasure of spending nearly two weeks in the Constituency, in being again in the section of the country to which I am most deeply attached and that I have not seen now for nearly three months, taking also this opportunity to present to every one my sincerest wishes for a Joyous Easter.

Yours very truly,
Jes. A. Bradette.

Acquitted at Sault on Murder Charge

Former Ball Player Freed in Death of Young Lady.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., April 12.—Vernon Spencer of Wixom, Mich., was a free man tonight, after a jury had found him not guilty of murdering Helen Grier at a Long Lake cabin last Oct. 28.

Spencer showed no emotion when the verdict was announced, and the applause which rose in the court room was silenced immediately. Mrs. Spencer sat quietly, her face expressionless. After the jury was dismissed Mr. Justice McTague spoke to the prisoner: "I have no sermon to deliver to you, Spencer, at all. It's a time-honoured custom, which, perhaps, I do not follow. I only hope that as an American you will realize our juries are still handing out what we call British justice. You will now be discharged."

Defense Counsel J. A. MacInnis was first to shake the accused's hand.

Mr. Justice McTague's charge to the jury ended about 4:45 o'clock and the verdict was declared some four hours later.

"I could never reconcile my conscience to convicting this accused on the type of evidence that is offered here," Mr. Justice McTague told the jurors as he ended his charge in which he said they must determine whether the Crown had proved beyond all reasonable doubt: "That Vernon Spencer killed Helen Grier; that Vernon Spencer intended to kill Helen Grier."

In reviewing the evidence the Judge said he thought the case had become a contest between Crown and defense on the question as to whether Miss Grier committed suicide. All the defense had to do was to establish in the minds of Young Langdon, who is not yet sixteen years of age, attended High School in Timmins and last year enrolled at T.C.S. to complete the fifth year of his matriculation course.

MANITOBA WOMAN LANDED WORLD'S LARGEST TROUT

Winnipeg, Man., April 14.—All records for lake trout were broken when Miss Leane Hayes pulled a fish out of Lake Athapuskow on the Fin Flon line of the Canadian National Railways in northern Manitoba. Her catch was 47½ inches long and weighed 63 pounds. The world's record for lake trout up to that time was a fish caught in Quebec. It weighed 48 pounds. The big fish was shown in the Canadian Wilderness Exhibit at the Boston Sportsman's Show and is being displayed at Detroit before going back to the Manitoba Legislature.

Two Toronto boys buried the Stanley Cup chances of the Toronto Maple Leafs Tuesday night. They buried it on two jucky goals, but they were goals that counted in the record. Carl Voss and Jack Shill, the latter as cast-off from the Leafs this season, then cast off again by Americans, and then picked up by the Hawks, proved the villains in the Leaf picture. For with the score tied late in the second period and Leafs more than holding their own, this pair beat Broda on two of the easiest goals seen in play-off competition for a long time.

BIG CUP "MELON"

Chicago, April 13.—Players only share in receipts from the first three games of the best-of-five Stanley Cup series but there should be one of the choicest cuts in the National League history after the two sellouts in Toronto and the record crowd of 18,497 in the third game at Chicago.

Disallow Protest of Juvenile Team

T.P.A.A.A. Club Officially Declared Champions and Winners of Moscoe Cup.

The Timmins Police Association team, under the management of Inspector Art Olson, have been officially declared champions of the local N.O.H.A. juvenile group and winners of the Moscoe trophy, following the hearing of a protest by Tuxis, who were defeated in the finals.

Tuxis lodged a lengthy protest requiring several pages. Among the kicks recorded by the losers was the fact that the referees didn't face off the centre-men with their left shoulders facing the opposing goal and that one of the referees had been suspended by the N.O.H.A. Numerous other complaints were contained in the protest but the executive failed to find sufficient reason for sustaining it.
