

Brilliant Future Seen for Aviation in Canada

Speaker at Kiwanis Club at Monday Luncheon Sees Canada as Important Link in World Airlines. Emphasizes the Many Advantages that the Dominion Has in the Matter of Aviation.

Gordon Archibald, well known local musician and radio announcer, envisioned a brilliant future for commercial flying in Canada during an address at the weekly luncheon of Timmins Kiwanis Club on Monday.

"Canada will become an important link in world aviation, even more so than United States," he told his listeners. Explaining this forecast, he pointed out that geographically Canada has the shortest routes across the Atlantic and Pacific from her east and west shores. "Realizing this, Canada is building and planning for a great future in flying," he continued.

"According to the latest report of the Department of Transport," Mr. Archibald told the gathering, "the connections of Canada's transcontinental airways with the shortest route across the Atlantic, will make Trans-Canada airlines a direct participant in trans-Atlantic flying schedules."

The speaker dealt at some length with the series of airports being built in Northern Ontario and Quebec in connection with the new Trans-Canada air service and explained in some detail the system of continuous weather reports, two-way radio and flying by beam that will be installed throughout the new air route.

TWINS REUNITED AFTER 27 YEARS

Ignorant of each other's existence until recently, 27-year-old twin sisters separated since birth were united in New York through the efforts of cartoonist Robert Ripley. Here the twins, Marjorie Gregg and Shirley Swinn, are pictured with Ripley. The girls were born in Toronto in 1911, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shaw. The mother died in childbirth and the children were separated. One girl was adopted by the Swinn family, the other by Mr. and Mrs. John Gregg, of London, Ontario. Both took to nursing for careers. Shirley came to New York seeking a job and her likeness to her sister caused the supervisor at the clinic at which she was employed to tell her she looked like Miss Gregg. With this clue, and Ripley's aid, the girls were brought together.

Pleasant Birthday Event at Pottsville

Mr. N. Reini Honoured by Friends on Occasion of Birthday.

About fifty of his friends from Timmins, South Porcupine and Pottsville, gathered at the home of Mr. N. Reini, and Mrs. Reini, on Monday evening, to celebrate the fiftieth birthday of Mr. Reini, of Pottsville. The large number of friends met in South Porcupine and from there drove to Pottsville, where, as they drove toward the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reini, they announced their coming with the tooting of horns. Completely taken by surprise, Mr. Reini tried to convince his friends that "it was not his birthday, at all," but finally admitted that he had reached the proud age of fifty years.

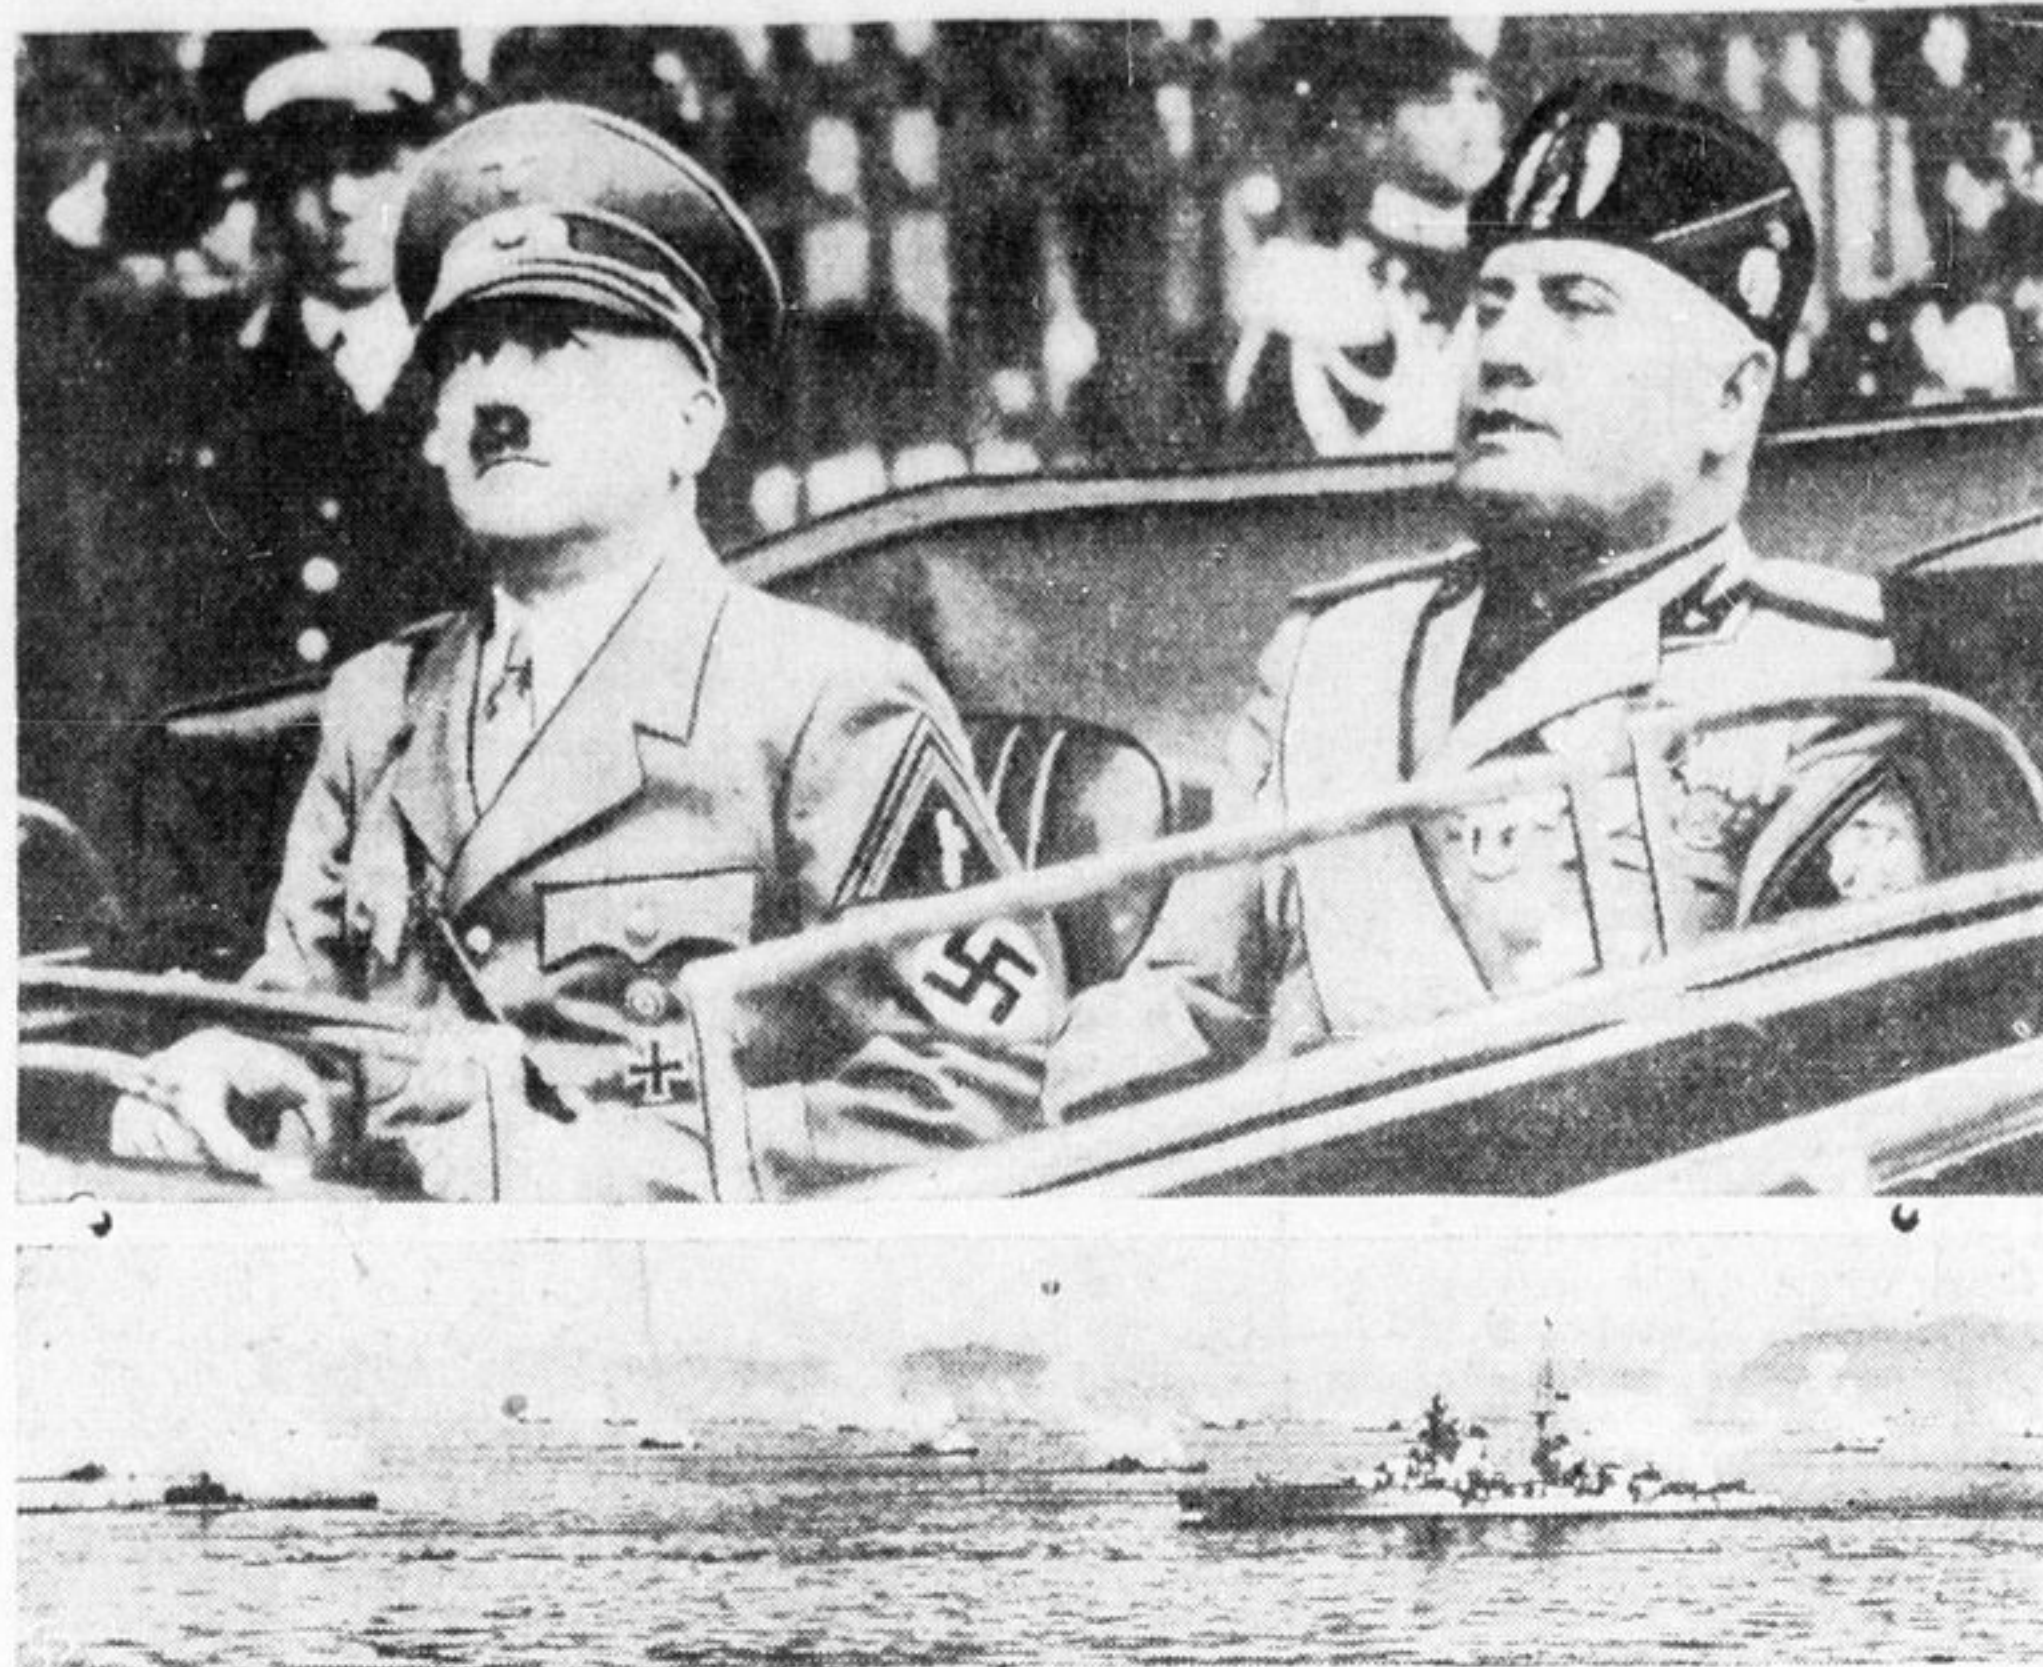

Mr. Reini, who came to Golden City in its very early days, and was there at the time of the great fire, has resided in Pottsville for about twenty-five years. During this time both he and Mrs. Reini have made a large number of friends in this district, who were all eager to show their respect and appreciation of his good fellowship.

During the evening a presentation was made to Mr. Reini, and his friends wished him "a happy birthday and another fifty years of happiness." Cards and an evening of social fun made a very enjoyable event, and a delicious lunch was prepared and served by the visiting friends.

Midget Revue One of Big Attractions at Conklin's

The Midget Revue at the Conklin's All-Canadian Shows this year is drawing large crowds, this show being entirely new, and one that interests old and young alike. Miss Bernice Leonard, the tiniest midget of them all, is the young lady who presents individual and original dances, the costumes that she wears being exact replicas of those worn by great dancers. The presentation as a whole resembles dolls that have come to life, and the humorous plays bring loud laughter from the large crowds. When The Advance reporter visited the Midget Revue on Tuesday evening, so many people crowded into the tent that it was practically impossible to find seating space, but no one grumbled because they had to stand up as the large stage made it possible to see the entire cast. Every part of the performance was set to suitable music, the ability and talent of the pianist drawing much favourable comment from the crowd. The Midget Revue is certainly one that you should tell your children to see, and one that you should not miss. As in past years the Conklin Shows here are sponsored by the Canadian Legion.

Wedding Tuesday at Notre Dame Church

Miss Marie Coursol and Mr. Leo Bouchard United in Marriage.

The Notre Dame du Lourdes Roman Catholic Church was the scene of a quiet wedding on Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock when Rev. Fr. Chapleau united in marriage Maria, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Coursol, of 126 Wilson avenue, and Mr. Leo Bouchard, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bouchard, of Kapuskasing.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charmingly attired in a white flannel suit, with a box coat. She wore a white satin blouse, and high white off-the-face hat with a short veil, and mauve accessories. Her bouquet was made up of white and mauve spring flowers, tied with a wide sheer white ribbon.

Mr. Henry Tremblay acted as best man.

Immediately after the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Coursol receiving the guests, attractively attired in an afternoon dress of black crepe, with a corsage of white carnations.

In the evening the bride and groom received their friends at a reception at the home of the bride's parents. They were the recipients of many beautiful gifts, and the best wishes of their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Bouchard will reside in Timmins.

"When formulating its peace-time policy, the Red Cross, in putting Soldiers' Work first and foremost on its programme, was determined that the men who carried their suffering, sacrifices, and blasted hopes from the four years of war into the long years of peace, should never fall into the category of 'forgotten men'." Col. A. L. Bishop, chairman of the Ontario Division, Canadian Red Cross Society, stated recently.

Every week of every year since the war, disabled veteran patients in hospitals have been the recipients of visits and kindly attentions from members of the Red Cross; recreational centres are being conducted for the patients; a summer hospital is operated for the convalescent; soldiers' residence clubs administered for disabled pensioners; assistance in the form of surgical appliances, medicines, dentures, glasses, extra nourishment, etc., is being supplied to sick and needy veterans and dependents; relief in the way of shelter, food and clothing is being given to the needy; soldier settler families are being cared for at the Red Cross Outpost hospitals; Visiting Housekeepers Service is being supplied to destitute soldier families at times of sickness; and in many other ways the Red Cross continues to prove a friend in need to soldiers in distress, Col. Bishop explained.

"To those people, if there are any such, who have the faintest notion that these men do not deserve all the help we can give them," said Col. Bishop, "I would suggest that they visit a military hospital for themselves and see the tragic relics of war who are living out their lives in a hospital ward, and listen to the hospital padre who sadly remarks 'one hundred and twenty of my boys have died since this time last year'."

"Taken altogether," concluded the colonel, "Red Cross has supplied an infinite variety of relief and assistance by which the lives of those who fought for the Empire have been rendered happier and more useful to themselves and their country."

Report Black Flies and Mosquitoes Bad

Summer Pests Unusually Vicious This Year in Cobalt District.

Cobalt, June 9.—(Special to The Advance)—Black flies and mosquitoes are proving this year to be the fiercest and most persistent of their respective breeds in recent years, according to practically unanimous opinion in this district. They are particularly bad in the bush, all reports agree, and they have invaded the towns also in greater strength than usual, the skeeters in this district being especially pestiferous. So bad are they reported that one district dairyman told The Advance reporter this week that when he had to search the terrain near his home—outside North Cobalt—for a missing cow he had to abandon the job temporarily until he could make a special trip to town for fly oil as a protection against the insect pests.

Toronto Telegram.—There will always be misery throughout the country as long as some women can dress better than others.

EDUCATION can bring temperance!

Wherever and whenever it has been tried, prohibition has failed . . . anyone who is capable of learning from experience must realize by now that people cannot be made good by law.

Yet there is a constant flow of propaganda seeking to prejudice the public against the present sensible system of government control.

It is better to educate the individual in self-discipline and self-control than to attempt impossible prohibitions.

Such education is the object of this series of advertisements. We sincerely commend it to those genuinely interested in the cause of temperance.

A LETTER FROM DICKENS

"I am certain that if I had been at Mr. Fuzziwig's ball I should have taken a little negus—and possibly not a little beer—and been none the worse for it, in heart or head. I am very sure that the working people of this country have not too many household enjoyments, and I could not, in my fancy or in actual deed deprive them of this one when it is innocently shared. Neither do I see why I should deny it to myself."

—CHARLES DICKENS
replying to a letter from a lady who objected to references to drinking in his books.

This advertisement is inserted by the Brewing Industry in the interest of a better public understanding of certain aspects of the problems of temperance.

"SWEEP" WINNER GRADUATES

One of the 248 graduates honored at the spring graduation of the University of British Columbia was Arthur P. Dawe—"lucky Dawe"—the young Vancouver man who won $40,000 in the Irish sweep eight years ago. He had quit college at the end of his second year to go to work. After the novelty of his fortune wore off he enrolled unobtrusively at the university again and completed his course. He is shown here receiving his bachelor of arts degree from Registrar Stanley Mathews.
