WHEN IS A FOREIGNER?

Mr. John Grudeff, a Bulgarian by birth but a loyal Canadian by naturalization, recently addressed the Rotary Club at Toronto and took occasion to emphasize the fact that men and women who are Canadian in heart and ambition resent the tendency of some other Canadians to class them as "foreigners." In Timmins and district where there are many Canadians who were not born in this or any other part of the British Empire this difficulty arises. There are times when it seems necessary for one reason or another to differentiate them from native-born Canadians of British descent. In such cases the term "New Canadians" seems to fill the need in courteous way. Certainly the term, "foreigner"—especially if it is offensive to these good citizens—should not be used. The people The Advance refers to are not "foreign" in their hopes, their ideals, their friendship, their loyalty. They have gripped much of the Old Canadian spirit—the spirit of the pioneers of Canada—the spirit of industry, neighbourliness, desire for the better things of life. In no sense of the word are they "alien" in the true meaning of the term. They are making Canada their home and country, have taken up its citizenship, offer it loyalty. In Timmins there have been scores of cases in the past few years where the New Canadians have shown their love and loyalty for the country and their desire to be more than friendly with the other Canadians. Their contributions to worthy causes, their participation in various activities of the community prove all this. Difficulties of language, of customs and usages may confuse the issue, but those who study the question will be forced to the conclusion that any fault found with the New Canadians in general is due chiefly to misunderstanding—and the misunderstanding not always on the part of the New Canadians. If the "Old Canadians" took as much trouble and made as much earnest effort to understand and appreciate the New Canadians, as the latter do to fit themselves into place in this Dominion, there would be less thought and still less expression of the term, "foreigners." It is true that certain few agitators of alien origin seem to strive continually to import ideas and policies into this country that are absolutely foreign to Canadian and other British ideals. But the number of these foreigners is small. The greater part of the New Canadians wish to be Canadian—British—in the truest sense. They should be given every encouragement, every assistance, every friendliness. Born beneath the British flag in Canada, they are legally Canadians. Naturalized under the laws of Canada, they are Canadians in the strictest legal sense. The term, "foreigner" should be reserved for those who are really alien in their thoughts and minds. It should not be applied to men and women and children who in spirit, as well as in law and right are Canadian and British.

PARTY MIX-UP

Hon. Colin Campbell, Minister of Public Works for Ontario, was sent credentials as a delegate-at-large for the National Conservative convention at Ottawa. Of course, the explanation is made that the credentials were sent to the gentleman in error, and a request is reported to have been forwarded to Hon. Mr. Campbell to return the credentials to the Conservative headquarters. This the Ontario Liberal Minister refuses to do, saying that he does not intend so easily to relinquish so large a barrel of fun. Hon. Mr. Campbell suggests that he may actually turn up as a duly-accredited Conservative at the convention, just to see what may happen. He cites the matter as "just another example of Conservative error," and is enjoying the mistake much more than Conservative headquarters. He explains that the error that resulted in his receiving the credentials as a loyal Conservative, though he has been a life-long Liberal party worker, arose from the fact that through the mixing of two sketches in the Parliamentary Guide, the political affiliations and Toronto address of Thomas L. Church, M.P., was added to Mr. Campbell's biography. If the same items in Mr. Campbell's sketch were added to Mr. Church's biography the humour of the error will not be all on the one side. Hon. Mr. Campbell, however, has at present the edge on the fun, because there is no

Road Dust Nuisance Should be Remedied

And there Should be Immediate Action to that Effect.

Timmins, June 24, 1938
Editor, Porcupine Advance,

Dear Mr. Editor: I hesitate to write you on the road situation between Timmins and Schumacher as well as between Timmins and South Porcupine because I dislike mentioning distressing situations especially when there seems such disregard of a healing lotion.

suggestion that Mr. Church has been invited to any Liberal party conventions.

Hon. Mr. Campbell's theory is that Conservative headquarters in compiling its lists of delegates for the coming national convention secured at least some of its information from the Parliamentary Guide. It is generous of Hon. Mr. Campbell to give this explanation, as otherwise it might be feared by some that the Conservative headquarters had attempted to draw delegates from the Liberal party as well as from the C.C.F. It is bad enough to think that the Conservative party needs to refer to Parliamentary Guide rather than have a list of its own. If ever a party needed a list of its members and adherents, the Conservative party needs it to-day, with the choice of a new leader impending. It would be about the limit, if a Parliamentary Guide Conservative were chosen as leader and turned out to be an Ontario Liberal Cabinet Minister. Maybe, Hon. Mr. Campbell spoiled the best part of the joke by telling the story too soon. But if anybody else was given Tommy Church's credentials by mistake, the error could not possibly have been concealed for long.

HOT WEATHER EDITORIALS

Southern Ontario has been suffering from a heat wave. It is not necessary to see the weather reports to believe this. All that is necessary is to note the editorial pages of the newspapers. One certain or uncertain Toronto newspaper suggests by its editorial page that there is oppressive heat in Toronto all the time. But on Saturday last The Globe and Mail had an editorial headed, "What the People Don't Know," and the editorial was only a brief one, though it referred specifically to Toronto people. Had the weather been cool it would naturally have spread over into several pages. Then The Telegram devoted quite a lengthy editorial the same day to the discussion of Fleas, describing their aerial flights, their landings and taking-offs, and their motive power, without any particular reference to their motive. All of this surely suggests a heat wave in the city.

GRAVEL AND SAND—AND PLACER

In an editorial on the Louis-Schmeling fight, The Globe and Mail says:—"Prize fighting has also got into the millions brackets." Why put a "b" in that word "bracket"?

Hon. Harold Kirby, Minister of Health for Ontario, suggests that the mental hospitals of the province are too much like jails. At the same time the Dominion Government seems to be planning to turn the prisons of Canada into palaces of luxury and ease. Taking the two ideas together it would seem that in the past the mentally afflicted have not received due consideration, but for the moment at least they are receiving very considerable attention.

Delegates to the tenth annual re-union of the Alumni Association of the School for the Blind at Brantford last week passed a resolution charging that the blind people of Ontario have been systematically exploited by persons selling goods and collecting in the name of the blind, and the association asked Premier Hepburn to institute an investigation at the earliest possible moment. The resolution has particular interest in Timmins at the present moment for two particular reasons. Some time ago The Advance made protest against a gang of sighted canvassers attempting to sell goods here on the plea that it would "help the blind," while there was cause to doubt whether the blind would receive any material advantage, though it was apparent that good sales would mean good profits for the sighted canvassers. The second reason for special interest here rests in the fact that two blind men are here organizing for the annual campaign for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind in this district. D. B. Lawley, field secretary for the Institute for the Blind, is well-known here for his notable work in helping other blind people to better and broader life. It is certain that the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, most of whose workers and officers are blind themselves, is not exploiting the blind, but rather is doing wonderful work for Canada as well as for those afflicted with blindness. The work of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind needs no special investigation. That noble work speaks for itself. If the governments could turn all work for the blind into the hands of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, it would mean the end of exploitation of the blind by those with schemes as well as sight. In the meantime, the people of this district can help the blind in double way by generous contribution to the present campaign. Every dollar given will mean a dollar's worth more of kindly, intelligent and well-placed assistance to the blind. It will mean also another dollar's worth of discouragement to those who seek to exploit the blind.

Our road situation and the dust hazard. There seems to have been an eternity of delay and in the meantime we are passing through hell to reach there—or are you telling me? Of course, this is only a complaint; your files are full of such, even as much as the inhabitants are "fed up" while time spins out a flock of dust in spite of prompt payments on several different kinds of taxes. It is really a waste of time and expense to print this; at least I'm offering you that relief. Yours, Vince Woodbury.

Hospital Tea Held at South Porcupine

Successful and Pleasing Event by Women's Auxiliary.

South Porcupine, June 25.—(Special to The Advance)—People coming, and people going all the time was the order of the day on Saturday, when the home of Mrs. F. C. Evans on Connaught Hill was open to guests at the strawberry tea held under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary of the Porcupine General hospital.

It was a grand success. The financial returns justified the work, and although it was shared by many members of the Auxiliary there was work in plenty.

Seven Girl Guides in uniform were kept busy acting as waitresses, and the strawberries and ice cream were wonderful and inexhaustible—and, more-over, contributed. The Timmins Dairy gave all the ice cream, and Mr. Helmer gave all the strawberries. And the delicious cakes were all baked and donated by local people. Mrs. Cooke, the Consumer's Co-operative Store, and the Worker's Co-operative Store contributed the hams, which baked by the ladies proved delicious fare for the "salad plate" served at dinner.

Mrs. Lafonst and Mrs. T. Cahill worked indefatigably to gather the food together and with helpers in every part of the local district—Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Fussley, Mrs. Libby, etc.—were most successful.

Mrs. Evans' delightful home made a wonderful setting for the tables which toward supper time were brought into the house. The beautiful lawn and flowers in the garden added to the charming affair.

It is possible that some names are omitted from the following list as relays of ladies were working but we saw Madames Lafonst, Cahill, Kelly, Stark, Weir, Blake, Costello and Smith and the hostess Mrs. Evans doing their utmost in the interests of the cause.

Two cup-readers—Mrs. Rayner and Mrs. Galbraith—entertained all afternoon and evening.

Celebrating First Finnish Settlement

Event Also Being Observed by Timmins Finnish United Church.

(Contributed)
Sunday night (June 26th) the deputations from Finland and Sweden arrived on S.S. Kungsholm at the mouth of Delaware River. Monday morning "Kungsholm" continued the journey to Wilmington, where the official reception committee boarded the ship. The deputations, together with the reception committees then journeyed with motor boats to Kungsholm along the Christina River, a tributary of the Delaware River, to "The Rocks", where the first Finnish and Swedish colonists landed in 1638. Here, in presence of President F. D. Roosevelt of the United States, and the deputations from Finland and Sweden, the monument donated by the people of Sweden was unveiled. President Roosevelt and the Crown Prince Gustav Adolf spoke on the significance of the occasion. In the afternoon President Roosevelt received at Wilmington from the deputation of Finland a commemorative gold medal made of Finnish gold, on one side of which the following words appear (in Finnish): "Admiral Klaus Laurinpoika Fleming.—Finnish farmers 1638-1938." And in centre appear the heads of Admiral Fleming and a Finnish farmer, his wife and child. On the other side there is in the centre a picture of their first, unique, square Church and Fort building, built of round logs, the cross on the centre of its roof pointing to heaven. In this the sculptor, Alpo Salio, gives expression to respect of ethical values and building of permanent life. From one side of the church starts a row of shacks with sheaves of grain left to dry and ripen. As a background there are some tall trees. At the front there is a huge stump with upturn roots. Circling this are the following words (in Finnish): "Tercentennial commemoration of the Delaware Colony." Only three pieces of this medal have been struck by the Republic of Finland. One of these was given today to F. D. Roosevelt, the President of the United States of America; one will be given to His Majesty, King Gustav V. of Sweden; and one to His Excellency, Kyosti Kallio, President of the Republic of Finland.

This (Monday) afternoon, at an open air celebration, the Crown Prince Gustav Adolf of Sweden; the Hon. Rudolf Holsti, Minister of Foreign Affairs of Finland; and the Secretary of State, Hon. Hull, of the United States, were the principal speakers. Tuesday a great banquet has been planned in honour of both deputations in Philadelphia. Wednesday, June 29th, the Hon. Rudolf Holsti, will unveil the monument donated by the people of Finland at a Memorial Park in Chester, on a hill overlooking the city. This is the place of the original "Finland Colony."

On the front of the huge monument of Finnish granite, there is a scene of a group of three, two sturdy men and one woman leaving the shore of their old country home in a row boat. In the upper left hand corner there is a picture of "Kalmar Nyckel," in which they sailed to the Delaware River colony in the new world. On the back of the monument there is a scene in which some vegetables, and the older man holding his hand over the head of a child.

On one end of the monument, the following words appear in English: "Sons of Kaleva far sailing
