

Dome Defeat Ulster 2-1 in First Football Play-off

Winners Show up Well in Win Over Toronto Team

Goal by Willie White Wins First Game of Eastern Canada Football Finals for Dome Saturday Night Ulster Scored First But Dome Have Considerable Edge on the Play. Score Should Have Been Higher.

Playing brilliant football, Dome defeated Toronto Ulster in the first game of the Eastern Canada finals at Dome stadium Saturday night before a large crowd by the score of 2-1.

The blue-clad Dome team had a considerable edge on the play and should have had at least three more goals. Three times, forwards were right in, only to hit the goal post from close quarters.

Officials of the club announced after the game that total paid admissions were 897 adults and 144 children. The weather was ideal and threatening clouds cleared just before the game started.

Ulster won the toss and decided to kick into the sun. There was only the slightest suggestion of a breeze which was completely dissipated by the time the section half started.

The first half ended with the score tied at 1-1, Dome scoring the winning goal in the final session which saw Ulster team going full out in an effort to tie the score.

Right in the first minute of the game Dome nearly scored. Chambers was right in and taking a perfect pass from Fernie, hit the goalpost. Henry Lone did the same thing a few minutes later on pass from George Munro.

Dome had been swarming around the Ulster goal almost continuously when the visitors suddenly broke away, Sam McNabney scoring a smart goal on a pass from George Graham. Exactly eight minutes later Fernie tied the score when the ball caromed off Willie Davidson and glided into the net. Just before the half ended Galbraith was in on top of the goal for Dome again but hit the goal post.

Seven minutes after the second half started Willie White won the game for Dome, scoring a perfect goal on a pass from Henry Lone. At this point Ulster camped around the Dome goal but nice defensive work by Baxter in goal cut off Ulster's chances.

The second game of the series is scheduled to be played to-night, providing the weather is favorable.

Potato Bugs Now In The North

Country Once Prided Itself on Freedom from This Pest.

Years ago old-timers admitted there were blackflies mosquitoes, weeds, rats and other undesirable imports from more Southern climes in this country. But there was one thing all prided themselves about—there were no potato bugs here. That was true even after potato growing had assumed extended proportions. Northern potatoes are among the best grown anywhere, and it was subject for boast that with the finest of potatoes, still there were no potato bugs. The potato bugs did reach such half-southern places as Halseybury and New Liskeard, but still Timmins and vicinity had the right to say, "No potato bugs here!"

But, alas! Report was made last week that the potato bugs had reached the Timmins district. And of all the places they should attack, they picked the A. Belanger farm, a particularly well-conducted farm, so good indeed, that it is used by the government as a demonstration and experimental farm.

It is held by farmers in the vicinity that the potato bugs came in the country in potatoes brought here for seed.

Mrs. James McRae and family are spending the summer holidays at the home of Mrs. McRae's mother, Mrs. W. McLelland, Brower township, near Cochrane.

WINNER FIRST WEEK IN ADVANCE PHOTO CONTEST

David Rymer, Jr., 116 Tamarack Street, Timmins, was the winner of the prize for the first week in The Advance's beautiful photographic study of one of the old shafts of the McIntyre Mine. The cloud effects were caught with particular talent. Of course, the above reproduction does not do full justice to the original photograph entered in the contest, press speed and other details preventing perfect work in newspaper columns and the elegant shading and tones thus being lost. A copy of the original photograph, however, will be on display on The Advance photograph bulletin board. Many other interesting entries were received last week, the subjects being varied, but all being handled with skill. The winning entry was finished at the Royal Studio.
