Notre Dame Church
 Scene of Wedding

Miss Jeannine Beaulne and Mr. Clarence Cronk Married.

The Notre Dame de Lourdes Roman Catholic Church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock when Rev. Fr. A. Morin united in marriage Jeannine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Beaulne, and Mr. Clarence Cronk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cronk. Many friends of the young couple attended the wedding ceremony, for which the church organist played suitable music.

Charmingly attired in a gown of ivory satin, the bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. T. Beaulne. Her gown was made on princess lines, with long leg o'mutton sleeves, and a full short train. The neckline and bodice fell in graceful folds, and she wore white accessories, and a floor-length tulle veil caught with pink roses and falling in front to the shoulders. She carried a large bouquet of mixed roses, lily-of-the-valley and maiden hair fern.

The groom was attended by his father, Mr. Arthur Cronk. Immediately after the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, 72 Hollinger Lane, where the bride's mother received the guests attractively attired in a navy blue swag suit with black accessories. Later in the day, a wedding dinner was served at the home of the groom's parents, 16 1/2 Kirby avenue, the groom's mother choosing for the occasion a blue and white sheer street-length dress with white accessories.

In the evening the bride and groom received their many friends at a reception in the Hollinger Recreation hall, the bride becomingly attired in a gown of royal blue chiffon with pink roses adorning her hair.

Mr. and Mrs. Cronk will reside in Timmins.

Smith Falls News-Record:—We have just learned that new designs in radios make it possible to get music out of chairs, tables, lamps, and almost every type of furniture. But they haven't converted the bathtub yet. That's one place where we still want to do our own singing.

Salads are Popular for Summer Visitors

Recipes, Tried and Tested from Ottawa.

The following tried and tested recipes will be of general interest at the present. They are from the Home Economics of the Dominion Dept. of Agriculture, Ottawa:—

Summer Salads

"Serve on crisp lettuce and garnish with parsley or watercress." This is usually the final sentence to directions for making salads, which applies to the serving of the following summer cheese salads as well as to all others. Salads must have an air of crispness, which is easily attained if freshly made and arranged on cold, crisp lettuce leaves. They must also have eye appeal, hence a garnish of parsley, watercress or peppercorns to add the needed touch of attractiveness.

Summer is the true salad season, and although the diet should not be made up entirely of cold foods even in hottest weather, the salad has a very definite place in the summer menu. Any of the following salads may be served as the main course for lunch or supper, and with an appetizer and light dessert, will make a satisfying, enjoyable meal.

Jellied Tomato Cheese Salad
 2 tablespoons granulated gelatine
 1 cup cold water
 1 cup tomato juice
 1 1/2 cups cream or cottage cheese
 1 cup salad dressing
 1 cup chopped celery
 1 cup chopped green pepper
 1 tablespoon minced onion
 Salt and pepper to season

Soak gelatine in cold water. Heat tomato juice to boiling point. Dissolve gelatine in hot juice. Add cheese and heat until thoroughly blended. Cool. When mixture is partially thickened, add salad dressing, celery, green pepper, onion and seasonings. Pour into a mould. Chill until firm.

Cheese-Vegetable Salad
 1 tablespoon gelatine
 3 tablespoons cold water
 1 1/2 cups cream or cottage cheese
 1/2 cup mayonnaise
 Juice of 1/2 lemon
 2 tablespoons sugar
 1 cup grated carrot
 1 green pepper, chopped
 1 small onion, minced
 1 medium cucumber, seeded and diced
 Salt to taste

Soak gelatine in cold water. Dissolve over hot water. Mix all ingredients. Stir in dissolved gelatine. Mould and chill.

Lettuce Rolls
 1 head lettuce
 1 1/2 cups cottage cheese
 3/4 cup seedless raisins
 3/4 cup chopped nuts
 3/4 cup mayonnaise
 Salt, pepper and paprika

Wash and dry lettuce leaves well. Combine other ingredients. Spread mixture on leaves. Roll up like jelly rolls. Tie with pimento strips. Serve two or three rolls on each salad plate.

Cheese-Pineapple Salad
 1 1/2 cups cottage or cream cheese
 1/2 cup mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing
 1/2 cup drained, crushed pineapple
 1/2 cup finely chopped pimento
 1/2 cup finely chopped celery
 1/2 cup chopped, browned almonds
 Salt
 Mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing

Toss ingredients together lightly, using two forks. Add salt to taste. Serve with additional mayonnaise or salad dressing.

Tokio Now Less Truculent As Chinese War Drags On

(From Toronto Telegram)

While too much weight should not be attached to reports that Japan has climbed down in the matter of the Manchukuo border incident, it is apparent to the casual reader that Tokio's tone to the outside world has lately been much less truculent than it was even six months ago. When the struggle began in China, Japanese spokesmen talked arrogantly not only of conquering the five provinces in quick time but of clearing western peoples out of the Orient. Japan then meant to be queen in the Pacific, she defied the nations to dispute her claim and she cared little about antagonizing them by her arrogant words and actions. Now her victory in China has become problematical and her visions of hegemony are beginning to fade. She is, in short, neither so strong as she thought herself nor so confident as she was.

Her spokesmen still talk occasionally of a war with Russia as though that were a business she could undertake lightly, but they themselves know better. Such a war may come but if it does, without extremely grave Soviet provocation, it will be because Tokio has decided to yield to counsel of despair. Meanwhile, until the time is ripe, Moscow is unlikely to make the provocation too strong. The more Japan becomes entangled in China, the more Russia gains in relative strength in that quarter, and for her there is a bloodless victory in every check the Chinese give the invaders. At the same time, she, with her difficulties on the European side cannot be anxious to dissipate her strength unnecessarily in the Orient. For Britain, France and the United States the situation has eased considerably. It is interesting to speculate what would have been the position to-day if the Japanese armies had overrun the Chinese provinces and consolidated the conquest as quickly as was expected.

Hostel for Working Girls Being Built at Rouyn

Rouyn, July 27.—Work is nearing completion on the "foyer" or hostel for working girls, being erected at the corner of Portage Avenue and Noranda Street, by the Episcopal Corporation of Temiscamingue. When completed the new Rouyn institution will be in charge of the Sisters of Joan of Arc, of Ottawa. Antonio Bureau, of Quebec City, is doing the ornamental work.

Pedestrians Should Help Reduce Mishaps

Minister of Highways Makes Suggestions to Those Walking.

"Highway accident tolls will be sharply reduced when pedestrians learn to think of themselves as a distinct group in the highway traffic stream," Hon. T. B. McQueen, Ontario minister of highways, stated in an appeal issued recently asking for co-operation from all users of the streets and highways in the press campaign of advertising now being carried on throughout the province, aimed at cutting down the toll of fatalities and injuries.

"Pedestrians have remained strongly individualistic through all the years of rapid growth in vehicular traffic," he explained, "while motorists are increasingly conscious of themselves as a class. Motorists have trained themselves and are being trained to keep their minds on the job of driving, while they have a wheel in their hands. Too many pedestrians have their minds anywhere except on the job of walking on the streets and highways in a manner that will prevent an accident involving themselves and possibly other travellers on the highway.

"The best pedestrians," he said, "are the postmen. They use the streets more than anyone else, but rarely are they involved in an accident, and you don't see a postman's name in the casualty lists. The postman uses the cross walks, is careful and accurate in his judgment of traffic movements and spreads, and he never tries to compete with passing traffic."

Pedestrians, as a group, figure largely in the total number of accidents, analysis of the Department of Highways' accident statistics reveals. The second most frequent type of accident involves pedestrians and resulted in injuries to 3,617 pedestrians last year. "Not all the blame for these accidents can be placed on the motorists' shoulders," Mr. McQueen said, "because more than 70 per cent. of pedestrian accidents occurred under normal conditions—the view was not obstructed—there was no confusion of traffic."

The causes of these "pedestrian" accidents point their own lesson and cure, the minister concluded. In the order of their frequency these major accident causes immediately suggest the cure:

1. Crossing between intersections—cross only at crossings.
2. Children playing in the streets—parks, playgrounds and yards are obviously much safer places to play.
3. Crossing the street against traffic and signals—don't walk into the path of trouble.
4. Stepping from behind parked vehicles or objects—don't play hide-and-seek on the highway, but give yourself and the motorists a chance to see and be seen.
5. Walking on, or crossing highway—be fair and be safe; cross quickly and safely and always walk at the side of the road, facing the traffic stream, when using the highway.

Says Fly Has Brain, Heart and Digestive Organs

"Truly, flies are not as highly specialized as we are but the complexity of the various organs of the fly's body leaves us in a fog of dismay. Little do we realize that this tiny body contains a throbbing heart, a controlling brain, a stomach and highly-developed intestinal tract, writes F. A. Urquhart, M.A., lecturer and acting Curator of Entomology, Royal Ontario Museum of Zoology.

"The lowly insect is believed, by most people, to be a 'brainless creature.' True, it is hard to believe that mosquitoes and house-flies possess a complex brain within their minute heads, but if we stop to consider the behavior of insects then common sense alone will tell us that even these minute specks of life must possess some sort of controlling mechanism. The fact that an insect is capable of flight is sufficient proof since such a complex motion requires the coordination of muscles which can only be accomplished by a well-developed nervous system."

Lowlight and highlight for new lip lure. For a subtle well-bred finish use the "lady" lipstick but, for a glistening appearance choose the one called "hussy."

New Lip Lure Stamps You as Siren or Lady

First above all, to thine own self be true." Decide whether you are the swing or waltz type of lady or the siren.

Having made the decision, gather enough courage to accent your personality, even to the tip of your lips.

Follow the lead of Hollywood heroines. There's no reason why you shouldn't have the same lip lure. With dark lacquer nail polish; with sophisticated, striking clothes; with heavy, exotic perfume you should wear a shiny glamorous lip lustre. The creator of the "hussy or lady" idea in lipstick very frankly admits that "the hussy of the duet when applied to the lips makes the wearer a menace to the masculine peace of mind."

The lady on the other hand leans over to the conservative, to the subtle and subdued, to the exquisite and restrained. With light, floral perfume, pale flesh nail tints, with delicate, feminine clothes of the pretty rather than striking variety, the "lady of the lipstick" is the logical combination. Its mission is "veiled loveliness; a demure."

Well-Known Cobalt Pioneer Passes On

Funeral Being Held This Afternoon of Late Alfred Fennah.

Cobalt, July 28.—(Special to The Advance)—Funeral services are being held here this afternoon for the late Alfred Fennah, resident of Cobalt since his earlier days, and who died suddenly last Saturday in Red Lake, where he had been working for some years past. Rev. Richard Haines, rector of the parish, will conduct services in St. James' Anglican Church and at the graveside in Mount Pleasant cemetery at Hailybury, where burial is being made, and Masonic rites also will be conferred on deceased, who had been prominent in the work of that order during his many years of residence here.

Mr. Fennah was master mechanic at the McKenzie Red Lake property, and he died in his sleep. The body was flown out to Kenora and brought east, arriving here on Tuesday morning, accompanied by Mr. Fennah's younger son, Donald, who had been with his father since March on his first job away from home. Mr. Fennah had been in his usual health, it was stated. He visited his home here last Christmas. Prior to going to Red Lake, Mr. Fennah had been at the Ashley property at Matachewan, also as master mechanic.

Active in Masonic circles for many years, Mr. Fennah was a Past Master of Silver Lodge in town and he also was a Past First Principal of the Cobalt Chapter of the Royal Arch Masons. He was a member of St. James' Church. Mr. Fennah is survived by his widow and by two sons, Alfred, junior, who is employed at the Ventures property in Matachewan, and to whom word of his father's death was first telegraphed, and by Donald. A brother, Harry Fennah, who lives in Kirkland Lake, is a former resident of Cobalt.
