men, two were at the point of death as a result of exposure and starvation. Mr. Guenet himself had lost 48 pounds. Two men had to be carried to the airplane. Mr. Gaudreau devoted himself to this heroic task, not only without remuneration but through spirit of humanitarianism.

Mr. Gaudreau led the search for the Quebec government survey party headed by Lt.-Col. J. Romeo Guenet which was snatched from death New Years

Day in the frozen miasma country of Northern Quebec.

Food Supplies Give Out

The Guenet party was flown in the North August 25 to survey a 96-mile line from Lake Evans to the Ontario-Quebec boundary. The work was to have been finished December 10, the men planning to be home for Christmas. Their food supplies ran out November 22 and they were unable to find a cache placed a month previously.

Hunting was poor, but from then on they lived mostly on rabbits.

Without wireless the party was unable to signal its plight or its location. On the evening of December 31 Mr. Gaudreau and Air Engineer J. H. Lucas, in a plane piloted by G. H. Spradbrow, landed when they sighted one of the missing party waving at the plane. "They threw their arms around our necks and cried," Spradbrow said afterwards.

Leo Bernier, a 24-year-old member of the party, was in serious condition from lack of food, and was flown to hospital at Moosonee, Ont., immediately. The other surveyors were brought out during the next two days. All recovered from their partial starvation and exposure.

Despite their experiences from lack of food and being stranded for 39 days with the temperature at times 40 below zero, Col. Guenet maintained "we still could have made another month."

period of 1937. This was substantially greater than South Africa's gain of 133,000 ounces, or 2.3 per cent., and the United States' increase of 81,000 ounces, or 3.9 per cent. In the latter country, in fact, production has been declining of late, running behind 1937 in the past two months. World output, excluding Russia, was up 656,000 ounces, or 4.5 per cent. in the period, and of this gain Canada accounted for more than one-third.

Costly for Kapuskasing Man to Escape Road Dust

Kapuskasing, August 6.—"I didn't want to take the other fellow's dust," explained Joseph E. Dube when he appeared on a reckless driving charge in police court here before Magistrate E. R. Tucker.

As the "other fellow" happened to be two Provincial Police highway patrolmen who clocked Dube at 72 miles an hour, Magistrate Tucker did not long ponder the case before finding the accused guilty and imposing a fine totalling $32.75 and suspending his driving permit for two months.

Evidence was that Dube had picked up his police chasers when he sped through an intersection here. The highway patrol car chased him half way to Hearst before he shook off the pursuit when the officers dropped back as the speedometer needle climbed past 72 miles per hour.

Smiles—Germany, after seizing control of Austria, has repudiated the debts of that country. Nice work if you can get it, Hitler.

North Bay Nugget—John P. Barnum's philosophy of "one being born every minute" must have worn out, as one of his creations, the circus, had to close because of poor patronage.
