Mr. Andy Whetham, who has been holidaying in Callander for two weeks has returned to South Porcupine.

Mr. H. M. Turner leaves on Thursday on a business trip to Toronto and points west.

Mrs. J. Lang, of Kirkland Lake, was visiting in town on Wednesday en route to spending holidays in Gogama with Mrs. Andy Taylor, and in Lorraine with Mrs. Wm. Taylor, both of whom were former residents of South Porcupine.

Mr. Wm. Hughes, who has been visiting at the Christiansen home at the Pamour, has returned to Gravenhurst. Mr. Thomas Donley, of Calumet Island, is visiting his sister, Mrs. J. Cunningham.

We regret to report the death of Mrs. Onesime Laforest, mother of Mr. Fred Laforest, of town, which took place on Tuesday morning in Campbell's Bay. The deceased lady was 93 years of age, and was predeceased by her husband some three years ago. Mr. Fred Laforest, who is on holiday in Toronto, received word of his mother's illness in time to reach Campbell's Bay and see her before the end. The funeral will be held on Thursday, and the interment probably be made at Vinton. Two other sons, Edward and George, and one daughter, Louise, are left to mourn her loss.

Mrs. Thomas Cahill, of Campbell's Bay, (formerly of Timmins) is visiting at the home of her son, Mr. Esmond Cahill.

Do not forget the bridge party which the Rebekah Lodge is holding on Friday evening at 8 p.m. in the Parish hall.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. Regan, now living on Connaught Hill, while playing ball on Tuesday with some children, had the misfortune to catch his foot in a hole and fall, thereby breaking his ankle. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Dr. Fraser, while in town for a few days, attended a meeting of the cemetery board, of which he is a member, at the Rectory. A proposed vault for the cemetery was discussed, but nothing definite was decided at this meeting. This project is one in which Dr. Fraser was keenly interested, and his ambition is to see this vault erected before he resigns from the board. Dr.

Many Questions at Township Council

Protest re Parking of Cars. To Pass By-law re Carrying Explosives. Other Township Council Business.

South Porcupine, Aug. 10.—(Special to The Advance)—A regular council meeting was held on Monday with Reeve Evans and all councillors present.

A protest from business men on Crawford St. regarding the parking of cars, resulted in discussion of the by-law regarding this and their wishes will be considered.

Reeve Evans spoke of the careless handling of explosives (carrying and safe keeping) necessitating a by-law being made to safeguard the public, and this will be drawn up. Fire Chief Smith spoke of having already discussed this point with the Fire Marshal at the recent convention in Sault Ste. Marie. Explosives are carried in trucks to the mines and are sometimes parked on the main streets while drivers are temporarily absent. A by-law is the only way to deal with the hazard.

Tax cases came up for discussion and a taxpayer asked for a road into his property at Connaught. This is private property and the township has no right to build a road he was told.

The Huot township and the water question were once more discussed when another tenant requested water and sewage. This part of the township is not registered, and council is willing to improve the properties when proper authority is given by registration at Cochrane where the plan is waiting.

Northern Telephone pole lines may be placed on Cecil avenue, but no cross arms may be put on them.

Town Foreman Anderson is to look into the matter of a sidewalk to the Schumacher Swimming Pool. In the meantime the Lions Club is to be advised to notify children using the pool to use the old road to the tank for going and coming.

Public acknowledgment of the honour bestowed on Fire Chief M. Smith at the Dominion Association of Fire Chiefs' convention last week was made by Reeve Evans at this meeting. The Reeve said he was happy to acknowledge this honour and would like to point out to the residents of Tisdale the worth of citizens who head the different branches of administration.

Grow Loganberries at South Porcupine

Successful Tea at Edgewater Pavilion. Other South Porcupine and Dome News

South Porcupine, Aug. 10.—(Special to The Advance)—Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Morgan and son Robert, of Buffalo, are visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Gardiner.

Mrs. F. C. Evans, and her sister, Mrs. T. Hardy, of Timmins, left on Monday to attend the funeral of their eldest brother—Mr. George H. A. Donaldson of Kirkland Lake. The late Mr. Donaldson had been in hospital for some weeks, and his end was not unexpected, death being caused by arterio sclerosis. We extend sympathy to the family.

Mrs. Moore and children, of Dome Extension, are home after holiday in Campbell's Bay.

After two months' holiday Mr. Len Mousseau has returned to camp. Congratulations to Mr. "Billy" Millions of Dome Extension who became the father of a son born in Shawville, on Saturday, August 6th. Mr. Millions left on Monday for Shawville. Mrs. Millions was formerly Miss Ethel Cunningham, of Shawville.

The ladies of the Porcupine Association (United Church) feel very pleased with the result of their first public tea, held on Saturday last in the Edgewater Pavilion at Golden City. Under the direction of Mrs. Mason, president of the association, all the members worked, serving tea and selling the home-baked dainties. Pies, cakes, home-baked bread and buns, and the special Finnish coffee bread found a ready sale, and patrons were in plenty at the flower-decked dainty tables in the pavilion. These flowers were sent from the lovely garden of Mrs. Gauthier in Golden City. The ladies would like to thank everybody who helped in any way to make this first venture such a success.

Many in camp will regret to learn of the death, in Ottawa on Saturday, of Mrs. Blackburn, of South Porcupine, and sister of Mr. W. L. Hogarth, of the Hollinger Mine. Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn left on Monday for Ottawa to attend the funeral. The late Mrs. Blackburn lived in Mattawa for many years before going to Ottawa to live, and visited here in South End two years ago.

Another item of interest to many will be the wedding of Mr. Lyndon Huggins, who married Miss Eleanor Greenwood, of Toronto, on Saturday in Queen St. Presbyterian Church, Toronto. The wedding was a very quiet one, owing to the serious illness of the bridegroom's mother, who also resides in Toronto. Mr. and Mrs. Al Huggins, of South Porcupine, were present at the wedding. The young couple, to whom we extend best wishes for future happiness, will be welcomed back to South End next week and will take up residence in Battick's apartments on Front St. Born—in the Porcupine General hospital on Wednesday, Aug. 10th, a son to Mr. and Mrs. Harold McInnis (nee Joan Naish).

A fruit new to this end of the camp, has just reached perfection in the garden of Mrs. Wm. Thomas of Dome Extension. Loganberries, large and ripe—1½ inches long are growing on bushes which were shipped here from British Columbia three years ago. Protection has been given the canes each winter, but this is the first time fruit has matured.

Gathering of Silk Stockings for North

Donations Sought by Grenfell Association.

Sixty thousand silk stockings have been collected thus far this year by Eleanor J. Cushman, and she hopes to collect still more. And all that fine, seductive hosiery is bound for the chill, forbidding wasteland of Northern Newfoundland and Labrador, states the New York World Telegram.

Miss Cushman is secretary of the Grenfell Association of America. Hers is the job, by donations and contributions of clothing and medical equipment and whatnot, of outfitting the chartered steamer that every June and September, once the ice breaks, sets forth on a 1000-mile journey northward. She supplies 30,000 northland residents who have come to look upon Sir Wilfred T. Grenfell as a saint.

In her office at 156 Fifth avenue she insisted it was an effort to help the residents of Grenfell-land to set up for themselves. Distinctly, she said, they aimed to avoid charity.

"People sometimes think we're sending up silk stockings to wear," she said. "You can't wear silk stockings where the temperature gets down to 20 and 30 below zero, where it averages zero in the winter and only 30 above in summer."

Let Stockings Run to Labrador

"We turn the stockings over to the women to make up into hooked rugs. They dye them and set them up on frames to work in all sorts of designs. Then we sell the result for the people or we take them in trade for medical service."

"We can always use more. We've got a slogan: 'When your stockings run, let them run to Labrador.'"

The northland has changed but little since Sir Wilfred made his first medical mission trip to the Labrador coast in 1892. Miss Cushman said it was like going back an entire generation.

"The people still talk Elizabethan English," Miss Cushman said. "When it's a nice day they call it 'civil weather.' When it's bad, it's 'dirty weather.' Those of us from here come from the 'outside' and they're always 'wonderful glad' to see us."

There are about 15,000 permanent residents. Liveries, along the Labrador coast, scattered in small villages set upon the rock-rugged fjords. In a one-resource land, cod is their bread and butter. Last year the cod failed to run in the Straits of Belle Isle.

With depression hitting all markets, the Grenfell folk found their outlets still more dislocated by the troubles of southern Europe, where the poor Catholic population are good fish eaters. First it was the Ethiopian crisis, striking Italy; then the civil war, cutting off Spain.

Lumber, Pulp Industry Helps

Around White Bay, a developing lumber industry, aimed at pulpwood and newsprint, has helped out some of the residents of northern Newfoundland. Too, the Grenfell workers have tried to encourage gardening.

Frozen ground doesn't take too well to vegetables, but they've been experimenting with hardy, fast-growing radishes, cabbages, lettuce, potatoes. One result has been a marked decrease in diet-deficiency diseases, which ten years ago caused half the hospital cases—people bent and twisted with beri-beri. Tuberculosis now presents the major

Police Court Cases at South Porcupine

Gambling, Liquor and Other Cases Before the Court.

South Porcupine, Aug. 10.—(Special to The Advance)—For neglecting to stop at stop signs four offenders paid $1 and costs in court here on Tuesday.

A case of "having liquor" was withdrawn. Another of "having beer" was adjourned, and another for having no driver's license was fined $5 and costs.

A case of reckless driving was also withdrawn.

An assault case brought by a woman resulted in a sentence of 60 days hard labour being imposed on the man in the case. The lady testified (with medical testimony) that the man in question had tried to choke her. Asked what provocation had been given, the man blackened the lady's character and said she had been "keeping his kids," and he had "heard things" about her. Money had been given for bills which were not paid. He asked her for an explanation and all he got was sneers. So he lost his temper and attacked her.

Six "drunks" were fined $10 and costs. Some were very nonchalant as they answered to the call—"were you drunk?" "Yeah," said one, and "creet" said another.

The case involving most of the time of the court concerned the two men who appeared before his worship last week charged under the by-law with gambling. This time they were charged again under the code.

They answered "not guilty" to the charge of keeping a common gaming house.

Raided by police on July 22nd, nine men were found in a room off a poolroom on Golden avenue, playing "cards," (stud-poker) on a padded table. Money in sight on the table amounted to $6.88. At the "head" of the table (it was a round table) sat the proprietor, and on his person money in small denominations was found.

Discussion as to whether the bed in the room was a bed, a couch, or a lounge resulted in the assumption that it was a bed.

There was no evidence of a rake-off except in the money found on accused. A book was produced in court to prove that moneys owing to the establishment had been paid. Asked as to the reason that the money was not put into the poolroom till, the accused replied that money ($20) had been stolen from the till previously and he preferred to keep it in his pocket.

"This is suspicious, but there is not enough evidence," said his worship, humorously adding that he was not an "expert" at poker as he intimidated counsel and chief of police were. Case dismissed.

"Will the money be restored to my clients?" said Counsel Kester. "We'll trust you with it," was the answer.

A case heard in closed court, adjourned from last week, was once more before his worship.

No children other than one witness heard previously, and the accused's own young daughter who testified to being near the scene of the alleged act, and who saw nothing, were brought to the witness stand.

Counsel for accused pleaded at great length for his client's acquittal citing cases similar to the one before the court when acquittal had resulted.

After great length the magistrate dismissed the case for lack of sufficient evidence, his words to accused after dismissing the case being:—

"In future be very careful to keep your hands off little girls, when you have no business to touch them at all."

medical problem for the staff of sixty permanent workers and the same number of summertime volunteers—college boys and girls called "wops" (without payment) people).

Dogs Kill Chickens at Hailybury District Jail

Hailybury, Aug. 11.—(Special to The Advance)—Two dogs which jumped over the three-foot wire fence which enclosed the chicken run at the home of Jams Anderson, guard at the district jail here, on Wednesday morning wiped out the entire pen of 41 birds, purchased only a few weeks ago to furnish eggs to improve the flock. Three dozen of the chickens, which were of thoroughbred stock, were killed by the dogs and the others so badly frightened and worried by the animals they were of no further use to the owner. Mr. Anderson captured one of the dogs and Fire Chief Ken Watson rounded up the other, and further developments are probable.

Kirkland Motorist Has Narrow Escape at Arnprior

Arnprior, Ont., Aug. 10.—When a rear tire in the car in which they were riding blew out on No. 17 highway at the Marshall's Bay turn, two miles east of here before daylight Monday morning, Paul Bernier, 148 Pollock avenue, Kirkland Lake, and two passengers, whose names could not be learned, narrowly escaped injury and possible death.

The car, a coupe, apparently went out of control after the tire burst as it veered across the highway knocking down a section of fence, literally uprooting a telephone pole and plowing under about 3 feet of grain in an adjacent field. Badly damaged, the machine was brought to a garage, here.

This makes the fourth automobile accident in the last three days in this area.

Device Helps Safe Loading of Trans-Canada Airplanes

Winnipeg, Man., August 10.—An ingenious device for determining the centre of gravity for all Lockheed "14" aircraft while fuel and cargo are being added to the initial weight, a Librascope balance computer has been installed in each of the western Canadian hangars from which Trans-Canada Air Lines planes will operate.

At first glance a bewildering mass of dials and controls, the Librascope in reality is simple in operation. Distribution of the cargo for the most efficient flying is easily effected before even a pound is actually loaded in the airplane. Given the weight of the cargo he is to carry, the pilot, by manipulation of the dials, can determine exactly where in the craft it should be placed. For example, if an excess is being loaded into one of the four cargo compartments a "centre of gravity" scale immediately responds, recording the discrepancy and indicating how adjustment should be made.

The weight of the fuel in the front and rear tanks, the express and mail cargo, and of the passengers is taken into consideration in the computation. Even the retractable landing gear comes under the surveillance of the Librascope. How its position, retracted into the fuselage or lowered for landings, affects the balance of the huge airplanes is indicated clearly.

Abitibi Area Marks Anniversary Event

Colourful Scenes This Week at Amos, Que.

Amos, Quebec, August 10.—Streets swept and garnished formed dance floors for the fifteen thousand inhabitants and visitors joining in celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the settlement of this thriving community, the largest in Abitibi. Girls dressed in costumes of Old France and youth attired in uniforms of regiments which had been part of Montcalm's army danced to ancient tunes carried across the seas years ago by the first settlers in Canada. In contrast, there were miners wearing the helmet and lamp of their calling to remind all that this busy city on the Canadian National Railways is also in the heart of a vast mineralized area as well as being the centre of important agricultural development. Amos owes its location and settlement to the building of the railway and that fact was marked by a float in the pageant which opened the five days of celebrations. A mining exhibition gave evidence of the rich mineral resources of this section of Quebec which are now being actively developed.

Fifty-four Ladies at Golf at Iroquois Falls

Games Held on Tuesday with Good Scores Made.

Iroquois Falls, Ont., Aug. 9th, 1938.—(Special to The Advance)—In anticipation of the Northern Ontario Ladies' Golf Association tournament, which starts here on Wednesday morning, August 10th, about 80 ladies in all, have arrived in Iroquois Falls during the past two days, to become acquainted with the course, and play preliminary games of practice.

Elaborate preparation have been taken care of by the lady members of the Abitibi Golf Club, Iroquois Falls, and the Lee Golf Club, Cochrane, and indications show that one of the best contests ever, is to be played here during the next three days.

The valued prizes are now on display in the Mercantile window, and represent awards worth the keen challenge of all enthusiastic golfers.

The course is in perfect shape, having had an abundance of rain during the month of July, followed with a week of warm weather. Growth of grass has been rapid, and necessitated the cutting of fairways and greens daily. Natural hazards, and all removable obstacles have been reduced to a minimum. All tall grass growing in the rough has been disposed of, and several of the gullies filled in. Only a beautiful carpet of deep grass awaits the players, together with the promise of a warm sunshiny day to start off.

Registration of all entrants took place in the hotel this evening, and 54 ladies in all will compete, for the annual championship awards, starting off from tee number 1 at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday morning. Miss Carrick of Sault Ste. Marie, winner of the 1937 title, will not be in the competition for this year, as the Sault did not enter the N.O. G.A. during 1938.

Scores for Tuesday's games average about 45 to 50 for nine holes, with Mrs. W. Pryde, of Kirkland Lake, getting the lowest score of the day, at 42. Mrs. K. Eyre, of Timmins turned in a score of 45, with another 42 scored by Miss N. Bagshaw, of Hailybury. Miss D. Barager, of Kirkland, scored a 44 also for nine holes. The ladies par score for this golf course is a 38.

Crown Hotly Resents Hint of Perjury in Sudbury Case

Sudbury, Aug. 10.—A suggestion that Sudbury police perjured themselves in order to get convictions was hotly denied by Crown Attorney E. D. Wilkins, as James Thompson, 29, Sudbury, was convicted on a drunken driving charge and sentenced to 15 days' imprisonment.

George M. Miller, counsel for the accused, stated it was up to the magistrate to believe either the story told by the police or that told by Thompson's brother, as to the degree of sobriety.

"Can you believe the officer's evidence that this man was drunk?" queried Miller.

"I deplore Mr. Miller's suggestion that the police officers come into this witness box and perjure themselves. They have nothing to gain," said Crown Attorney Wilkins.

Ottawa Journal:—"Decidedly warm" is the official phrase. Much more expressive words are being used unofficially, however.
