Hollinger-McIntyre All Star Team Blanks House of David

Record Crowd Witness Farewell Floodlight Game as All-Stars Triumph Over Benton Harbour Visitors 3-0. Oltean and Callery Hold Visitors to Four Hits, Oltean Striking Out Nine in Four Innings.

The largest crowd that ever saw a ball game in Timmins, jammed the local ball park Monday night to see the House of David make a farewell appearance under the floodlights against an all-star team from Hollinger and McIntyre. Behind superb pitching by Fred Callery, of McIntyre, and Johnny Oltean, of Hollinger, the all-stars blanked the invaders 3-0. "Duke" Kinsey, manager of the visitors pitched the full game and allowed seven hits, one a triple by Bill Prout in the third inning that started the locals on the road to success.

Callery, who pitched the first five innings, was only in trouble in the opening frame. He allowed three hits and struck out three during his stay. Taking over in the sixth inning, Oltean filled the bases with two out on two walks and a single but struck out the next batter to end the inning. In the four innings he worked he literally stood the David's on their ear and wound up with a total of nine strikeouts. In the eighth inning he retired the side in succession by the strikeout route.

Art Scarlett, centre fielder for Hollinger, played the entire nine innings. A McIntyre team, with the addition of Scarlett, provided the opposition in the first five innings, Hollinger taking over for the last four.

The all-stars won the game in the third inning. Callery was safe at first on Moleit's error and went to second on Scarlett's sacrifice. Bill Prout, slugging third sacker for the Macs, teed off on one of Kinsey's slants for a three-base drive that scored Callery. Norm Hann came through with a single to score Prout and the next two batters were thrown out at first.

Just before relinquishing the task to Hollinger, the Macs scored the last run of the night. Scarlett singled and advanced to third on a sacrifice by Prout and Hann's infield out. Cybulski slapped out his second single of the game to send Scarlett across the plate, Darragh striking out to retire the side.

The House of David looked dangerous in the sixth when Oltean filled the bases on two walks and a single with two out but the threat was soon over. Oeak missing a third strike to end the frame. From this point to the end of the game not one of the visitors got on base, Oltean being complete master of all comers.

Title Fight Here To-Night

Failure to Get Farr or Dempsey to Referee Bout Disappointment to Fans.

Keen disappointment is being expressed by local fight fans regarding the falling through of arrangements to have either Tommy Farr or Jack Dempsey referee to-night's Canadian middleweight title bout at Timmins arena between Len Wadsworth, Timmins, contribution to the fight game, and Ray McIntyre, defending champion, who hails from New Brunswick.

Failing to complete negotiations with either Farr or Dempsey, the promoters have secured the services of Phil Zwick, who has been making Toronto his headquarters for some time past. Zwick, a standout in the lightweight division has fought in many parts of the world in the last year and a half and in that time has defeated the English, Australian and New Zealand title holders. He is well recommended as a referee and no doubt will give satisfaction. The main bout is a ten-round affair. In the semi-final "Tops" Telling will oppose Joe Genovese of Toronto in an 8-round featherweight scrap that has all the earmarks of being a crowd pleaser.

Large Crowd at Swim Pool Opening

(Continued From Page One) which they so kindly donated the site. "It will be devoted exclusively to your entertainment," Dr. Weston concluded, "and it is understood that similar events to that of to-day may be staged."

Mr. Harry Ball, of the Board of Governors of the Lions International of Canada, in congratulating the Schumacher Lions in constructing the first community swimming pool sponsored by the club in the North Land, told the gathering that "These men deserve a great deal of credit and they get a great deal of pleasure out of this project."

Mr. R. J. Ennis, general manager of the McIntyre Mines, mentioned the pleasure the mine has found in assisting the Lions, and Reeve Evans, of the Tisdale council, declared the pool officially opened. At the completion of the address, three Schumacher men dove into the pool with perfect timing and co-ordination, giving a touch of pageantry to the opening.

The sports programme for the day was made up of diving and swimming events for both ladies and men, and the audience became more than ever impressed with the beauty of this sport.

Following these events, Mr. Chilcott, supervisor at the pool, and one-time Canadian champion in diving, gave an exhibition of diving, and among other dives performed the difficult 1 1/2 Back Swan, which is rated at 2.1 by the Olympics, the highest degree of difficulty in any dive.

Three members of the Cochrane team gave a clown act, and the event came to end with a bathing beauty contest won by Miss Grace Yull, of Timmins.

In the evening the Lions Club held a dance at the pool.

Winners in the events were: Men's Free Style—75 yds.—1st, Brandon, Schumacher; 2nd, Villeneuve, Schumacher.

Ladies' Free Style, 1st heat—1st, Fernier; 2nd, Warrill; 3rd, Hannen (all of Cochrane).

Ladies' Free Style, 2nd heat—1st, Parsons, Schumacher; 2nd, McLeod, Cochrane; 3rd, Anderson, Cochrane.

Finals, Ladies' Free Style—1st, Parsons, Schumacher; 2nd, Fernier, Cochrane.

Men's Back Stroke—1st, Gerwin, Schumacher; 2nd, Brandon, Schumacher.

Men's Breast Stroke—1st, Gerwin, Schumacher; 2nd, Taylor, Cochrane.

Men's Medley—Schumacher, 1st; Cochrane, 2nd.

Men's Relay—1st, Schumacher; 2nd, Cochrane.

Ladies' Relay—1st, Doris McLeod's team, Cochrane; 2nd, Cochrane team.

Hollys At McIntyre Friday

Solomon Crew Must Win to Get Into Playoffs of Local Temiskaming League.

With the Solomon gang facing elimination from a chance to get into the play-offs of the northern group, Hollinger and McIntyre will tangle in an all-important Temiskaming League game at McIntyre stadium to-morrow evening. The game will start promptly at 5.15.

McIntyre have been the doormat of the group all season but if they can win their next two games, one against Hollinger and the other against Porcupine, they could at least tie the Porcupine for second place. In addition to their game with the Macs, Porcupine also have another game to play with Hollinger, who now lead the league. The standing is:—

	P	W	L	PC.
Hollinger	10	6	4	600
Porcupine	10	5	5	500
McIntyre	10	4	6	400

Harold Buck, Lake Shore Heads Southern Batters

The succession of steady hits from the bat of Harold "Lefty" Buck of Lake Shore placed him at the top of the batting averages for the four teams in the south group of the T.B.L. in games played in the league schedule to August 1.

Buck led Lefty Savoie with the high average of .492, with 30 hits in 61 times at bat. Savoie's average was the only other one above the .400 mark, being .409.

The big ten, taken from those who had played at least 10 games is as follows. Only league games were included. It does not include any Ennis Cup games played with outside teams.

Buck, Lake Shore	492
Savoie, Toburn	409
Cookson, W.-Hargreaves	382
Jenkins, W.-Hargreaves	375
Parent, Toburn	375
Price, Lake Shore	349
Alexander, Toburn	333

Ferti, W.-Hargreaves	329
Corry, Noranda	312

THREE GAMES YET TO BE PLAYED

Local Group of Temiskaming Baseball League Will Finish Next Wednesday.

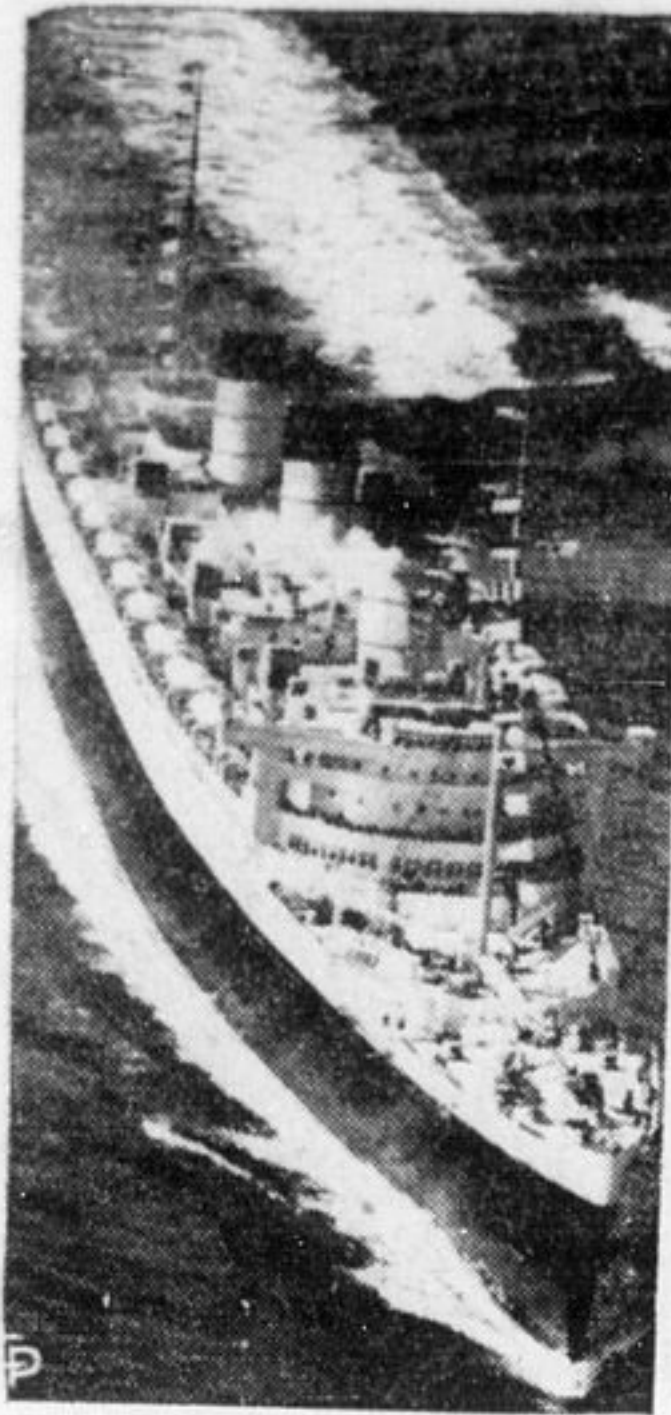

Provided bad weather doesn't force further postponements, the three remaining games of the northern group of the Temiskaming baseball league will be completed by next Wednesday. The race is still wide open and a lot depends on these last three contests. To-morrow night Hollinger will meet McIntyre at McIntyre stadium. Monday evening the Hollys play in South End against Porcupine with McIntyre winding up the schedule on Wednesday night on the home grounds of the Porkies.

Montreal Star:—The wags are telling this one about the President of the United States: On one of his fishing trips he found himself without any bait. His companions could not help him. Undismayed, he lowered his baitless hook, leaned over the water and in his most charming frigid manner said: "My friends! A million suckers came to the surface."

When the ten-round main event was announced by Cam Barrett of Toronto, a hush fell. This fight was going to be serious, because Neable is an experienced professional and Chris Boel is a coming Canadian heavyweight. The two mine camps had bet enough money on the fight to affect the stock market as far away as Bay Street, Toronto.

"Alex McDonald, ex-professional and referee, called the fighters together just over the press section, occupied by one man, a Globe and Mail Reporter, who

SETS TWO ATLANTIC SPEED RECORDS

THE "QUEEN MARY"

CAPT. IRVING

Following a record-breaking westward crossing from Southampton to New York, the crack passenger liner Queen Mary steamed past Bishop's Rock, Scilly Islands, three days, 20 hours and 42 minutes after leaving Ambrose Light, outside New York on the eastward journey, to set up a new mark each way. Secret changes were made to the liner in drydock before the voyage which lifted the blue riband of speed from the masts of the French steamer Normandie. Capt. R. B. Irving of the Queen Mary, in command during both crossings, declared that the vessel was not seeking speed laurels when she chalked up the records.

Former Timmins Boxer Wins Arctic Heavyweight Crown

"Farmer" Neable Wins Title Match at Eldorado Mine Sports Day at Great Bear Lake, Northwest Territories. Was Well Known in Boxing Circles Here Before Going North Last June.

Russ ("Farmer") Neable, of Timmins, is the newly-crowned heavyweight boxing champion of the Arctic Circle, winning the title this week in a battle at Radium, Northwest Territories, at a sports day sponsored by Eldorado Mines, Great Bear Lake. Announcement of Neable's victory was made by Winston Norman in his daily column in the Toronto Globe and Mail, "Down North."

Neable, who campaigned throughout this section of Northern Ontario, is well known in Kirkland Lake and Rouyn also, where he made several appearances. He left Timmins in June and "rode the rods" as far as Edmonton before taking the big 1400-mile jump to Great Bear where he is now employed by Eldorado. For some time he worked at the Hollinger Mine here but this spring was seized with an attack of wanderlust and decided to try his luck in the mining fields of Canada's far north.

The challenger for the main bout of the Eldorado boxing card was 200-lb. Chris Boel, who arrived for the show from the B.E.A.R. mine, fourteen miles from Radium.

Neable, who weighed in at 170, had to give away thirty pounds but was in the pink of condition from hammering his fellow Eldorado miners during several weeks of training.

The following is Mr. Norman's description of the championship battle, which drew a total crowd of exactly 169:—

"When the ten-round main event was announced by Cam Barrett of Toronto, a hush fell. This fight was going to be serious, because Neable is an experienced professional and Chris Boel is a coming Canadian heavyweight. The two mine camps had bet enough money on the fight to affect the stock market as far away as Bay Street, Toronto.

"Alex McDonald, ex-professional and referee, called the fighters together just over the press section, occupied by one man, a Globe and Mail Reporter, who was also acting as judge. The other judge was E. J. Wall, manager of the Radium mine.

"The Globe and Mail's fight card shows the first five rounds of Neable the lighter man, on speed and aggressiveness, and the last five to Boel, by a shade, though the bigger man could not fathom Neable's style and land a solid right. The ten-round decision, a draw, was a shock to the spectators, who had been waiting weeks to win or lose some money. So in the absence of the Marquis of Queensbury, it was decided to declare an eleventh round and draft Corporal Dave Slinn of the Mounted Police as a spare judge. Neable won this round by a shade, and became the first heavyweight champion of the Arctic.

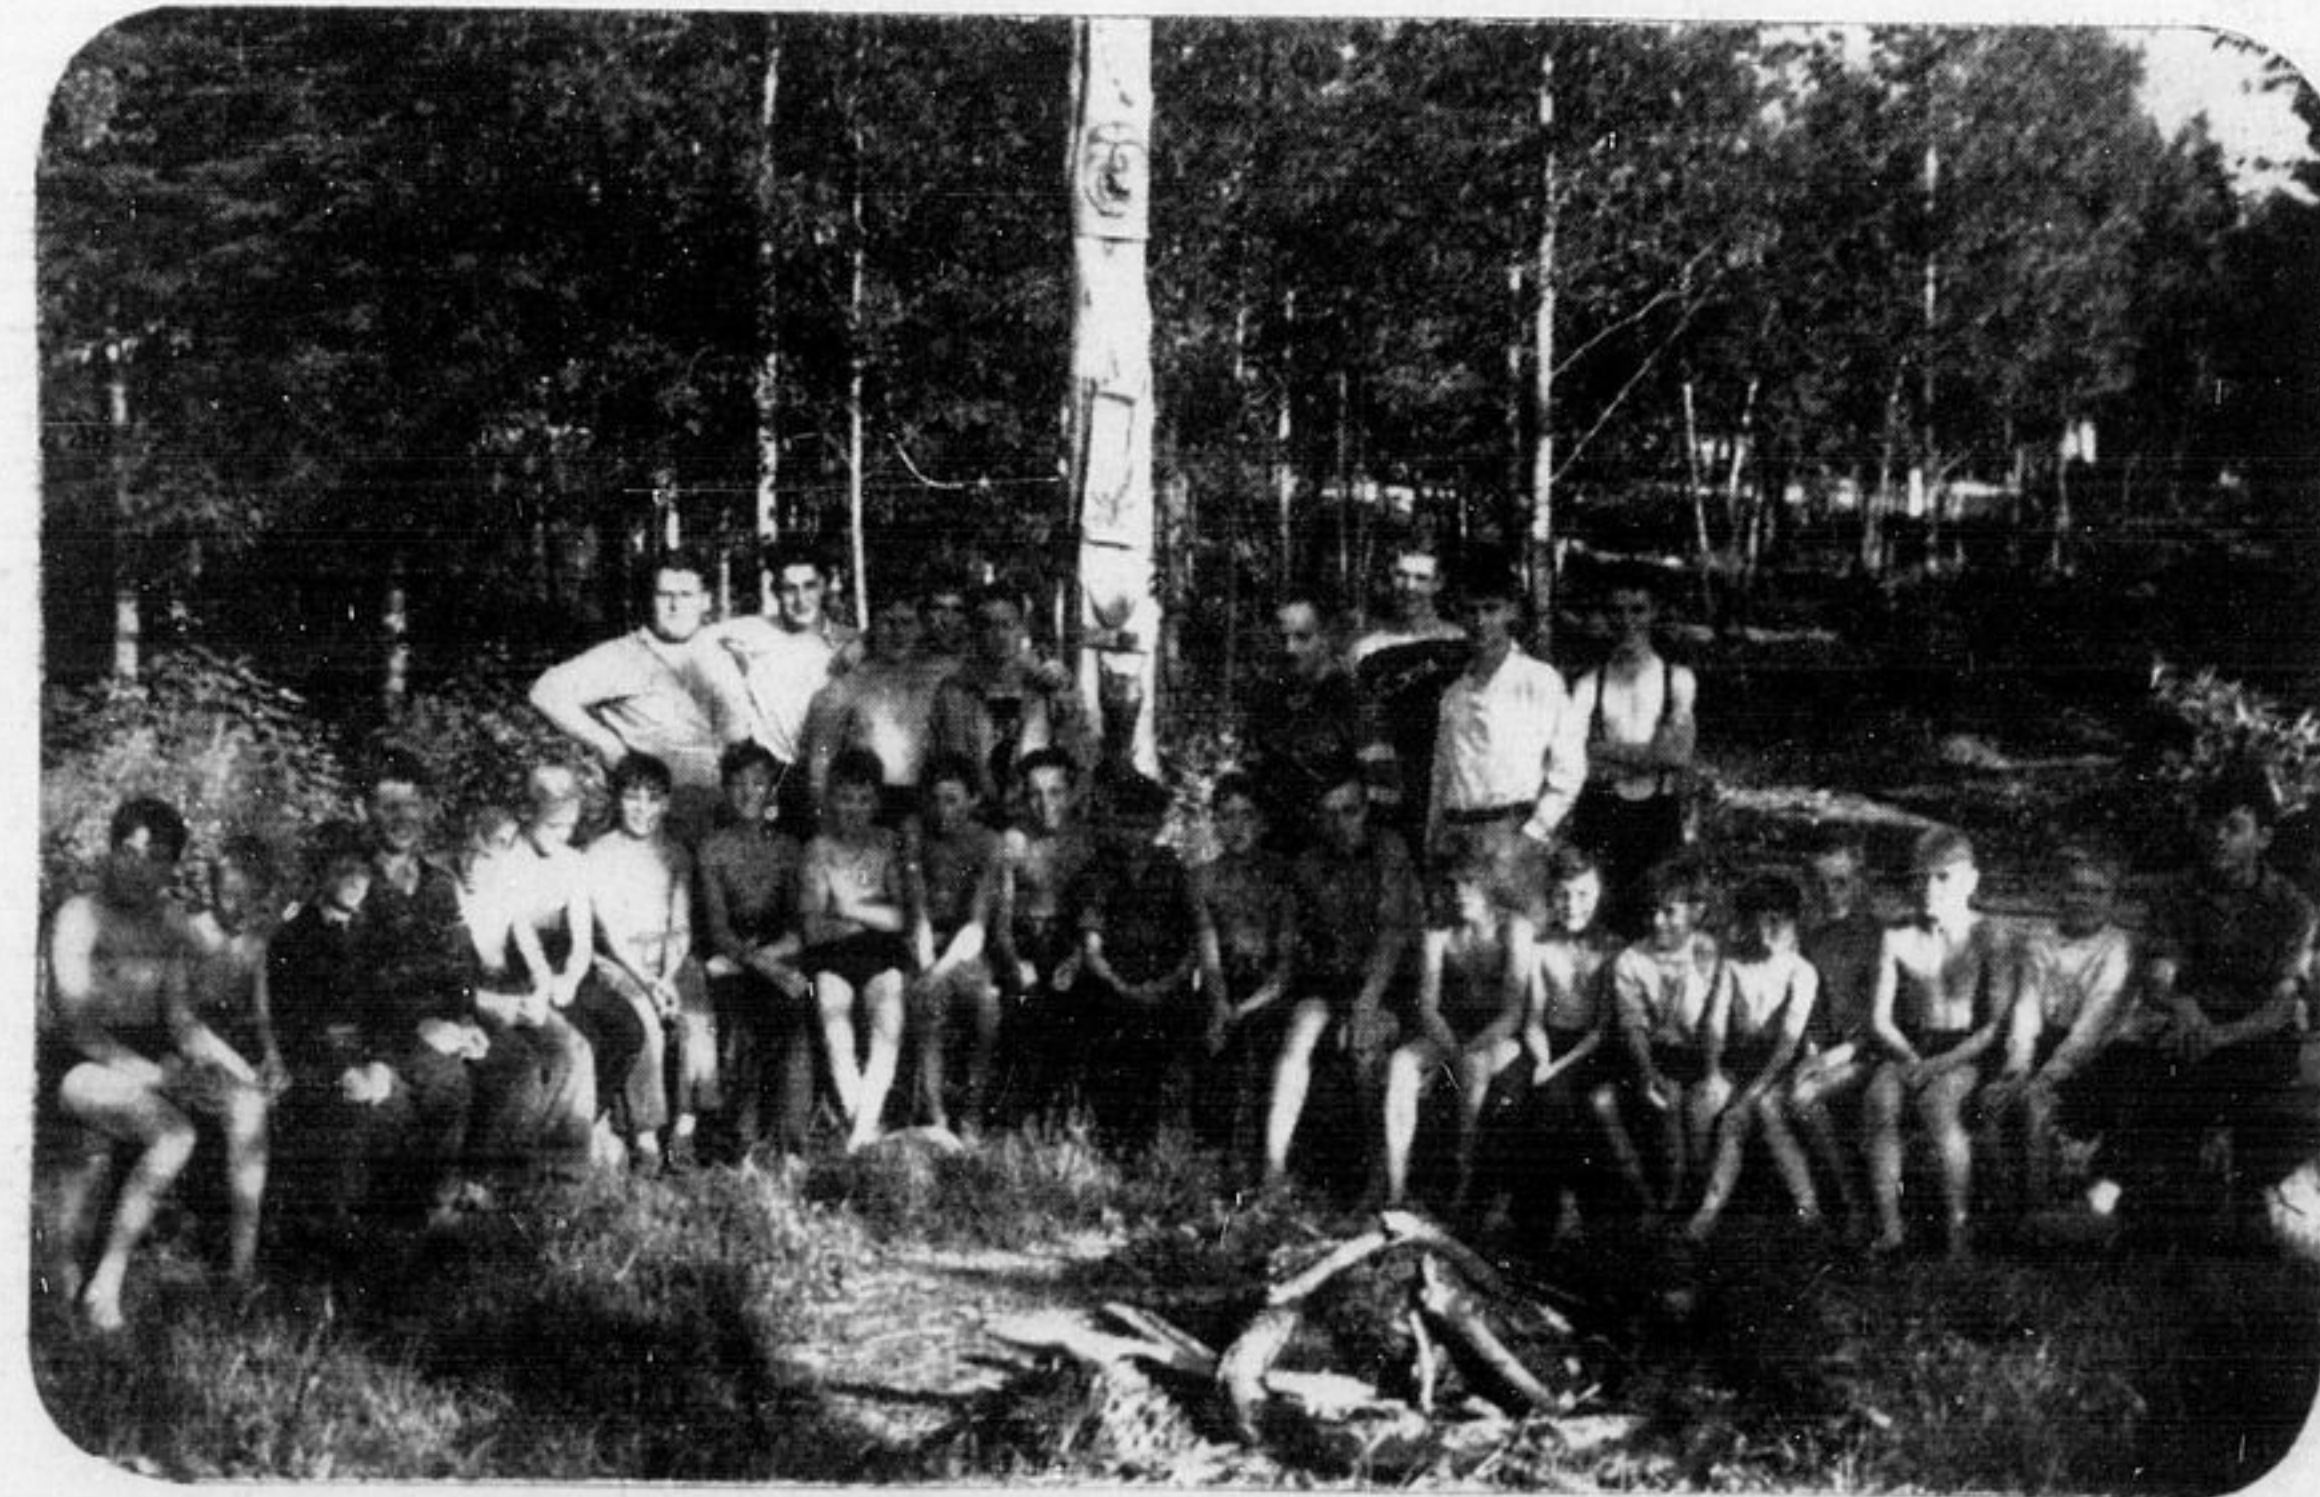

"When bets were paid, the winners provided the losers with refreshments, while Big Corporal Slinn took the Arctic shot-putting championship. The most popular sport was the nail-driving contest. Sam Shawarowski, Ukrainian-Canadian, won it by sinking three six-inch spikes with fourteen blows, no misses. Some brave citizens entered the chilly swim contest, won by Bill Gosling, but the horseshoe contest was forgotten because everybody who wasn't thirsty got hungry and rushed the canteen. With ladies present at the table, neckties were being worn.

"At a late hour, the visitors were loaded into boats and departed for home. A hundred miners of Eldorado have voted that this greatest show in the history of Canada's new frontier should be made an annual sports day, and that the day following should be known as the Morning After."

Mike Jacobs is staging a real good card at Madison Square Gardens for next Wednesday night when six good bouts will be fought.

Brandon Sun:—In spite of every effort to teach them good manners, children have a habit of acting like their parents.

BOYS HAVE HAPPY HEALTHY TIME at the TIMMINS KIWANIS CAMP

This year the Kiwanis Camp has been a remarkable success, despite the weather. There has been a total of 132 boys enjoying the camp this season, in relays of thirty to thirty-five at a time. Above is shown one group of these happy lads who have found health as well as happiness in these camp outings. The average increase in weight per boy is given as 7 pounds. The camp is in charge of Mr. Chas. Joliffe, whose notable work is very apparent this year. For the past couple of weeks he has had an understudy, Mr. Temple, who will take charge of the camp next year. Mr. Joliffe not being available for 1939. The camp closes next Thursday. The picture shows one group of the boys and their leaders. Behind them is the camp totem pole made by one of the boys last year. (Advance Photo and Engraving)

Vancouver North Shore Take Deciding Fifth Game By 6-2

Canadian Championship Goes to British Columbia for Third Year in Succession. North Shore Scored Four Goals in Second Half to Win Final Match Last Night by Decisive Margin.

Dome Tied Monday Game 2-2

Thirty Minutes of Overtime Failed to Decide Dominion Football Final.

Forcing the playing of a fifth game, Dome Mines and Vancouver North Shore played a 2-2 overtime tie in the fourth game of the Dominion football finals at Winnipeg Monday night before a crowd of more than 4,000 spectators. Thirty minutes of overtime failed to break the tie and the two teams left the field in an exhausted condition when the final whistle blew.

Twice the Dome team came from behind to tie the score. North Shore scored near the close of the first half but early in the second, Henry Lone tied the count on a pass from Paynter. Halfway through the overtime Vancouver again scored but with eight minutes to go Lone again saved the day for the Dome team when he headed in a corner kick from Willie Whyte.

Mike McManus was credited with both Western goals, although the first rolled over the goal line off Paynter's knee. The shot by McManus was saved by Goalie Baxter but the rebound struck Paynter and barely crossed the line. His second marker was a header on Paul Kazoolin' corner kick.

North Shore missed a golden opportunity to win the game in the closing minutes of overtime when Bill Findler lifted a penalty kick over the top of the net from twelve yards out.

The gallant Dome Mines team were defeated in the finals of the Dominion football championship series at Winnipeg last night when Vancouver North Shore United took the fifth and deciding game by a score of 6-2. It was the third year in succession that the national soccer title has been won by a British Columbia eleven.

The series was scheduled as a best-two-out-of-three affair but two tie games forced the playing of a fifth contest. The first game was tied 1-1. Dome took the second 3-1. North Shore took the third 1-0 and the fourth game ended in a deadlock 2-2.

In last night's battle, North Shore took the lead in the first half and Dome never equalized. They literally ran wild in the last half, scoring four times to win decisively.

Minus Jimmy Spenser, the Westerners took their cue from Swede Larson, playing his first game of the series. The big forward, injured in the Western final with Winnipeg United to Weston, scored two first half goals to give his team the lead.

The game was another thriller that produced wide-open rugged football and thoroughly pleased a crowd of nearly 5,000.

Gunnar Barlund, the Finnish heavyweight, is scheduled to fight late in September. His opponent is almost sure to be Tommy Farr. This fight will likely be one of the first of a preliminary series to get a worthy opponent for Joe Louis next year.

Listening to Clem McCarthy and the crowd last night at Madison Square Gardens, and the final announcement, Henry must have got his medal on a gold platter.

Armstrong Decisions Ambers For World Lightweight Title

Dusky Challenger from Los Angeles Gets Split Decision Victory. Partisan Crowd Howls Disapproval. Ambers Knocked Down Twice but Stages Strong Comeback in Closing Rounds.

With a partisan crowd howling its disapproval, Hammering Henry Armstrong, of Los Angeles, was given a split decision victory over Lou Ambers, of New York, in their world lightweight championship bout at Madison Square Gardens last night.

The coloured bombshell from the west coast made boxing history with his win over Ambers, which makes him the first man to hold three ring crowns at the same time.

His arms smeared with blood and nearing the point of exhaustion in his efforts to stop Ambers, Armstrong emerged from fifteen savage rounds to win by an official split decision, despite an erratic finish that cost him three rounds on penalties for hitting low and a spectacular rally by Ambers.

Armstrong, although unable to finish his sturdy foe and actually hand himself to save his winning margin through the last five rounds, scored two knock-downs and won decisively, notwithstanding the penalties for questionable tactics.

Ambers was knocked down in the fifth round and saved by the bell which rang a split second after he was levelled to the canvas with a murderous right to the jaw. Again in the sixth, Armstrong brought his man down for a count of eight but his most desperate efforts thereafter were unable to upset Ambers.

In the fourteenth, after losing three straight rounds to Ambers, two of them on penalties, the negro connected with a right hand that knocked the champion into the ropes. But for the backstop Lou would have gone down for the third time but he recovered his footing and averted further trouble.

Sammy Luftspring, hard hitting Toronto Jewish welterweight, made his first appearance in Madison Square and pounded out a decision in six rounds over Salvy Saban, of New York, in the semi-final bout. Luftspring, at 146½ weighed only a half pound less than his opponent.

To Prove Once More That Crime Surely Does Not Pay

Columbus Dispatch:—That "crime doesn't pay" appears to be in danger of becoming one of those sentimental platitudes which lose all meaning through repetition. This would be a pity, for, as applied to the great majority of criminally disposed individuals, it is literally and actually true. An illuminating proof of this fact is furnished by the government bulletins which disclose that last year in the United States the average robber got only $89.36 on the "job" for which he was convicted, and the average burglar, $59.19, and the average larcenist, $29.27. Yet men—particularly those in their teens and twenties—gamble on sudden and violent death or long terms of imprisonment for such paltry gain.

Now They're Debunking Joe Miller's Joke Book

The oft-heard misstated jest, Who was that lady I saw you with last night?—That wasn't a lady, that was my wife, didn't originate with Joe Miller, but it is of the type that is indelibly associated with the well-known name. A name that now has lived for two centuries after its possessor's decease. A fame that—it seems—was thrust upon it unjustly.

"As is well known by all and sundry, jokes credited to Joe Miller and his famous joke book have been repeated, amplified and adapted to fit the time for many generations running back to the first half of the 18th century," the St. Louis Globe-Democrat has noted.

"The point is, according to an informative review, Joe Miller, who is credited with authorship of hundreds of jokes that have lived for 200 years, never uttered a jest in his life save as he read lines written for plays in which he appeared, such as 'Hamlet,' in which he played the First Gravedigger.

"In fact, according to the modern version, the imperturbable gravity of this man who is the reputed author of every jest—past, present and to come—was such that a joke book he never saw, issued after his death, on Aug. 16, 1738, was derisively ascribed to his authorship. The content matter, 247 jests then current in London and from which have stemmed most of the jests that have rolled down the years, was collected by John Motley, an actor of the time, and ran three editions and wide distribution almost immediately.

Joe Wasn't a Jester, He Was Only An Actor

"As for Joe Miller, he was an actor of 25 years' experience with more than 50 roles to his credit. While some of the parts were comedy parts, it is said that Joe saved all of his comedy for the boards he trode and for the wage of the time. Off stage he was entirely out of stage character, and there is said to have been no comedy in his appearance or actions or sparring remarks. Excellent comic actor before the footlights, he took on a cloak of gloom off stage, being the most taciturn and saturnine man breathing in private life.

"So Joe Miller's Joke Book was not Joe's at all, even though his memory has suffered these many generations for whatever of reproach that greets new jokes that are not new."
