

Urges Traffic Safety In Address To Lions

Chief of Police Gagnon Special Speaker at Weekly Meeting. No Fatal Accidents in Timmins for Nearly Two Years. Local Fingerprint Expert Explains System in Use Here

Urging his listeners to remember that it is much better to kill time than people, Chief of Police Leo H. Gagnon gave a comprehensive analysis of a departmental campaign for highway safety and traffic control in an address at the weekly luncheon of Timmins Lions Club last Thursday night.

Gagnon explained, is due to a great extent to the constant vigilance and patrolling by police officers and the prosecution of reckless drivers. In this connection, he pointed out that accidents to date this year, compared with the same period in 1937, show a decline of forty per cent. Injuries at the same time have decreased thirty-three per cent, with property damage down forty per cent.

er traffic safety, was a request to motorists not to leave keys in cars. "Most stolen cars are involved in accidents," he pointed out. Jay walking was mentioned as a most serious problem along with indiscriminate operation of bicycles. Care in pulling away from a curb or approaching an intersection with a car was also stressed by the Chief.

Decoration Day Held by the Legion

(Continued from Page One) from among the Jews, nor the memorial of them perish from their seed. This, Adjutant Cornthwaite pointed out was the account of the founding of the Jewish memorial day. "The people took upon themselves a national memorial day," he said, "and it has been faithfully kept throughout all the generations from that day to this. Let us not forget that we have a double reason for keeping our memorial day. The Jews observed a bloodless victory, but ours was purchased at a great price of precious lives." He said the Decoration Day or Memorial Day observed on Sunday should be thought of first as a memory day. It was wrong to think that the only way to console is by diverting the mind from all memory of that which causes pain.

The very memory of our loved ones," he said, "blesses us and makes us more gentle. Every memorial observance brings out nobility and tenderness of heart. It is neither manly nor womanly to be either hardened or forgetful." In recalling the past, he added, a memorial day has many important lessons. It teaches Christian patriotism. "Love of country," he said, "is not only a natural sentiment in every true heart, but it is right in the sight of God. No man can ignore his relation to his country and not sin against God."

The memorial day, Adjutant Cornthwaite pointed out, teaches the value of peace, the awful cost of war in money, in lives, in misery, in sorrow, in loss. "At a great price we obtained this freedom," continued the speaker, "it was the price of blood, the blood of a nation's heroes whose memory we so gladly honour. Our country will not soon forget the value of peace purchased at such a cost. Decoration Day is a constant reminder of the terrible price paid. The day shows war at the best a necessary evil, to be justified only by a righteous cause. The day also brings lessons of gratitude and hope. As we recall our country's blessing, how much cause we have for gratitude to God."

After the address by Adjutant Cornthwaite, "Last Post" was sounded, and "Reveille."

Then came the hoisting of the Union Jack on the beautifully kept Legion plot at the cemetery, followed by the decoration of the graves of the ex-servicemen at rest in Timmins cemetery. On each grave of the ex-servicemen was placed a small Union Jack.

Timmins and North on Empire Broadcast

Much interest was aroused in town by the announcement in The Advance last Thursday that Mr. D. Mackie, who has been on a visit to his old home at West Calder, Midlothian, Scotland, and to other parts of the British Isles, would speak over the air from London, England, on the Empire broadcast. Those who had short wave sets planned to tune in on the broadcast, while those who were without the short wave, or without a radio at all, looked around for a place where the broadcast could be heard. There was some disappointment when it was announced that the local station would not carry the broadcast, but later this was remedied by the Empire programme being clearly presented through the local station. A large number of Mr. Mackie's friends had the pleasure of hearing his voice over the air from London, England. Mr. Mackie was the last speaker on the programme, other parts of the Empire

Fingerprints Explained
Constable George Archambault, in charge of the fingerprint and photographic bureau of the police department, contributed an interesting description of the history and uses of this international method of crime detection. The system was introduced in Timmins less than two years ago and since that time more than 350 individual records are on file. In all cases where delinquents are charged with serious offences, fingerprints are taken before their appearance in court and forwarded to the central bureau in Ottawa where their complete criminal record can be ascertained within twenty-four hours. In a number of cases accused persons have voluntarily admitted previous records as soon as fingerprints are mentioned.

Anglican Church Scene of Wedding

(Continued from Page One) friends added to the beauty of the home. The hostess had a gracious assistant in welcoming and caring for the many guests in her sister, Mrs. Norman Macdonald, aunt of the groom. Mrs. Arthur Booker and Mrs. A. Allen poured tea and coffee. Miss Jean Macdonald and Miss Marjorie Booker assisted at the tea table. The wedding cake made by Mrs. Morrison, a friend of the bride, was served by the bride's mother and the bridesmaid. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. G. A. Macdonald, very happy response being made by the groom. At the reception the bride wore her wedding gown.

Later in the afternoon the young couple left by motor for a honeymoon to Toronto, Brantford, Port Carling and the Eastern Townships of Quebec. The bride chose for travelling a gusky rose crepe tailored frock trimmed with touches of duobonnet shade, with hat and gloves to match, and blue velvet coat and bag. On their return from the honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Leonard A. Traver will reside at Malartic, Quebec, where the groom who is a graduate mining engineer, has a position in the milling department of the East Malartic Mines.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were—Mr. and Mrs. Norman S. Macdonald, and son, Bill, of North Bay; Messrs. Bill and Glen Hall, of Kirkland Lake; Mrs. T. M. White, of Kirkland Lake. Bride and groom were showered with beautiful gifts and good wishes. Previous to her marriage the bride was guest of honour at a miscellaneous shower by Miss Ann Jopson, a linen shower by Miss Marjorie Booker, and a tea and hosiery shower by Mrs. G. A. Macdonald. The groom's friends entertained him at a stag party last week at the home of Clem Leaman.

Bingo Bazaar Proved To be Successful Event

Dancing by Miss Jeannette Garrette and Floor Show by Miss Margaret Easton's Pupils Among the Headline Attractions at Event Last Week. Bazaar Proved Financial Success.

The bingo bazaar held in the Timmins arena last Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings and again on Monday night, under the auspices of the Italian Sacred Heart Church proved a decided success in every way and netted a neat amount for the church building fund. There were the usual bazaar attractions, with bingo especially featured among the games, but there were also some extra special numbers on each night's programme to give the event particular popularity and draw big crowds. The headline attraction was Miss Jeannette Garrette, noted concert and movie artist from the famous Horace Heidt's orchestra at the Biltmore Hotel, New York. Miss Garrette came from New York specially to appear on the programme of the bingo bazaar and her dancing at the event fully justified the fame she has achieved as one of the most gifted and charming dancers on the concert and movie stage. On her first appearance at the bazaar on Thursday evening, she was given a warm welcome and her charm and talent as a dancer won her increasing popularity here. Costumes, grace, skill and charm combined to make her dances a delight. As a tap dancer she takes the highest rank, and her special dances won the applause of all. Her presentation of the Scottish tap and whirl on Saturday night won her a regular ovation.

Another genuine headliner for the bazaar was the floor show presented by Miss Margaret Easton and some of her talented pupils. Miss Garrette had generous words of praise for these numbers and commented on the evident skill of their teacher as well as the very apparent talent of the pupils themselves. The numbers in the floor show included:—Military Tap — by Shirley Thompson, Jean Shields, Florence Pearson, Vera King, Beatrice O'Rourke and Ann Jamieson — effectively and gracefully presented; Toe Tap — a charming number gracefully and cleverly given by Miss Elsie Yates; Rhythm Tap — talented and attractive number by Miss Betty MacMillan; Spanish Tarantella — an outstanding number by Miss Patricia King, whose gifted work won the sincerest applause; Shim-Sham Shuffle — clever and pleasing dancing by Jane Molesley, June Kelly, Florence Pearson, Shirley Thompson and Beatrice O'Rourke. The costumes of the young dancers added to the effectiveness of the several numbers. One of Miss Easton's floor show numbers on Saturday night really "stole the show." This was the charming little lady, Miss Claire Fluet, whose graceful and gifted acrobatic work to music brought down the house. Miss Easton and Mr. P. Quinn played for the floor show numbers, while the music for Miss Garrette was provided by Andy Caganiano and his orchestra, who also played at other times during the bazaar.

Among the other special features of the bazaar was the Italian spaghetti supper served each evening and enjoyed by large numbers.
