sists of a corps of twelve blind men in Ontario, is to seek out cases in which the possibility of saving deteriorating eyesight is apparent, and to see that necessary treatment is secured.
 A portion of the fund raised by the Institute in its public campaigns is devoted to this immensely important work of the prevention of blindness. Naturally, the main work of the Institute is the care of those who are without sight, but the phase of the Institute's work which deals with prevention is regarded as of major importance.
 In Timmins on Sept. 17, there will be a tag day in the interests of The Canadian National Institute for the Blind. It is under the auspices of the Timmins Committee of The Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

Twenty Years Ago

From The Porcupine Advance Files

Sometimes it does not rain so hard as in other years at Iroquois Falls on Labour Day. Twenty years ago, for instance, the rain was not enough to spoil the day as it did ten years ago. In 1917 there was rain on Labour Day at the Falls and a wonderful programme for those times was more or less spoiled by the weather. Again in 1918, the weather acted meanly, but even the rain did not spoil the 1918 Labour Day at the Falls. Between 300 and 400 from Timmins went over for the occasion and there was a good representation from Cochrane and other towns in the district. Timmins had a baseball team at the event, as well as a team for entry in the firemen's tournament. J. T. Easton was in charge of the latter team. Reeve J. E. Boyle, of Tisdale, officially represented the township at the Labour Day event and was one of the judges of the parade floats, etc. "The main part of the programme," says The Advance in reporting the Labour Day at Iroquois Falls in 1918, "was gone on despite the weather. And despite the weather most of the people were optimistic enough to have a good time. It takes more than rain to kill an optimist. And to live in the North Land a man or a woman must be an optimist. All children are optimists until they are spoiled. Iroquois Falls has done so much good work since last year with cinders, gravel, macadam, etc., to say nothing of lawn grass and sod that the clinging mud that was so noticeable and affectionate in 1917 was only to be found this year in a very few places. In the firemen's tournament Cochrane won everything. Timmins and South Porcupine tied for second place in the hose reel race, and divided the $25.00 cheque rather than run it over in the rain. South Porcupine made a smooth and speedy run, but Timmins lost out through having to wait for water, the low pressure being a new one for the Timmins team. Timmins was fourth in the ladder race.
 Timmins was honoured on August 31st, 1918, by a visit from Most Worshipful the Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Ontario of the Masonic Order, M.W. Bro. W. H. Wardrope, K.C. of Hamilton. The Grand Master was accompanied by Timmins by District Deputy Grand Master D. Johns, of Haileybury, and Past District Deputy Grand Master N.J. McAulay. The party was taken on a trip through the mines and also on a little voyage up the river where they enjoyed the scenery and noted the possibilities of the country. A visit was also paid to South Porcupine and other places of interest. There was a meeting of the brethren of the Golden Beaver Lodge, A. F. & A. M., and visiting brethren, in the evening. Golden Beaver Lodge presented the Grand Master with a beautiful gold nugget suitably engraved, as a memento of the occasion. The toast to the Grand Master was very ably proposed by Dr. H. H. Moore, and responded to appropriately, effectively and eloquently by W.M. Bro. Wardrope. The Twenty-second Masonic District was the toast proposed by Wor. Bro. D. A. Hoggarth, and well dealt with in response by W. Bros. D. Johns and N. J. McAulay.
 In an interview with The Advance twenty years ago Mr. D. A. Hoggarth, principal of the public school here at the time, mentioned two very important matters in regard to the work of the Timmins public school. One was that the rule had been made that unless pupils started to school at once they would lose their promotions, and The Advance urged parents to see that their youngsters were attending school at the start of the term, not only to assure their standing in the classes but also for the sake of the general education and advancement of the youngsters. The other important announcement was that a continuation class had been added to the Timmins public school, and so the pupils had the opportunity to take up High School work here for the first time.
 The Advance twenty years ago gave considerable space (free, at that) to reference to the valuable opportunity offered to young ladies in the district through the arrangement made by the Ontario Government for a three weeks' course at Monthville in Domestic Science, Home Nursing, First Aid, Sewing, etc. A nominal charge of $4.00 per week was made for board and lodging, and this was the only charge in connection with the event except the railway fare to Monthville. The T. & N. O. gave the fare at the rate of one cent per mile.
 At the meeting of the township of Tisdale council on Sept. 2nd, 1918, on motion of Councillors Mackie and Morgan, Messrs J. E. Boyle, J. B. Hutchison, D. Mackie, C. B. Morgan and B. M. Walton were appointed as Board of Fuel Commissioners for the Township of Tisdale, in accordance with the instructions of the Dominion Fuel Controller. The township council also discussed the matter of the tax rate for the year, setting the rate for the Government Loan, the war tax, and the school rates, but leaving over to next meeting the setting of the rate for general township purposes. Constable W. Bennett was appointed an officer to enforce the O.T.A.
 The Dominion Forestry Car paid a visit to Timmins in August of 1918, with the view of emphasizing the value of Canada's forests and the need for the greatest care in protecting these forests from fire and other agents of destruction. This car was in charge of Mr. Robdon Black, secretary of the Canadian Forestry Association, and was visited by several hundred people during its stay here. Mr. Black exhibited motion pictures in regard to the work together with a brief explanatory ad-water supply, was prominent. There was only one really good well in the village, located where the Northern Canada Power office is at the present time. Another source of supply was the Wabi river but that was a long walk and few were willing to take it, particularly in the cold days of winter.

 Some shrewd citizens noticed that the well was being overworked and they took steps. One winter morning a sign appeared on the pump, offering $5 reward for information leading to the apprehension of the person who had dumped a dead cat in the well. Water drawers read this sign and proceeded on down to the Wabi where they cut holes in the ice, all except a few who, knowing the facts, kept right on using the pump despite the expostulations of their more cautious neighbors.

dress at the New Empire theatre. In the car were samples of the hundreds of different kinds of woods grown in this country, with notes as to the locality where they grow, and other particulars.

On Sept. 3rd, 1918, N. Burke, ex-chief of police of Cobalt, was appointed to the police force here, to succeed Constable Greer, who had resigned. Norman McIvor, of the Dome Mines, was appointed engineer at the pump house at the time, who was confined to bed month, to succeed Martin Myles, who had resigned. Chief of Police Wilson was appointed trustee officer, his salary being raised to $125.00 per month.

Odd Form of Political Chicanery Received

Timmins Businessman Has Unusual Example of Election Methods in U.S.A.

This week Mr. Vincent Woodbury received an unusual example of the lengths that are followed in the way of political trickery in some United States elections. The sample, which was used by the thousands in the recent election in California, takes the form of what appears at first glance to be an official cheque for thirty dollars. The sample is printed in the form of a cheque and on what looks like the ordinary safety paper used for cheques. It is duly numbered and prominent on the face of the paper are the words, "State of California." The main part of the "cheque" is printed in type, but the date line, the line for the payee's name and the amount are at first glance written in ink, though as a matter of fact these lines are also printed from a plate, tens of thousands of the forms having been issued by one of the Californian election candidates. A second glance at the "cheque", of course, shows that it is not a cheque, but even then further study is needed to show that it is not in any way official, and instead of being a state document or form of any kind, it is the most brazen of political chicanery. With an official looking design including an eagle in one corner, the "cheque" reads in part as follows:—"Retirement Life Payments—by Initiative Constitutional Amendment the People Propose to Amend the Constitution of the State of California." Then follows on a date line:—"On or Before Nov. 8th, 1938." And another line reads:—"To Pay to the order of You and Every California Citizen Over Fifty, $30.00. Thirty dollars a week for Life. Payable in Dollar Denomination. Warrants of the State of California, Receivable in payment of all State, County and City Taxes. Exempt from State Income Tax and State Sales Tax. Transferable by delivery without endorsement."
 Of course, there is no such "Retirement Life Payments" in force in the State of California, and no legislation suggesting any such thing. There are no "warrants of the State of California" for any such purpose. As a matter of fact, the scheme has never even been discussed in the State legislature. Instead the "cheque" is simply a devious form of political propaganda to advertise an election promise, or threat, similar to that perpetrated by the present premier of Alberta to secure office. The chief difference seems to be that while Premier Aberhart promised only $25 a month, this plan offers $30 a week to all over fifty. All this is shown by a couple of lines in very small type in the lower left hand corner of the "cheque." These two lines read: "This is advertising to acquaint you with this great people's movement." Also on the "cheque" appear the words: "Life Begins at Fifty—with $30 a Week for Life." Under the signature line, "California Pension Plan," are the words, "Your co-operation is requested. Send your name, address and thirty cents for a membership card." This, too, is all in very small type.
 It seems unnecessary to add that there is no hint of where the money could be raised to pay "every Californian citizen over fifty" any $30.00 a month or even any smaller amount. In other words there is no practical or possible basis for the implied promise of $30 a week for life. The whole cheque is no more than an apparently deliberate attempt to mislead. There is reason to think that Canada's election laws would make such a device illegal. In California, however, tens of thousands—perhaps hundreds of thousands of those "rubber cheques" were issued and spread all over the State. One of these was sent to Mr. Woodbury's brother, apparently as a matter of routine in the effort to reach and to impress all voters in the State. The "cheque" was forwarded to Mr. Woodbury as a curious example of what may be done in the way of political propaganda.
 It is interesting to note that whether the "cheques" were the one main cause or not, the candidate in whose behalf they were issued was elected by a handsome majority. He defeated the noted Mr. McAdoo, a member of more than one United States government. It remains to be seen whether there will be a majority demand for the "thirty dollars a week for life," and what will happen if the people have taken the "cheques" at face value. One newspaper commenting on the $30 a week pension scheme suggests that Mr. McAdoo took the wrong plan to counteract the scheme. Instead of seriously pointing out that the scheme was impossible on its face, the newspaper said that the defeated candidate was defeated because he missed his big chance. He should simply have raised the ante—said he would pay $100 a week for life. Should there be any question as to how this amount could be raised the newspaper's proposal was to the effect that the money could be Wouldn't you be bored? You bet you would! And you'd probably do just what Johnny does—stir up a little amusement. His report card shouldn't read "Department: D"; it should read "Eyesight: A". easily assured (at least for the duration of the election) by simply issuing three times as many cheques as necessary for the $30 per week proposal.

But All This Goes Double for the T. & N. O. Railway

"Modern industrial expansion depends on natural resources, particularly forests and minerals. The vast coniferous forests in Northern Ontario and Quebec, served almost exclusively by the Canadian National, are the basis of an expanding pulp and paper and cellulose industry. We are only beginning," says the Canadian National Magazine in an article "Canada at Work." "to realize the mineral wealth which is stored in the Laurentian Shield, which is traversed by the Canadian National with main and branch lines.

"It is no accident that most of the development which has taken place in the past 10 years has been along the lines of the C.N.R. In opening up great mineralized areas carrying a variety of industrial and precious metals and wide areas of timberslands, the Canadian National brings into being new developments in Canadian industry. Considering the short space of time involved, the progress already made is remarkable and indicates that there is in store for Canada and Canadians a very important industrial expansion. The Canadian National, in pioneering the development of Canada's industries, is expanding and making more secure agriculture, still the basic industry of the country."
