

So. Porcupine Men Had Perilous Time in Far North

Notable Address to South Porcupine Young People

Mr. W. W. Tanner, of Timmins High and Vocational School, Speaks on Life and Its Meaning. Activities of the Sewing Circle. Other News of South Porcupine and the Dome.

South Porcupine, Oct. 19.—(Special to The Advance)—Thirty young people with Anglican Scouts and Guides in uniform attended Corporate Communion in the Anglican Church on Sunday at 8 a.m. and went after in a body to the Parish hall for breakfast. An address described to us as being the best yet heard given to young people in our town, was given by Mr. Tanner, principal of the Timmins High and Vocational School, specially invited by the A.Y.P.A. as a guest speaker, after breakfast.

In giving them some thoughts on life and its meaning, he compared a three-legged stool to a well balanced life. Without one of its legs, the stool is useless for its purpose, he said. Life has three supports, physical, mental and spiritual. With all developed, life is complete; lacking one, then life is not. He spoke of mental development, and urged all of them to read well and wisely, and develop that part of them to become all-round good citizens.

Physical development, he said, must not stop with school activities—use muscles and go in for sports for development, join clubs, etc.—thus can one grow physically and keep fit.

Spiritually, too, one needs to develop and grow—deviation from the moral code upsets the balance of a man's perfect life; therefore keep straight, and use the means given to all to develop one's spiritual life.

This address was given in language simple and direct, and must have found a response in every young person present.

A hearty vote of thanks was given to Mr. Tanner for his attendance and address.

A social afternoon was the program for the Sewing Circle of the Anglican Church on Tuesday. Tea was served after an afternoon of recreation. ### Police Court

Eight drunks appeared before Magistrate Atkinson on Tuesday, and all were found guilty and fined $10 and costs.

For failing to carry his driver's license one paid $5 and costs. Another for speeding paid $10 and costs. A case from Matheson where Provincial Constable Gall found three sealed bottles of liquor being carried under the hood of the engine of a car, came up for hearing. The provincial policeman stated that quantities of the "stuff" is distributed through the country in this manner and he would like to see the car confiscated.

Plaintiff asked for a "reckless driver." Twenty-five dollars and costs or 30 days, with driver's license suspended for 30 days, was meted out to a "reckless driver." On Oct. 9th Constable was called to Schumacher after a car collision and found the accused's car three feet over on the wrong side of the road. The driver was said by the policeman to have been "not very steady on his feet."

"I have paid all costs of repair to the other car," was accused's defence. Another reckless driver was defended by Mr. Gardiner. On Oct. 9th, Sgt. Douglas followed a car from the Coniarum into Schumacher; he stated that this driver nearly put another car into the ditch and almost forced another off the road. He stopped him in Schumacher opposite the police station. "A handy place to stop!" commented the magistrate, and laid the charge. The man was quite sober.

Counsel suggested that the sergeant's evidence was "taken for granted," and that his client should be believed when he stated that the evidence was not true. "Other evidence might have been secured and brought to court," he stated.

"The constable was in a better position to see what happened," said his worship. "If things had been all right he wouldn't have stopped the car at all."

$10 and costs with driver's permit suspended for 10 days.

A man was charged with being intoxicated in charge of a car. This he denied. On October 13th constable arrested accused at 2 a.m. on the Dome Road. A friend with him was quite drunk. The driver was given a walking test and upon trying to turn round quickly at the policeman's order staggered. Consequently both were arrested and brought in to South End Jail. Counsel for defence, Mr. Langdon, advised that accused had asked for Chief in order to ask for a doctor to examine him as to his condition.

Both Policeman Woods and the Sgt. denied hearing this request.

The previous story to the arrest was night. "Knocking on doors" on Golden Ave., and were later found by police that both men were seen around mid-night drinking beer—each with two open bottles in front of them.

Later the policeman recognized the two men in the car as being the same. The sentence given was 20 days hard labor, with car to be impounded for three months.

A case of non-support that has been before the bench two or three times previously, will now be transferred to a higher court, as the man was stated (by counsel) to have made application for divorce.

A case held in private court concerned a woman proved to be mentally ill.

Her husband gave evidence, and the woman herself proved conclusively to the magistrate's satisfaction that her outlook was not a sane one.

She will be taken to a mental institution and examined by psychiatrist; and if curable will be put under proper treatment. Her hallucinations were that all things which she saw and wanted were hers for the taking.

Misadventures in the Moosonee Area

Story in Detail of the Trying Days Spent by South Porcupine Men in North.

South Porcupine, Oct. 19.—(Special to The Advance)—Messrs. Ellis Wright and Harry Martin came in from Moosonee on the train on Monday night after three weeks' adventure (and misadventure) in the North.

As was stated in last week's "Adventure" the two men, who were on a two weeks' hunting trip up the Hurri-canaw River had failed to make Moosonee on scheduled time, and some little anxiety was felt in town as to their safety in that perilous part of the North.

We heard the whole story yesterday. They left Amos with an outboard motor in a canoe, and all paraphernalia for two weeks' hunting. For the first 200 miles down the Abitibi river everything went well. Then the first setback occurred; the motor got wet with a water filled canoe, and had to be dried out. At the junction of the rivers and from there on to the mouth of the Hurri-canaw (Hanna Bay) there were continuous rapids for fifty miles.

In one spot, only four miles a day could be travelled. Fifty-three portages varying from "50 jumps to 50 chains" were encountered, and after 13 days their food, with wetting had dwindled down to bannock and rice. No fish, no ducks while on the river, but when near the mouth they shot snipe and ducks.

At Hanna Bay they were able to get provisions, but something had gone wrong with the motor and they had to paddle across the bay. The tide caught them and left them high (but not dry) on the mud flats. They tried their supper over a gasoline can.

At 3 a.m. the tide came in and they went across the bay to "Black's Camp" where their motor was fixed.

Next day at 4:00 in the morning they left with the tide from Hanna Bay to the mouth of the Moose, en route for Moosonee. A heavy sea was flowing and a strong wind opposed the tide—the waves were huge and the canoe filled and went down.

Both men were heavily equipped—pockets filled with cartridges, etc., and heavy boots on.

Mr. Wright caught a large empty gasoline can used it as a buoy and managed to make shore.

Harry Martin turned over the canoe and hung on and paddled to shore.

Both were soaked and managed to dry themselves at a fire they made (matchboxes in waterproof case), and after with the canoe and one paddle and a pole managed to get to the Hudson Bay staff house at Moose Factory where they were hospitably received and were able to send word to their anxious families that they were safe.

They lost two guns, two packsacks, tent and eiderdowns (recovered washed up later), an axe, a camera with all films recording their adventures, their cooking outfit and paddles. Added to which thirteen geese, which were to have provided a grand Thanksgiving on their return, are now floating round somewhere "up North." This last loss appeared to be the greatest of all.

But they had a grand time.

ORGANIST INVENTED THE LOCOMOTIVE WHISTLE

The locomotive whistle can claim a musical pedigree. It was invented by an English organist more than a century ago followed a level crossing crash between a train and a farmer's cart on the Leicester and Swannington Railway. In its original form it was not known as a whistle but was called a "steam trumpet."

St. Mary's Journal-Argus: Teacher: "What does it mean when it says, 'The sins of the fathers are visited on the children?'" Pupil: "Dad does my homework and I get the licking."

Justice and truth always go together—but imagine a man trying to describe his own abilities justly—and truly.

Porcupine Ladies Start The Basketball Season

First Meeting of Club at South Porcupine on Tuesday. Weddings at South Porcupine. Bishop Rheame Visits South Porcupine. Other South Porcupine and Dome News.

South Porcupine, Oct. 19.—(Special to The Advance)—The Porcupine Ladies' Basketball Club opened for the fall and winter season on Tuesday in the High School, the same concession being granted this year by the High School Board regarding the use of the auditorium on Tuesday evenings for this purpose.

It was a most encouraging opening, twenty enthusiasts being present and we are told there is room for plenty more. Officers were elected and Mrs. K. Mayes was voted in as president, with Miss Margaret Lloyd as Secretary-treasurer.

It was decided to ask Mr. White to train the ladies this season, as he has had similar experience as a trainer in Montreal.

Uniforms were discussed and decided on. The evening finished with a game—married women versus single—the result being a score of 14-6 in favor of the single girls.

Next meeting at 7 p.m. next Tuesday. Mrs. Bertram Frisby, of Kemptville, accompanied by Miss Todd and Miss Swayne, motored in on Saturday to spend a few days visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Costain and Miss Hazel Todd.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Arvi Maki on Sunday October 16th, at South Porcupine—a son.

Mr. J. McCrae and son Charles, of the Sigma Mines, was a visitor at the guest house at the Dome Mine.

Don't forget the Hospital Shower (fruit, etc.) next Wednesday afternoon. A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of the Finnish Lutheran minister, Rev. Lauri Pikkusari, South Porcupine on Sunday, October 16th, when Aili Maria Walli became the bride of Emil Pakka, both of South Porcupine.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Anderson, of Pottsville, on Saturday, Oct. 15th, twins—a boy and a girl—(still-born).

We regret to note that Mr. George Forster was taken to hospital on Sunday suffering from a heart condition. Pneumonia was feared. Mrs. Forster, who has been visiting her daughter in Noranda, arrived home on Monday.

Mr. Rene Quesnel left on Tuesday for Gravenhurst, after visiting at home for a few days. Rene seems to be improving under treatment at the Sanatorium.

Sunday was a big day in the Catholic Church. In the evening Bishop Rheame, of Halleybury, confirmed 58 children and 8 adults. Two priests from Halleybury assisted. There was a record congregation.

The Workers' Co-operative house parties started on Monday in the Masonic hall under the leadership of Mr. Gordon Harper. Whist occupied the first part of the evening and there was a fair crowd attending. Mrs. Bessette won first prize for whist and Mrs. T. Farrell second, with Mrs. B. Curtis, consolation. For men Mr. Mark Ford came highest for first prize, with Mr. Paul Olsner second and Mr. Perrisimo, consolation. Mr. Tester, of Timmins, gave a talk on co-operation, before oldtime square dancing finished the evening. The committee is planning a winter schedule of house parties and hopes to have them bigger and better every Monday. A special Hal-loween party is to be given next Monday week.

Miss Morgan, superintendent at the Porcupine General hospital, is taking two weeks' vacation, part of which will be spent in New York City.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Brennan, of Schumacher, on October 14th—a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Shaw have been on a hunting vacation in the North

Bay district for the past week, returning on Monday.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. E. Dagenais, of South Porcupine, on Oct. 12th—a daughter.

A meeting of the Girl Guides' Committee was held on Monday at the home of Mrs. B. H. Harper. It was decided to hold a Guide Halloween tea next Saturday week afternoon, October 29, in the Scout hall to augment the funds behind the movement. A balance sheet, which it might be interesting to quote from, was read by the treasurer, Mrs. M. Bessette. Of moneys earned and paid in to the funds all was given toward the upholding and improving of the Girl Guide movement in our town.

Help has been given toward the Scout hall, rent paid for the Guide camp of this summer and assistance for one Guide to go to camp has come from the funds. Every helper in the Guide and Brownie Association is a voluntary worker and does her bit towards the youth movement absolutely without pay. It seems unnecessary to mention this latter fact but some amusement was caused at the meeting by the statement that a Guide Captain was asked how much salary she was paid for her work. We would like to stress the fact that much time is given by these ladies to help our girls and that they are training them in loyalty, Guide-craft, and in the worth-while ideal of life—a work which should receive the whole-hearted support of every good citizen in our town. So, please keep Saturday afternoon the (29th) free to go to tea at the Scout hall, and see how nicely our Guides will serve you.

Mrs. George Webber, First Ave., entertained a number of friends on Wednesday afternoon.

Three Months for Theft and Damage to Property

Halleybury, Oct. 19.—John McDougall, of Matachewan, who on the night of August 3rd last, while, it is said under the influence of liquor, broke into the restaurant of Harry Loh of Matachewan and pilfered therefrom a few pies and other edibles, and who later did some breaking and entering with respect to Scott's pool room where he secured between $20 and $25 in change, some of which was recovered, came up for speedy trial before His Honor Judge H. Hartman here on Friday last.

McDougall, who had elected to go before a jury when he appeared before Magistrate Atkinson following his arrest, pleaded guilty. W. C. Inch who appeared on his behalf, pleaded that his client really did not appreciate what he was doing. In so far as the restaurant was concerned McDougall had tried to get in but had been refused admittance by the proprietor and had then gone through the screen door to get the pies. Most of the money had been recovered from the accused, whom Mr. Inch stated had been off of work due to illness for some months prior to the date of the offence.

He was sentenced to serve three months, the time to date from the day of his arrest.
