18 Years Continuous Service in the Porcupine

Men of Science speak of the "survival of the fittest." What they have observed in nature maintains also in the Business World. Only the best survive. Only those who are most adaptable to changing conditions. Only those, who most satisfactorily serve the shifting demands of an exacting public, survive the vicissitudes of time. The fact that this concern has rendered eighteen continuous years of service in the Porcupine speaks volumes for the progressiveness of its principals and the high quality of the merchandise they sell.

C. V. KEARNS,
