

Help the Poppy Fund to Help the Soldiers

Three-Fold Way in Which the Fund Aids Ex-servicemen.

During the past two weeks The Advance has carried articles dealing with the Legion relief fund and Poppy Day.

Of course, the amount collected on Poppy Day and through the sale of Veteran wreaths does not all go into the local fund and a review of just what happens to your cash is in order. For instance you may have purchased a wreath valued at $3.50 from one of the lady canvassers. The original cost of that particular wreath to the local branch runs around $2.75. This amount is sent to the Veteran Shop. On the total sales of wreaths and poppies the Headquarters of the Dominion Service Bureau also draws a revenue and the final disposition of your order is as follows:

1. You help keep a disabled soldier in steady employment.

2. You help the Canadian Legion to maintain a service of material assistance to disabled veterans and dependants in the securing of pensions and claims. This of securing several adjustments and claims for pension in Timmins and the Porcupine.

3. The balance remaining is placed in the Legion relief fund, and this fund is distributed for the nine months of 1938, over $1,500. Hence a three-fold programme for assisting the veteran movement.

One may like to know also just what the Timmins branch does with this money. There is no secret in its administration. The executive officers look it upon themselves this year to each give a night per week to this work. In this way, every night of the year, except Sunday, a member has been on hand. An unfortunate ex-serviceman comes into town—no place to sleep or eat! Through the fund the Legion was able to give him a bed and meals for a few days. The man was no drag on the public and if no chance for work, he was politely told to leave the town. As many as eight and nine per night have been interviewed and the majority given assistance. Local cases are taken care of by the executive as a whole and generous assistance has been given in a large number of cases. The calls were very heavy in the Spring and again in the early Fall, with the result that curtailment has been made necessary at the present time. With generous response made by the public to the annual Poppy Day appeal for funds to maintain this worthy work the Legion are helping to be able to carry on once again. Give more for your Poppy on Poppy Day!

Annual Meeting Boy Scouts Association

To be Held This (Monday) Evening in Town Hall.

The annual meeting of the Timmins Boy Scouts Association will be held tonight (Monday) in the court room at the municipal building commencing at 8 p.m.

One of the principal items of business for the meeting will be the election of officers for the association for the ensuing year.

Any and every person interested in the welfare and progress of the Boy Scout movement are cordially invited to attend.

The success of the Boy Scout movement in Timmins recently has been due in very large measure to the general interest shown by so many, and the continued progress of the Boy Scouts depends on a continuance and extension of this active interest. A large and enthusiastic attendance at the meeting this evening in the town hall will mean an auspicious commencement for the new year of the association. All interested in the Boy Scout movement will also find much to gratify them in the reports of the officers for the year just closing. This year has been a notable one in the history of the Boy Scouts in Timmins and the following year may be even better. To this end the first thing necessary is a large and interested attendance at tonight's meeting.

Incendiary at Kirkland Lake Sent to Reformatory

The young man, W. Duncan, who was charged with setting fire to a frame building and two log cabins on the property of his cousin, Mrs. Myrtle Prentice, Kirkland Lake district, was last week sentenced by Magistrate Atkinson in Kirkland police court to one year definite and six months indeterminate, in the Ontario reformatory. The evidence at the trial included three statements made by the accused in which he admitted setting fire to the buildings. When placed on the stand however, he claimed that he did not remember writing or signing these statements. He said that all he could remember was that he signed "something". The defence consisting chiefly of the evidence of the accused to the effect that he had not left his room the night of the fire, this being corroborated by a roommate, who, however, was not able to give the date of the fire. There was also the suggestion that the accused had been in a highly nervous condition and in that condition would perhaps readily sign any sort of statement to avoid irksome questioning. The investigation into the fire was conducted by D. H. Craig, inspector from the Ontario Fire Marshals office, who made a careful enquiry after the fire and secured the statements presented at the trial in which incendiarism was practically admitted by the accused.

Mail Delivery Said to be Assured for Rouyn

Word from Rouyn, Quebec, this week is to the effect that mail delivery is practically assured for that town. Rouyn will be the third mining town in the north to be given mail delivery, Timmins and Kirkland Lake having enjoyed this service for some time. Postal inspectors last week completed a survey of Rouyn. For the present, it is said, Noranda will not be included in the plan. Rouyn's new Kiwanis Club was largely instrumental in having the inspection made of the town for mail delivery purposes.

Stayer Sun: Often we hear stories of devotion to their masters of dogs, horses or other animals but seldom does the humble barnyard fowl come into the limelight in this regard. An interesting incident occurred here last week however at the home of Mr. Jim Rose who has a flock of very affectionate hens. When Mr. Rose was shingling the roof of his house last week, he was surprised that one of the biddies had boldly taken a position by his side on the roof. In order for the hen to gain this advantageous position it was necessary for it to climb a rather lengthy ladder.

The child health conference will be held in Schumacher in the basement of the Public School on Friday afternoon, October 28, between the hours of three and five.

Huntingdon Gleaner: A preacher in the hills of Arkansas, considerably wrought up over the "top-knot" style of putting up hair among girls and women, decided to preach a sermon on the subject. Then came the problem of finding a suitable text. After much searching, he found it in Matthew's Gospel 24:17, "Top not come down." His congregation sat amazed when he announced his text but what the preacher failed to tell his hearers was that he did not quote the entire verse which reads: "Let him which is on the house top not come down to take anything out of his house."
