

TEN YEARS AGO IN TIMMINS

From data in the Porcupine Advance files

In The Advance ten years ago: "According to word reaching here this week the Government has definitely given the order for the purchase of the Dr. Brown property at the corner of Pine street and Fourth avenue, and an adjoining strip of land with a frontage of forty feet to be bought from the town. This property which will have a frontage on Fourth avenue of seventy feet is being purchased as the site of the new post office for Timmins. Several weeks ago The Advance announced that this was the site that it was understood would be purchased by the Government for the past office site but in recent weeks there seems to have been efforts made to have some other site chosen by the Government."

A very enjoyable dance was held by the Ramblers' Club ten years ago at the McIntyre Recreation hall, Schumacher, Tommy Stephens' orchestra provided the best of good music for the dancing, and this, with the very enjoyable luncheon served by the club during the evening were factors in contributing to the success of the evening. There was a good attendance present, both of the members of the club, and invited guests.

Mention was made ten years ago about the woman who so seriously injured that it was not expected that she would survive. The Advance ten years ago said that she was improving at the hospital here and had a chance for recovery from the injuries to her face and head by an axe said to have been wielded by her husband.

The Timmins Community Halloween event ten years ago was a great success. Everybody was pleased with it, and it was generally agreed to be the best way to observe Halloween. There were at least five thousand people gathered on the Cyanide for the event. Six thousand would probably be nearer the mark. About four thousand bags of candies were distributed in the evening to the youngsters, and at that time of the smaller children went home without waiting for the candy. The St. John Ambulance Brigade was on the job as usual, but there was not an accident. Although there were small children, some only babies in arms or in carriages, there was scarcely a youngster that did not enjoy every minute of the event. The youngsters had a good time, and the other angle of the plan was equally successful.

There was no bothering of merchants or citizens and no damage or annoyance by the youngsters. When the event was over the children went home in fine fashion. All were satisfied.

Wm. McAllister, who had been a resident of Cobalt for 22 years, passed away at his home in that town on Monday, October 29th, 1928, at the age of 59 years. The late Mr. McAllister was well-known and very popular in Cobalt and throughout the North and his death was very generally regretted by all who knew him. He was for years captain of the Buffalo property at Cobalt and also held other positions of importance in mining in the North.

Mr. R. Valliant and Mr. D. Charles, of the Northern Electric Co., Toronto, expert switchboard men, arrived in town ten years ago to take charge of moving the switchboard of the Northern Telephone Co. into the new offices of the company on the third floor of the Canada Northern Power Co. building.

Very sincere sympathy was extended to Mr. D. O'Connor, of Timmins, and to the other bereaved relatives and friends in the death ten years ago of Mr. O'Connor's adopted son, Francis O'Connor, aged 7 years. The little lad, who was a particularly attractive and likeable youngster, was taken ill and despite all that medical skill and devoted nursing could do, the youngster passed away on Monday, October 29th, 1928. Death was due to pneumonia following an attack of influenza.

Ten years ago seven Austrians, who had been working up the river in a lumber camp, tried to get out of paying their fare down on the launch, but the single Frenchman in charge of the boat hung to them until he collected. It was probably that the men, who knew practically no English or French, were under the impression that the lumber company should pay for the transportation, but the man in charge of the launch knew it was up to him to collect from his passengers. He did so. The men apparently spent all their money and when they wanted to go back up the river they intended to travel without paying the required passage money. The Frenchman in charge of the boat, however, did not intend to have anything put over on him. His attitude was "They Shall Not Pass," and he gave a successful proof that one good Frenchman can hold off seven Austrians.

The Timmins Junior Baseball Club ten years ago had the distinction of closing the year with a nice record of good sport, and a balance to the good, though a small one, on the financial end. The sport provided by the Timmins Juniors that year did much to re-establish baseball in popular favour in this camp and all baseball fans were well pleased with the season's record of the Juniors. Winning the championship of Northern Ontario, they had the honour of being first Northern team to play in the Ontario Junior baseball finals, and though they lost out against a much heavier and more experienced team, they did well under all the circumstances.

A gentleman walked into the Prince of Wales cafe ten years ago. He was dressed in a business suit and looked like a business or professional man of the better class. The Chinaman was favourably impressed with the appearance of the stranger, and noting that he was undoubtedly English-speaking, said "How do you do?" in his best English. The visitor answered with "How is business with you?" in the best of Chinese. Kee thought the visitor had picked up a few words or phrases of Chinese, so he laughed and answered with a regular volley of Chinese. But the visitor answered him in the Chinese language in a way that showed he was as gifted as a native in the use of that tongue. It takes a lot to surprise a Chinaman but Kee was certainly surprised. But it was a pleasant surprise, and he and the general stranger had a delightful chat in Chinese. "He knew two Chinese languages", Kee said afterwards, "being particularly good at Cantonese." The visitor was Rev. Wm. D. Noyes, D.D., of the Eastern Canada Chinese Mission, Toronto, Ont., and he had spent several years in China and had a complete knowledge of the languages and the people of that interesting country.

Hospital Case of Rheumatism

The value of perseverance with Kruschen, in the treatment of some cases of rheumatism, is proved by this man's experience. He says:—"I was abroad for over seven years. When I returned I began to suffer from rheumatic pains—particularly in the feet and arms, and I was eventually taken into hospital, unable to move without groaning with pain. When I left the hospital after two months, I was somewhat better. I was recommended to take Kruschen Salts, have taken them continuously, and until now I am entirely free from pains. I would not be without my Kruschen Salts for anything."—M.B.

Two of the salts in Kruschen are effective solvents of uric acid the excess of which is decidedly injurious. They swiftly dull the sharp edges of the painful crystals—the cause of pain and stiffness—and convert them into a harmless solution, which is then expelled through the natural channels.

Ten years ago were: "Miss Helen Van Horn, of Iroquois Falls, was a Timmins visitor over the week-end." "Friends of Mrs. M. Sinclair regret to learn of her illness and wish for a speedy and complete recovery." "Mr. C. E. Alton, of Iroquois Falls, visited the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Alton, Maple street, this week." "Mrs. C. O'Keefe and son, Tierney, spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. P. H. O'Gorman en route from Ottawa to their home in Vernon, B.C." "Sincere sympathy will be extended to Mr. H. E. Montgomery, town clerk and treasurer, in the death last week of his father at New Liskeard." "Mr. Leslie Strong, of Sturgeon Falls, brought into town the other day a large sturgeon fish weighing about 35 pounds." "Mrs. J. E. McNamee, who has been spending some time visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Coleman, of Night Hawk Gold Mines, near Connaught, has returned to Toronto." "Miss Violet Pecore left Timmins a month ago to visit friends at Riviere de Loup, Quebec, and other points south and east. A letter received from her at her home here the other day said she was leaving Maine, U.S.A., for New York, and would be home again shortly." "Born—in Timmins, Ont., on Friday, Oct. 26th, 1928, to Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Langdon—a son." "Mrs. R. L. Thompson, of Toronto, is visiting friends in Timmins." "Mr. J. Kilgour, of Timmins, recently spent a few days as the guest of his mother at Charlton." "Mrs. Carson, of Haliburton, is the guest of her son, Mr. P. Carson, 14 Sixth avenue." "Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Biddgood, of Windsor, Ont., were visitors to the camp last week."

May be Able to Cure Angina Pectoris Through Operation

Angina pectoris, excruciatingly painful type of heart ailment which strikes down men and women in the very prime of life, may some day be conquered by the surgeon's knife.

An operation which gives hope of saving many lives threatened by this disease was demonstrated before the American College of Surgeons, Science Service reports.

The operation consists of giving the heart itself a new supply of blood. The trouble in angina pectoris is that the arteries which carry blood to the heart muscle, to enable it to pump blood to the rest of the body, become blocked. An operation to remedy this condition has already been successfully used on human patients by Dr. Claude Beck of Cleveland. A simpler way of doing the job was demonstrated by Dr. Samuel A. Thompson of New York, at the Flower Fifth Avenue Hospital. He has not yet used the new operation on human patients, but dogs on which he performed it were well and active even if all the arteries which normally nourish the heart were blocked or tied off. Without the operation, half of the animals in this condition invariably died. The new blood supply comes from the sac which surrounds the heart.

Watching the Thousand Islands from Steamer

(Brookville Recorder and Times) An Oshawa man has been writing to the Governor-General suggesting that when Their Majesties visit Canada next year, they should leave their train at Kingston and move by motor to Toronto. He thinks this would give them a better opportunity to see the country and its inhabitants than they would obtain by remaining aboard the train.

This may be true of the Kingston-Toronto section, but we will continue to feel that the best way in which the royal party may see the Thousand Islands lying to the east of Kingston is from the deck of a steamer or yacht. King Edward VII admired the islands and the river that way. So did King George V and Queen Mary. King Edward VIII and his brother, the Duke of Kent, travelled by the same route. And even the present King gazed upon the glories of the St. Lawrence scenery from the deck of a steamer when he made a fleeting tour of Eastern Canada as a midshipman.

It will be a marked departure from precedent if the royal party is not given an opportunity to see the Thousand Islands—not from a road nor a bridge but from the water itself.

Commit Trio for Trial In Slugging of Miner

Timothy "Dan" Brosnan, His Wife and Percy Labresh Sent to Higher Court in Assault and Attempted Robbery of John Serig. Cardinal Remanded on Extortion Count. Drunk Driver Gets 30 Days.

Timothy "Dan" Brosnan, his wife and Percy Labresh, were all committed for trial by Magistrate Atkinson in police court here Tuesday afternoon on joint charges of assault with intent to rob. Labresh, through his solicitor, Charles Kerr, declined a summary trial and the magistrate refused to take the hearing against the other two accused separately.

John Serig, victim of the alleged assault, told the court that he had met Mrs. Brosnan at a local hotel, where they had consumed a bottle of beer and then left for a house at 271 Pine street south. Going into the hotel he had also noticed Brosnan. A short time after their arrival at the Pine street address, Mrs. Brosnan left and returned about twenty-five minutes later, asking him to come outside. Stepping into a poorly lighted laneway, a man whom he recognized as Brosnan, attacked him from in front, Serig declared. Grappling with his assailant, he was suddenly struck from the rear over the head with a hard object. One of the pair tried to go through his pants' pockets, but their efforts were unrewarded as he had his money in his vest pocket, Serig related. He didn't see Mrs. Brosnan after the assault. The trio disappeared and Serig went back into the house after a boarder at the place unlocked the door. Mrs. Pearl King, who rents the premises, washed the blood, caused by severe head wounds, from his face and advised him to see a doctor and call the police.

Mrs. King testified that Mrs. Brosnan and Serig had come into the house around midnight, leaving together a short time after. About fifteen minutes later Serig rapped at the door and staggered into the house bleeding profusely, she told the court. Alpher Chartrand, who also lives at the King house, said that Mrs. Brosnan and Serig came in about 11.30 p.m.

Sgt. Frank Devine, of Timmins police, who conducted the investigation into the affair, testified that after a second search of the Brosnan household on the night of the assault, officers found a quantity of blood-stained clothing, one article being a shirt which was soaking in a pan of water on the stove. Brosnan admitted the blood stains, which, he said, were caused by a nose bleed the day before. Earlier the sergeant encountered Percy Labresh on the street and asked him if he had seen any fights in the neighborhood and he is said to have told the officer that he was on his way home and hadn't seen anything.

Mrs. Mabel Brown, with whom the Brosnan's live at 260½ Pine street south, swore that Brosnan and his wife, accompanied by Percy Labresh, had left the house that evening about 8.30. The two men, she said, came home about midnight and a short time later Mrs. Brosnan came in. During a conversation, Mrs. Brown testified that Mrs. Brosnan told the two men that she had a man over at 271 Pine street, and that he had about $80 in his pocket. "Will we make him or not," was a remark alleged to have been made by Mrs. Brosnan during the discussion. Accompanied by the two men Mrs. Brosnan left the house and returned about 2 a.m., Mrs. Brown related. On their return, she claimed to have overheard a conversation regarding blood on a shirt and a discussion with regard to washing it. Mrs. Brosnan, she claimed, ran the water in a pan in which the shirt was later found by police. Labresh left soon after but returned the next morning and inquired for the Brosnans. "I told him that he was too late, that they had been arrested," Mrs. Brown said, in concluding her evidence.

Wanted Looking Meat Hook, was Found in the Blood-spattered Laneway by Police Officers that Night, Sgt. Devine Informed the Court.

On an application for bail for the three accused, the magistrate referred the matter to the county judge who will fix the amount.

Drunk Driver Gets 30 Days "You were real drunk, fighting drunk," the magistrate told John Koretz, as he sentenced him to 30 days in jail on a drunk driving charge. Koretz was arrested following an accident at the corner of Wilcox street and Wilson avenue early on the morning of October 23. Dan Smith, driver of the car which Koretz was alleged to have struck on the wrong side of the road, swore that he had to travel several blocks before he got him stopped. He claimed that the accused appeared to be intoxicated. Police officers related that when Koretz was brought to the police station he was very drunk, boisterous and blasphemous.

The accused denied all statements regarding his sobriety, claiming that he had drunk that day was a half bottle of blueberry juice, which he had consumed on a hunting trip.

In passing sentence, the magistrate also ordered that his car be impounded for a period of three months.

Woman Gets Three Months Miss Marcella Nowiska, 102 Avenue Road, who told police officers at the time of her arrest that she had to sell liquor to live, was sentenced to three months in jail on a keeping for sale charge. "Thank you," replied the young lady when sentence was passed. "You're welcome," returned the magistrate.

Remand Extortion Case Leo Cardinal, charged with extortion of more than $100 from Tom Fong, Chinese proprietor of the Boston Cafe, Wilson avenue, by threatening to accuse him of the indecent offence of indecent assault on his lady friend, was remanded for a week at the request of his counsel, J. E. Lacourciere. Bail was fixed at $2,000.

Suspended Sentence Velno Harine was given suspended sentence on a charge of theft of a watch, valued at $150, from Jack Kivella, when evidence was produced showing that it was the first offence that he had ever been charged with. The complainant in the case had only known Harine for a short time but said that other people told him that he had never been in trouble before. Harine said that he had been drinking when he picked the watch up off a sideboard.

Broke Store Window Lucien Groulx, who admitted at the time of his arrest that he had broken a small plate glass window in the Vogue Shoe Store so that he could go to jail, was given three months. "If I go to jail, the authorities will have to look after my family," he was reported to have told Sgt. Devine.

Brock Scriber Fined $10 Brock Scriber, who pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct by creating a disturbance at the Timmins Daily Press recently, was fined $10 and costs.

Charge Withdrawn With the consent of the complainant, Frank Legare, a charge of aggravated assault against Tony Berardine was withdrawn. Costs of $4.25 were paid by the accused.

Didn't Remember Affair Nick Nikumaa, charged with breaking the plate glass in the door of the Star Cafe, told the court that he was drunk at the time and didn't remember anything about it. According to the ruling of the bench, he will have the next 30 days to think it over in Haliburton jail.

Reckless Driving Eugene St. Gelais was fined $25 and costs and had his license to drive suspended for 30 days on a charge of reckless driving. Lucien Rivet, similarly charged, was remanded for a week.

Seven Drunks Fined "If you give me a chance I'll get out of town," said one drunk when he pleaded guilty. "If you don't pay that fine of $10 and costs you'll get out of town," said the bench with a Haliburton jail note in his voice. Six others took their medicines without comment.

Another Fine Special of The Northern Miner

Whatever The Northern Miner attempts it always does unusually well—and that includes the irksome and arduous job of getting out an interesting and accurate review of the news and views on mining in the regular weekly issue. To maintain a high standard each and every issue is a notable achievement and The Northern Miner in that respect keeps on excelling itself. But in its occasional special edition The Northern Miner carries its regular accuracy, thoroughness and interesting presentation of the case for mining. The 125-page annual number last week was another remarkable edition to add to the long list of triumphs by The Northern Miner. In size alone—125 pages—it is worthy of note, and suggests not only the extended mechanical equipment necessary to successfully print an edition like this, but also the talent of the editorial staff in presenting interest, every page being worthy of study, and the total effect being of very decided value to mining and the North. The generous use of illustrations adds much to the value of the publication. It is not too much to say that the 1938 annual number covers the mining industry with about as much perfection as it is possible to achieve. Mining is dealt with from practically every angle. Not only are there literally scores of pages of facts and figures, and other data, but a number of special articles by well-known and gifted men concerned in the industry adds to the effectiveness of the issue. Anyone wishing to keep in touch with the mining industry in Ontario should have a copy of this annual number of The Northern Miner.
