Drunk Driver Gets Ten Day's Sentence in Jail

Shoplifters Get Two Months' Hard Labour Each. Magistrate Warns Won't be Used to Collect Damages. Nor Will He Act as Civil Court. Usual Quota of Drunks.

Convicted of driving while drunk, Paul Lajeunesse was sentenced to serve ten days in jail by Magistrate Atkinson on Tuesday afternoon. Because the automobile which Lajeunesse was driving was not registered in his name but was owned by a friend, the magistrate did not order it impounded. Asked if he was guilty or not guilty, Lajeunesse said that he had been sick at the time. However, Constable Atkinson said that he arrived on the scene when the car Lajeunesse had been driving was being hauled out of the ditch by a wrecker. Lajeunesse had allegedly driven into the ditch to avoid crashing into a switching engine that was crossing Wilson Ave.

The accused admitted having drunk six glasses of beer between eleven in the morning and one in the afternoon. He stumbled when he got out of the car, his hand was unsteady when he lit a cigarette, his breath smelled of alcohol and his speech was slurred. Chief Gagnon testified that Lajeunesse was not sick but intoxicated. "The man was drunk," he said. Lajeunesse offered no defence and the magistrate imposed a ten day sentence.

Shoplifters Sentenced P. Boisvert, who is alleged to be a transient from the East, pleaded guilty to two charges of shoplifting. He was alleged to have stolen a pair of gloves worth $5 and a sweater, cap and another pair of gloves worth $6.75. Atkinson sentenced Boisvert to two months' hard labour in the Metropolitan Store. They then tried to peddle the goods in beverage rooms. Magistrate Atkinson sentenced Boisvert to sixty days' hard labour on each of the two charges against him, sentences to run concurrently. Tanguay also received a sentence of sixty days.

phouse Tanguay also pleaded guilty to a charge of having stolen two cigarette lighters, two knives, a pipe and pair of leather mitts. The two men, said Chief Gagnon, stole the goods from Bucovetsky's Store and the Metropolitan Store. They then tried to peddle the goods in beverage rooms. Magistrate Atkinson sentenced Boisvert to sixty days' hard labour on each of the two charges against him, sentences to run concurrently. Tanguay also received a sentence of sixty days.

"Crying Jag" "Ten and costs, or thirty days," said Magistrate Atkinson to Gabriel Chevrier. "You had a terrible jag on. I saw you myself." Chevrier was charged with being drunk. He asked for leniency on the grounds that he had a job to go to in a couple of days. Constable Amlin testified that he found Chevrier on the floor of the Three Star Cafe. "He was crying in the police office," said Constable Archambault. Said the magistrate: "He had a crying jag on. I saw him myself."

Magistrate Issues Warning "I object to being used as a catspaw in 'his game of getting damages,'" said Magistrate Atkinson making the complaint in a reckless driving case, who wanted to withdraw the charge, pay the court costs. "I want to issue a warning here and now that I won't stand for this," said His Worship.

The reckless driving charge was against Aukusti Kurikkala. Complaint was Mr. Babcock. Asked by the Magistrate why he wished to withdraw the charge Mr. Babcock said that he had received remuneration for the damages done to his automobile. It cost him $8.75 to change his mind.

In another case, one where the accused was charged with fraudulently obtaining food and lodgings to the value of $10 Magistrate Atkinson issued a peremptory dismissal. He would not be used as a division court, he said.

Drunks as Usual There was the usual quota of drunks. Eight of them were given the choice of $10 and costs or thirty days. One man charged with having beer in his possession was fined similarly. A disorderly conduct charge was cleared up when a fine of $5 and costs was issued. One vagrant asked for and received thirty days in jail. He described himself as jobless and homeless.

would terminate his skit by striking an arresting pose that exuded the impression of sacrifice and in a semi-hysterical tone exclaim, "Now do I offer to lay down your life for my country." I suppose that it would be impossible to find anyone who opposed the principle involved regarding holidays, with pay. I have followed this practice with regard to my assistants for years but I do not recall asking other employers to adopt the custom because as everyone knows, it is another of those problems yet to be worked out in our social order. Having worked in the Dome Mines at one time myself, I can quite appreciate the desirability of every man having, and in fact the more holidays the better, in order that his health may be protected but in spite of our opinion on the same, it simmers down to a matter which can only be settled between and by the employers and employees and they can probably make much better headway without having interference from outside parties.

And now for another holiday that has crept into the machinery of our town. You are aware, of course, Ladies and Gentlemen, that the law requires the publication of the financial statement in some form or another and this has in previous years been published in local papers a short time prior to the date of election.

Where is the statement this year? Why has it not been published? Is there a reason for withholding this information from the citizens until after election.

Failure to publish this statement has resulted in candidates and the public generally finding it impossible to secure information about the standing of the town finances. It is the first time the town has omitted publication of this statement and there is naturally much question as to the real reason for failure to publish, as well as resentment, that the information is held back from the ratepayers.

My platform has been already published in local papers, but in case you have not seen it, I merely repeat for your information what I am engaging myself to accomplish if elected.

1. To secure better service for all the people by co-operating fully with all Town Departments. 2. To secure a larger share of the Mines Royalty Tax and a fair deal for the town by approaching the province in a friendly way rather than the methods that have been unsuccessfully followed.

3. To help the workingman by being able to discuss with employers ways in which labour can be better served and being assured of a friendly hearing and earnest consideration.

4. To see the example for other employers by seeing that town employees (the only labour over which the council has authority) is fairly paid. 5. To see that the development and improvement of the town is uniform. The development of the westerly part should be in harmony with development to the north and to the south.

Huntingdon Gleaner: On his rounds as night watchman in New Orleans, Henry Cookmeyer met a friend who was greatly surprised to see him. "Why, they told me you'd been killed, and I even saw your boy up at the morgue," the friend explained in amazement. Cookmeyer went up to the morgue to see for himself. "Nope, that's not me," he said after looking the body over, "but it sure looks a lot like me."

Ladies' Auxiliary to Help C.A.S. Bridge Committee Working to Make Auxiliary Part in Novel Event a Success.

A special meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion was held at the Legion hall on Tuesday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. Hardy, in the chair. It was decided that the Ladies' Auxiliary would take part in the Children's Aid Society Telephone Bridge, which will be held on Tuesday, December 6th. This is a worthy event, and the Ladies' Auxiliary have always been willing to help in a good cause. The members decided the tables of bridge would be arranged at the Legion hall on that evening and committees are now working to make the event a success.

The Ladies' Auxiliary will hold a party shower this (Thursday) afternoon, for one of the members of the Auxiliary, and all members are asked to be present at the event.

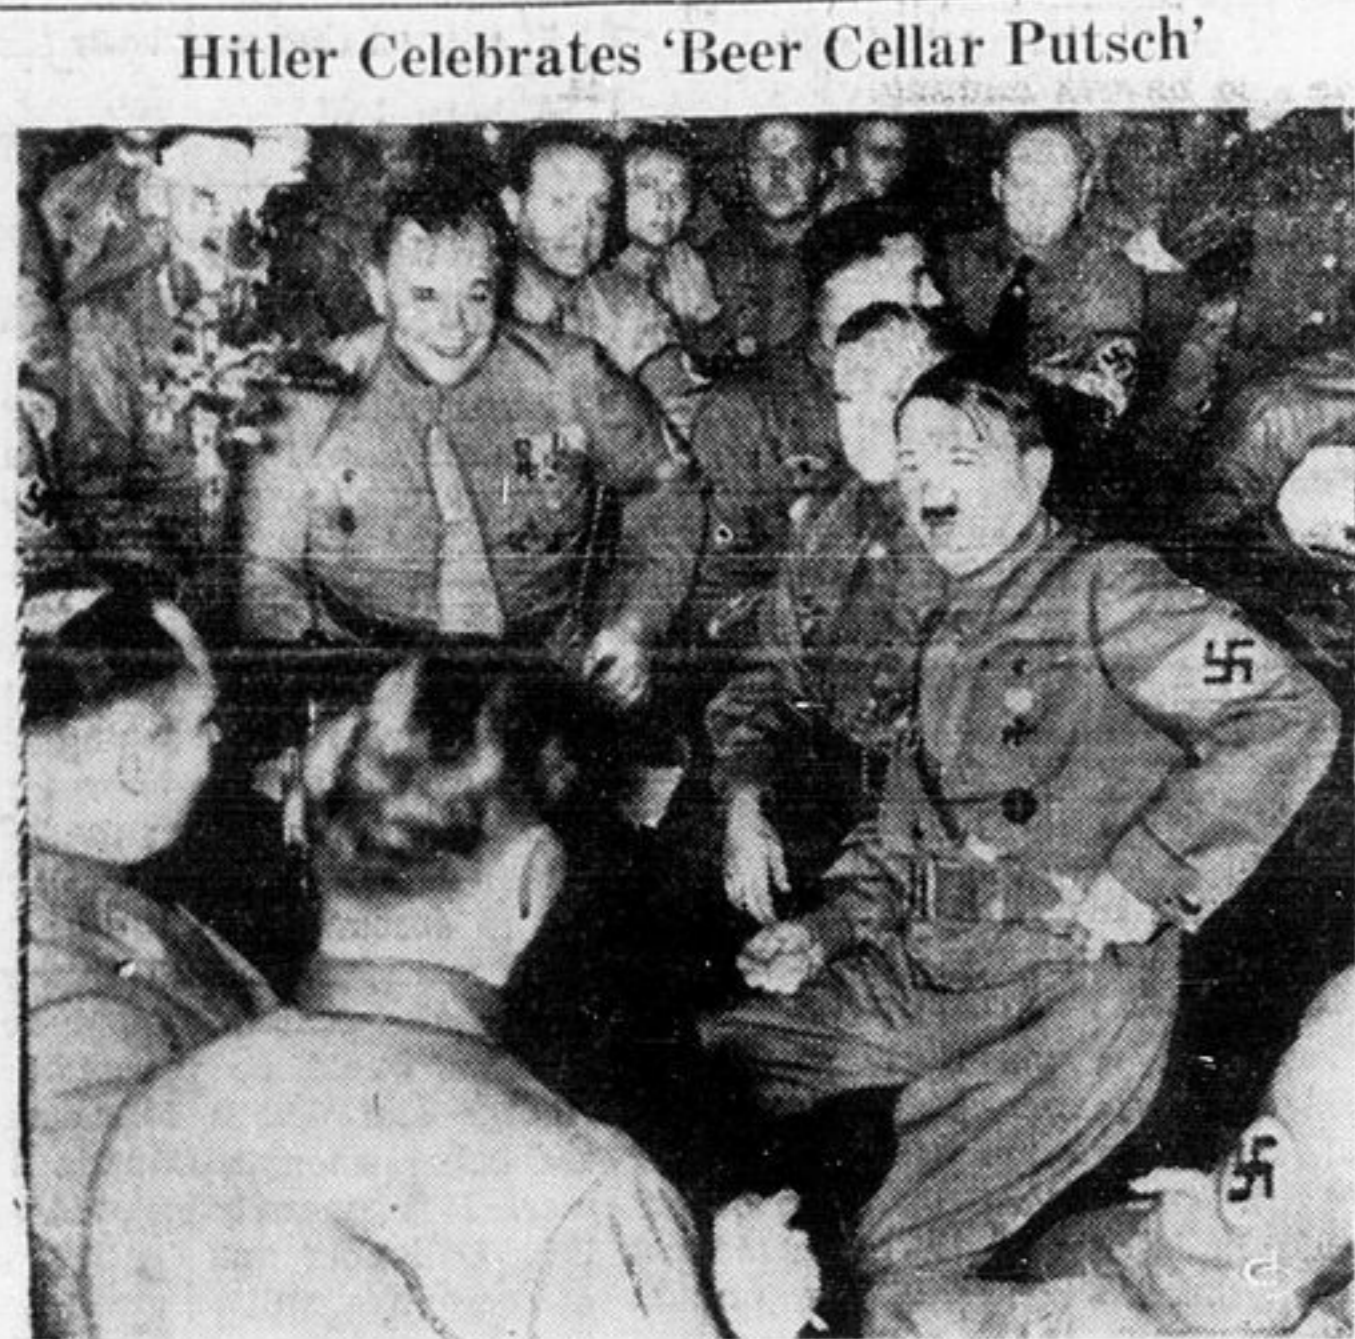

The regular general meeting of the Auxiliary will be held on Monday, November 12th, at which meeting the election of officers will take place.

Following the business of the meeting, afternoon tea was served to the large number of members who attended the meeting.

Smith's Falls Record-News: According to a university professor the value of humour in education is just beginning to be recognized and he believes that for small children laughter and learning may well go together. We quite agree. Undoubtedly many adults of today can recall some stern-faced preceptor to whom this suggestion would not have been amusing. But in our opinion if an educator can make the multiplication tables entertaining or get a giggle out of grammar, he or she should receive an honorary degree of Doctor of Human Kindness.

Candidate for Mayoralty Gives his Stand on Local Questions.

In his address last night Dr. Lee Honey, candidate for mayor, speaking in both English and French, outlined his stand on municipal issues as follows:—

May I commence the discussion of some of the problems that have been injected into the municipal election campaign this year. Last night I intimated that you would be likely to hear something about holidays with pay which seems to be a very popular slogan in camp these days. Whenever I hear it, recall what one of our town officials has done in that respect, I am reminded of a soldier's entertainment party of war days. This soldier actor
