The bride looked lovely in a gown of midnight blue transparent velvet with rib and accessories to correspond, and wore a corsage of roses, lily-of-the-valley and fern.

Rebekahs Entertained at Home of Mrs. Borland Jr.

The regular weekly meeting of the Gold Nuggets, Rebekah Lodge was held in the lodge rooms on Thursday evening, with the Noble Grand, Mrs. A. Borland, Jr. in the chair.

Due to the illness of one of the members, it was decided to indefinitely postpone the gentlemen's night which had been planned for this week. The usual business was discussed, and the meeting was adjourned, so that the members might take advantage of the invitation proffered by Mrs. Borland to visit her home.

A pleasant social evening was spent at the home of the Noble Grand, Balsam street south, and the members enjoyed a dainty lunch which was served by the hostess.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

LUCILLE BALL, R.K.O. star, as she looked as a platinum blond when she first went to Hollywood, and later after her hair was changed by Mel Burns, make-up expert.

Bleached or Tinted Hair Requires Special Care

Having the price for an expert hair coloring job is only the beginning—and not the end—of the cost of hair beauty. For dyed or bleached hair requires constant attention and the most careful treatment to retain the beauty you are seeking.

In the first place no woman should begin to dye or bleach her tresses unless she can afford monthly retouching jobs by the same expert who first treated her hair—that is if she wants to keep it lovely looking. Hair grows at the rate of one-half to one and one-half inches each month, and the new hair, naturally, is never the same shade as the touched hair.

Between retouching only the minimum amount of scalp treatment is wise so if your hair is dry, and in poor condition refrain from changing its color. Go in for a series of reconditioning treatments before you have a touched up or you will be more disappointed with your looks after the job than you were before you spent your good money on a dye or bleach.

There is a great deal of nonsense written about hair dyes. Some manufacturers promise you fadeless colours others tell you convincingly that your hair will be in better condition after you dye or bleach it than it was before.

The fact is the chemicals in either a dye or a bleach are bound to strip the hair of some of its natural health, but few of the recognized products are harmful. And dyed hair fades as it grows and when you wash it. You must realize there is a definite price of time and money demanded once you begin to tamper with your hair coloring!

Wedding Saturday at South Porcupine

Miss Annie Amelia Bates and Mr. Wm. Adamson Married.

South Porcupine, Jan. 21.—(Special to The Advance)—A very quiet wedding was solemnized on Saturday afternoon at 4:30 in St. Paul's Anglican Church by Archdeacon Woodall when Miss Annie Amelia Bates, of Toronto, became the bride of our local druggist, Mr. William Adamson, of Bruce avenue.

Only the immediate relatives of the bridegroom and a few friends were present at the ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by Mr. George Henderson, of Kirkland Lake, was attired in dark blue velvet with silver accessories, and a small close fitting hat of the same velvet with a nose-veil. She wore a shoulder corsage of pink roses, lilies-of-the-valley and sweetpeas.

Her attendant, Mrs. Meyers, of Toronto, was gowned also in velvet, of ruby shade with small hat, and accessories to match and wore a corsage of yellow roses.

Mr. James Adamson, younger brother of the groom, acted as best man.

After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bridegroom's mother in Schumacher, where a wedding dinner was served.

Attractive Wedding Saturday Morning

Miss Loretta Gagne and Mr. Elie Chartier United in Marriage.

The Rev. Fr. Guèvremont officiated at an attractive wedding on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock when he united in marriage Loretta, daughter of the late Mr. Albert Gagne, and Mrs. Gagne, of 172 Maple Street North, and Mr. Elie Chartier, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Chartier, of 97 Commercial avenue. The ceremony took place at the St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Church, in the presence of relatives and friends.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Ovide Proulx, the bride was charmingly attired in a gown of sapphire blue velvet, fashioned with a shirred bodice, and flared skirt. She wore a matching pleated jacket with long leg o' mutton sleeves a silver cross, gift of the groom, and a halo hat with a finger-tip length veil, and carried a shower bouquet of white and pink roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Twenty Years Ago

From The Porcupine Advance Files

At the inaugural meeting of the Timmins town council on Jan. 15, 1919, the committees for the year were chosen, the following being the several chairmen:—E. L. Longmore, finance; J. W. Fogg, board of works; A. Bratton, waterworks; L. S. Newton, fire and light; W. DeFau, police; J. M. Studar, contingencies. In his inaugural address the mayor, Dr. J. A. McInnis, referred to the impossibility of pleasing all people all the time, but said that if all worked together, harmoniously and earnestly, the best interests of the town would be served, and the public would be satisfied. Councillor L. S. Newton pointed out that the 1919 council was practically the first council elected in Timmins by popular vote, acclamations being the rule on previous occasions and so he thought the 1919 council should take its duties even more seriously than if elected by acclamation. He urged harmony and co-operation and a watchful eye on expenditures. Councillor Brazeau suggested that it would be well at the very outset to insist on members being present right on time at all meetings. He referred to the time wasted in previous years through tardy members, while others waited for quorum. Mr. J. F. McLaughlin, mayor for 1917, and 1918, extended congratulations and good wishes to the new mayor and council. "I have no doubt but what you will give the citizens every satisfaction," he said. At the first meeting of the 1919 council it was decided to hold the meetings in the evening. This plan was tried for some months, but was found unsatisfactory, and inconvenient to the councillors, and had to be discontinued. Rev. Fr. Theriault brought to the attention of the council a pathetic case of need in town, a mother and a number of small children being left without funds through the death of the head of the house. The woman was ill which made the situation worse. Fr. Theriault had given immediate relief on learning of the case, but thought the town should assist as naturally private citizens could not shoulder such burdens. On motion of councillors Longmore and DeFau the committee was authorized to give the necessary assistance in this case. Rev. Fr. Theriault was thanked for his interest and bringing the matter to the attention of council, the family in question having been respected citizens of Timmins for several years. Mayor McInnis brought to the notice of council the need for a protestant cemetery here. There was a probability, he said, that land could be secured near the Catholic cemetery here. Councillor Newton referred to the welcoming home of the return soldiers. He thought there should be someone at the station to meet, welcome and direct them to wherever they wished to go. The mayor said that arrangements would be made with the G. W. V. A. so that the time arrival and other particulars in regard to returned men might be known. It may be noted here, in parenthesis, that the board of trade had a committee to welcome returned soldiers. Among the more active members on this committee were:—Dr. McInnis, Fire Chief Borland, Rev. J. D. Farks, Rev. R. S. Cushing, T. F. King and G. A. Macdonald. For over a year there was no train reaching here but one or more of the above-named met it to welcome any returned men coming here and to assist them in any way possible. The need for keeping the new town offices clean and sanitary was stressed by Mayor McInnis who jokingly suggested that the clerk and the assessor might do the scrubbing and cleaning. Some of the councillors more seriously suggested that prisoners in the town jail might do the cleaning work and the chief of police was authorized to secure other help for the work when he did not have enough prisoners or vagrants. At that time vagrants were rare. Councillor Brazeau emphasized the need for keeping chimneys clean to avoid danger of fire; also he was informed that some of the waterworks extension work could be done, as cheaply in winter as in summer, especially where the digging was in sand.

A five-team bowling league was formed at Timmins on January, 1919. The teams were as follows:—Hollinger, Clerks, firemen, G. W. V. A. and Timmins. Hollinger won the first match.

The 1919 council for the township of Whitney included:—I. J. Wilson, reeve; Geo. Russell, G. D. Hamilton, P. McShel and F. Gervais, councillors. The Advance referred to the difficulties faced by Whitney and other councils, quoting two newspapers of Whitney, both pleased with the men elected, but one hoping that the council would keep taxes down, while the other was equally urgent for improved roads and other expenditures. "The people want improvements all right to make living more pleasant and convenient, but taxes are an abomination to most folks," said The Advance.

Mayor S. G. McCoubrey, of Iroquois Falls, and other prominent Northland men were among those forming a deputation to Ottawa twenty years ago to urge the construction of the Georgian Bay Canal. Yes! You're right the first time! The government promised consideration to the case as presented.

On Thursday, Jan. 9th, 1919, the Paris Hotel at Schumacher was destroyed by fire, with a serious loss to the owner, H. Bourdoncne. The building had only $2,000 insurance on it, while it was valued at over $7,000. The fire was discovered in an upstairs room about 7:30 p.m., and was thought to be caused by the explosion of a stove used for cooking by one of the roomers. The fire had such a headway before it was discovered that the building could not be saved. The Timmins fire brigade were all ready and waiting a call from the neighboring town, but the Schumacher and McIntyre fire brigades were able to do all that could be done. The Paris Hotel was one of the biggest buildings in Schumacher and was situated on the main street just back of the T. & N. O. station. It was formerly the Murphy House at Golden City and was taken down and rebuilt at trade.
