sight, but that those of poor vision are also likely to have headaches, nerves, sleeplessness, etc.

Good Eyesight Needed by the Motorist

What a toll of death and injury is behind the staggering statistics about motor accident! Much is heard about the driver with too much liquor. What about the driver with too little eyesight? No doubt many an accident on the roads could be traced to defective vision. Near-sighted drivers, far-sighted drivers, drivers with astigmatism! How many of these eyesight faults may be corrected by attention to the eyes? All drivers of motor cars have a double liability—responsibility to themselves and to the passengers in their own car, and also responsibility to the drivers and the passengers in the other cars on the roads. It will be well when more drivers acknowledge this double liability and have their vision corrected by glasses.

Take This Week Seriously

A number of local specialists in the matter of eyesight and its conservation have undertaken the public service of bringing "Save-Your-Vision" Week to the attention of the general public. These local citizens will feel fully recompensed for their efforts and interest. If they make any material part of the population what is termed "eye conscious." It is a matter that concerns the community as well as the individual. It means added health, comfort, safety, convenience, pleasure for all.

Your eyes may be all right, or they may not. Either way it would be worth your while to find out. Have your eyes tested! If they are defective you have the advantage of knowing it and having the opportunity to have the remedies applied. If your sight is near perfect, you have the satisfaction of knowing that pleasant fact. Either way you are the sure gainer.

Make "Save-Your-Vision" Week pay you dividends in better vision, or in the satisfaction of knowing that all is well with your eyes.

Young Lady Dies From Injuries Suffered in Fire

Rouyn, Feb. 22.—At 3.30 Monday morning, after a brave battle for life, Lucille Boyce, 19, passed away in the Youville hospital, where she had lingered between life and death since last Wednesday morning, when she had been terribly burned when her dance frock caught fire as she went to fetch her coat at the conclusion of a Valentine dance, in a room in the ill-fated Rouanda hotel, which now lies a heap of charred ruins.

Although her condition had given very slim hope of recovery from the first. Miss Boyce has been conscious up until Sunday afternoon.

The young girl is survived by her mother, Mrs. Alida Boyce, and a brother, Garfield, with both of whom she lived in Rouyn. Their former home was in Massey, Ont. Another sister, Elaine, who lives in Montreal, has been in Rouyn since the day after the fatal accident. A. McGregor, of "Mac's Auto Body Shop," is an uncle of the deceased girl. Her passing will be regretted by a large circle of friends in the twin towns.

Miss Boyce had been employed in the household of Mr. and Mrs. R. Manson. She was a Roman Catholic. Funeral arrangements cannot be made until after the conclusion of the inquest which is being instituted by Coroner G. A. Rioux, into the cause of the fire. The inquest was opened Tuesday evening, and then adjourned until Monday next.

Fame of Laflamme's Wolf Team Spreads to California

(From Sudbury Star)

News does get around, and way down in southern California the North's wolf-tamer, Joe Laflamme, is definitely news. Last week the Pasadena News-Star carried a feature on Big Joe, with three pictures of him and his wolf team.

Last week W. E. Mason received a half-page news story and pictures about Big Joe, accompanied by a postcard from J. J. Doran, bearing the note: "You can see we are giving the wolf team some publicity out here, and the people surely chatter about it." Mr. Doran, with Mrs. Doran and their son, Billy, is spending the winter at Hotel Vista del Arroyo, Pasadena.

He had received a copy of The Sudbury Star with the story about the broadcast over CKSO, when one of the wolves, unmuzzled and about to perform before the microphone, gave the announcer a bit of a scare and Big Joe had a few moments of real work to control him. Apparently the story appealed greatly to the southerners, and one of The News-Star reporters obtained the story from Mr. Doran along with some pictures.

Said the paper in part: "Laflamme and his wolf team in Northern Ontario offer a contrast to Pasadena, even during unusual Southern California weather. Wherefore these pictures, loaned by Mr. Doran and published today. If you think it was coolish in Pasadena this week, you should be in Sudbury some winter when the mercury goes to 40 below zero. The weather had just been 40 below when Big Joe and his wolves arrived in Sudbury, according to The Sudbury Star, and a temperature of 58 had been recorded in Leavack, 31 miles farther north. Mr. Doran, a big booster for California, wished Laflamme would mush to the San Francisco Fair, but Big Joe is set on New York."

Wedding at the Church of the Nativity on Sunday

A pretty wedding took place at the Church of Nativity on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when the Rev. Fr. O'Gorman united in marriage Katherine, daughter of Mrs. Walter Morrison, and of the late Mr. Marcell, and Mr. Verdon Morrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Morrison.

The witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morrison.

Weather, Bargains, Rackets and So Forth

Poor Business, Simplified Spelling, Emergency.

Writing in The Toronto Telegram Thomas Richard Henry says:—

Weather
The weather is showing a lot of variety even for Toronto.

There have been about 28 different kinds of winter weather in the last 48 hours.

Bargains
A 1938 subscriber to the magazine "Esquire" decided to do without it in 1939.

So during the latter part of 1938 he ignored a number of invitations to renew the subscription for one year at $5.

He has just received their offer to send the magazine for two years for $5. It is explained in the letter that the publishers can afford this, because "we actually save a considerable sum by eliminating the intricate clerical work involved in entering your name in our books all over again."

Clerical work must be quite expensive in the Esquire office.

What we are looking for, however, is a six-letter word describing the person who renewed his subscription in December at $5 a year.

Another Racket
A down and outer is reported to have appealed to a local priest for the price of a meal on Christmas Day.

The priest told him to go to a certain restaurant and have a real meal, promising to phone the restaurant and fix it up.

Later the man returned and thanked the priest. He said he had had a ninety-cent meal, and hoped that wasn't too much.

As they were talking he pulled a paper out of his pocket and a folded ten dollar bill dropped to the floor.

The priest pounced on it. He gave the man quite a lecture for begging a meal when he had ten dollars in his pocket.

Then he took out his purse and gave the man $9.10 in change, with the remark:

"You can pay for your own meal." And the man departed.

Later when the priest was informed the ten dollar bill, he was informed that, it was counterfeit.

Poor Business

Some concerns try too hard to worm an extra dollar from their patrons. There is for example the housewife who discovered that she needed a new belt on her refrigerator motor.

She ordered one. "Have you the special tools necessary to change the belts?" she was asked.

She said she didn't know special tools were necessary.

"If you haven't the tools you had better let us send a man down to fix it for you."

She agreed.

The man arrived, flipped the old belt off and put the new one on in a few seconds, then presented a bill for $1.50.

"What about the special tools you were going to need?" the lady asked.

"I don't know anything about any special tools," the man replied.

The housewife is still burning up over that $1.50, which netted the company about $28.00 worth of bad will.

Privilege
The other day we watched a car, loaded down with policemen stop in the middle of the road at a busy intersection.

While cars turned out carefully to get around the police car, one of the cops got out of the car, walked leisurely through the traffic to a phone booth, did a little telephoning, and then returned to the car.

Of course if your car or mine were topped in the middle of the road it would hardly disclaim the convenience of other motorists. We would probably catch the penalty we deserved.

Apparently, however, there are a few policemen who have developed a clerical complex.

We refer to this "Don't do as I do; do as I tell you to do" idea.

Emergency

O Pip writes to remind us that when everything wasn't quiet on the western front, in times of emergency everybody, including chaplains, cooks, batmen and fellows who had paraded sick with trench feet, were rushed into the line.

He suggests an emergency on the streets of Toronto, and wants the whole City Hall staff turned out with shovels to attack the snow on the street.

He suggests that Roly Harris "with a shovel in his lily-white hand" lead the parade, and thinks the police band should supply music for the gang.

Simplified Spelling
Little Billy was visiting from the farm where they haven't a radio, hydro, or much of anything.

"How do you spell Toronto?" he asked.

"T-O-R-O-N-T-O" he was told.

"That's what I thought," said Billy.

"But the man on the radio said: 'This is C-F-R-B, Toronto!'"

Amusing Example of What Imagination is Able to Do

(From Kirkland Northern News)

A somewhat amusing instance of what can be done with a little imagination is recent launching of a newspaper story suggesting the existence of a quite elaborate theft "ring" involving Timmins, Kirkland Lake and Larder Lake.

Because a man who sells stolen electrical goods in Haileybury may have stolen them somewhere else is not proof of a highly organized band of criminals operating a three or four own business.

Crime of the more petty sort is seldom if ever organized, and it would be absurd to imagine that there is in the T. & N. O. country some master mind directing the theft of outboard motors, alarm clocks, electric irons, and other miscellaneous loot.

But, to some news writers, a descent of the police upon a back room where tin is sold at 50 cents a shot is a raid, the hunt for a purse-snatcher the spreading of a dragnet, and the efficient and necessary nabbing of two small-time crooks the breaking up of a crime ring with great ramifications.

Well, maybe John Public likes it that way!

Borden's EVAPORATED MILK

GIVES ME THE BEST CREAM SOUP!

If it's Borden's it's GOT to be Good!

HEIL!

Not "Heil Hitler" but Julius P. Heil, Governor of Wisconsin. And what has he done? He has proclaimed a Wisconsin Co-operative Week, February 20th to 24th. In his proclamation Governor Heil wrote:

Because Wisconsin farmers have made progress in solving their own problems by co-operation, and because there is need for reflection and analysis of the true aims and possibilities of the Co-operative Movement

NOW THEREFORE I, Julius P. Heil, Governor—urge all the citizens of the state during these five days . . . to learn more of the spirit and principles as well as the aims and accomplishment of co-operation.

Why is Co-operative Week proclaimed in Wisconsin and not in Ontario? Why is Co-operation taught in schools of Wisconsin and not in Ontario? Perhaps because Wisconsin is the headquarters of the Central Co-operative Wholesale, which sells four million dollars worth of goods annually to 110 retail co-operative societies, owned by 36,590 VOTERS.

The Co-operative Movement is a non-political method of raising the standard of living of its members by doing away with profits: it is born in small groups of persons who have learned how to live and work together peacefully for common purposes. But when it grows, no politician, whatever his colour, can avoid helping it, because his election depends on the votes of CO-OPERATORS
