N.O.H.A. Title Holders to Meet Goodyears Saturday

Shut Out Frood One to Nothing. Won Second Straight Victory in Kirkland on Monday. Lost Services of Grivel Midway Through First Period. Sticky Ice Slowed Play in Latter Part of Game.

Kirkland Lake, March 6.—Lake Shore's Blue Devils won the right to represent the Northern Ontario Hockey Association in the Ontario play-downs, when they won their second straight victory over the Frood Tigers in the second play-off game in Kirkland Lake on Monday night. The Devils shot out the Tigers 1 goal to 0.

The first game of the series between Goodyears and the Lake Shore will be in Toronto on Saturday afternoon. In the event of a win in this series the Blue Devils will go on to further Ontario and Canadian hockey tests.

Lake Shore lost the valuable services of right-winger Kenny Grivel midway through the first period on Monday. While the seriousness of his injury was not known definitely, it was not thought the eye which was hit by a high stick was injured badly. The blade of a Frood player's stick accidentally struck the Lake Shore player squarely on the eyeball.

Mild weather and a packed rink combined to make the ice surface of the arena sticky in the last two periods. It slowed the play to a walk in the second period, and broke up not a few plays in the last.

The high scoring lines of George Hastie, Don Grosso and Ken Grivel was broken up by Ken's injury. Paul Pidcock filled in well in the right wing spot but could not get used to the style of the other two in the short time which was left to him. Grosso was watched well by Brady throughout the piece, while Hastie was spilt by Graham on one occasion when he was clear in front of the net.

That left it up to the CBS trio, and the flyweight flyers came home with the bacon. Darting through and around the hard working and hitting defense of Graham and Lavigne, Bellinger, Cooper and Smith, pestered the life out of the Frood forwards and Mel Carey in the nets.

Carey kept busy. Carey had to rise to sensational heights to stop some of their sallies, especially in the last period when Frood ran into four penalties.

Bill Duran proved himself full value for his shut-out when he went out to check Dillon Brady who had broken away from his check. Duran played a heady careful game. When Lake Shore was a man short, he was clearing the puck down the ice himself.

Pidcock, Hastie and Grosso had a chance to pull their puck ragging stunt again when a man down in the first period.

Hal Cooper, Blunk Bellinger and Stu Smith came on to give the Frood guardians their first trouble as they buzzed through the defense. While Conick, Brady and Shillington carried their share of the play to the Lake Shore first line, McIntyre, Cadieux and Johnston had trouble getting out of their own area.

It was still their first time out when they shot home the only goal. Storming around Carey's net, they had four or five hard shots before Smith passed from back of the goal to Cooper who made no mistake in sending it into the twine.

Cadieux charged Cooper to give Lake Shore the first advantage on penalties but the Lake Shore power play would services of Dewey, the centre, out with not work. Olliver gave the scoring opportunity back to Frood by tripping Graham, and the Tiger ganging attack worked much better than in Sudbury. They gave the Blue Devils some anxious moments when Shillington tried to slide one under Duran but that ourly net-minder dropped to save.

Tempers Flare Up. Tempers flared as the period closed when Conick took an after-whistle smack at a puck in Duran's pads. Teddy Olliver grabbed him and the players on both sides piled in. Conick was given a penalty for his part in the melee while the rest went free.

With Ab in the box as the second period opened, Lake Shore started another offensive. But slow ice soon had the play down to a walk. Conick vaulted past three Lake Shore men but found himself hemmed in in the corner. McIntyre, Johnston and Cadieux tried hard to start the ball rolling towards Sudbury but there was little they could do.

The whole second period was drab and lifeless. There were no penalties to break the monotony as both teams shinned in the centre ice area. Pidcock was set up by Hastie in front of the goal but was wrapped up in Frood sticks.

Frood penalties provided the features of the last period, robbing them of their attacking power and giving Lake Shore a chance to get in on more of the play. When they were at full strength the Tigers snarled in at the Imps' net but couldn't break up the brilliant tactics of the Shore team behind the blue line.

Cadieux was the first man to go off, setting the nod for boarding play. Smith followed in one power play but couldn't control the puck. Hastie tried the next one and was tripped right in front of the net. He argued for a penalty shot but it was not granted. Graham sat with Cadieux for a few seconds to put Frood two men short.

Carey Kept Busy. Carey hopped to stop them from all angles for a minute and a half, as the Blue Devils strove for that goal which would sew up the series. Smith and Grosso in particular had clear shots on him but the Sudbury sensation refused to give up his slogan of "They shall not pass."

The Frood pressure in the last period was spasmodic. They had a great chance when Hastie went off with two minutes to go, but their attack fell short as Grosso and Pidcock broke up the rushes before they got going.

As the game drew to a close, Shillington tripped Pidcock along the boards and was waved off by Armstrong. Red Stuart immediately took Carey from the nets, and for the remaining 40 seconds, all Frood could do was try to keep the puck clear of Lake Shore men so they could not get a shot away.

The game was not as productive of wide-open or great hockey as that played in Sudbury. Bad ice made a difference, while the character of the game, the last for a championship also tended to slow things up.

Grant took Bill Regan's place on the Frood defense. The big guard took a tough beating in the game in Sudbury. The team no doubt missed the a broken thumb, but one of the best
