TEN YEARS AGO IN TIMMINS

From data in the Porcupine Advance Files

AT the regular band concert, it was "Old Timers' Night", ten years ago, all the artists, of the evening being resident in the Porcupine for at least a dozen years. The event proved beyond a doubt the outstanding talent of the old-timers of this district for there was not a single item on the programme that did not make a decided hit. Every number was insistently and enthusiastically encoored, and then usually recalled again. It was generally admitted to be the best yet. In addition to Timmins artists, there were particularly talented artists from Schumacher and South Porcupine, the latter place being especially generous in contributing talent, particularly in regard to the Old-Timers' Band. This band composed altogether of old residents of the district proved to be one of the special hits of the evening and was roundly encoored at each appearance. The Old-Timers' Band was cleverly directed by Gene Colombo with the conductors baton. This band showed it was made up of capable musicians by the effective way in which it presented such selections as:—"United America", "The Scout", and "Officer of the Day", all attractive numbers very ably given.

The St. Patrick's tea and sale of home cooking held ten years ago at the home of Mrs. Jack Dalton, Third Avenue to mark the second anniversary of the Church of the Nativity was in every particular a very pleasing and successful event and reflected the highest credit on those in charge of the event. The event at Mrs. Dalton's was very largely attended and all enjoyed the afternoon in every way. The sale of home made-cooking was successful both from the viewpoint of the ladies in charge of the event and also those who purchased the fine specimens of cooking on sale. A birthday cake as a special lucky prize was a feature of the occasion, this cake being on display in the window of V. M. Bowie & Co. for the day.

The regular monthly meeting of the Timmins Post of the Canadian Legion was held in the Oddfellows' Hall ten years ago, with president Austin Neame in the chair, and a nice attendance of members. Quite a large amount of business was dealt with. Four comrades were made members of the Post, this being a special feature of the evening. A rather lengthy communication was ready by Secretary H. R. Channon, entitled "The Duck Board", this giving in full the doings of the Provincial Command, and other news supplementary to the Legion's own publication, "The Legionary". In this paper was a special appeal to help the distressed miners in the Old Country. The president in a short address, stated that this appeal coming as it did to a miner's post should not go unheeded. The result was that the Timmins Post voted unanimously to send as large a subscription as possible to the fund.

In the Advance ten years ago (in part): "Last week the Advance made a reference to the Thunder Bay Films, Ltd., who are specializing in pictures produced in Northwestern Ontario, and The Advance said that it wondered why some enterprising film producer did not note the scenic and other advantages of the Porcupine area. By an odd coincidence, an independent motion producer was in the district looking things over at the very time the item was written. This independent producer was Geo. McCall of Hollywood, who has a number of very attractive pictures to his credit. Mr. McCall came to Timmins at the suggestion of Messrs. DeSantis and Geo. Jamieson, and it is also likely that he will have the backing of Jack Hammill who is especially interested because Mr. McCall is inclined to feature aircraft in his next offering. Mr. McCall has spent some days out in the country around Timmins and he is enthusiastic about the possibilities. He says that the clear air and other features of the climate would make it easy to produce a good picture here so far as the photographic part is concerned. His idea would be to get some leading actors and actresses, starting two or three of the popular favorites, and with a good plot already in mind to make full use of the scenic and other advantages of the area. Mr. McCall's capabilities in the mechanical lines of the production art are proven by the fact that he has done several pictures for the Ontario Government, the Government having a habit of demanding the best. His dramatic and artistic qualities are indicated from the fact that one of his 1923 productions was listed by the New York Times among the top-notchers of the year in the annual list of the pictures featured by that paper."

The meeting of the Home and School Association, held in the Central School ten years ago, was a helpful and interesting one. There was a good attendance, some thirty-five or forty being present and all greatly appreciating the pleasing programme presented. Mrs. Shephard, vice-president of the association, occupied the chair in effective way and carried the programme through with continued interest from all. The speakers for the day was Dr. Lee Honey, who spoke on "Health", his capable address being valuable and much appreciated. He quoted Bishop Fallon as saying that every individual owed it as a duty to care for his own health, look to the health of his children, and safeguard and assist, so far as might be possible, the health of the community in which he lived. Dr. Honey emphasized the value of good health and the cost of teeth as a factor in health was referred to with many practical hints and helps for the betterment of the individual and community health. A solo by Mrs. P. Carson was one of the pleasing events of the afternoon. Mrs. Carson pleasing

Convicts on Reckless Charge, Imposes Fine

Charge Nick Paalanen Under Influence While Driving. Sunday Gamblers Pay Fines of $10 and Costs Each. Order Twenty Cases of Beer Seized. Geo. Leblanc Pays Fine.

Nick Paalanen was given the alternative of a fine of $50 and costs or a jail sentence of thirty days when convicted of reckless driving in police court on Tuesday afternoon. The accused's driving permit was ordered suspended for a period of two months by Magistrate Atkinson.

He and the officer with him, said Sergeant Frank Devine, saw Paalanen try to turn his car around at the intersection of Poyg Street and Wilson Avenue. Unable to do so he drove away. They followed in the police car. Paalanen drove through all intersections at thirty miles an hour and swerved from one side of the road to the other. He narrowly missed striking a small boy who was standing at the side of the road.

Finally, said the witness, they were able to stop him near the corner of Main and Wilcox avenues. He smelled strongly of liquor and had to be practically lifted out of his automobile and helped into the police car.

There was no traffic on the road when Paalanen was diving up Main Avenue, said the Sergeant, and the roads were in fairly good condition. Constable Amlyn gave corroboratory evidence and added that Paalanen had been examined by a doctor when he was brought back to the police station. The doctor said that he was not drunk but pronounced him incapable of driving a car.

"We have heard a lot about the driving habits of the people of Timmins. Is it customary for them to zig-zag along the road as this man was reported to have done?" asked the Magistrate.

Constable Amlyn said that a motorist might do so to avoid icy spots on the road.

Testifying on his own behalf, Paalanen said that the road was icy and that was why he was not able to make the turn at the intersection. He denied that he swerved from side to side on the road and said that he was driving at twenty-eight, not thirty miles an hour.

The accused admitted that he had had two bottles of beer that day. He remembered seeing the boy on the side of the road but said that he came nowhere near striking him. His evidence was corroborated by that of the woman who was with him.

During his evidence Paalanen used an interpreter. At the conclusion of his evidence Magistrate Atkinson asked him several questions in English. Paalanen responded—in English.

"You can speak English all right," said the Magistrate. He remarked, when summing up the case, that Paalanen might have been charged with driving while drunk. It was a wonder, he said, that he had not struck and killed the boy on the road.

Dismisses Minor Charge
A minor charge—one of parking illegally, against Edward Jackson, was dismissed.

Jackson was charged with leaving his car in front of the Kingston Hotel, between two "no parking" signs, overnight. Evidence to that effect was given by two police officers.

He could not understand it, said Jackson. He left his car parked in front of the Welcome Hotel, where he stayed, all during the night, when the offense was supposed to have been committed. He had not used the car all evening. When he came out in the morning the car was where he left it—locked.

Magistrate Atkinson gave Mr. Jackson the benefit of the doubt and dismissed the charge.

Seven By-law Convictions
Seven persons pleaded guilty to charges of breaking municipal traffic by-laws and paid fines of $1 and costs each outside of court. Two settled out of court on charges of speeding. Fines were $10 and costs each.

Archie Pigeon paid a fine of $25 and costs on a conviction in a charge of reckless driving. His driving permit was suspended for thirty days. Another reckless driving charge was adjourned.

Sunday Gamers Fined
Ernest Fitzpatrick, Joe Kokoruda, Harry Beeks and Armand Gaudreau all paid fines of $10 and costs on charges of Sunday gaming. The four were arrested in the London Hotel last weekend.

Four drunks were given the alternative of $10 and costs or thirty days in jail.

Twenty cases of beer were ordered seized when George B. Leblanc pleaded guilty to having beer in his possession illegally. In addition he paid a fine of $10 and costs. The beer was reported found in a garage operated by Leblanc.

Convicted of disorderly conduct, Richard Greigg was given the option of a fine of $10 and costs or ten days in jail. One vagrant was sent away for three months definite and one month indefinite to be treated for a social disease.

Preston East Dome Off to Fine Start

New 300-Ton Cyanide Plant Fine as Any in Canada.

(By Sidney Norman, Mining Editor of The Globe and Mail)
With as fine a mill and surface equipment as can be found anywhere in Ontario or Canada, and with spectacular ore bodies at depth, the newest producers in the great Porcupine camp—Preston East Dome Mines—went into action on Wednesday, March 1, and when visited on the following Sunday was working up to capacity of 300 tons, with each department functioning perfectly.

The plant was built under contract by Canadian Comstock Company and the completed job is one of which any concern might justly be proud. A start on construction was made in September and the whole plant placed in operation within five months. It occupies a slightly spot, on a slight eminence overlooking the Porcupine Valley.

In designing the mill and crusher building, officials and members of the company's engineering staff had a hand, including E. W. Wright, K.C., the president; Douglas G. H. Wright, M.E., managing director; Walter E. Segsworth, consulting engineer, and V. A. James, mine manager. The plans were made by the company's staff, Ronald D. Lord, conducting the metallurgical tests upon which the flow sheet was selected, while J. Mitchell and Vance Ball finished up the details of the designing work.

Flow Sheet Flexible
From the mine bin, with capacity of 350 tons, supplemented by underground storage in passes and pocket for another 1,450 tons, the ore goes by 48-inch belt conveyor to 18x36 jaw crusher and over a 4x8 double deck screen to a 4-foot shorthead cone crusher, reducing the ore to half-inch and capable of handling 500 tons an hour.

The crushed ore is carried by belt to a 1,000-ton steel ore bin at the head of the mill and fed by constant-weight feeder to 6x14 foot tube mill and thence to spiral and bowl classifiers. From there it is passed to two 30-foot tray thickeners, overflow going to precipitation and the thickened pulp to two 21x24 foot agitators, thence to a pair of 11x14 foot filters, with a stage of agitation in between. The flow sheet is flexible and can be changed so as to obtain primary agitation ahead of the bowl classifier.

A fireproof refinery, constructed of concrete and tile, equipped with fire and burglar-proof vault, occupies one corner of the mill on the ground floor. Water is supplied to the mine and mill from artesian wells on the property) and in preparation for a greater supply another well was recently drilled in the flat about a quarter of a mile from the plant, bringing in a supply of 200 gallons a minute of pure water.

Surface Equipment Complete
Other surface equipment includes a modern two-part change house with latest sanitary features; spacious shaft and hoist houses; machine shop; fireproof assay office and assayer's quarters; office and store buildings and several residences for the staff, all heated by a central plant. It is understood that the whole surface equipment cost in the neighborhood of $750,000.

The mining plant includes two 48x36 double-drum hoists, one handling a 2½ ton skip and cage and the other held in reserve for the cage compartment. Air is supplied by two 1,080 cubic foot compressors, giving total of 2,160 feet of free air per minute.

The main development upon the property, which consists of 240 acres adjoining Dome mine on the south and east is by No. 2 shaft, of five compartments, which has reached depth of 732 feet. Levels have been opened at 200, 300, 425, 550 and 675 feet. High-grade ore, as already generally known, was encountered on the 550 level, where a length of 267 feet showed average values of $140.43 across an average width of 5 feet. In December last, 175 tons of partially sorted ore was shipped and returned the sum of $138,426.

The ore occurs in quartz veins in a porphyry mass, approximately 300 feet in width and dipping 45 degrees easterly. The main shaft has been sunk in the hanging wall of this mass, which lies between greenstones. At the 550 level, the shaft passes into the porphyry on its dip. No lateral work has yet been done upon the lowest or 675-foot level and comparatively little on the 550. During the past six months little development was carried out in any part of the mine, as preparations were being made for production by the opening of stopes and completion of ore passes and pockets. Now that the mine is in production, it is the intention of the management to institute a comprehensive development campaign on all levels. The only development on the 550 level so far has been in the hanging wall part of the porphyry. Nothing has yet been done on the footwall side, where most of the development in the upper part of the mine has been done.

Ore in Irregular Masses
On the 200-foot level, various ore shoots in irregular masses have been developed, with widths varying from 5 to as much as 60 feet, and other subsidiary bodies which have not yet been thoroughly investigated. On the 300-foot level, the ore area is somewhat smaller, but the ore of higher grade and of varying widths. On the 425 level, a crosscut has been carried to the footwall side of the porphyry and drifting was recently started in ore roughly about the centre of the mass.

On the 550-foot level, all work has been in the hanging wall area, adjacent to the shaft, where 503 drift, just south of the shaft, has proved up the high grade shoot, already mentioned, carrying average values of $140 per ton, uncut. It was from the central part of this shoot, now strongly barricaded, that the spectacular shipment was made in December. Ninety feet further south 505 drift has so far developed 100 feet of ore averaging over $24, uncut, and $10.88, cut, over drift widths. On the 675-foot level, the station has been cut and diamond drill holes fanned out in several directions, one intersecting 2 feet of 2.43 oz. ore at a point approximately vertically below the high-grade zone on the 550. Another drill hole put down from the 550 level cut one foot of ore assaying $1,054 at a depth of 60 feet below the level.

Owing to the irregular shape of the orebodies it is impossible at the moment to give the lengths developed on the various levels, but it is important to know that the spectacular orebody found on the 550 has not yet been developed on any of the levels above and that there is a reasonable possibility that it will persist to surface. On the 425 and 550 levels, in the hanging wall, central, and footwall sections of the porphyry mass, several drill holes have intersected important ore showing, which will now be systematically explored and developed and which promise substantial tonnage.

15,000 Tons on Dump
In addition to ore exposed underground, is a dump of between 15,000 and 16,000 tons, containing several hundred tons of exceptional good ore from the high-grade sections of the mine.

In advance of the annual meeting, which will be held after conclusion of the fiscal year on March 31, no information will be given out regarding average heads and recovery. It is known, however, that tests have proved the ore readily amenable to the milling process adopted and extraction ratio should be well up to the highest achieved in the district.
