The average temperature of 13.5 degrees compares with 18.4 degrees for the third month of all the years since 1894, and with 21.5 degrees for March, 1938. There was only .03 inch of rain, against 2.52 inches a year ago, and no fewer than 101 calm hours, compared with only 29 in March of 1938. Snowfall of 15.7 inches was about normal. In 1905, the temperature one March day rose to summer proportions, the maximum reading being 70.6 degrees, the records reveal.

Gasoline Serves Best at the Rate of 25 Miles P.H.

The best gasoline mileage for motor cars is in the range of moderate speeds, around 25 miles an hour, it was reported to the American Physical Society, by Prof. J. B. Derieux of North Carolina State College at Raleigh, N.C. Science Service states:

In a speed range from five to 60 miles an hour, it was found, the maximum mileage was achieved at 25 miles an hour and an average of about 20 miles to the gallon was obtained. At five miles an hour the mileage per gallon was about 14, while at 60 miles an hour 12 miles to the gallon was recorded.

The gain in mileage per gallon rose rapidly from five to 20 mile an hour speeds and then usually fell away slowly, Prof. Derieux declared. At very low or very high speeds high test gasoline gave more miles to the gallon of fuel.

These tests, points out Prof. Derieux were made just as the average motorist would do in trying out different grades of fuel.

Illegal to Hold Gold Coin or Bullion in the U. S. A.

(From Globe and Mail) Some time ago this department of The Globe and Mail was asked for information concerning the order issued by President Roosevelt on April 5, 1933, under which hoarding of gold was made an offence, punishable by fine in the amount of not more than $10,000, or imprisonment for not more than ten years, in case of infraction by individual or company official.

The order was issued under the authority vested in the President by the act of March 9, 1933, "to provide relief in the existing national emergency in banking, and for other purposes," and at the time of the order the emergency was declared to still exist.

"Hoarding" was defined as withdrawal or withholding of gold coin, bullion or certificates from the recognized and customary channels of trade and it was decreed that all gold, with certain exemptions must be delivered to a Federal Reserve Bank on or before May 1, 1933.

The exemptions included such amount of gold as might be required for legitimate and customary use in industry, professions or the arts, in reasonable amounts; gold coin and certificates in an amount not exceeding $100 to any one person, or coins having recognized special value to collectors; gold coin or bullion earmarked or held in trust for a recognized foreign government, foreign central bank or the Bank of International Settlements and gold coin and bullion licensed for proper transactions, including that imported for re-export or held pending action on applications for export licenses.

After April 28, 1933, it was mandatory to deliver all gold coin, bullion or certificates within three days and Federal Reserve or member banks were authorized to pay, therefore, an equivalent amount of any other form of coin or currency coined or issued under the laws of the United States. Federal Reserve banks in their respective districts and receive credit or payment therefor.

By another order dated August 28, 1933, provisions were made for the investigation and regulation of hoarding, earmarking and export of gold coin, bullion or certificates and for investigation and regulation of transactions in foreign exchange, transfers of credit and export or withdrawal of currency.

Within fifteen days from date of the order, holders were required to file with the Collector of Internal Revenue, under oath, the kind and amount of coin, bullion or certificates held and location thereof; of held for another, the capacity in which it was held and the address of the person for whom it was held.

By section No. 4 of that order it was decreed that in future no person other than a Federal Reserve bank could lawfully hold gold coin, bullion or gold certificates, except as exempted in the previous order. The punishments provided in previous orders were retained and the previous orders superseded.

Many other orders were subsequently issued by the Secretary of the Treasury amending, modifying or clarifying the main order, but the provisions of the latter are still in effect.

Greater Service is Aim of Newspapers

President of Ontario-Quebec Weekly Newspaper Association Gives Aim of Weeklies and Semi-Weeklies.

"Ever greater community service through ever better weekly newspapers" is the slogan of the annual convention of the Ontario-Quebec division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, to be held this year in Ottawa on Friday and Saturday, April 28 and 29, according to the president A. E. Dobbie, Smiths Falls.

A new trophy is being offered this year, the Joseph T. Clark Memorial Trophy, commemorating the former editor of the Toronto Star, for the best all-round newspaper published in a town or village of 1,500 or less population. The late Mr. Clark never lost his delight in the incidents of town and country life. The donor of this trophy is J. E. Atkinson, president of the Toronto Star, who was for some years secretary-treasurer of the one-time Canadian Press Association when it included both dailies and weeklies in its membership. Mr. Atkinson has never lost his interest in the weekly press.

The publisher is to choose any one issue of his newspaper during the month of January and submit it for the competition. All members of the Ontario-Quebec division are invited to enter the annual competition for the George Pearce Editorial Trophy emblematic of the best editorial page among member newspapers. The trophy is now held by the Canadian Statesman, Bowmanville. Issues of Feb. 9 and March 9 will be submitted for this competition. Prizes are also being offered for the best printing exhibit and the best composing-room "gadgets."

The publishers will spend Friday, April 28, in business discussion and education forums, conducted by their own members, while their ladies will be royally entertained by the Ottawa Branch of the Canadian Women's Press Club.

Guest speakers at luncheon and dinner will be Gratton O'Leary, editor of the Ottawa Journal and Sir Gerald Campbell, British High Commissioner. On the following day the publishers and their ladies will visit a paper mill in Hull and travel to Lucerne, P.Q. for luncheon at the Seigniory Club.

It is several years since Ford Dealers all over Canada first set up definite high standards of RECONDITIONING for used cars, and definite SAFEGUARDS to protect the used car buyer. These standards and safeguards were embodied in the "R & G" PLAN. Each year, Ford Dealers spend thousands of dollars in thoroughly reconditioning the cars they take in trade. Much of this reconditioning is not apparent to the eye. But your Ford Dealer is convinced that his future as a businessman depends on the VALUE of the products he sells—whether they be new Ford, Mercury or Lincoln-Zephyr cars, or whether they be the "R & G" cars that he offers. For this reason, your Ford Dealer does all in his practical power to make sure that the "R & G" cars he sells are in absolute A-1 condition. Then, to further safeguard the buyer, he offers a 2-day money-back guarantee (100% satisfaction or 100% refund), with a "50-50" 30-day warranty against mechanical defects.
