Police Court
Heard by Magistrate Gould:—Dog at large on July 8th—$1 and costs.

Riding bicycle on highway at Golden City without light. Two young lads had to pay $1 and costs after pleading not guilty. Their story was that Police Chief told them to go home as they had no lights—and then when they were on their way (still riding) he laid the charge. Nothing was said about walking home. The magistrate pointed out that they were guilty of a breach of the highway traffic act, warning or no warning, and were therefore guilty.

An assault case (adjourned) will come up again next week.

A lady, who proffered a case of assault against a young man, withdrew the charge and paid the costs.

A charge of threatening to do actual bodily harm was heard against a local man, who had so threatened his wife. He was bound over in his own recognizances ($200) to keep the peace.

A charge of indecent assault was heard in closed court. This was against a little girl of six years—and although much evidence was given the magistrate dismissed it as inconclusive.

St. Mary's Journal-Argus:—It has been customary to speak of the old barroom days as a page from the past that were better forgotten. But the opinion is spreading among those who can hark back to those days, that the present beer rooms are greater breeders of intemperance than even the old bars were. Another thing to be remembered is that in the old days there was some kind of democratic control. If a community didn't want liquor, it didn't have to take it. Today the liquor authorities assume absolute control of the situation.

Landmark at South Porcupine to be Replaced

Wilson's Barber Shop Site for Twenty Odd Years to See New Brick Structure.

South Porcupine, July 26.—(Special to The Advance)—A real news item today is the fact that the W. W. Wilson Barber Shop building on Main St., which has been a barber shop for the past twenty-odd years, and operated by Mr. Wilson, is being prepared for moving at 6 a.m. on Thursday, on to a cement foundation on Bruce avenue. Business as usual will be the slogan the day after tomorrow.

On the site of the old building a new and modern structure is to rise—a new Wilson block, built of brick.

We are glad to publish the following article written on the Wilsons, from the pen of the Rev. J. C. Cochrane, Supt. of Missions for the North, who has been a friend of the family for years.

Nothing that he says of them is in any way exaggerated and Mr. and Mrs. "Billy" Wilson live in the hearts of all old-timers as people of the good "old" North; representatives of a time that is dear to all its sons.

And—since these things are better said when the people are living and can read them, than given as obituaries, here follows the article:—

"While 'Billy Wilson's Barber Shop' is one of the well known institutions of South Porcupine and the proprietor is recognized as an artist at his trade, if those who know him best were asked to describe the avocation of this old-timer of the Porcupine Camp there would seem to be no more appropriate quotation than a couplet from the lines of Samuel Foss—

"Let me live in a house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man."

"Born in 1879 in the town of Uxbridge, William Wellington Wilson was early introduced to the necessity of making his own way in life. Before he reached the teen age he was earning his living by working in the lumber camps in the winter and the sawmills in the summer. It was in the pursuit of this industry that he was introduced to life on the frontiers and he grew up to young manhood in the Muskoka District which in the nineties was one of the frontiers of the North.

"He was introduced to the barbering trade in Bracebridge and served his apprenticeship with the late Joe Casey, whose shop had a reputation for good work and satisfied customers. In 1903 he was married to Miss Emily Mary Ferguson of Bracebridge and thus a home, noted for its generous hospitality and kindness, was established. In whatever community Mr. and Mrs. Wilson have resided, their home has had an open door, particularly for those who were homeless, unfortunate, or lonely. Not a few of the "Skyplotters" in the early days of the Porcupine Camp found this home to be a "shelter in the time of storm."

"In 1905 the Wilsons moved from Bracebridge to Thessalon which at that time was at the zenith of its history as one of the centres of the lumbering industry on the north shore of the Georgian Bay. Here Mr. Wilson carried on the barbering business for over six years. In the life of this community this worthy couple filled a useful place and established a large circle of friends. Their home was a rendezvous for all lovers of music. In his spare time Mr. Wilson mastered the art of playing the slide trombone and became a valued member of the local band.

"New frontiers were opening up in Northern Ontario and the pioneering spirit of the Wilson's led them to the Porcupine Camp where they arrived on August 6, 1911. South Porcupine was just beginning to rise from the ashes of that dreadful holocaust of July 11th, 1911, and was at this time a tented city. The Wilsons purchased a bell tent and established a home on Commercial Ave. Mr. Wilson having his shop in the Pool Room tent of the late W. B. Wilson. From that day their fortunes have been closely linked with the vicissitudes of the Camp. They have shared its prosperity and its adversity, but never have they wavered in their loyalty, or lost faith in its future. From 1919 until 1923, the spirit of the wanderlust again took possession of them and they travelled to Florida and the Pacific Coast. Two winters were spent in Florida where Mr. Wilson was a member of a rather celebrated band of musicians with steady engagements called the "Palm Beach Band". After a residence of some months on the Pacific Coast, the lure of the North again cast its spell upon them and they returned to resume their life and occupation in South Porcupine with this declaration—"Of all the places we have lived, this is the best."

"Unostentatiously playing their part in the building up of Northern Ontario, this worthy couple have earned the right to be numbered among its oldest and most respected citizens. They are "old-timers" that South Porcupine delights to honour."
