Highlights and Sidelights of War

lets concluded by telling the German people that they had been deceived, and that they should demand peace, and that the British would be ready to deal with any sincerely pacific German movement. "We are too strong to be shattered by attacks," the message said, "and we can fight you pitilessly until you are completely exhausted."

Czecho-Slovakia Speaks

Edward Benes, former president of Czecho-Slovakia, and an exile from this country since September of last year when the Germans marched in, has sent the following message to Premier Chamberlain:—"We Czecho-Slovak citizens consider ourselves as being in the war with the German military forces and we shall march with your people until final victory and the liberation of our fatherland."

Japan Neutral

Japan has announced that it will be neutral in the present European war.

New York Communists

The Daily Worker, official organ of the Communist party in New York, says it will "support Poland in every measure she attempts and will steadfastly denounce Germany and Hitler."

Queen Mary Safe

The Queen Mary, $25,000,000 British liner, reached New York safely on Monday with a record passenger list of 2,331 and $44,500,000 in gold.

School Bombed

German planes bombed a school near Warsaw.

Using Parachutes

For the first time in actual warfare, German planes were reported to be dropping men behind the lines by parachute to cut wires and dynamite bridges etc.

Italy Neutral

That Italy intends to remain neutral is further suggested by the fact the Italian Line promises to resume normal sailing in the next day or two.

Freighter Captured

The British cruiser, Ajax, captured the wheat-laden German freighter Orlinda, landing the crew at Montevideo, where they were detained by the Uruguayan authorities. The German freighter was taken to an unnamed British port.

Letitia Recalled

The Donaldson Atlantic liner, Letitia, sister ship to the ill-fated Athenia, was ordered back to port at Montreal on Monday after being three days out from Canada. The order came from the Canadian government. The Letitia had 380 passengers, a third of whom are Canadians.

Escaped from Jail

Three young men who escaped from the Langstaff jail farm near Toronto were recaptured where the jail guards thought they would be—at the Toronto armories trying to enlist. They were all serving short terms for theft and other less serious charges. They made their escape by climbing through a transom from their sleeping quarters. They were taken back to the jail farm,—which was proper,—though it seems a pity in a way.

Greek Steamer Strikes Mine

The Greek steamer, Kostli, struck a mine two miles south of Falsterbo, Sweden, in the German minefield guarding the Baltic. The ship had been given no warning. The crew of twenty-nine men were rescued by a German vessel.

Woman Killed in Denmark

One woman was killed and a dozen persons injured when an aeroplane dropped four bombs on Esbjerg, Danish seaport, forty miles north of the German border.

U. S. Travellers Restricted

The United States on Monday night issued a sweeping order drastically restricting travel by United States citizens to and from Europe. Under the order, "imperative necessity" must be proved by any prospective traveller to Europe before a passport can be obtained. Minute details of the reason for a journey to Europe must be supplied, as well as particulars as to the identity of the applicant. The purpose of the new regulations is to insure the neutrality of the U. S. A. in the European trouble.

Blackouts in Canada

Sydney, Nova Scotia, had its first anti-air raid blackout on Monday night. Similar test was made at Saint John, N.B. The tests, which are reported as very satisfactory, were made as precautionary measures to avoid danger in case German bombers got across the ocean.

South Africa's Stand

South Africa's parliament voted on Tuesday 80 to 67 to sever diplomatic relations with Germany and to co-operate with the rest of the Empire. The proposal for an attitude of neutrality suggested by Premier Hertzog was refused.

To Control Wheat

Assumption of complete control of wheat marketing by the Canadian government is expected.

U. S. Radio Control

Federal Communications Commission officials at Washington said that new regulations are being drafted to forbid United States radio commentators to attack severely any belligerent. The new rules may require radio stations to say when news has been passed foreign censors or originates at a station operated by a foreign government. Under the act the president can suspend all ordinary regulations or take over operation of the stations as a means of maintaining neutrality.

U. S. Neutrality

President Roosevelt signed the U. S. neutrality proclamation on Tuesday. The arms embargo proclamation followed.

Argentina Anti-German

The torpedoing of the Athenia has stirred up feeling against the Germans. Argentina is one of the states where the crime appears to have roused special resentment.

Italy Expects to Make Money

Despatches from Rome suggest that Italy expects to be neutral for quite a while, and to make a little money out of it in the meantime. Tourists from all over Europe are flocking to Italy in the hopes of safe passage home on Italian vessels that it is thought Hitler will not order torpedoed. Italian steamship lines, however, have put up their rates as much as $150 for the trip and demand pay in American or Canadian dollars. This has placed many Americans in difficult position as they are shy of money and cannot secure it from home for some time. Even those with return tickets on Italian lines are said to face demands for extra money for the return trip.

Canada Exempted from Embargo

Among the items of news specially pleasing Ottawa is the item saying that Canada is exempted from the neutrality regulations of the U.S.A. This means that the Dominion may still purchase much-needed supplies in the United States. It also means much valued trade for the U.S. At the same time the exemption does not run counter to the spirit of the neutrality proclamation. The reason for the regulations is to avoid danger of the United States being dragged into the war. The shipment of supplies or war material in American boats would tempt either one or the other side to interfere with the carrying ships. In the last war this was a fruitful source of trouble for the U.S.A. On the other hand the shipment of supplies across the border between Canada and the United States is not attended by any such danger and does not involve the U.S. in the difficulties that follow shipments on the high seas.

Investigation by U.S.A.

The U.S.A. government is said to be conducting an investigation of its own into the torpedoing of the Athenia. The government will likely make very decided protest over the incident, which The Philadelphia Inquirer says was "murder, not war." Over three hundred American lives were endangered by the crime.

Nazi Consul Peeved

Harold Dingman, staff writer for The Globe and Mail, secured an interview with Dr. Erich Windels, German Consul-General in Canada. Among other things Dr. Windels told the interviewer that Canadian passenger ships of British registry could expect to be torpedoed if they ventured on the high seas. Then thinking that this callous view would not look well in the newspaper, the Consul-General told the reporter that the remark was confidential. Mr. Dingman explained that he had announced his newspaper connection before the interview and that he would use the remark. The German diplomat then lost his temper, declared that he would brand the interview as "an impudent lie and an act of propaganda" if it were used. He "ordered" the suppression of the callous words, but The Globe and Mail carried the story.

Germany Dislike Snipers

Germany dislikes the trick of the Polish in picking off officers and men on the march and in the towns and villages captured. All sorts of threats of reprisals are being made against this guerilla warfare.

Russia Neutral

Russia is another of the nations that has declared itself neutral. Whether this neutrality will be maintained, or not, for long is a matter of speculation.

Rioting Reported in Germany

Reports of rioting in Germany have been given out, but there is no official basis for these reports. They may have started from the fact that the plan adopted the day before the declaration of war when airplanes roared over Germany and dropped leaflets printed in German and explaining the truth of the situation, have been repeated and more of these leaflets thus thrown from the sky to German hands. There is a general opinion that the dropping of leaflets instead of bombs is a waste of time and energy, but the official explanation is that Britain hopes in this way to rouse the German people to revolt against Hitler and his brutal oppression. Some people, however, would be more surprised to see any revolution in Germany than they would be to see another Russian revolution.

Warsaw Threatened

The evacuation of the city of Warsaw is under way. The Germans claim to be approaching Warsaw, but the Polish armies have held back the Germans successfully enough to leave doubt as to the need for evacuation of the capital. Bombs dropped on Warsaw by German planes have started many fires and this may be the real reason for the preparations to evacuate the city.

French Deputies Join Colours

More than 100 of the 618 members of the French Chambers of Deputies have joined the colours.

Ships at Sea

Five German, two British and 1 Greek ship have been sunk to date on the high seas. Some other British ships are overdue. The giant German liner, The Bremen, is still undiscovered. Some believe the boat has succeeded in finding refuge in a South American port. There are reports of life-bearing equipment bearing the name "Bremen" being found at sea, suggesting that the vessel may have been sunk. Dr. Webb, of Toronto, who served in the Navy, has a theory that the Bremen may be lying off Newfoundland, stripped of its superstructure and serving as a base for planes to bomb Canadian towns.

World Glutted with Sugar

The manager of the Atlantic Sugar Refineries at Saint John, N.B., says that there is no shortage of sugar. "The world is glutted with it," he says.
