Expect North Fields to be Used for Training Air Pilots in Service

Ottawa Indicates that Fields and Facilities of Trans-Canada Air Lines Will be of Special Service. Present Plan is So Impressive That All Facilities Will be Used.

Despatches from Ottawa suggest that the air field and airport at North Bay will be used as a training centre in the plan of training men from Canada, Australia, New Zealand and other parts of the Empire for the British Air Service. It should be noted, of course, that the British Air Mission has barely started work and so there is nothing definite as yet. On the other hand, it is well to remember that the air training plan for Canada is the most ambitious ever undertaken and it will need all the facilities available to carry it out. It is understood that the whole service of the Trans-Canada Airways—fields, hangars, etc.—will be placed at the service of the Empire plan. This will mean not only that North Bay will be an active training field, but also that other fields—Porquis Junction field, for example, will also be in active use when the plan gets under way, as suggested in The Advance a week ago.

Hungarian Women Hold Banquet for Red Cross Work

Addresses on Red Cross Work Translated into Hungarian Language

Several guest speakers added to the success of the banquet held in the Odd-fellows' hall on Sunday evening by the Hungarian Women's Society, with proceeds for Red Cross work. Each of the speakers outlined the aims and purposes of the Red Cross, and showed in what way the average citizen could assist in this work.

A very appetizing repast was served, the arrangements for the event being in charge of Mrs. Maurice Cazabon, and her committee. Mr. E. W. Gladstone was the chairman, and translated the various speeches to the Hungarian language.

The guest speakers were: Mr. Austin Neame, president of the Red Cross Society Timmins branch; His Worship, Mayor J. P. Bartleman; Wm. Wren, of the Timmins Press; Mrs. A. J. Shragge, president of the Hebrew Women's Red Cross Society; Mr. Shragge; Mrs. Austin Neame.

Following the banquet, a midnight dance took place at the hall.

Reports to Kiwanis on Recent Ottawa Convention

Kiwanis Barbecue Netted $2,057.

Interesting reports of the recent Ottawa convention were heard at the regular meeting of the Timmins Kiwanis Club on Monday when A. P. McDowell and Ernest King both presented interesting observations of the Kiwanis conclave.

The slogan of the convention, "Unity, Service, Sacrifice," was a slogan which Kiwanians should bear in mind particularly in times of stress such as at present.

The meeting was presided over by J. L. Fulton, the president, and A. Wohlroth was welcomed as a guest. Dr. Lee Honey was in charge of the community singing.

The president urged the members to keep up their attendance and he also drew attention to the annual bridge tournament which will be starting soon, with William Burns as convener.

The recent barbecue netted a total of $2,057, most of which will be used for the Kiwanis Boys' Camp, it was reported by R. P. Kinkel. Fraser Pelletier complimented Mr. Kinkel on the amount of work he had done in making the barbecue a success and pointed out that Mr. Kinkel had sold 32% of all the tickets sold.

The committee on elections was named, the members being R. P. Kinkel, Gordon Irving, Reg Smith, Arch Gillies and P. Moisey.

Many Matters Considered at Fireside Club Meeting

The regular business meeting of the Fireside Club met on October 16th, with the president, Mrs. Mitchell, presiding. The secretary, Mrs. Kenney, read the minutes of the last meeting, and Mrs. Morgan gave the treasurer's report which showed a favourable balance.

New members were introduced and welcomed. Plans for the rummage sale to be held in the basement of the United Church, on Saturday morning, October 21st, were discussed and completed under Mrs. Archibald, chairman of the finance committee.

Reports from the various committees were heard and discussed, after which a War Service committee was appointed and plans made for work to begin at an early date.

German Ace Volunteers

John Rzepka, Polish-born Winnipeg barber, who was in Baron Manfred von Richthofen's "flying circus" in the last war, has offered his services in any capacity to the Royal Canadian Air Force. He won the Iron Cross twice, service with the German Air force from 1914 to 1918.

while increasing the range of their own observations, and the enemy's aviators were thoroughly dominated and defeated continuously in combat.

Young Canadians like Bishop and Barker and Brown, by individual effort, clever initiative and outstanding bravery, won for the aviators of this Dominion imperishable fame as the world's finest air fighters. Bishop, now a Canadian air marshal, destroyed 72 German aeroplanes, including 25 enemy machines, in twelve days, five of which he accounted for on the last day of his service at the front. Roy Brown of Carleton Place finished the career of the famous German flier von Richthofen. Collishaw ran Bishop a close second with 60 machines to his credit, when the Armistice came, and Barker was the hero of seemingly incredible exploits, on one occasion attacking eight hostile aeroplanes, himself shooting down two, and on another occasion fighting seven German machines and bringing down one. But these appeared preliminary to the heroic fight with more than sixty enemy planes, of which he destroyed four (three of them in flames) and won the Victoria Cross.

The courage and fearlessness of these distinguished aviators still lives in the present generation who are rushing to join the Royal Canadian Air Force. The colossal project which contemplates the expenditure of $700,000,000 upon the Empire's air training school in Canada and the training of as many as 25,000 or 30,000 pilots, observers, air gunners and wireless operators within a single year, by the time the organization reaches its peak, offers tremendous possibilities for air-minded young Canadians. The patriotic people of this Dominion naturally welcome the opportunity that comes with the decision to make this scheme "the biggest thing the Empire has ever attempted," and will applaud whole-hearted co-operation with the Government of Canada with the Governments of the United Kingdom and the sister Dominions of Australia and New Zealand. Lord Riverdale, the chairman of the British Air Mission, and his seven colleagues, who are in Ottawa for consultations with the Canadian Government, may expect the most cordial welcome and every possible assistance from all concerned in this Dominion.

Their brilliant exploits in the Great War live in the memory. Before the Huns were driven back across the Rhine the Royal Air Force included more than 8,000 young Canadians, or nearly one-third of the total force. So efficient did the Royal Flying Corps become by the middle of the war they took a constantly increasing share in the victorious operations on the Western Front. The boldness of their flights enormously embarrassed the German airmen. By 1917 the enemy fliers could no longer roam over the British lines, while ours constantly went over the German lines, bombing important points, destroying stores of munitions and war supplies, railway stations and troop trains, even coming down to low altitudes and using their machine guns in support of British infantry attacks. They blinded the enemy's observers,

Canada cannot welcome too heartily Lord Riverdale and his colleagues of the British Air Mission who have just arrived in Ottawa in connection with the $700,000,000 aviation scheme, which the distinguished chairman of the delegation describes as "the biggest thing the Empire has ever attempted."

It may be well that this Dominion's most spectacular part in the destruction of Hitlerism will be her contribution to the Empire's air forces, in personnel, money, equipment and training fields. Great Britain by reason of her tremendous financial resources, will necessarily bear the major share of the expenditure involved, but Canada and the sister Dominions will play no inconspicuous part in the defeat of nazism in the air as well as by the mighty striking force they will put in the field, including infantry, artillery, tank corps, and the like.

Bearing in mind the initiative and boldness of Canadian youth, and the reckless audacity yet skilled heroism of Canadian airmen in the Great War, the public will welcome the decision to make this Dominion the training ground for the air fighters of the Empire. Canadians take to the air as Britons take to the sea.

Val d'Or Dentist Given Term for Intimidation

Dr. H. LaMarre, dentist of Val d'Or, formerly of Rouyn, was convicted at the Amos sittings on a charge of intimidation and sentenced to eight days in jail. The charge was laid following a meeting held in October of last year when libellous statements were alleged to have been made against the town manager of Val d'Or. Dr. LaMarre is alleged to have held a public meeting, made scathing remarks about the assistant manager, and stated that he should be run out of town on the first train along with the equipment used to lay the sidewalks and roadways. The charge was laid following the meeting.

Happy Time Enjoyed at Legion Social Monday Night

Event in Honour of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Legion.

There was a very good attendance at the Legion social on Monday evening. As a mark of appreciation for the assistance of the Ladies' Auxiliary in helping to repay the building debt, the Legion planned and carried through the pleasant event. George Nippers, chairman of the entertainment committee, acted as M.C. in very capable manner. He was ably assisted by the other members of the committee.

Noise-makers, paper hats and streamers added to the fun of the evening.

Mr. Ron Jones, guest artist for the occasion, was in fine form and his tenor voice was heard to advantage in a score of vocal selections. Mrs. L. Mascin, another talented favourite of the Auxiliary and Legion, also sang beautifully, "Annie Laurie" and "God Send You Back to Me." Both selections received loud and prolonged applause which showed the appreciation of her audience.

Square dancing and all the popular dance favourites made up the programme and were much enjoyed by all. A feature was a music-guessing contest, which was won by Mrs. W. D. Forrester and Walter Wilkinson.

A spot waltz was won by Mr. and Mrs. Ruest.

A very dainty luncheon was served during the evening and contributed to the success of the social evening.

Walter A. Devine at the piano gave most generously of his talent and ability being assisted in the latter part of the evening by Fred Hayes and his accordion.

The National Anthem brought this pleasant social to a fitting close.

Many Famous People in the American Order of the Bath

In 1936, Josh Sarasohn, of Detroit, sent out as Christmas cards pictures of himself reading in the bathtub, accompanied by certificates of membership in The Ancient and Independent Order of Soakers, a Non-Profit, Non-Political, Non-Sectarian Organization of Folks Who Like to Read in the Bath-tub. "The member whose name appears hereon," the certificate stated, "is entitled to a minimum of one hour per diem in the privacy of the bathroom for the purpose of reading without hindrance, vicecracks or other annoyances by other members of the family. Our Platform: Colour-fast Book Bindings and Waterproof Paper."

A facsimile of this patent of nobility found its way into several papers and requests for the accolade poured in. Mr. Sarasohn, who has assumed the title of Grand Supreme Exalted Lord High Dunker, finally had to have the certificates produced in quantity (they are an addition to the decoration of any bathroom wall). Today there are 15,000 Soakers, including such celebrities as H. G. Wells, Lowell Thomas, Ben Ames Williams, Ed. Sullivan, Max Lerner, and Bernard Shaw. The latter wrote when accepting membership: "Unfortunately, in this country a Soaker is a person who is never sober, and seldom dreams of having a bath. And I am a teetotaler! So keep it a secret on this side. Bernard Shaw, A.I.O.S."

North Bay Nugget.—Although industries from which war supplies will come are destined to experience exceptional activity, Ontario shouldn't lose sight of the fact that tourist trade must be continually primed to encourage growth and expansion.

The Timmins town coffers were enriched to a considerable extent by fines levied by Magistrate Atkinson in police court here on Tuesday as a result of recent raids on alleged gaming houses by the police. Eighteen men pleaded guilty to being "found in" and paid fines of $20 and costs each. Eight more paid $10 and costs for gambling on the Lord's Day. Two men, Joe Patent and Walter Dolecki, were assessed $200 or three months for permitting gambling.

Charges of gambling in a public place against Dan Tynnych, William Splan, Gerald McAlendin, Raymond Garvey, Elio Kalli, Rosario Bureau, Paul Jawinski, Fred Peneoski, Alex. Those who pleaded guilty to gambling on the Lord's Day were Stanley Ratulowski, John Huk, Carl Waag, Paul Jassinski, Stanley Pletzyk, Walter Dolecki, William Baden and Carl Dolecki.

Pleading guilty to a charge of drunk driving, Dennis O'Connor was sentenced to thirty days in jail and had his driver's permit cancelled for six months.

Gerald Cleary was fined $10 and costs or ten days for driving a car without an operator's permit.

Robert Marshall was assessed $25 and costs for illegal consumption under the Liquor Control Act and Bert Cameron paid $10 and costs for illegal possession of liquor.

Harold McInnis of South Porcupine was fined $10 and costs and his driving permit suspended for thirty days for careless driving.

Highgrading charges against Emery Hamelin and Salem Despatie were withdrawn and a warrant for the arrest of Paul Labrecque on a similar charge was sworn out.

Joseph Woloschuk was fined $1 and costs of $3.75 for contravening the Timmins anti-noise by-law.

Pleading not guilty to a charge of making a left hand turn at the corner of First Ave. and Pine Street, Dr. A. S. Porter claimed that the police car, which approached the intersection about the same time as he, was travelling at a speed of thirty or forty miles an hour. Constable Thompson stated that Dr. Porter had cut the corner very sharply and might have caused a collision had not both cars stopped. Magistrate Atkinson set the fine at $2 and costs of $5.75.

Charged with being an alien in possession of firearms Fred Ooman had his case adjourned for a week. Charges of being in possession of firearms not registered against Abry Deen and Sirvi Kively were adjourned for a week.

A charge of wife-beating was withdrawn at the request of the wife.

"God Save the King" and "Marseillaise" at Church

(From Globe and Mail)
The spirit of co-operation animating Britain and France in this war is extending to the Allied peoples everywhere. Unity of action may be made evident in many ways, but few more appropriate than by the singing in a Hamilton church on Sunday of both "God Save the King" and "The Marseillaise."

Both are suitable to any religious service. The dignity of the British national anthem arouses at all times the patriotism of His Majesty's people; and the spirited national anthem of France is as a ringing call to action.

These are times calling for patriotism and action. Britain and France are fighting for all the democratic peoples of the world, for all who love freedom. Their flags are virtually entwined; their armies are embattled together, and their national anthems should be sung wherever French or British people gather. The Hamilton congregation has set an example that ought to be followed throughout the Dominion.

It may be recalled that during the last war the national anthems of the then allies were collected and published as song sheets, which became popular everywhere. This time the selection is simplified. "God Save the King" and "The Marseillaise" make strong appeal at any time to the citizens of Britain and France and their descendants in other lands. Their singing at church services gives them a religious tone in keeping with the purpose of the Allies. This war is a crusade for all that Christian people value.

Had He Known He Would Have Taken a Better Look

(By Florence Finch Kelly)
One day in the Yosemite Valley, I was told that there was an old man in the office of the hotel who in 1851 had been one of the company that had discovered the Yosemite. Eagerly I seized the opportunity of finding out what it was like to be the first of civilized men to behold one of nature's most marvelous works. "It must have been wonderful," I said, "to have the Valley burst suddenly upon you."

The old man spat over the edge of the veranda and looked reflective for a moment. "Well," he said, "I'll tell ye. If I'd ha' knowed it was going to be so famous I'd ha' looked at it."
