Songs and Laughter in "The Under-Pup" at Palace Theatre

Eleven Year Old Star Winning All Hearts.

While it is the singing voice and youthful charm of the eleven-year-old newcomer, Gloria Jean, that will furnish the pleasant surprise to audiences seeing "The Under-Pup" at the Palace theatre, Friday, Friday midnight and Saturday, Oct. 20th and 21st, the amazing youngster is by no means the whole show of the new romantic comedy.

Producer Joe Pasternak, maker of all the Deanna Durbin hits and one of Hollywood's outstanding production chiefs, has turned out another entertainment magnet in Universal's "The Under-Pup." Played by an imposing cast, well directed, and blending comedy, romance, moments of drama and music, the new film is filled with surprises.

No surprise, however, is the sparkling romantic steam of Robert Cumming and Nan Grey, already established by their appearance together in "Three Smart Girls Grow Up." And the outstanding cast performs as anticipated. Among the leaders are Beulah Bondi, Virginia Weidler, Margaret Lindsay, C. Aubrey Smith, Billy Gilbert, Ann Gillis, Raymond Walburn and many others.

In addition to the little star, the eleven-year-old Gloria Jean, other young actresses take important part in the picture. These include the clever twelve-year-old actress, Virginia Weidler, Billy Lanart, aged 9, Kenneth Brown aged 7, and Ann Gillis aged 12. Among the adults in the cast are the famous English actor, C. Aubrey Smith, the well-known Billy Gilbert, Raymond Walburn, and others.

Perhaps, adults will enjoy this feature picture even more than the youngsters, but "The Under-Pup" certainly makes very decided appeal to the children. Following its usual plan of specially looking after the children, the Palace theatre is having a special children's matinee at 4.30 p.m. Saturday, with the merely nominal charge of ten cents for children.

Selznick's "A Star is Born" Coming to the Cartier Theatre

Janet Gaynor and Frederic March in Re-Issue of Technicolour Film.

The feature at the Cartier theatre on Sunday midnight, Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 23rd and 24th, will be a re-issue of the real gala Hollywood premiere, complete with pressing thrills, searchlights, radio announcer and celebrities, "A Star is Born." This is a re-issue of David O. Selznick's technicolour production, co-starring Janet Gaynor and Frederic March.

William A. Wellman directed this glamorous story of Hollywood's "inside," which casts Janet as a little country girl who came to Hollywood in search of fame, faced the crushing odds of 100,000 to one and made good.

Adolphe Menjou, May Robson, Andy Devine and Lionel Stander are prominently featured in this first up-to-the-minute story to be filmed in technicolour, while others playing important roles are Owen Moore, Peggy Wood, Elizabeth Jents, Edgar Kennedy, J. C. Nugent and Guinn "Big Boy" Williams.

Dorothy Parker, Alan Campbell and Robert Carson prepared the screen play from a story written by Carson in collaboration with Wellman.

TEN YEARS AGO IN TIMMINS

From data in the Porcupine Advance Files

The regular meeting of the Timmins town council was held ten years ago, with Mayor Geo. S. Drew in the chair, and Councillors A. G. Carson, H. Charlebois, P. Dougall, R. Richardson, Alfred Caron and C. P. Ramsay present. There was a request submitted to council to permit the steps for the mail receiving box to project out about three feet on town property. A new type of mail receiver adopted by the department since the plans were made for the post office at Timmins made the steps necessary. There would be three steps and they would be on Pine street.

There was very general regret here ten years ago when it was known that Mr. W. B. Clearhue, traveller for the National Drug Co. of Toronto, had passed away at the St. Mary's hospital from pneumonia after only a few days' illness. The late Mr. Clearhue had been coming to Timmins for years as the representative of his firm and was well known here and very widely popular and respected. He was taken ill the previous week and removed to St. Mary's hospital. When it was known that he was seriously ill his wife was notified and at once left Toronto for Timmins. Mrs. Clearhue arrived here, and friends had the sad task of breaking to her the news of her husband's death. The remains were taken to Toronto for interment there.

Ten years ago the Oddfellows of the district, held a conference at Iroquois Falls. Grand Master A. G. Carscadden, of Toronto, and Grand Secretary Wm. Brooks were present for the conference and the Oddfellows were delighted to have these Grand Lodge officers with them. The Grand Master and Grand Secretary were accompanied by a number of other world-famous Hollywood landmarks as the Trocadero, Grauman's Chinese Theatre, the Brown Derby and the Billmore Bowl as it looks during the annual banquet of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, are shown in natural colour.

Lyle Wheeler designed the settings and the costumes are by Omar Klam. Lansing Holden is credited as colour designer. The photography is by W. Howard Greene and the music by Max Steiner.

"A Star Is Born" is released through United Artists.

"PLEASED TO MEET YOU!"

It was one of those exasperating sidewalk situations when a man and a woman, coming in opposite directions, jockeyed to the right, then the left, together in an awkward effort to pass each other, according to Walter Winchell. When the snarl was finally unravelled, the man politely tipped his hat and said:

"Well, g'bye. It's been fun knowing you!"

PACKING THEM IN

Edmonton Bulletin—The city voters' list has reached a new all-time length, containing 54,857 names, 1,104 more than that of last year. It is doubtful if any city in Canada is showing as large a proportionate gain in population year after year. It is quite certain that no other city is showing so large a gain in population with so small an increase in housing accommodation. When it comes to "packing them in" the sardine tin is our working model.

The twelfth annual convention of the Teachers' Institute of Cochrane District was held at Kapuskasing, October tenth and eleventh. By a special train the teachers south and east of Kapuskasing were able to arrive for the opening session without interfering with their teaching duties. The convention was held in the Kapuskasing public school, one of the most modern and most finely built schools in Ontario, and a building of which the town was justly proud. The high ceilings, the bright, airy halls, rooms and basements proclaimed that here, in the north, benefits from the experiences of others had not gone to waste. The first session opened at ten o'clock with Mr. N. R. Wightman as president, and Miss Nina MacLeod, secretary. The opening devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Fr. Davidge, of Kapuskasing.

Mrs. J. T. Bunce (formerly Miss Mary Donovan) and her mother, Mrs. Donovan, left ten years ago for Kapuskasing where they took up residence. Mrs. Bunce who was married some years previously, joined her husband who was on the staff of the Experimental Farm at Kapuskasing. Mrs. Donovan and daughter were among the early residents of Timmins and were much missed here by the many friends they had made during their long residence in Timmins. Mrs. Bunce, who was on the staff of the Bank of Montreal, had held many important office positions here, being a particularly competent and expert stenographer and bookkeeper. The best wishes from many friends followed them to their new home.

Ten years ago in The Advance: "On Saturday evening last about 8.15 Mr. P. McCormick was hit and knocked down by a motor car at the corner of Balsam street and Second avenue. The car came round the corner without warning, hitting Mr. McCormick before he had any chance to save himself. He was badly bruised and shook up and also suffered a dislocated thumb as a result of the accident. Some passers-by assisted Mr. McCormick to his home where he is now making good progress to recovery. He is able this week to be out and around again but is still suffering from the shock and injuries received. The car that struck him was running without lights. This fact made it impossible for Mr. McCormick to secure the number of the car, and some ladies who noticed the accident were also unable to obtain the number of the car for the same reason. The offending motorist further offended by neglecting to stop."

"P. A. Persson, a Norwegian, only in town a few weeks," said The Advance ten years ago, "is dead as the result of loss of blood from a self-inflicted wound made on his arm by the use of a safety razor blade. Persson apparently laid down on his bed in his own room; he cut his arm near the wrist with a safety razor blade, allowing the blood from the arm to run into the spittoon he had in the room. As he laid on the bed with his arm held down the blood overflowed from the spittoon onto the floor and through the floor eventually dripped down into room below. It is estimated that it was about 11 o'clock when the man used the safe-

The Advance a number of interesting old and rare coins in his possession. Mr. Hastings had noted the references in the possession of Timmins people and he was much interested in these, being himself a collector of odd coins and curios.

Among the local items in The Advance ten years ago were: "Mr. R. E. Hunter, of Montreal, was a business visitor to Timmins this week." "Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Burton, of St. Thomas, Ont., were Timmins visitors last week." "Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Kelley and Miss May have been visiting Mrs. James Lloyd at Orillia and other friends at Toronto." "Miss Izelda Martin, of Kapuskasing Public School staff, motor-cycled to town on Saturday to visit her home here."

JOE WRIGHT, JR., KEEPS FIT WITH KRUSCHEN

Recommends "The Little Daily Dose" to Others

Here's what Joe Wright, Jr., Diamond Sculls winner and ex-Argo football star says about Kruschen Salts: "I realized the pitfalls of suddenly dropping out of active sport. I still take a fair amount of exercise but as a preventive against common ailments I depend a lot on my 'little daily dose' of Kruschen Salts every morning in a glass of water. I recommend it without hesitation."

KEEPS ME FEELING LIKE A MILLION DOLLARS

Kruschen contains several highly refined salts, each for a special purpose. Potassium Chloride, for example, for rheumatic symptoms, as a means of retarding formation of harmful bilirates in the tissues. Kruschen helps prevent sluggishness, acid indigestion, clears out poisons and imparts that priceless feeling of fitness that makes you enjoy every minute of the day. 25c, 45c, 75c at drug stores.

Famous Newspaper Pays Tribute to "the Man who Knows"

Gentlemen Particularly Popular in Time of War.

(From London Weekly Times)

He is it must be admitted an asset to the community in these confusing times. Frontiers are closed; censors are at work; Europe, big with her own momentous destinies, is—if it is not irrelevant to say so—egg-bound. The news-bills tell us something, but not much; the Press and the wireless tell us more, but still not everything. We should, in fact, live in a state of painful curiosity were it not for the man who knows.

He did yeoman service a year ago, and now he is back in harness again. His numbers have, if anything, increased and his stock of information is as varied (and as reliable) as ever. He has his ear to the ground, his finger on the pulse. He is, practically, the horse's mouth. It is really extraordinary how much he knows, for he does not claim to move in the very highest circles. He relies, rather, on a sort of informal (but absolutely reliable) intelligence system, a network of relatively humble ears and eyes which, without any effort to speak of on his part, fill up in his mind the blanks that exist in ours.

The rest of us can only speculate about the identity of a passenger in one of the "mystery planes" which have been running so regularly recently; but there is no need for him to speculate. He knows, and is generously willing to share his knowledge with us. A friend of his sister's, it seems, has a cook who is engaged to the actual attendant who carried the suitcase of the enigmatic visitor, who was, of course, Herr X. "Her X!" we exclaim. "But what can his arrival portend?" This question, too, the man who knows is in a position to answer, for he has just been lunching (as it happens) with a man who has the next flat to the Ruritanian Commercial Attache, whose government's secret service knew all about Herr X's visit two days ago. We listen, spellbound, while the man who knows lays bare without emotion the tortuous workings of Weltpolitik. We dine out on the story for two nights, after which it transpires that the mysterious figure was not Herr X at all, but a Mr. A. who was coming to London to have his teeth seen to.

It might be thought that this would disillusion us, would impair our confidence in the man who knows. Not a bit of it. Events are moving too fast for that. Already we are hanging once more on the lips of one of his incarnations, whose cousin's gardener's son is an office boy in the Radish Marketing Board and who accordingly possesses some striking information about the government's plans for making torpedo nets out of seakale. It is indeed almost impossible—and dreadfully unkind—to criticize the man who knows. In a difficult time he supplies a need. He stimulates. Criticism, in any case, would not produce the slightest effect on him. It never has. It was, as some of us recall, his aunt's chauffeur (a very reliable man) who, on Perth Station, saw them sweeping the snow out of the Russian troop trains in the last war.

No; the man who knows has had his setbacks and survived. To-day, for better or for worse, he is back in our ranks—back in harness, with his aunt, and her chauffeur, and (mutatis mutandis) the snow.
