Choice of Blue Concord, White Niagaras, Red Delawares, Red Catawbas. Best Types of Grapes to Use for Different Purposes. Recipes for Grape Jelly, Grape Conserve.

GRAPES ARE 2 col fourths cup of sugar, to one cup of juice, is the best proportion.
Grape Jelly
4 cups juice (about 4 pounds grapes) 8 cups sugar.
1 bottle (1 cup) fruit pectin.
Use ripe grapes. Stem and crush grapes thoroughly. Add one-half cup water, stir until mixture boils and simmer, covered, for ten minutes. Drip through jelly bag, or several thicknesses of cheese cloth. Measure juice, pour into sauce pan and add sugar. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly, and add fruit pectin. Boil one-half minute, remove from fire. Let jelly stand for about one minute and then skim. Pour immediately into hot jelly glasses and seal with paraffin.

They come in three colours and they flaunt our country's colours as they should, being of native American origin. The blue grapes are the most plentiful and are generally known as Concord, although there are a number of varieties, each of which has its own name. We call the white grapes Niagaras, the large red Catawbas, and the small red Delawares. Nothing is more colourful than a basket or bowl of mixed varieties which all have something in common, and at the same time, an individuality of flavour. We will make use of them for dessert, for breakfast and for a snack before going to bed.

For jelly and jam, the Concord type grapes are indicated. One of my favourite "conserve" is one made with both the pulp and the skins. If the fruit is not too ripe, you can make jelly with the juice from the grapes, which have been cooked without water. If fruit is overripe, then you will certainly prefer to combine fruit pectin with the grape juice. For the first type of jelly, three-

Remove skins from grapes, cook and put through colander to remove seeds. Add skins, sugar, the lemon juice and thinly shaved rind of one lemon. Cook over a slow fire until thick. The length of time depending on the amount of moisture in the grapes, will be from three quarters to one and a half hours, then add nut meats and put into jelly glasses.

Letter of the Law In Regard to the Winning of the War

Taking the Wrong Line Makes a Lot of Difference

The Kincaid News prints the following:—
We don't believe this is true but nonetheless it is a clever little puzzle and can be solved by reading vertically the third line:

MUSSOLINI
WHICH WILL WIN THE WAR?

On the face of it, the above is wrong—very wrong. The names are wrongly arranged and the wrong letter in each is picked. The Advance suggests that the lines should go like this, and the fourth vertical line gives the true answer:—

JUST BET ON THIS
WITH SURETY
HERE READ THE WINNERS:—
GAMELIN
ROOSEVELT

Wife of Former Kaiser Fears More War in World

London, England.—Princess Hermine, wife of ex-Kaiser, Wilhelm, an exile in Doorn, Holland, fears that more war may be the lot of the world, it was revealed this week.

In a letter from Doorn to the Rev. J. L. Thomas vicar of Aberpergwm, Glamorgan, near Cardiff, Wales, Princess Hermine referred to the death on the battlefield of the Kaiser's grandson, Prince Oscar.

"May there come an end to this horrible war, but more is coming over the world, I fear," Princess Hermine wrote. She thanked the vicar for his letter of sympathy and disclosed that it had been opened by the censor.

Thomas has been a friend of Wilhelm for 32 years. He often vacationed at Doorn, where he visited the ex-Kaiser daily. He said they never discussed politics but once when he asked the ex-Kaiser what he thought of Hitler, Wilhelm merely shrugged his shoulders and made no comment.

Huntingdon Gleaner:— Philip Blazer's daughter, Dorothy, of St. Paul, Minn., awoke early in the morning to find a man wandering around her room striking matches. "What do you want?" she asked politely. "How do you get out here?" the man said. "Right this way," Miss Blazer replied, and showed him the way out. The prowler apparently took nothing from the house.

Timmins Kiddies Are Told Stories at Library Class

About Thirty Youngsters Enjoy Innovation at Timmins Public Library.

The passer-by may have wondered just what those twenty or thirty little girls are doing waiting around in front of the steps of the town hall of a Saturday morning about ten o'clock. Any way, The Advance reporter was curious concerning what the attraction might be, and here is the discovery:

Every Saturday morning Timmins little girls are invited to come to the library at 10.15 for what is called the story-telling hour. Not that the little girls tell stories, oh no! The stories are told in a most entertaining manner by Miss Christine MacKeracher, the librarian of the Boys' and Girls' Department.

These Saturday morning periods are an innovation in Timmins and were started only this fall. About thirty youngsters between the ages of seven and twelve come and hear Miss MacKeracher tell a story—sometimes two stories—and read from one of the many books suitable. One of the Dr. Doolittle books is the current favourite.

One of the purposes of these story-telling hours is to encourage the children to come to the library and cultivate a taste for good reading. There are about 5,000 volumes in the juvenile section and the trained librarian is there to help the younger ones select suitable reading material.

Miss MacKeracher finds the children very well behaved and attentive, with the odd exception every once in a while, like last Saturday when the gathering of Boy Scouts in front of the town hall on Apple Day proved somewhat of a distraction, especially the three rousing cheers.

Funeral at North Bay of Mr. Rupert James Leach

North Bay, Oct. 25.—Attended by many North Bay citizens, including members of the Canadian Legion, representatives of the various railway organizations and members of the Masonic Order, as well as many relatives and friends from out-of-town points, the funeral of Rupert James Leach, prominent North Bay resident, was held Monday afternoon from the family residence, Main street east.

Service was conducted by Rev. W. W. Jarvis, at St. John's Anglican Church. Rev. Mr. Jarvis was assisted by Adjutant Fred Howlett, of the Salvation Army, Toronto. Interment was in Terrace Lawn Cemetery.

The pallbearers were C. W. Murphy, M. Lauer, H. Berry, A. L. Johnston, T. T. Johnston and Kenneth White.

Mr. Leach died Friday morning at Toronto General Hospital. Physicians attributed his death to an ailment which resulted from wounds received when he served with the 73rd Royal Highlanders in the Great War.

He was in his 48th year, and was born at Chalk River, son of Mrs. William Leach and the late Mr. Leach. At the close of the Great War, he moved to North Bay, where he entered the Dominion Postal Service as railway mail clerk. His marriage to the former Florence Neil took place in Ottawa.

During his years as a mail clerk, Mr. Leach covered most of Northern Ontario and became widely known in railway circles throughout the North. In recent years he had been serving in the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway region.

He is survived by his wife, residing in North Bay, one son, Ernest, of Kirkland Lake; four daughters, Mrs. M. Torrance, of North Bay; Mrs. F. S. Torrance, of Timmins; Mrs. Arthur L'Amour, of North Bay, and Mrs. G. Brownlee, of Toronto; two grandchildren, Tommy Brownlee, of Toronto, and Elaine Shepherd, of Kirkland Lake; and two brothers, Harry and Albert Leach, both of Chalk River, and his mother, Mrs. William Leach, of Chalk River.

The many beautiful floral tributes and the great number of persons attending the funeral, both from North Bay and outside points were testimony of the high esteem in which Mr. Leach was held by all who knew him.

Attending from out-of-town centres were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Leach, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Leach and Mrs. William Leach, of Chalk River; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Shepherd and daughter, Elaine, of Kirkland Lake; Mr. and Mrs. F. Here are Some of the Things You May See at Church

(The Countryman, England)
The fossilized form of an Ichthyosaurus, nine feet long, is sunk in the floor of the parish church of Tredington, Tewkesbury. In Avening Church are memorials to a highwayman and freebooter. In Kirkby Church a tombstone is dedicated to a man and his wife who died from overwork; they cut and reaped a field of corn in one day.

An inscription in St. Mary's churchyard, Maryport, reads, Here lie the remains of Ten Shilling Smith, an Irishman aged Twenty-Five Pounds. At Blockley there is a tombstone and inscription to a fish, while a part of the churchyard in the Hunts village of Molesworth is reserved as a cemetery for pets.

Charming Wedding at the Church of Nativity On Tuesday Morning

Marriage of Miss Florence Palubiskie and Mr. Anthony Yantha. Wedding Breakfast at Empire Grill, With Wedding Dinner Later at Home of Bride's Sister. Reception in Evening.

A charming wedding took place at the Church of Nativity on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, when Miss Florence Palubiskie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Palubiskie, of Barry's Bay, became the bride of Mr. Anthony "Tony" Yantha, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Yantha, of Killaloe, Ontario. The Rev. Fr. Leo Madry performed the marriage ceremony at the altar which was decorated with tall calla lilies, and during the ceremony, wedding music was played by Miss Olive Lafrenier at the organ.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Gerald Foulin, the bride was lovely in a gown of white triple sheer over taffeta, fashioned on long fitted lines, with a corselette waistline, shirred bodice and sweetheart neckline, and buttoned to the waist at the back, with a short-sleeved bolero jacket. She wore a long embroidered tulle veil, caught in a coronet of lily-of-the-valley, and white gloves and shoes, and carried a shower bouquet of pale pink roses and fern.

Miss Kay Yantha, sister of the groom, acted as maid-of-honour, attractively clad in a gown of pale pink chiffon, with tiny rows of the same material at the neckline and in the sleeves. She wore a flowered pink and blue cap, and carried a nosegay of pink roses.

Mr. John Bozak acted as groomsman.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the Empire Hotel Grill room, attended by the family and close friends. Mrs. M. Coulls, sister of the bride, received the guests, becomingly attired in a gown of pink net over taffeta, with a short shirred cape and flowered pink cap, and a corsage of deep red roses.

The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, adorned with a miniature bride and groom.

Later in the day, a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. G. Poulin, the hostess received the guests in a becoming ensemble of black lace, with red bustle back.

In the evening, the bride and groom received their numerous friends at a reception in the White Eagle hall, the bride donning a powder blue suit, with a grey fur jacket.

Mr. and Mrs. Yantha will reside at 32 Wilson avenue.

Prior to her marriage the bride was entertained at several showers, being the recipient of many lovely gifts for her new home.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Hoffman, of Kirkland Lake, and Mr. Ben Palubiskie, brother of the bride, of Kirkland Lake.
