Pretty Wedding at St. Joachim's Church South Porcupine

Miss Lillian Thelma Roy and Mr. Norman John McCann Married.

South Porcupine, Oct. 28.—(Special to The Advance)—A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at 1 p.m. on Thursday by Father Gelinus in the vestry of St. Joachim's Church, when Lillian Thelma, only daughter of Mrs. Roy and the late Mr. E. Roy, became the bride of Norman John McCann.

The bride was attired in a pretty gown of fuchsia velvet, with felt hat of the same tone trimmed with velvet, and shoes, gloves and other accessories to match. She carried a shower bouquet of sweetheart roses and lily-of-the-valley. Attending her as matron of honour was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Herbert Roy, of Timmins, who was gowned in black velvet with touches of lime green and with black hat and accessories. She carried a bouquet of butterfly roses and fern.

Mr. Clarke Bradley acted as best man for the bridegroom. Also attending as witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. A. Moreau.

Immediately after the ceremony the wedding party returned to the home of the bride where a wedding dinner was served. A reception at the house followed, at which Mrs. Roy, mother of the bride, received the guests in a gown of navy blue, wearing a corsage of roses.

Mrs. Herbert Roy and Mrs. Gordon Roy poured tea. Mrs. McCann's pleasing personality has gained her hosts of friends while "on the board," and all in South Porcupine will wish her the very best of luck in her marriage.

The newly-weds left by car for a short honeymoon, and on their return will take up residence in an apartment at the corner of Crawford and Broadway.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

Our modern beauty ties up her face in a beauty lift masque and proceeds with her market ordering!

Modern Skin Masques Beautify As You Work

Time was when a woman would have to give up a half day in order to bring new beauty to her skin by the aid of a masque. It took trained fingers to apply it and remove it. It took several dollars from your pocketbook. So the little lady who had but little money for beauty, was denied the quickest method to stimulate lazy skin.

To-day plentiful are the preparations which a woman may use at home to refine course skin textures and to lift sagging, relaxed contours. And the modern thing about them, in this age of speed, she may carry on her duties while the concoctions are restoring or enhancing skin beauty!

Of course each outstanding salon has a special, special masque which must be applied within its treatment rooms. These involve elaborate equipment and intricate timing and are well worth your time and money if you can afford both. For it stands to reason that trained operators know the better how to bind up your facial contours for a firming, and they also are better judges than you as to which bleaching agents, lubrications and refining creams your hungry skin needs. Such masque treatments never take less than an hour and they cost from three dollars up to ten dollars a treatment.

Home Pick-up Masques

Home masques vary in method of application and in consistency. Many of them come in cream form which either dries in a hard firming pack on your face or remains creamy until the end of the treatment. To use them is simple. After a thorough cream cleansing you spread the masque on in a smooth film and leave it from ten minutes to a half hour, according to directions. You may look like a sister to a ghost, as you go about your business, but there is no other handicap. Your skin gets a good tinkling stimulating and when the preparation is removed you are very pleased with the work of magic! Your skin looks new!

For Tired Muscles

If you have been ill, or if you are older, and your face muscles are not so firm as those of youth, you find greater satisfaction in the fabric masques. One such innovation is made of treated silk, cut to give firm support to chin and face contours. You dip this into an astringent lotion, place it over your face and tie strategically placed ribbons so it feels like a new tight skin. As the lotion dries your flabby muscles are firm and your skin gets a good carressing too. You can read, bathe, telephone, or do any work while the thing is bringing you skin loveliness. Naturally it is popular for you may use it over and over again.

Gelatin Masque

If you are one to prefer a "home remedy" you might like to try my gelatin masque, made with ingredients from your pantry shelf. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope if you request this leaflet. The masque is easily made and serves well if you cannot afford one of the better commercial preparations. Write me care of this paper.

Miss Winnifred Kerr and Mr. Ernest B. Martin United in Marriage. Home of Bride's Parents Appropriately Decorated for Occasion. Reception Held After the Ceremony.

The Rev. W. M. Mustard, of the Timmins United Church, officiated at a charming wedding on Saturday morning at 11:30 o'clock, when he united in marriage Miss Winnifred Elizabeth Kerr, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Kerr, and Mr. Ernest B. Martin, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Martin, of 75 Kirby Avenue. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents, 49 Preston Street, the home being appropriately decorated for the occasion.

Entering the room on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride was a picture of loveliness in her mother's wedding dress of ivory satin. The draped bodice was fashioned of ivory lace with accentuated shoulders and three-quarter length sleeves, the sleeves and neckline being trimmed with crystal and pearl embroidery. The waistline was high and the skirt fell in a semi-train, the front having a paneled effect with bands of the trimming falling to the hemline on each side. Her veil of ivory silk tulle fell the full length of the train, and was caught in a Juliet cap of orange blossoms. She carried a colonial bouquet of briar-cliff roses and mums.

Mr. Blake Martin attended his son. Following the ceremony, a reception was held, the bride's mother receiving the guests, attractively attired in black georgette with lace trim, and a corsage of pink roses and lily-of-the-valley.

The groom's mother who assisted in receiving the guests, chose a navy blue sheer, with a corsage of pink roses and lily-of-the-valley.

The bride and groom left in the afternoon by motor for Toronto and points in the United States, the bride choosing for travel a navy blue tailored suit, with black accessories and a Hudson seal coat.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin will reside at 64 Maple street north, Timmins. The bride is a graduate of the Toronto General Hospital, and prior to her marriage worked with the Victorian Order of Nurses in Timmins.
