Central School Concert to be Held Dec. 6th, 7th and 8th
Annual Event Promises to be of Special Interest.

An interesting and entertaining event that will take place next week, on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, December 6th, 7th, and 8th, is the Central Public School concert, an event that always presents attractive numbers by the pupils of the school.

The programme features numbers by pupils from the various grades, and each one gives an able display of talent. The event has proved popular in past years, and it would be well to purchase tickets from the students who are now selling them.

Delightful Dance in Hollinger Hall Tuesday Evening
Staff of New Method Laundry Entertain Their Many Friends.

The staff of the Timmins New Method Laundry entertained on Tuesday evening at a delightful dance in the Hollinger Recreation hall, a fairly large number of local people attending the event.

Music for the dancing was provided by Henry Keineck's orchestra, with special feature numbers by members of the band, that work great favour.

The girls who comprise the staff of the laundry prepared and served a delicious lunch, and acted as hostesses during the evening.

by the jangling of the telephone. A voice at the other end of the line asked police to visit an Adie St. address "because there is something fishy going on here."

Hurrying to the address in a police cruiser, the officers entered the house and were attracted by a small pillar of smoke rising from what appeared to be a bundle of old clothes in the hallway. The "old clothes" turned out to be William L. Adamson, of Falconbridge, who was "dead to the world".

The only movement was the column of smoke rising from Adamson's clothes. In the speedy action which followed the sleeping man's coat was whisked off. One pocket was burned out completely and a hole was burned in another portion of the garment.

The fire had not penetrated Adamson's other clothing and he was not burned. Taken to the police station he was boked in on a charge of being intoxicated in a public place. When a police officer went into the cells this morning, Adamson's first question was "What was I arrested for?"

Hailed before Magistrate J. S. McKessock, in city police court this morning, the smouldering sleeper was fined $10 and costs, or 20 days, on the drunk charge.
