Candidate Sees Election Promises Wasted Time

Le Cercle Canadien Francaise Choice Says Will Act Impartially if Elected.

Mr. Philip Fay, one of the two men whose candidature for Town Councillor has been endorsed by the Cercle Canadien Francaise, told The Advance today that he was not making any election promises. He had plenty of constructive ideas but he considered that specific promises to the electorate were a waste of time as they could not be fulfilled until a Councillor saw the problems confronting him.

"I am not running for gain of any kind. I am running because I feel that it is a man's duty to do what he can for his town especially during time of war," Mr. Fay said.

"I have been in the North a long time. I feel that I know the needs and requirements of the working man and yet, being a taxpayer myself, I am not going to do anything to jeopardize home life or the rights of property."

Mr. Fay pointed out that he had worked in the mines here since 1920 and his long experience of the mines and the fact that he knew the town and had watched it grow suited him to be of service on the municipality's administering body.

"I am going in to the council, if I am elected, to do what I see there is to be done and to work and vote impartially and without prejudice to any race or creed," Mr. Fay concluded.

23rd and 24th, I attended a meeting of the Executives of the Association, and we met with and discussed many of these matters with members of the Ontario Cabinet, including the Hon. Eric Cross, Minister of Welfare, Hon. Dr. Simpson, Minister of Education, and Hon. Gordon Conant, Attorney-General. From our audiences with the Ministers, it is believed that our proposals and suggestions will meet with a great degree of approval when Parliament is again in session this coming winter. I am reminded of the old saying "in union, there is strength" and I believe that through the united effort of the Ontario Municipal Association that we, in Timmins, can gain many benefits that we would not otherwise receive. In order to continue my work with the Association, it is naturally necessary that I should continue to hold the position of Councillor in this town."

Must Take Politics Out of Municipal Arena, Says Roberts

Former Councillor Wishes Return to Sane, Clean Administration.

"I base my platform for re-election to council primarily on the great need for a return to sane, clean administration of town affairs," said Bill Roberts in an interview last night. "We must take politics out of municipal administration," he added, "particularly the atheistic, destructive politics of the communist."

Mr. Roberts emphasized the fact that men in the council should represent all the people—be fair to all the people. He objected to the attempt to set class against class and creed against creed, race against race, for selfish political reasons. "Let us eliminate," he said, "the men who talk so flippantly about the Workingman, and then figuratively give him a kick in the pants, after they get his vote. After we have done this, we must continue the building of the town on sound, constructive lines. No essential services must be neglected, but at the same time a careful economy must be practised with Canada going through a time of emergency."

After discussing some of the needs of the town, Mr. Roberts concluded: "I believe that with my past experience in municipal affairs and my complete freedom from any political faction, I can give the affairs of the town efficient and loyal service."

Suggests Use Here of Tax-prepayment Certificates

Would Save the Town Much Money, Says Councillor Spooner.

Councillor Spooner told The Advance this week that if elected again to a seat at the council board, he intended to press for the adoption of a plan of Tax-Pre-payment Certificates by Timmins. This plan is in use at Hamilton, Ont., and is proving of great advantage there to the city and the citizens alike. It means that the municipality does not have to pay so much interest on money borrowed to keep affairs running until taxes come in, and it also means that those who pay their taxes early in the year benefit in two ways—they buy the tax-prepayment certificates for a little less than their actual taxes, and in addition they save by the fact that the municipality does not have to pay interest to the bank. Councillor Spooner says there would be a saving of several thousand dollars a year to Timmins by the adoption of such a plan.

Mr. Spooner is particularly interested in the financial side of administration. To The Advance, he said: "As a member of the Finance Committee of the 1939 Council I was able to make quite a close study of the inner workings of the Town's finances. Through my efforts, we were able to collect several hundreds from certain real estate firms as frontage fees. By having knowledge of office routine and management, many economies were instituted and considerable money was saved. For instance, the purchase of a new duplicating machine was a very wise move, as the saving made in one item of printing was almost sufficient to pay for the machine."

Councillor Spooner is the first Northern Ontario man to hold a seat on the Executive Council of the Ontario Municipal Association. "The Association," Mr. Spooner told The Advance, "is formed of representatives of Ontario Municipalities and the places represented account for two-thirds of the total assessments in the province. It is therefore unnecessary to say that the voice of the Association has a great effect upon the Provincial Government. At the convention held in Toronto in August last, which I attended, the Association proposed several resolutions and proposals which are of vital interest to this town as well as many other municipalities throughout the North and Ontario as a whole. Do the Right Thing in the Right Place at the Right Time

That is the Motto that Councillor Warren Says he Keeps Ever Before Him

"To do the right thing in the right place at the right time!" That is the motto that Councillor H. W. Warren says he tries to keep before him in the council.

Asked for the chief plank in his platform, he answered, "Independence." Every question, he added, should be faced on its merits, and decided in open council. He expressed himself as against lobbying, whether by fellow councillors or by others. "I like to approach each problem with an open mind I am always ready for information or advice from anyone, but I admit I don't like this 'lobbying' business. I never like to see a case tried before it is before the court."

Councillor Warren said that he had enjoyed his brief term as councillor. He had the time to devote to it, and he was anxious to serve the people. There were some methods, however, that he did not like. "For instance," he said, "I have voted and supported every reasonable suggestion for increased pay for any of the employees of the town, but I am not in favour of dictating to corporations in the town as to how they pay their employees. As a matter of fact, I have been sorry during the past year at the way some of the council made every possible opportunity to attack the largest industry in the community and one that pays a large share of the taxes and has always treated its employees and the town in fair and considerate way. I am strongly in favour of the town fathers attending to town business in double meaning of the phrase."

Speaking of the special additional lighting of the entrance to the town, Councillor Warren said that as chairman of the Fire and Light Committee he was proud of this improvement as he was of other additional lighting of the town. He added that he must give due credit to other members of the council who had supported these benefits against the strong opposition of the mayor and one or two others.
