

Comparison of the "Kick" in Various Kinds of "Booze"

A book published 109 years ago, quoted a certain Dr. Bence Jones, physician of St. George's Hospital in London, as having stated in a lecture that the different fermented liquors which he had examined might, in regard to their strength, or stimulating power, be arranged thus:

Cider.....100	Champagne...241
Stout.....133	Madeira.....325
Ale.....141	Port.....338
Moselle.....158	Sherry.....358
Claret.....166	Holland Gin. 811
Burgundy...191	Brandy.....986
Hock.....191	Rum.....1,253

Famous Bronx Cheer May Not be Illegal Always

The Bronx cheer has been upheld in Yorkville Court, New York City, as a logical weapon to use against people who sit behind you in a movie and insist on telling their Aunt Mame what's going to happen next. You can go "ph-r-t" and it's legal. Bernard Fisher, 30 years old, was hauled before Magistrate Masterton because he did just such a thing in the Playhouse Theatre. Two women had been the recipients of Fisher's cheer and one of them, Mrs. Laura White, appeared as complainant. "Mutiny on the Bounty," was showing on the screen. Now the trouble was that Fisher had never seen this picture before and Mrs. White had seen it three times. So from start to finish, Fisher told the judge, she was telling her companion exactly what Capt. Bligh was going to do next. What's more, Fisher added, Mrs. White did not heed any of his requests for silence but instead made matters worse by keeping time to the music with her malacca cane on the back of his seat. Finally, he decided to mutiny himself. As Mrs. White described this part of it, he got up and put on his coat so slowly that he obstructed her view for some time and then, as he was going out, he turned to her and Miss Boericke and made that horrid sound. "Don't you know what the Bronx cheer is?" Magistrate Masterton asked her. "I have never heard of it before," she answered. Masterton dismissed a disorderly-conduct charge against Fisher. Perth Expositor: The sun shines east; the sun shines west; but not for the Austrian paperhanger.
