Innocent Bystander Again the Only One to Suffer

Geraldton. — Repercussions of the Finnish-Russian war in Scandinavia were violently registered at Geraldton recently in a clash between Finnish miners and members of a Red Ukrainian organization. A concert was in progress at the Geraldton Hall when the Finns came to form part of the audience. The fight started in the hall and women and children ran for safety. The unusual feature was that a passerby, hearing the commotion, decided to look in and while asking a burly miner what it was all about, received a crack on the head. He started to swear in rightful wrath at his assailant just as the Geraldton police arrived and the police arrested him. None of the others was injured.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

For gala evenings the young girl with oval face may dress her hair in this fashion. Courtesy Richard Hudnut Salon.

Simplicity Is Keynote for Chic, Youthful Hair-Do

If you are a young thing and want to be one of the best hair stylists in New York City for a new cutting and setting he would advise "simplicity." He would also advise you to have only the ends of your hair permanently curled rather than the entire length of your hair. Young hair should be permitted to have its full growth before you begin to destroy its strength through frequent permanents and many settings under hot dryers.

Mr. Georges said, "Please, Miss Lindsay, caution your young readers that correct care of their hair while young means lasting hair beauty. The old-fashioned advice of brushing well every day still holds good. And hair sets better if it is shampooed, dried by hand and brushed well the day before. That allows time for the natural oil to creep down the entire length of the hair and gives it a natural glossy, manageable texture."

This sensible stylist also believes in occasional oil treatments which you may give yourself at home if you cannot afford salon treatments. He understands, too, how Miss Sixteen desires every once in a while to look glamorous for a gala date. Then she should put her head in the hands of an operator who understands coiffures in relation to face shapes. A hair-do which looks well with a square face is not becoming to a girl with an oval face.

The Square Face
Above at left Mr. Georges illustrates how a square face may be lengthened by parting the hair on one side and brushing top curls to where the hair is thickest, and having one break the forehead line. Side hair is drawn up above the top of the ear and fastened by a tiny comb or by bobby pins which are cleverly hidden. The back hair is brushed down into a mass of soft curls which fill in the space behind your ears.

and gives you a pretty neckline. When you have your hair set, request your hairdresser to twist your hair into thick sculptured curls rather than in tight, tiny ringlets which tend to be frizzy when combed out.

The Oval Face
At right above is a charming coiffure with a dash of sophistication for the girl with an oval face. The hair is set in a smooth pompadour fashion and held in place with a long thin comb or curved barret. The ends of the soft curls are combed forward to conceal the barret. Side hair is then brushed away from the face, but not high and held by invisible hairpins. The back hair is brushed toward the ears and fluffed to give the illusion of more width to the narrow chin line. If you wear this coiffure strive to get soft feathery curls, and you might pin a real flower high on the right when you go dancing. (Released by The Bell Syndicate Inc.)

Schumacher Red Cross to Hold Annual Meeting on Jan. 17th

All in Schumacher Invited to Attend on Wednesday

The annual meeting of the Schumacher Red Cross Society is to be held in the McIntyre Community hall on Wednesday, Jan. 17th, at 8 p.m. The announcement of this event should mean more than just the holding of an annual meeting. With the war occupying so large a place in the minds and lives of all at this time, it is not too much to say that the Canadian Red Cross is one of the most important enterprises of the present time and should receive the fullest and heartiest support and co-operation of all. During the short time that it has been organized the Schumacher Red Cross has done a remarkable amount of work. Not only did Schumacher far exceed its objective in the campaign for the necessary funds to carry on this vital work, but the Schumacher Society has also made a large quantity of Red Cross goods needed for the soldiers overseas. With the able direction of the Society, both money and work has been contributed by Schumacher and district in very gratifying way. There should be a very large attendance at the annual meeting—as an expression of approval and appreciation for the notable work accomplished to date.

At the annual meeting there will be the various reports of the present enthusiastic and capable officers and workers, the election of officers for 1940, and general business. The reports should prove of great interest and value to all, and the meeting in general should be largely attended.
