

Choir of Dome and South Porcupine School Makes Big Hit With Programme

Conservative Ladies at South Porcupine Plan for Election Day. Items at South Porcupine Police Court. Other South Porcupine and Dome News.

South Porcupine, March 20.—(Special to The Advance)—Those who listened in on Sunday at 5 p.m. to the broadcast of the little choir, taught by Miss Teresa Burns, and composed of Dome and S. Porcupine Public School children, could not fail to note how very nicely the programme came "over the air." The children sang both part songs and in unison, all being very sweetly and carefully rendered. (The full program was given in this column last week.) One extra word of praise for the soloists: small Rita Huot, whose clear and true little soprano was heard to advantage in "Where do they go?" and "Wood fairies," and Tina Yorke who, in "When Irish eyes are smiling" drew both Irish and other hearts straight in her direction.

All the teachers at the Residence are leaving on Thursday to spend the Easter vacation in their respective home towns, except Miss G. Higgins, and Miss McKeown who will not be leaving. Miss T. Burns leaves on Monday to spend the week in Larder Lake, the guest of Mrs. Osborne Orr.

Police Court
Before Magistrate Atkinson on Tuesday.—Ownership of a dog not being established, defendant in a charge of allowing it to run at large, had his case dismissed.

P. Germaine will appear next week to answer to a charge of having no operator's license.

P. Dionne and Joe Horschman appeared to answer a charge of intent to defraud by having on March 16th, a meal at the Maple Leaf Cafe and omitting to pay for same. Another charge of obtaining a meal and tobacco at another cafe—amount $1.40—was preferred as well. They both pleaded guilty. They had no work. Thirty days for each offence, to run concurrently, was the sentence.

C. Greer, on a charge of vagrancy, will come up again next week. The lad had no place to sleep and had been coming in to the jail for a bed for several nights. The mother stated that he had come up from Ottawa where his father was, without her consent, and she could not provide for him, as she was trying to make a living alone. The Magistrate told her to get in touch with her husband and ask him for the boy's fare back. They will report next week as to the result.

On a charge of reckless driving, accused proved he was not driving the car which he admitted was his, so case was dismissed.

J. D. Chevrier, on a charge of assaulting Sandy Ehlio, on March 5th, proved that while the assault might be right, the date was wrong. The assault was made at a hockey match and a constable saw it, but the case was withdrawn. It may come up again when the right date is put upon the charge.

W. Brazier brought his witness in connection with the theft of a cord of wood, value $3, and in consequence the case was dismissed.

The case of Paulbiski, accused of stealing gold ore, and having it in possession took up a great deal of time and involved many witnesses and finally resulted in Paulbiski getting a sentence of six months in jail. The amount of ore involved in the charge was valued at $7.76, and accused preferred trial by jury but was told that the court had jurisdiction to try him as the amount involved was under the minimum fixed by law. He pleaded not guilty. Witness Constable Kelly of the District of Cochrane and employed by Preston East Dome, testified that accused worked underground at the mine. He saw him in the "dry" on Feb. 28th. He came through the hanger room to the locker room to change into street clothes, and asked to go back to get a rubber he wanted to have fixed. Constable accompanied him. He took a rubber miner's boot down from a nail and turned it sole up to him to show where he was going to patch it. Constable asked for the rubber, but Paulbiski did not release it from his hand. Finally he got it and examined it and found a bag stuffed into the toe quite firmly. He asked defendant, "What have you got here?" and the answer was "I didn't put it there." He stated that he had never worn the rubbers. He had found a discarded pair in the garbage tin before going down to work, had rescued them thinking that they could be patched up for use, as the former owner had used his left foot for mucking and he (Paulbiski) used his right, the wear therefore coming on the opposite boot. He had been wearing his brother's boots to work, not having any of his own. He had only been working two weeks, after "rustling" at the mine for over two months.

Constable Kelly took him before the manager who called Sergt. Braney of the "Gold Squad" at Schumacher. Constable Braney examined the clothes of accused and the contents of the bag. Prisoner repeated his story of the garbage can, and his innocence.

W. Gilchrist, shift boss, testified that in the place where prisoner was working there was material such as was found in the bag in the boot.

C. English, as witness, gave evidence that the garbage cans were made the recipients of discarded articles, clothing and rubbish. He was in charge of the "dry."

The contents of the bag were assayed by Mr. P. Mason, of the Dome Assay office, who found the value of gold content to be $7.76.

John Murlagh, who was working with the accused, also gave evidence that it was possible for a person to take such material without being seen by a co-worker.

The magistrate weighed all evidence carefully but sentenced accused to six months.

The manager of Porcupine Lake Gold Mine in Whitney appeared to answer charges laid by the District Mines Inspector:

1. Failing to proceed to provide auxiliary exit at the mine, and

2. Failing to provide proper hoist warning signals and stench warning apparatus.

The Magistrate commented on the importance to men working underground to have a safety exit, and under section 174 gave the minimum fine of $100 and costs.

The case against the mine is remanded for one week.

Items of Interest From S. Porcupine and the Dome

Armstrong, of Rae Ave., will be glad to know that she is feeling much better, and intends leaving on Friday with her daughter, Irene, for Toronto where she will spend a month with her sister. Death on Tuesday of Mrs. W. Bostrom at South Porcupine

Had Been Resident in the Camp Over Twenty-Five Years.

South Porcupine, March 20.—(Special to The Advance)—The death occurred in the Porcupine General hospital on Tuesday afternoon of Mrs. William Bostrom (Hilda) aged 60, of heart trouble. She had been ill for some years but had only been in hospital for 11 days when she died. Her husband predeceased her some years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Bostrom came to the Porcupine Camp from the States over twenty-five years ago, and were among the first Finnish families to settle here. They took up a farm at the north end of the town, and were almost the first to sell milk here. This farm was sold long ago and much of it is now divided into lots and built upon. The Bostroms had three sons and one daughter of them all, only the daughter (Dollia), Mrs. Gernecki survives. She lives on Front street with her husband and daughter, Olga. The second son, Neelo, went to Russia about ten years ago and is presumably dead as the family have not heard from him since. The eldest son, Arvo, died in New York after losing both wife and child. Albert the youngest boy died a few years ago in Winnipeg. Mrs. Bostrom will be buried on Sunday afternoon from Hunkin's Funeral Parlors at 2 p.m. and will be interred in Tisdale cemetery.

Champion Rink of Lady Curlers at South Porcupine

Rink Skipped by Mrs. C. Lewis Wins Marshall-Ecclestone Trophy.

South Porcupine, March 20.—(Special to The Advance)—This week the lady curlers have determined the champion rink—the winners of the coveted Marshall-Ecclestone trophy. Last year this was won by the team of Mrs. H. M. Turner, but on Wednesday afternoon the title descended on the rink of Mrs. C. Lewis—with Mrs. White vice-skip, Mrs. D. McLellan, and Mrs. G. Brown.

The two rinks competing had each won five games and lost one during the week's competition. Mrs. Longworth's team—Mrs. Shaw, Mrs. Emerson Smith, and Mrs. Wm. Adamson—was the runner-up.

Prizes for this competition were:—

1. The Marshall-Ecclestone trophy and four silver rose bowls: won by the rink of Mrs. Lewis.
2. Large ornamental bowls (four) donated by C. Remus, Jeweller, of Timmins and South Porcupine, won by the team of Mrs. Longworth.
3. Four glass lamps, donated by Porcupine Hardware (courtesy Mr. Eli Cantor) and won by the team of Mrs. Raymer (with Mrs. Ewing, Mrs. F. C. Evans and Mrs. Ken Myers). This team won three and lost three games.

The fourth place (prizes 4 pyrex pie plates) was taken by the team of Mrs. Hovey (with Mrs. Fairhurst, Mrs. L. Bowes and Mrs. Hedges), who won in the finals over the team of Mrs. Turner (with Mrs. Cahill, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Kavanagh).

Another Beautiful Issue of Salvation Army War Cry

The Easter War Cry is another example of the fact that whatever the Salvation Army attempts to do it does with right royal will and effectiveness. This issue of The War Cry supports what the newspapers and speakers have been saying about the efficiency of the Salvation Army in anything undertaken. Printed in appropriate colours for the season, the Easter War Cry is a work of art and beauty. The illustrations are most interesting and attractive, but despite the charm of the issue simply as a pleasing example of printing art, the real purpose of the issue has not been forgotten or even subordinated. The story of Easter and its meaning are told in striking way and the Easter War Cry gives ample evidence that while it will appeal to all who admire beauty, the thought behind it all is to carry on the war against evil and sin and misery to a successful conclusion.
