

On this Continent Pie And Ice Cream Seem to Be Favoured Desserts

Shortcake, Cobblers and Other Dishes Made With Rich Biscuit Dough Foundations Also Please the People. Service of Desserts. Recipe for Blueberry Cobbler.

"Tis the dessert that graces all the feasts. For an ill end disparages the rest. A thousand things well done, and one forgot. Defaces obligations by that blot." Although the above is an old English Verse, I believe it expresses the feeling which most of us in this country have toward desserts. Here we have a more varied list than I have found during my food adventures in many other lands. Probably our favourite of all desserts is pie. Or possibly we divide our affections between ice cream and pie. Next perhaps we would rate shortcakes, cobblers, and other desserts which are made with a rich biscuit dough foundation, followed by a great variety of steamed and baked puddings, designed to be served hot. Fully as often, however, we like cold desserts which demand custard or gelatin or both. In addition we make use of fresh and canned fruit, by themselves or in combination, both for luncheon and for dinner.

(By EDITH M. BARBER)

SERVICE OF DESSERTS

Use your delicate china or glass for dessert service. For special occasions, silver platters, plates, and bowls may be appropriate for passing certain types of desserts. Any kind of dessert may be prepared in family or individual portions. In the first case it will be served by the hostess or passed. Sauces if served, are generally passed. Spoons and forks are brought to the table with the dessert after the table has been cleared of the preceding course.

Shortcake Dough

3 cups sifted flour.
4 1/2 teaspoons baking powder.
3/4 teaspoon salt.
1 tablespoon sugar.
1-3 cup shortening.
3/4 cup milk (about).
2 tablespoons softened butter.
Mix and sift dry ingredients. Cut in shortening with pastry blender or 2 knives. Add milk a little at a time, mixing just enough to make a smooth dough. Divide dough in half. Pat one half in 7-inch pan, spread with butter, and put other half, patted to fit, on top. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes. For individual shortcakes, pat dough in 12 1/2-inch rounds. Place on baking sheet and bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) about 12 to 15 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

Blueberry Cobbler

1 recipe Shortcake Dough.
2 tablespoons milk.
1 quart blueberries.
1 cup sugar.
1 teaspoon grated orange rind.
1 tablespoon butter.
Make soft shortcake dough, using about 2 tablespoons more milk. Wash berries, mix with sugar and orange rind, place in greased 8-inch casserole. Cover berries with dough and dot with butter. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 35 to 40 minutes, until golden brown. Serve with plain or whipped cream. Yield: 6 servings. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Presentation Made to Mrs. Vera Clarke by Church Choir

Deaconess Honoured, Prior to Leaving Timmins.

Mrs. Vera Clarke, deaconess at the United Church, who left on Saturday for Toronto where she will take up residence, was honoured at a farewell party on Friday evening at the home of Mrs. J. Jardine, 111 Cedar street north, held by members of the United Church Choir.

A very pleasant evening was spent, with games of bingo. A lovely silver tray, with cream and sugar containers, was presented to the guest of honour by Mr. Worthington, 1st vice-president (in the absence of Mrs. Carson, president) on behalf of the choir. Mr. Worthington expressed the gratitude of the choir for the excellent work done by Mrs. Clarke as deaconess, and for her kind and true friendship.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, and the entire group joined in singing songs, closing with "She's a Jolly Good Fellow", as a special tribute to Mrs. Clarke.

Wedding Event at North Bay Church on Dominion Day

Miss Simone LaRose and Mr. J. V. Bonhomme Married.

A wedding of interest to Timmins people took place at St. Vincent de Paul's R. C. Church, North Bay on Dominion Day, when Miss Simone LaRose, of Timmins became the bride of Mr. Joseph Vincent Bonhomme, also of Timmins. The following is an account of the wedding as given by The North Bay Nugget of Wednesday, July 3rd: The issue also carrying a photograph of the wedding party:

BONHOMME-LAROSE

An informal wedding took place in St. Vincent de Paul's Roman Catholic Church on Monday morning at 6 a.m. when Simone LaRose daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. LaRose, of Timmins became the bride of Joseph Vincent Bonhomme, of Timmins, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Bonhomme, of North Bay. Very Rev. J. A. Chapleau, officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and she wore a suit of green boucle with a fox fur. Her bouquet was of white lilies and roses.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents and later a wedding dinner was served at their summer home, Lake Nobsbousing, where the bride's mother received wearing a grey tailored suit, with silver fox furs and fuchsia accessories. The groom's mother, who also received, wore a navy blue sheer silk frock with a silver fox fur and navy accessories.

Later, the bride and groom left for a trip to Ottawa, Montreal and other points south. For travelling the bride wore a tailored suit of azure blue trimmed with white lace and with white accessories.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bonhomme, of Papineauville; Mrs. Z. Frappier, of Thuro, Quebec; Mr. and Mrs. C. Bonhomme, of Hull, Quebec; J. Ouellette, of Ottawa; Miss M. GIRL GUIDES IN TIMMINS

1st Timmins Company Girl Guides
A special meeting of the 1st Timmins Company of Girl Guides was held on Wednesday evening in the Church of Nativity Parish hall. Roll Call and inspection were taken by Captain Landers assisted by Lieutenant Wilkinson. Horseshoe was formed, the National Anthem being sung and the Guide Prayer repeated.

The Guides were then divided into groups. Lieutenant Wilkinson took First Aid, Captain Landers took Morse Code. The following badges were passed: Cook's badge—Iolene Murphy and Viola Hunt; Needlewomen's badge—Iolene Murphy and Mary McLean; Laundress badge by Iolene Murphy. The examiners were Miss Julia Keeney and Mrs. J. A. Landers.

A Horseshoe was then formed for the enrollment of the following recruits: Clare Vachon, Margaret McGillivray, Dorcas O'Gorman and Jeannine Laerlox. Helen Frawley then presented Lieutenant Wilkinson with six silver teaspoons bearing the Guide emblem on behalf of the Company in appreciation of the work she has done with them. Miss Wilkinson will be leaving the company in the fall.

The meeting was brought to a close with the singing of Evening and Taps. There will be no more meetings until September 9th.

The Guides who are going to camp are asked to turn in their completed forms and Camp fee to Lieutenant Wilkinson or Captain Landers as soon as possible. They will leave for camp on July 14th on the 1.50 p.m. train.

1st Timmins Brownie Pack
The 1st Timmins Brownie Pack brought their year's activities to a close with a hike on Wednesday afternoon. A treasure hunt was conducted at this hike, the winners being, Moira Larmarr, Joan Beaulieu and Elaine Beaulieu. The Brownies returned at approximately 6.00 p.m.

The Brownies are now closed for the summer months. The next meeting will be held on September 9th.

Graceful, beautifully shaped hands, perfectly groomed! Exercises and hand aids keep them so!

Noted French Pianist Discusses Arm and Hand Suppleness

Many women could be far more attractive if they made the most of their gracefulness, believes Magda Tagliafiero, noted French pianist. She sees many American women whose arms and hands and shoulders, especially, lacking suppleness either because of under or over development.

Limbering Shoulders

One of her exercises consists of lifting first the right and then the left hand to shoulder height and letting it drop limply to the key-board or a low table top. The important thing is to let your hand drop, don't move it down. This is designed to loosen up the arm muscles and shoulders and should be done very rapidly, twenty times for each arm.

Another arm exercise is pivoting the elbow on the top of a table or other flat surface, and letting the hand drop limply. Do it rapidly for twenty times. With each arm. When you have learned to let your arm fall in a relaxed position, you place a small button or a dime on the table top and try hitting it with the middle finger of each hand. It is not as easy as it sounds! Particularly when you try to do it fast. "But it is marvelous," says Tagliafiero, "for developing relaxed muscular control!"

Hand Movements

For hands her two principle exercises are the pivot and stretch. The pivot is quite simple. All you do is pin each finger of each hand down to one of the keys of the piano, or other flat surface, and press down real hard at the same time twisting your hand to the right and to the left. Put real pressure on your fingers to get benefit from the exercise.

The stretch consists of striking a note on the keyboard with your thumb, then stretching as far as you can with your index finger and striking another note then striking a third note with your middle finger and so on until all your fingers have connected with keys without raising your thumb. Use a table if you haven't a piano. The trick is to hold the hand as flat as possible and to keep increasing the stretch little by little.

Finally there is the wringer which consists of interlocking the fingers of both hands, pressing them down with all your strength and pulling your hands apart. Sounds easy? It isn't. Just try doing it a dozen times with real pressure and see how tired your hands and arms will get. But it is good for them!

Another Sidelight on the Spirit of the Old Land

(Y. Y. in the New Statesman and Nation (London).

As I sat in a Kentish inn I heard the sound of an argument going on out of sight in the public bar. "They've got to hand him over," the landlord was saying in dogmatic tones. I could not hear the answer, but the landlord countered it with: "If he tries to hide in Russia, they've got to hand him over." I gathered that the argument was about the fate of Herr Hitler and that the only thing that divided opinion in the public bar was the question whether or not he would be allowed to find sanctuary, as the Kaiser did, in a neutral country after the war.

On this point the landlord was adamant. Someone then suggested that Herr Hitler would probably fly to Italy. "Well," said the landlord, "suppose he does fly to Italy. Mussol's got to hand him over. Look here, Charlie," he went on, "I'll make you a bet on this. Five pounds to a penny that, wherever he tries to hide himself, neutral country or not, they've got to hand him over, and they'll hand him over."

It was a day on which the news was dark enough to blot out the sun; but I confess to the sun shone for me as I listened to the beautiful brazen assurance of the landlord. If he had been an islander who had always lived in safety remote from the knowledge of war, I might have to put it down to complacency. But he was an old soldier, a man injured for life in the last war, and his faith in England was that of a man who confronted disaster a generation ago in the same spirit in which he confronts it today.

The spirit of England's people at a crisis, I fancy has always been a Robert Browning spirit. "Never doubted clouds would break." That, I thought while I listened to the landlord, is the natural spirit of the Englishman as he drinks his glass of beer when civilization is rocking.

Some people, no doubt, would dismiss the landlord's confidence as wishful thinking. If it was, then, I for one am in favour of wishful thinking—in moderation. Still under the spell of the novelty of the phrase, we are too ready to condemn wishful thinking as, in all circumstances, a vice of human nature.

Wishful thinking is, of course, a vice only when substituted for action, and when a threatened country indulges in it to such a point that it makes no preparations to meet the threat. But in ordinary life it is no vice to wish for the best even while the worst is happening. Wishful thinking, in some of its aspects, is only another name for faith and hope.

"They've got to hand him over." That wish-sentence seems to me to have the ring and the temper of victory.
