

Rev. Fr. McManus Honoured by Friends at Kirkland Lake

Address and Presentation Made to Priest Formerly Stationed Here.

The Advance last week referred to Rev. Fr. McManus, of Kirkland Lake, formerly of Timmins, joining the C.A.S.F. as chaplain. The Northern News on Tuesday gives the following further reference:

On the eve of his departure for a training camp as a member of the Chaplain Service of the Canadian Active Service Force, Rev. T. J. McManus, assistant to Rev. Fr. Roy McMahon at Holy Name Church was on Friday evening made the recipient of presentations from the clergy and the laity of the parish.

The clergy presented him with a sleeping bag, which, it was felt, would be a most useful accessory to him while on active service, while the laity presented him with a purse.

Fr. McMahon himself made the presentation of the sleeping bag, while an address on behalf of the laity was read by P. J. Burns, the presentation of the purse being made by T. L. Sullivan.

The event took place in the church, following the evening service of Benediction.

The address to Fr. McManus said, in part:

"The operation of the Catholic Chaplain service under His Grace Bishop Nelligan, of Pembroke diocese, is in capable hands. One of his assistants is that true citizen and friend of the north country Major the Rev. John R. O'Gorman. You served under Father O'Gorman in times of peace and you are to be congratulated that he has chosen you early to assist him in time of war.

"In your new office as army chaplain, you are in the very first ranks of our defenders, spiritually as well as temporally. We have every confidence, Father McManus, that you will do this work faithfully and well.

"One of your outstanding interests in this parish has been your continued work among our young people. We are all aware of the example and leadership you have given to the Ca-Bo-Gi Club. There is no effort of greater importance to our church than the leading and directing of the habits and leisure of our young Catholic men and women. Much credit goes to you, Father, for this work in our midst. The Ca-Bo-Gi Club occupies a position of importance second to none in this parish. All our parishioners are proud of it and we thank you for furnishing the leadership without which its growth and influence would not have been possible.

"The Knights of Columbus, of whom you have also been chaplain, have benefited by your counsel. Other organizations in this parish also owe much to you for your interest and assistance."

Visiting clergy who were present at the farewell service in the church were Father Caulfield of Cobalt, Father J. Martindale of Schumacher, and Father R. J. Roney of Timmins.

Father McManus told his hearers that he had been very happy in his work in Kirkland Lake and that he had enjoyed the leadership of Father McMahon.

Father McMahon who himself is awaiting a call to the Chaplain Service told the members of the parish that Father McManus had been a fine "lieutenant" and that he would miss him a great deal, but that all the parish would be proud of Father McManus for taking his place in the C.A.S.F.

Following the presentation in the church, the members of Holy Name Ca-Bo-Gi Club met in the church basement and President Jimmy Hogan read a farewell address to Father McManus after which he presented him with a gold penknife bearing the green and gold crest of the Ca-Bo-Gi Club and his initials.

Two Years Penalty for Indecently Assaulting Boy

Aged Henry Letourneau, convicted of indecently assaulting a small boy, was sent to prison for two years by Magistrate Atkinson in police court on Tuesday. Letourneau will go to Kingston Penitentiary.

After details of the assault had been described, counsel for Letourneau asked for clemency on the grounds that it was well known that his client was an alcoholic and that he very likely was in no sense responsible for his action.

"Still," said Magistrate Atkinson, "I am here to protect the children of this town and this man will be much better put away somewhere where he can harm no one and sober himself up."

Soap Salesmen Slip, But Not on Brands of Soap

Halleybury, July 24—Three young fellows, said to have been soap salesmen, slipped, but not on the soap, and slid right into the hands of Chief Bromley of New Liskeard. The charge being intoxicated. All three of them pleaded guilty to the charge and all three asked for their resultant 30 days to date from the day of their arrest. In fact, in one case His Worship granted it even before the accused had asked for it. The bench was anxious to know just how they had learned of this demand, and as the accused all denied having been in jail on any previous occasion, it was put down to the coaching supplied by those who were already in the place to which the three were consigned for the next few weeks.

James Newman of Temagami pleaded guilty to careless driving as the result of a smash up that occurred below Latchford over a week ago and was fined Ten and costs. Another charge against the accused was withdrawn, while several traffic violators had already owned up to their sins.

Three Painters Hurt at Kirkland When Scaffold Rope Snaps

Kirkland Lake, July 24—Three painters working on the Collegiate and Vocational Institute exterior on Friday afternoon, just ten minutes before quitting time were injured when a rope holding up one end of the scaffolding broke and dropped their support to the ground.

Harry Cormier, cousin of Jeffrey Cormier, 33 Government Road West, contractor for the painting job, suffered the worst injuries and will be kept in a cast for six or seven months. He has two crushed vertebrae, and both feet and one wrist are broken. He is 24 years of age and is a single man.

Raoul Dupuis, a married man, 28 years of age, who lives at 61 Wood Street, suffered a broken rib and four broken bones attached to the vertebrae. He and Cormier also suffered many bad bruises and both will be in the hospital for some time.

Jack Whitehead, 135 Pollock Avenue 35 years of age, and also a married man, was able to clutch the sill of a window and pull himself through to safety. But in doing this swift manoeuvre he received a severe blow on the elbow, which required medical treatment.

The men were working on the second floor windows just a few feet from the top of the building when the rope snapped at the north end of the scaffolding which was on the west side of the building. The break in the rope is believed to have been very near the pulley.

There was no explanation as to how this rope happened to break. It was purchased at the same time last year as the rope which held the other end of the scaffolding.

The sections of rope had been kept together in proper storage conditions during the winter. When the one section gave away it caused a terrific wrench to the rope on the other end of the scaffolding and yet that end held.

The scaffolding was up about 25 feet from the ground and the two men who fell that distance could easily have received even more serious, and possibly fatal, injuries.

As all the painters on the job were injured when the rope broke it fell to the lot of others near the scene to come to their assistance. William Niemi, who was working on a sidewalk being laid to the gymnasium at the rear of school, and other workmen and passersby rushed to their aid.

Fortunately the Kirkland District Hospital is immediately across the road on Second Street and they were able to summon help from the hospital in a very few minutes, and the men received prompt medical attention by local doctors.

Reports on the condition of the three injured men was that all were suffering from painful injuries, and the two still in hospital are progressing favorably.

Russia's Aggression on Baltic States Condemned

Russia's present plan of absorbing the small republics of Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania was this week roundly denounced by Sumner Welles, Acting Secretary of State for the U.S.A. The United States has recalled its ambassadors to the three small states and at the same time announced that the present representatives in the United States of the three states named will be the only ones the U.S. government will recognize.

Collect More Than $12,000 in License Fees Here to Date

Are Experiencing Some Trouble Collecting Bread Licenses.

Approximately $12,000 has been collected by the Town of Timmins in license fees imposed under municipal by-laws, Fred Martyn, collector, said today. Usual amount collected during the year amounts to about $14,700.

Mr. Martyn said that application forms, which serve as license notices, have been given out to all persons entitled to receive them, located west of Mountjoy street in the town. Licenses should be obtained three days after receipt of the application form.

Following this week official notice will be given that persons having application forms are expected to be in possession of their licenses within three days or face the alternative of possible prosecution in police court.

Some objection is being made to paying licenses to sell bread, Mr. Martyn said. He stated that despite the fact that the license fee was only $1 more trouble was being experienced in collecting it than many of the higher licenses. Another troublesome license was that on garages, which ranges from $10 to $50 depending upon the number of gasoline pumps and other equipment on the premises.

Both of these licenses were imposed by by-law this year. The collector pointed out that inasmuch as there is a by-law covering them he is forced to collect and intends to do so.

Rumours About Taking Over All Canada's Arenas

The Kirkland Lake Northern News on Tuesday had the following:

"Spiking rumors that has persisted for the last few weeks, that Lake Shore Arena will be used for military training next winter, Arena Manager Bill Brydges announced this morning that he has had no contact with any military authorities regarding the use of the local rink for home training.

"There was word last week that the Government was planning to take all arenas in Canada and use them as training centres for the winter months. At the same time came the request from another department at Ottawa for the continuation of sports during the war period. The conflicting announcements have sport followers in a query."

Boys Claim to be Deserters from the British Air Force

Held for Theft of Clothing from Swastika Man.

The story of two young fellows claiming to be deserters from the Royal Air Force in Britain comes from Kirkland Lake. The Northern News gives the account as follows:

Teck Township Police are holding in custody two self-confessed youthful deserters from the Royal Air Force, who were picked up in Swastika on Friday evening and arrested on vagrancy charges. The Provost Marshal's office at Toronto has been contacted, but no word had been received up until noon today, regarding the fate of the two.

The boys, Oliver Stewart of Dundee, Scotland, and Frank Clarke, of Nottingham, England, both 19-years-old, joined the Royal Air Force somewhere in England a year ago as wireless operators. According to them, this isn't the first time they have left their squadron for more than the allowed time.

According to the story told by the two boys, they deserted from the Royal Air Force stationed somewhere in England about a month ago. With a few chocolate bars in their pockets they stole aboard a freighter tied up at a Western England port. They were in the hold of the ship one week before it left England and it took the vessel another two weeks to reach a Canadian port, where the boys disembarked without being seen. All that time they existed on the few chocolate bars they brought with them, and were plenty glad to receive a good meal when they landed here in Canada.

When asked how they ever picked out Kirkland Lake or Northern Ontario they explained that they met a man in the Eastern Canada port who told them to go to Timmins and they would receive work in the mines there. They hitch-hiked as far as Swastika and spent the night with a resident there. Next morning, after the boys had left, the man found several worthless articles of clothing missing. Getting assistance from a friend he drove up the North highway and picked up the boys. They were brought to Teck Township Police station and put in jail.

It is just about a year now since the two youths joined the Royal Air Force as wireless operators. They had little to say about their exploits in the air except that on practically every occasion the R.A.F. fighters were outnumbered by German planes but they always had the upper hand in the dog-fighting which ensued. They showed the reporter a picture of three British Hurricane fighters taking on a dozen German bombers and fighters in an aerial combat. "That's just the way it is," they explained.

When asked why they deserted and came to Canada, both admitted that "they had the wind up."

Oliver Stuart is a native of Dundee, Scotland, and worked in a newspaper office before joining up. Frank Clarke was born in Nottingham, England,

Soldiers Should be Given Transportation for Leaves

In answer to a question in the House of Commons, Hon. Mr. Ralston this week said that the Government did not have the power to give the soldiers free transportation on the railways. This is quite true, but it is equally true that the people did not expect the Government to force an issue of that kind. In the advocating of free transportation for soldiers on leave, the public in general was not concerned so much with the idea of government-owned railways be ordered or requested to provide free transportation. As a matter of fact, however, it would appear that it would not be necessary for the Government to have special legislation in the matter. It is more than probable that if the right manner of "approach" were used to the railways, the latter would likely agree very willingly to adopt the suggestion. Failing this, the Government could pay the expenses of travel for all soldiers, especially on last leaves. It is no credit to anyone that soldiers with sufficient money to do so should be required to foot large bills for railway fare — or to trust to the undignified plan of hitch-hiking; or to forego visits to their homes because of lack of the ready money.

Dutch Reported as Causing Much Trouble to Germany

From reports from neutral sources, from admissions in the German press, and from reports made by people escaping from Holland, it appears to be evident that the Nazis are having considerable trouble in Holland. The people appear in silent but sullen way to be determined to wage an underground war against the invading Germans. Night raids are said to be made regularly against German "sentinels" and guards and this continues despite the harshest measures used by the Nazis. At the present moment it would seem that the only way the Germans can hope for any peace or quiet in Holland is to kill off every man, woman and child in the country. Literally thousands of them have been murdered by the invaders, but despite the most drastic reprisals, the Dutch continue to harass the Germans in Holland.

Considers Communism Public Enemy Number One

In an address before the State Association of Police Chiefs at New York this week, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the United States Federal Bureau of Investigation, branded communism as public enemy number one among all other subversive movements. He asserted that fascism and nazism did not come into being until the wickedly winding way was paved by communism. In this the head of the G-Men talked like The Advance has been talking for several years. Without minimizing the dangers of fascism or nazism, it must be said that on this continent communism seems to have led the way in disorganizing stability and causing disunity. It may well be added that both nazism and fascism have been materially aided by the freedom allowed to communism. There is also reason to believe that in recent months fascists and nazi followers have more or less stood back and allowed the communists to work for lack of harmony and to pave the way for more active position for the followers of Mussolini and Hitler.

Open New Timmins Packing Company Abattoir Here

Town and Township Officials Attend Slaughterhouse Opening.

Spectators and town and township officials numbering at least two hundred were present yesterday afternoon when the new Timmins Packing Company abattoir opened.

Among the speakers were Councillor Spooner, Dr. McInnis, M.O.H., Dr. Durkin, and Herbert Warren, former Timmins Councillor. Councillors Helmer, Cavagnah and Heino, of South Porcupine, also were present.

Owner of the new abattoir, Mr. Steve Tesluk was lauded for bringing up-to-date slaughter house facilities to Timmins. Instead of paying freight rates from Toronto, speakers pointed out, the retailer could now pass on to the customer fresher meats produced right in our own district. It too should mean a big saving to the consumer.

Mr. Tesluk migrated to Canada from his native Ukraine seventeen years ago. He obtained a position with a packing firm in Toronto and there got butchering experience. Early in 1928 he began a small packing house business in Montreal, and after three years, headed north for Timmins and established here.

Approved meat will be marked with a blue stamp indicating to the retailer and to the consumer that the produce is tested and found to conform to the highest standard. Only such meat may be sold in Timmins.
