

AT THE LOCAL THEATRES

SCENES FROM "TIN PAN ALLEY"

Alice Faye and Betty Grable are starred in "Tin Pan Alley" which will be at the Palace Theatre, Monday and Tuesday, April 7th and 8th. Jack Oakie and John Payne head the featured cast of this stirring film.

Swiss Scientist Becomes Actor for Ramparts We Watch

New March of Time Film at the Cartier This Week.

Alfredo U. Wyss is the only possessor of M.D. and Ph.D. degrees in the cast of March of Time's first full length feature, "The Ramparts We Watch," at the Cartier Theatre this week until Thursday, April 10th. A lineal descendant of the Wyss Brothers, authors of "Swiss Family Robinson," Dr. Wyss was born in Switzerland. His father was one of Louis Pasteur's co-workers. Dr. Wyss, who was honored by the French government for his work in the tropics, makes his first screen appearance in "The Ramparts We Watch," in one of the 73 important speaking roles.

Although Dr. Wyss is internationally known for his scientific work, he has long been interested in motion pictures. He himself was a co-worker with Dr. Ehrlich and believes Paul Muni gave an honest portrayal of that famous scientist in his recent picture. One of Dr. Wyss' scientific monographs, "A New Method for the Dissection of the Mosquito," is considered one of the most important contributions to the control of malarial fever.

Although the entire cast of "The Ramparts We Watch," "The March of Time's" first feature picture, was composed of real people who had never faced a movie camera before, two of the principals have already found outstanding stage roles as a result of their work in the movie.

Georgette McKee, who plays the daughter of the German professor in "The Ramparts," is now playing with the "Life With Father" road company in Chicago. Ellen Prescott, who had the part of Anna Kovacs, has a leading part in the Broadway hit, "What a Life," at the Country Playhouse, Suffern, N.Y.

New Musical Stars Alice Faye and Betty Grable, Also Oakie

Stirring Spectacular Film at the Palace Theatre, April 7th and 8th.

Stirring with romance, laughter, memories and melodies of the unbelievable street that makes the nation sing, "Tin Pan Alley," 20th Century-Fox film which stars Alice Faye and Betty Grable, will be at the Palace Theatre Monday and Tuesday, April 7th and 8th.

Jack Oakie and John Payne head a great feature cast of top-notch entertainment-makers in "Tin Pan Alley," which includes Allen Jenkins, Esther Rialston, the Nicholas Brothers, dusky dancing stars, and Ben (Shadrach) Carter.

With some of America's greatest popular song writers of yesterday and today contributing their best and biggest hits, "Tin Pan Alley" surpasses by far any musical since "Alexander's Ragtime Band," which swept the nation. It tells how song hits are made in human terms of composers and song pluggers.

Briefly, "Tin Pan Alley" narrates the experiences of two shoeing song publishers, Jack Oakie and John Payne, whose songs achieve prominence after Alice Faye sings them. Alice and John fall madly in love but a split comes when he pays more attention to his songs than to lovely Alice. They are rejoined in London, however, when war is declared. Paced at a rapid tempo and set in a background of those stirring years of strife, "Tin Pan Alley" smashes into a thrill-packed finale which climaxes its sweeping drama.

Marked by many outstanding highlights, the spectacle of Alice Faye and Betty Grable doing a torrid hula hula dance is really a sight to behold. Glamorous and torehy, these two beauties top anything they've ever done on the screen.

With the whole cast turning in grand performances, "Tin Pan Alley" is a not-to-be-missed screen treat. Walter Lang directed and Kenneth Macgowan was associate producer. The screen play by Robert Ellis and Helen Logan was based on a story by Pamela Harris.

Many Mourn the Death of Robt. S. Eady, of Matheson

Matheson, April 5—A large number of friends of the late Robert S. Eady filled Matheson United Church Sunday afternoon to pay their last respects to one of the best known figures in that district, who died suddenly last Friday night. The Rev. Mr. Manson officiated at the services.

Born in Horton Township near Renfrew, the deceased was in his 67th year. He was the eldest son of the late William C. Eady, of Renfrew. He came north in 1905 and for eight years was manager of the DeLaplante Lumber Company at Tomiko. In 1913 he came to Matheson and since that time had been employed by the Department of Northern Development and Ontario Department of Highways. He listed among his friends many of the early pioneers of both Matheson and Porcupine districts.

Besides his widow, he leaves to mourn his loss three sons, Edgar, of the Algonquin Regiment, Port Arthur, Ont.; Kenneth at home, and Cecil, of Kirkland Lake. A step-daughter, Miss Ida Cole, of Timmins, and seven brothers and two sisters, and one grand-daughter, Diane Eady, of Kirkland Lake, also survive.

Those attending the funeral from out of town were his sister, Mrs. N. Millaire, Renfrew; Mr. Peter Eady, Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Eady, Fort William, and Miss Mina Carson, Sault Ste. Marie.

Good Method to Adopt in Dealing With Lying Nazis

(From "News of Norway") The inhabitants of a small fishing village in one of the fjords of Western Norway recently witnessed the forced landing of an airplane a few hundred yards from shore. One of the local fishermen set out by rowboat to rescue two pilots who were floundering in the water.

A crowd on shore watched the fisherman pick up the two airmen and start for land. But suddenly he pulled his oars in, grappled with the two men and threw them overboard. When he reached shore the sheriff questioned him.

"Why in blazes did you throw those men into the fjord?"

"They turned out to be Germans. I first thought they were British."

"But did you drown them? Weren't they alive when you tossed them overboard?"

"Well, one of them said he was alive, but you know how these Nazis lie..."

National Salvage Campaign Starts on April 14th

Effort to Redeem Millions of Dollars' Worth of Waste Material in Canada.

Ottawa (Special)—On April 14 Canada goes salvage conscious. On that date the Department of National War Services, under the direction of Hon. James G. Gardiner, launches its National Salvage Campaign. William Knightley, on loan from the Department of Transport, is the supervisor of the drive.

Interviewed in Ottawa regarding the campaign, Mr. Gardiner said: "It might seem that spending public energy on salvage, as a war measure, is not a very wise use of such energy. This is not so. Literally millions of dollars worth of raw materials are lying around loose across Canada. Literally millions of dollars of other raw materials are thrown away annually by Canadians. To salvage both these types of raw materials is a very direct contribution to winning the war. We can save scrap to scrap Hitler!"

The National Salvage Campaign has four main objectives: to save raw materials to make money for war purposes, to give everybody on the home front a chance to help win the war and to inspire a spirit of national thrift that may endure even after the war is over.

Discussing the first objective, Supervisor William Knightley said: "Of course, there is no serious shortage of raw materials in Canada at the moment, but there is a considerable importation of raw materials for war industries. For instance, we import over 10 millions of dollars of scrap iron and steel annually, four millions of dollars of rags, a million of waste paper. If we can salvage such waste to supply this domestic market, we can conserve that much foreign exchange.

Campaign officials consider the second objective of the drive important. Money can actually be raised for war purposes through the sale of so-called junk by voluntary workers. Five dollars worth of old aluminum kitchenware rescued from a back shed, and invested in War Savings Certificates, will buy one 40-millimetre anti-aircraft shell, which might bring down a German plane. Eight tons of scrap iron, lying around the fields and sheds of most Canadian farms, will sell for enough to buy a 500-pound bomb for Berlin—or Berchtesgaden.

The plan of campaign to secure this waste material for war industries and to convert it into ready cash on the way to those industries, is simplicity itself. Voluntary effort is the key note.

Local salvage committees have been and are being, set up all across the Dominion. Members of Parliament, using the electoral divisions as the salvage areas, co-operated in contacting rural and urban municipal officers and calling conferences of wartime groups, service clubs, and other citizens interested in organizing nation-

International Law Not Binding on Only One Nation

(Sergeant Sullivan, K.C., in the London Daily Telegram)

Sir—The inhabitants of Yugoslavia and those of Bulgaria are not British, and what may be clear to an Englishman may be clear to them. It must be to them a matter of bewilderment, as it is to me, to note that, as last year in the case of Norway, and now in the case of Bulgaria, German arrangements to seize another country have been allowed to go forward unmolested.

The British are the only people who cripple themselves with the delusion that there is an international law that compels inaction. No such thing now exists. International law is a rule of conduct to which all nations defer.

There cannot be a law binding on Britain which is repudiated by Germany, Italy, Russia and Japan. However desirable its existence may be, the rule that is not universally accepted as binding cannot rank as international law.

Universality of loyalty is essential. When any considerable power repudiates, the whole is cancelled. It is mere folly to let the Germans march with impunity. They should be attacked wherever found.

Old-Time North Land Spirit In Evidence at Hearst

There is evidence of the old-time Northern spirit of friendship and self-reliance at Hearst, these days. The town has special calls upon its accommodation due to the large number of men brought there by the road-building programme, contracts for the Trans-Canada highway to connect Geraldton and Hearst having brought in large numbers of men. Naturally, the spare time of these men presents a problem, but the Hearst people are not afraid to face problems. Instead of leaving the newcomers to their own ally for salvage purposes. The top of this pyramid of local committees and salvaging groups is the National Salvage Campaign office, New Supreme Court Building, Ottawa. It is sending out pamphlets and leaflets with suggestions to the local committees. It is advertising to encourage the co-operation of the general public in the drive. It will supply posters and advertising matter to keep interest high. It will act as a clearing house for specific queries concerning salvage problems.

Campaign officials are anxious to have full coast-to-coast organization complete by the opening date of the campaign, April 14. Citizens are urged to take immediate steps to set up salvage bodies in their community. If such has not yet been done, Pamphlets with organization ideas are now available, from the Ottawa headquarters.

Canada is out to "save to win" and Canadians are going to turn waste paper into shell wadding, aluminum pots and pans into airplane propellers, scrap iron into shrapnel, bones into high explosives—to help smash Hitler!

devices, the townspeople have given them genuine welcome, and have not left it at that either. A community club, sponsored by some ladies of Hearst and actively assisted by Mr. Eric Wilson, has been started chiefly for the benefit of the newcomers. The use of the Orange Hall has been given without cost, and there is a place for the men to congregate and enjoy social times. The initial expenses were met by funds raised by a dance that was much enjoyed. The club is being well patronized, it is reported, and the blessing. Its value to the town is apparent at this time. It was opened a week ago, with a canteen under the direction of Miss Bates, assisted by Mrs. A. P. Wilson; refreshments being dispensed at nominal charges.

Two Births Registered During the Past Week-end

As the Advance has been pointing out for several weeks past, the registration of births is far from keeping up with the record of previous years. Last year the births in Timmins totalled over a thousand, making an average of twenty per week. This year, so far, they have not been much more than a quarter of twenty per week. In the past week or two things have been a little better. While there were some weeks in February and March with only one or two births registered, there were four registered last week, two of them before Thursday and two after that date. The latter two were as follows:—

Born—on March 12th, 1941, to Mr. and Mrs. Morris Philippe (nee Gertrude Ainsley), of 127 Main avenue—a daughter.

Born—on March 8th, 1941, to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth De Gurse, of 31 James avenue—a daughter.
