Another Picture of Dionne Quints at Cartier Theatre

Playing With Feature Picture This Week.

Playing with the feature picture at the Cartier theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday this week, May 5th, 6th and 7th, there is what is described as the "biggest short of the year,"—The Dionne Quintlets. Dr. Allan Roy D'Arce tells the story—

"The Quintlets are well past their sixth birthday now and they're five of the finest, huskiest little ladies you ever saw. Today their chances of survival are better than those of most children, but back in May, 1934, when they were only a week old, I didn't have much hope for them. All five of them weighed only 9 1/2 pounds together! It was tough and so until we got them into the special hospital we had built across the road. Diet was quite a problem. I prescribed a formula consisting of mother's milk, and eventually it was sent to us from Toronto in regular daily shipments until we were getting a gallon a day. The first birthday was a great occasion, for they were the first quintuplets who ever reached this age. By the time they were around one and a half they practically took care of amusing themselves. Their introduction to playthings was their second Christmas in 1935. When they were two years old they were singing and dancing to nursery rhymes in French. At three they were shown their first movie—a Mickey Mouse. When they were almost five they received a gift of a playstore. Though no Quint had ever been in a store they knew all the motions, both as clerks and customers. This was the year the King and Queen visited Canada, and they were invited to meet their majesties. It was a tremendous occasion for the Quints because of the trip by car and train to Toronto and the fact that, for the first time in their lives, they said a brief good-bye to their nursery home. At six and a half the Quints are doing what they can to help the fighting men of Canada. They are making fine progress with their knitting. A favourite game is playing soldier and marching with British flags. They know a couple of marching songs and sing "There'll Always Be an England" in English."

Edward G. Robinson in Jack London's Story, "The Sea Wolf"

At the Palace Theatre To-Night and To-Morrow

"The Sea Wolf" starring Edward G. Robinson, Ida Lupino, is the feature at the Palace theatre Monday and Tuesday of this week, May 5th and 6th. The production directed by Michael Curtiz is one of Warner Bros. biggest of the year.

It has been said several times that if Jack London had written "The Sea Wolf" twenty-five years later, he would have been accused of having his eyes on the movies. Fast, continuous action and picturesque characterizations may explain the opinion.

The film story opens on San Francisco's Barbary Coast. This is the first of 31 settings. A main thoroughfare and two side streets were constructed for the introductory action. The fronts of four two-storey hotels and 11 other buildings and the complete interior of an elaborate dance hall are used. Of the 29 principals in the picture, four appear in these first sequences: John Garfield, Stanley Ridges, Francis McDonald and Ralf Harolde.

The real story of "The Sea Wolf" begins, and ends, aboard the mystery ship, The Ghost.

This setting, or vast complication of settings, is considered by studio technicians the most ambitious project of its kind ever undertaken by them.

The ship itself is 130 feet long and 32 feet wide amidships. The mechanism by which the ship is rocked and tossed was designed by studio engineers and installed by studio machinists. Materials alone for this machinery cost over $38,000.

From a production standpoint, "The Sea Wolf" differs basically from other sea stories. Its action is by no means confined to the decks of the vessel.

The related settings include completely furnished cabins, wardrobe, sick bay, fore-castle, corridors, decks, galleys and hatches. Important sequences are played in these settings, which require that they be both substantial and complete in detail.

Among the players aboard ship are Ida Lupino, Frank Luceen, Howard da Silva, Gene Lockhart, Barry Fitzgerald, Alexander Knox, Wilfred Lucas, Louis Mason, David Bruce.

A collision with a ferry boat, incidental to the plot, required the construction of the deck and entire interior of a San Francisco Ferry at the period of 1900. This set alone would be listed as important in an ordinary production.

The story of "The Sea Wolf" is mainly the story of the Captain of The Ghost, Wolf Larsen played by Edward G. Robinson. Larsen is a man in whose heart there is neither softness nor mercy. His hand is against every man and he expects every man's to be

W. H. Maund, T. N. O. Secretary 26 Years Dies at North Bay

Able and Faithful in His Work and Genial to His Fellows and the Public.

Not only the T. & N. O. and the North but the public in general suffers a serious loss in the death on Thursday morning at his home in North Bay of W. H. Maund, for 26 years the able and genial secretary of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway. The funeral was held on Saturday morning and was very largely attended and there was a noteworthy profusion of floral and other tributes.

The late W. H. Maund was born in Kingston, Ont., 57 years ago, and married the former Ethel Mary Walton at Belleville in 1911. Mr. and Mrs. Maund came to North Bay about thirty years ago and resided there continuously from that time until his death. Mr. Maund was with the Kingston and Pembroke Railway for a time and joined the T. & N. O. staff as a freight clerk at Halleybury in 1909. He made rapid progress, being employed as agent at several places on the line and being promoted to the post of travelling auditor in 1911. On March 1st, 1915, he was appointed secretary-treasurer of the T. & N. O. Commission. In recent years Mr. Maund was assistant general manager but continued as secretary of the commission.

Besides his wife, Mr. Maund is survived by three sons, Lt. F. Walton Maund, R.C.E., Petawawa; William G. Maund, Beamsville; G. Frederic Maund, Montreal; and one daughter, Miss Patricia Maund, North Bay; also one brother, R. D. Maund, Toronto; and two sisters, Mrs. A. T. Hatch, Rochester, N.Y.; and Mrs. A. T. Cobb, Honeyoye Falls, N.Y.

Not only from officials of the T. & N. O. but also from other railways and from citizens in general tribute has been paid to the late Mr. Maund. J. P. Johnston, Northern Ontario superintendent of the Canadian National Railways was especially frank in his tribute to the late Mr. Maund. Mr. Johnston referred to the fact that the death would fill the hearts of the legion of friends of the late Mr. Maund with deep sadness.

"The pioneers will remember him as being associated with the T. & N. O. Railway from the days of its early history," Mr. Johnston continued. "To have been secretary-treasurer of a railroad for over 26 years is of itself an unprecedented tenure of a high and responsible office.

"During that long period of expansion, of good fortune and of many vicissitudes, Mr. Maund was in all circumstances ever the same—kindly, courageous and a public-spirited gentleman. The beautiful character of this man made an instant appeal and he was loved upon slight acquaintance. He had that indefinable something which brought to him fine and lasting friendships and at his death many will not restrain the plying tear that takes from grief its pang.

High tribute was also paid the late Mr. Maund by Geo. W. Lee, former chairman of the T. & N. O. Railway Commission, and a close associate of

Local Composer Has Two Songs to be Published Soon

Hazel Carroll Hayes, whose verses "Our Duty", will be found elsewhere in this issue, recently composed two songs, words and music, which will be published at an early date. One of these songs is "The Call of Freedom," and the other, "Words for Such Simple Things." Both these songs have special timeliness and appeal and promise to be very popular. Mrs. Hayes, who resides at the Buffalo-Ankerite property, was formerly Miss Hazel Latham, of Timmins.

Local Armouries Can Take Recruits for Any Branch of Army

Rumour That Men Must Join in Toronto or Elsewhere is Spiked Here.

Lt. G. G. Countryman announced on Saturday that recruiting is continuing at the local armouries for all branches of the Active Service Army. A rumor has been going around that the only men who could be recruited here were men for the local company and this rumor was emphatically denied by Lt. Countryman on Saturday.

Two men are reported to have gone to Toronto last week to join the active army, thinking that they could not join the unit that they wanted from here. The local armouries can place any man in Category 'A' or 'B' in any part of the army that he wishes to join. Needed at the armouries now are recruits for the Artillery and Anti-Aircraft.

On Friday night four more men left to bring the week's total to fifteen. These men entrained here on Friday night for military district No. 2 headquarters in Toronto. They were: J. E. Allard, George E. Doucet, F. O. Hoelt, and P. Latendresse, all of Timmins.

It was announced that regular medical boards are being held every Monday and Thursday mornings to examine applicants. The next regular medical board will be held on Thursday.

Any persons in Categories 'A' or 'B' can be placed in any part of the Army and can be sent down to Toronto immediately.

Also needed are a few men for the Algonquin Regiment at Port Arthur and about thirty-five or forty men to bring the 2nd Battalion in Timmins up to strength.

APPREHENSIVE

Wife (sorrowfully)—I've just received a letter from poor dear mamma. She says she is feeling very seedy.

Husband (with a grunt)—I suppose that means she is going to plant herself on us.—Exchange.

Mr. Maund for many years.

"I have never seen a man who was more attentive to his job than was W. H. Maund," said Mr. Lee. "He was as faithful a man as you could ever hope to find. Nothing too fine could be said in his honor and the city will feel his loss deeply. He was a splendid citizen always and I would like to extend to his family my deepest sympathy in their bereavement."

Help Legion Radio License Salesmen in Their Work Now

You Have to Have a Radio License, So Help the Returned Men.

The Advance of last Thursday carried a very clear and plain article regarding Legion members selling radio licenses. The article drew attention to the slackness on the part of citizens to protect themselves with the necessary license if they owned a radio. Several who read the article have now secured their license, but were surprised to learn that the salesman only received 25c. "It should be 50c at least," said one citizen. However in checking up with Legion officials, The Advance learns that only 20c is payable to the salesman, the other 5c for supervision purposes—Total 25c. In any case as one salesman put it, "If everyone called upon had the cash ready, so that we could complete a section each day, we would be well repaid at the rate of 20c for our efforts. It's the "Will you call round again?" that takes the cream off the job." Every radio in Timmins should have a 1941 license. If you operate or own one that has not this coverage, call The Legion Hall and a salesman will soon be around.
