H. and V. S. Orchestra Featured at International Music Week at Kiwanis

Timmins H. & V. S. the Only School of Its Size in Ontario to Maintain Full-Time Music Instructor and Complete Course. Eighteen in Orchestra Directed by J. Wallace Young.

Kiwanis Clubs on the continent all observed International Music Week this week and the event at the Timmins Kiwanis luncheon on Monday was of outstanding interest and timeliness.

Mr. J. A. Lyman Murray, principal of the Timmins High and Vocational School, introduced Mr. J. Wallace Young, instructor in music at the school, and director of the orchestra. Mr. Murray said that the Timmins High and Vocational School has the distinction of being the only school of its size in Ontario that employed a full-time music instructor and followed the complete programme suggested by the Dept. The progress being made was remarkable, Mr. Murray said.

While both Mr. Murray and Mr. Young referred to the enjoyment the students will get in later life from music, the Kiwanis members were impressed with the pleasure given to others now by the talented work of the orchestra. The young people presented a varied and interesting programme of music with an effectiveness and talent that pleased all. The orchestra numbers were a genuine delight, while the other instrumental numbers and the vocal numbers were greatly appreciated.

The following is the programme in full: 1. Orchestra—"The Heavens are telling"—Hayden. 2. Violin Solo—Fred Milne, accompanied by the orchestra—"Andante Cantabile"—Tschakowsky. 3. Duet—Kathleen Brown, IE, and Mary Zudel, 2C—"A Bohemian Folk Melody." 4. Orchestra—"Moment Musicales"—Schubert. 5. Vocal Solo—Therese Sauve—"A Brown Bird Singing"—Hayden Wood. 6. Orchestra—"Hungarian Dance No. 5"—Brahms. Kiwanian Frits Woodbury expressed the sincere thanks of the club to the orchestra and to Mr. Murray and Mr. Young.

There were three visitors—Kiwanian T. J. Waller, Hamilton; Flying Officer R. W. Barton, Toronto; and Wallace Young. The regular War Savings Certificate was won by Rev. W. M. Mustard, while Kiwanian Frank Frawley won the other one from accumulated surplus.

Man Dismissed on Charge of Having Moonshine Illegally

Mathias Clement is Dismissed on Charge Without Taking Stand in Own Defence.

A charge against Mathias Clement, of being in possession of illicit liquor was dismissed in police court on Tuesday afternoon when the crown failed to pin the ownership of the bottle on anybody. The charge was dismissed without the defence having to put up a witness or having to put up any argument.

Police Recover Stolen Car in Callender, Day After it is Reported

Splendid Co-operation of Callender Police Force Results in Arrest of Alleged Car Thief.

Man Dismissed on Charge of Having Moonshine Illegally

Mathias Clement is Dismissed on Charge Without Taking Stand in Own Defence.

A charge against Mathias Clement, of being in possession of illicit liquor was dismissed in police court on Tuesday afternoon when the crown failed to pin the ownership of the bottle on anybody. The charge was dismissed without the defence having to put up a witness or having to put up any argument.

Sergeant Kirk of the R.C.M.P. detachment in Timmins took the stand and told of raiding the home of Mr. Clement at 49 Commercial Avenue at 4:30 on the afternoon of April 15th. In the kitchen, he said, he found a wine bottle containing what he thought was "moonshine." It was later proved that the jars did contain moonshine. He had questioned the man's wife and while he was doing that the husband came in. He then questioned him and the man said that his young son must have brought the stuff into the house.

The son was questioned and he said that he had found the stuff and had brought it in the house and had left it in the basement. After some more questioning the boy said that he had put the stuff in the kitchen cupboard. Then the sergeant told him that it was found in the bathroom and the boy couldn't explain that.

At that stage of the hearing the case was postponed so that the crown could get some of the police officers who were witnesses in the case and who were not in the courtroom at the time.

When the hearing was resumed Inspector Olsen told of being on the raid with Sergeant Kirk and of the stuff being found in the house. He also verified the sergeant's testimony regarding the questioning of the people in the house. He then added that the R.C.M.P. had decided to let the Timmins police handle the case and that Sergeant Kirk had given him the alleged "moonshine" in two small jars so that it could be shipped away to be tested.

When he had received the two jars he had placed them on the Chief's desk and they had afterwards been placed in the vault. He did not know exactly how long they had stayed on the desk before being placed in the vault, he said. Dean Kester, defence lawyer, asked if the door to the chief's office was ever locked and he was told that it was not. Mr. Kester then pointed out that reporters and lawyers all had access to the office and the inspector agreed with him.

At that point the crown said that they had no other evidence to offer and Mr. Kester said that he could see no reason to put his client on the stand because there was no case against him. Magistrate Atkinson agreed that the evidence presented was very thin and suggested to the crown that the case be dismissed.

Six persons paid fines of $1 and costs for illegal parking on Tuesday. One man paid the same amount for failing to stop at a stop sign. Two others paid $5 and costs for failing to stop at a red light. Two men paid $10 and costs for speeding. One man paid $10 and costs for driving a car with four people in the front seat. Another paid $1 and costs for riding two on a bicycle.

Andrew Doyle paid $25 and costs for failing to remain at the scene of an accident. His license was also suspended for ten days.

Elzeur Lamontagne was given a fifteen day term and had his car impounded for six months on a charge of being drunk in charge of a car.

George Morgan paid $20 and costs on a charge of careless driving. Seven persons were convicted of having defective brakes on their cars and another man had the same charge against him remanded for a week. An adjournment was also granted in a case of reckless driving.

Eleven persons were convicted on charges of disorderly conduct. Eight of them paid the fines. Frank Miller had a charge of consuming while being a minor withdrawn. Four ordinary, common drunks were assessed ten and costs or thirty days. Veikko Rykonen paid ten and costs on a charge laid under the Game and Fisheries Act.

Remands were granted to Seraphin Houle and Emanuel Grenier on a charge of theft of an automobile. It is alleged that these two persons stole Dr. MacKeechnie's car on April 12th and abandoned it in North Bay four days later. A remand was also granted to Albert W. Stady who is facing a charge of illegal possession of high-grade ore.

Timmins police were in a very happy mood on Tuesday morning. They had just cleaned up two bad car robberies. One of the cars was stolen on April 12th and recovered on April 18th. The other had just been stolen on Monday morning. Two Timmins police left Timmins early on Tuesday morning for Callender to bring back the car and the man who was driving it.

When Dr. MacKeechnie's car had been reported stolen on April 12th, one of the Timmins police went to North Bay to investigate and the car was recovered there after it had been damaged and left on the street. The car was returned to Timmins and as a result of the investigation the Timmins police were sure who took it.

A warrant was issued in Timmins for Seraphin Houle and Emanuel Grenier and police were ordered to pick them up. On Sunday Grenier was arrested in Timmins and charged with stealing Dr. MacKeechnie's car. Police believe that it was that move that prompted the stealing of the second car.

Early on Monday morning when the news of Grenier's arrest got around a new 1941 Chevrolet Sedan, license number 983UT was stolen from the Timmins Garage. The car is said to have been stolen at about one o'clock in the morning.

Timmins police got a tip that the car had been seen in Bonfield and they immediately sent out telephone calls to eight different towns in that district that threw out a net around the district that the car was in. It wasn't very long after that the Timmins police received a wire from Callender that the police there had picked up the stolen car and the man that was driving it.

Timmins police had a good word for the police of Callender, North Bay and all the district that they had contacted. It was only through the splendid co-operation of those police that the arrest and recovery of the car was made possible. Timmins police are also of the opinion that with the arrest of the two young men that a lot of car-stealing trouble that police here have been experiencing lately will be eliminated.

Elzeur Lamontagne, 15 Wilson Ave., was picked up on Tuesday and lodged in the local jail on a charge of being drunk in charge of a car.

C. H. Wright, apartment 3, Sky Block, was charged on Monday night with disorderly conduct. Police are alleged to have caught him raising a rumpus at the Royal Lunch on Third Avenue.

Carol Zakkrajsek, 172 Pine Street, North, was charged with careless driving on Monday night. He is alleged to have passed through an intersection at the corner of Birch and Fourth a little too fast.

Three ordinary drunks were picked up on Monday night.

Britain Orders 5,400,000 Dozen Eggs This Month

Big Order for Canada to Fill in May.

(From Dept. of Agriculture, Ottawa) To get quality of eggs necessary to fill the British order for 5,400,000 dozen eggs in May it is essential that poultry keepers observe the following in connection with production:— 1. Feed an egg producing ration.

2. Observe every rule of cleanliness. 3. Provide plenty of fresh clean water for the hens. 4. See that the eggs are properly handled from the time they are laid to insure retention of quality. It is not necessary for the birds to be kept in the poultry houses if the essential food and ingredients are supplied. When given free range, however, special attention should be paid to see that ample feed is readily available so that the birds will have no need to scavenge.

Dry mash in a hopper should be available for the hens early in the morning. If these points are carefully observed Grade A eggs will be the invariable result. Eggs should be gathered from the nests not less than twice daily and at once taken to the coolest place. They should be marketed every day.

Efficiency in production and special efforts to retain egg quality will do the job. The nearest Experimental Farm, Agricultural College or Provincial Department of Agriculture will gladly cooperate to attain the desired objective—an extra 5,400,000 dozen in the month of May.
