ment plan. "This country has been good to me, and I want to be good to it," said Mrs. Casas, who was born in Spain, but considers herself completely Canadian and British now. Seven of the Casas children go to school and are buying War Savings stamps regularly, so the Casas family are contributing quite a bit to the war effort.

accused was held on the vagrancy charge, but the inference was that as soon as sufficient evidence was forthcoming other charges would be laid. Word from Toronto yesterday was to the effect that four charges of murder have been preferred against Dorvillers. The complete story is told in the following despatch from Toronto:—

Charge Man of 77 With the Murder of Four Children

Attorney - General's Dept. Consulted Before Charges Laid.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found reference to the fact that Jeremiah Dorvillers, 77 years of age, was remanded until Friday of this week on a charge of vagrancy. It was understood that the charge of vagrancy was simply to hold the accused in custody, pending the probable laying of murder charges. The case against the elderly man arose over the death of four children in a fire in a cabin in Buck township in the Cobalt area. The origin of the fire seemed obscure from the beginning and police investigation only added to the suspicion that there was something radically wrong about the origin of the fatal fire. Eventually Dorvillers was questioned and police state that after some unusual answers to official questions, he confessed that he had started the fire. Following the confession the arrest was made. The

"The murder of four Buck Township children, near Halleybury on May 31, yesterday was charged against Jeremiah Dorvillers, 77, following a conference at Queen's Park between Deputy Attorney-General C. L. Snyder, K.C., and Dalton Dean, Acting Crown Attorney of the Temiskaming District. "The children, sons and daughters of Harry Van Tant, widower, were burned to death in a fire which destroyed the farm home. Van Tant was in Timmins, working, at the time, and the four were alone. They were: Louise, 17; Jacob, 14; Maria, 12, and Oliver, 10. "Dorvillers was arrested June 5, and since has been held in the Halleybury Jail on a charge of vagrancy. "The result of this morning's conference was, that the accused is now being charged with four murders," said the Deputy Attorney-General. "The basis of the charge is that he deliberately set fire to their home. He will be brought before the magistrate on the four charges, and if he is committed for trial he will be tried at the Fall Assizes in Halleybury." It is alleged by police Dorvillers' act arose from differences of long-standing with the Van Tant family. The Van Tant family lived on a farm owned by Arthur Dorvillers of New Liskeard, son of the accused man. Jeremiah Dorvillers, an old-age pensioner, occupied a small cabin a few feet distant from the one which was destroyed. He was not seen at the time the blaze was discovered, and it was stated that he had spent the night in Halleybury. The case was investigated by Provincial Police Sergeant Victor Reed and Constable A. H. Souliere, and by Inspector P. S. D. Harding, of the Fire Marshal's Department, Toronto. Certain scientific tests have been made in its connection by Prof. Joslyn Rogers, University of Toronto. Out of the same conference came a decision to charge Agnes McAnaul, at present held in Halleybury, with the death of her infant child. Dr. W. A. Burr, Toronto, performed post-mortems in the fire case, and on the body of the infant.

The expressions on the faces of the spectators in this picture of a section of the crowd that filled the stands of the Hollinger Ball Park to see the District Track and Field meet on Monday shows how interesting the contests were. Timmins won the meet after a struggle with Kirkland Lake athletes all the way through the meet. Athletes from South Porcupine and Iroquois Falls also competed.

Mrs. L. Nicholson, Mrs. W. A. Devine and Mrs. Wheeler, were the capable members who took charge of the serving, and in the kitchen, Mrs. Jean Smith presided over a willing and energetic group who did much to make the event a success. Those in the kitchen were Mrs. S. Tilley, Mrs. J. Wilson, Mrs. Alex. Borland, Jr. and other members. A special attraction was the tea-cup reading by Mrs. E. George.

A garden is a lovable thing. God wot! Rose plot, Fringed pool, Ferned grove—The verriest school Of peace; and yet the fool Contends that God is not—Not God! In garden! When the eve is cool? Nay, but I have a sign; 'Tis very sure God walks in mine.

"My Garden" was written by T. L. Brown, and its ten simple little lines tell the story of the feelings of every "garden-fan" . . . at this time of year, it seems quite appropriate, and should be a pleasure for both men and women of Timmins, who are out these days, helping to make our town more beautiful.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McCarthy, of 168 Elm street south, who on Tuesday celebrated their forty-fifth wedding anniversary . . . they're grand people . . . no wonder so many friends visited the popular home during the afternoon and evening . . . twenty-three years they've spent in Timmins, and for each year they have innumerable friends . . . and they're the proud parents of one son and six daughters, as well as the grandparents of fifteen youngsters who are mighty proud of their "granny" and "granpa."

amount added to the Comfort Fund for lads overseas, by the afternoon tea given in the Legion hall yesterday afternoon by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion . . . it was one of those outstandingly delightful affairs that the members of the Auxiliary know how to arrange, and provided a pleasant "tea-cup chat" for their friends—from the secretary comes a reminder to all members of the Auxiliary to meet at the Legion hall at 10.15 a.m. on Saturday to take part in the Victory Loan ceremony at the cenotaph.

Miss Kathryn Young and Mr. George Constable, whose marriage will take place in Timmins on June 17th, were guests of honour yesterday at a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Dodge at their summer home at Fryside Beach . . . friends of the popular young couple were present at the event, which said "every happiness."

Tax Collections are Higher for the First Five Months of Year

(Continued from Page One) that had been known as the Diamond Tax formerly, and as it had the blessing of the police department the council decided that they could have a license.

A letter was received from M. C. Sullivan, telling the council that he was sorry that he was unable to carry out his contract with the town in regard to the purchase of all the scrap metal at the incinerator. He had made a contract with the town to purchase all the scrap metal and since that time the government had set the price for the metal and had pegged it. As a result he was unable to buy the scrap metal without losing a considerable amount of money. He made another offer to the council but the council decided that they would ask for new tenders for the scrap metal.

A petition was received by the council asking them to construct lanes at that section of the town bordered by Birch and Maple streets and Fourth and Fifth avenues. The petition was signed by seventeen of the property owners, so the council had no alternative but to go ahead and construct the lanes. However it was decided to write to the signers of the petition and ask them if it would be all right to build lanes fifteen feet wide instead of the usual twelve feet.

The council was asked to appoint a relief administrator to replace T. B. Ryan, who left for the Army last week, and a relief office assistant. As it was in Mr. Bartleman's department the council decided that they would leave the matter for a week and give Councillor Bartleman a chance to scout around and bring in some recommendations.

The council appointed Councillor Bill Roberts, Deputy Chief of Police Jack Downey and Walter Greaves, as a committee to look after Conklin's Shows while they are in Timmins.

The committee in charge of the Victory Loan in Timmins wrote to the council telling them that they had changed the date for the black-out from Wednesday of this week to Friday (tomorrow night).

The Victory Loan Committee also asked the council if they would undertake the job of painting the streets of Timmins with footprints leading to the Loan committee office. The council were not in favour of this idea.

Deputy-chief Jack Downey of the Timmins Police Force wrote to the council asking them that they publicize the fact that there are a lot of dogs running around loose in Timmins and that if they are not kept at home they will be picked up by the town's dog catcher. Council decided that the deputy-chief can pass the information on to the newspaper reporters himself.

A number of water rebates were granted and a number of overpaid taxes were refunded. The third reading of the Waterworks by-law was deferred till next week.

A by-law was read having to do with the construction of a number of sewers and waterworks as a public works project. It was brought out at the meeting that the Hollinger Mine had given the town permission to use the Hollinger Park grounds between the Timmins Armouries and the baseball park as a playgrounds for the Timmins children. The town council will order construction of a number of baseball and softball diamonds on the property for the children and will appoint a supervisor. The council also decided that they will appoint a life guard before school gets out late this month.
