

TEN YEARS AGO IN TIMMINS

From data in the Porcupine Advance Files

The chief item of importance before the regular meeting of the town council ten years ago was the matter of the proposed roadway to connect up Timmins and Sudbury. W. O. Langdon, president of the Timmins Board of Trade, addressed the council in the matter, pointing out the benefits of the proposed road, not only to Timmins, but to the whole North. The question, he said, had been kept to the front by the Timmins board of trade for a number of years past. "Realizing the importance of such a road to the North, the Timmins board of trade has secured the endorsement first of the Northern Ontario Associated Boards of Trade," said The Advance ten years ago. "The motor league had also endorsed the proposed roadway as necessary and very desirable. The Ontario Government had been approached in the matter and had given favourable consideration to the suggestion but recently the question had been deferred on account of the amount of money spent on other roads. Some weeks ago the Sudbury council had taken up the question and then the Sudbury board of trade had joined asking for this road. Arrangements had been made, Mr. Langdon said, for a conference in the matter with Premier Henry, Hon. Chas. McCrea and Hon. Wm. Finlayson at Toronto on Wednesday morning of this week. The conference had been arranged by the Sudbury board of trade and Timmins council, as well as Tisdale council, send representatives to the meeting so that the matter might be fully impressed upon the Government. Sudbury itself was sending representatives from both the council and the board of trade and it was intended also to have C. W. Wright, president of the Northern Ontario Associated Boards in the delegation." Continuing its reference to the delegation, The Advance later said: "Last week a delegation from the North representing the Northern Ontario Associated Boards of Trade, the city of Sudbury, the Sudbury board of trade, the town of Timmins, and the Timmins board of trade, had an interview with Premier Geo. S. Henry, Hon. Chas. McCrea, Minister of Mines, and Hon. W. Finlayson Minister of Lands and Forests, in regard to the building of a connecting road between Sudbury and Timmins, to pass through West Shiningtree, Gowganda, Elk Lake, Matachewan and other promising country and to form a belt line of roads connecting up all the centres of the North. The delegation was received by the premier and the two ministers mentioned and the interview lasted about one hour. The members of the delegations showed the value of such a road in opening up new country, pointed out that it would give needed transportation facilities for several promising mining areas and generally aid in the development of the North. The value of such a belt line of roads from the standpoint of able Douglas was sent to his knees by the force of the blow and he sustained injuries to the side of his face that eventually put him off duty for several days. But that was after he completed the work he was at. Though injured he noted the man who threw the stone and he left the handcuffed prisoner long enough to secure the man he accuses of assaulting him. He placed this second man safely in the lock-up and then went back after the handcuffed prisoner. The latter, however, had disappeared. Constable Douglas secured the aid of Constable Brooks of the Tisdale force and Chief McInnis and a still hunt but a thorough one was instituted for the escaped prisoner. After a patient search the man was found in a shack of a fellow countryman where the handcuffs had been sawed off the hand and work was in actual operation with a saw to release the other hand from the steel bracelet. Constable Douglas took his original prisoner in charge again and saw him securely locked up. Then he went and secured the medical care he needed for the injury to the side of his face. The two men arrested in the case came before the court at South Porcupine. The one man was charged with being drunk and escaping from custody. He drew a term of six months in jail. The other man was charged with obstructing and assaulting a police in the discharge of his duty. He was committed for trial to be tried by a higher court.

"The annual exhibition of flowers and vegetables by the Timmins Horticultural Society on Labour Day Monday of this week in the Timmins skating rink," said the Advance ten years ago. "Was a remarkably good showing and one of the best of publicity possible for this district in regard to horticulture and kindred lines. The rink was very effectively arranged and decorated for the occasion, the planting of evergreen trees in the rink for the occasion being a specially effective touch and the whole exhibition being most creditable to all concerned. There were 787 entries all told; 479 in vegetables and roots; and plants; 294 in vegetables and roots; and 24 in gardens. The exhibits were all of unusually high order."

In the Advance ten years ago: "On Monday of last week the brewery warehouse was entered and robbed, two kegs of beer and fourteen cases of beer being stolen. Through the able work of the police the mystery of the crime was discovered and the two young fellows, each only a little more than sixteen years of age, after being placed under arrest, pleaded guilty here on Tuesday. The two gained admittance to the brewery warehouse by opening the door through the use of an iron bar. Once inside they not only stole beer but they also took other things that struck their fancy. Among the other things taken was a revolver picked up in a desk. This revolver played a very important part in the solution of the case as the young men were traced largely through information built around this revolver. Some of the liquor was found in the possession of the young men. Some of the liquor had been consumed by them and other parts of the stolen beer had been cached in the country near here. These caches had been raided by others before the police found them and the beer was gone. Once the two found they were caught they gave a full account of the robbery of the brewery warehouse to the police and also lent all possible assistance to the law. They went even further than that for they also confessed to a part in the robbery of a store at Connaught where a quantity of cigarettes and other goods were taken."

Among the local items in The Advance ten years ago were: "Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Garland, of Durham, Ont., are visiting Mrs. Garland's sister, Mrs. W. Stanley." "Born-In Timmins, Ont., on Tuesday Sept. 8th, 1931, to Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Lees—a daughter (Elva Marguerite)." "Miss Jean Fitzgerald, registered nurse, left Wednesday morning to join her sister, Mrs. John Bolan, of North Bay, from where they will motor south." "Mrs. T. M. White and little son, Buddy, who have visiting in Timmins for the past month, left on Friday last for the south." "Born --at St. Mary's hospital, Timmins, on Wednesday, Sept. 2nd, 1931, to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Freeman—a son." "Miss Simone Savard, of Timmins, returned Tuesday evening after a week's vacation visiting North Bay and Niagara Falls."

Official Advice in Reference to Wartime Foods Dominion Dept. of Agriculture Gives Timely Assistance.

At the present time, Canadian housewives are asking themselves just what they should be doing about food. It is the harvest season, the season of plenty, and as she stocks her shelves and cupboards she can't help but think of the housewife in England, and wonder just how her sister across the seas can be helped. For this reason, the Consumer Section of the Marketing Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, has prepared the following points on wartime foods, including buying hints and conservation. It is pointed out that these food situations change frequently, and that the announcement of such changes should be looked for.

War-time Foods CEREALS—Cereals are cheap and plentiful: bread, rolled wheat, rolled oats, wheat germ, macaroni. Whole grain cereals are best. CHEESE—Britain needs cheese. Canadians, under the circumstances we can do without. EGGS—Britain takes Canadian eggs in quantity, but there are still plenty

Toronto University Establishes Dept. of Chinese Studies

Bishop W. C. White Named Head of Department.

Establishment of a Department of Chinese Studies at the University of Toronto was announced by President H. J. Cody last night. Further plans were being made to set up an Institute of East Asiatic Studies at the close of the war, he stated. Bishop W. C. White, generally considered the foremost authority in Canada on Chinese culture, has been named Professor of Chinese Studies and Head of the Department by the Board of Governors. Rt. Rev. Dr. White now occupies the positions of Associate Professor of Chinese Archaeology, Keeper of the East Asiatic Collection of the Royal Ontario Museum of Archaeology, Assistant Director of the Museum of Archaeology and Honorary Lecturer in Missions in Trinity College.

Preparatory steps were being taken, Dr. Cody explained, to establish an Honor Course in Chinese, the first two years to cover basic subjects of a general nature and background courses in Chinese subjects, as a foundation for the third and fourth years' intensive studies in Chinese. Arrangements are being made to build up gradually an adequate staff to take care of a curriculum including Chinese language and literature, history and geography, art and archaeology, philosophy, religion and ethics, political science and economics and international relationships.

"The University of Toronto is the only University in Canada in which Chinese studies are being pursued," Dr. Cody stated, "although in the United States most of the larger universities have established departments in Chinese and are steadily developing them. Chinese civilization is the oldest in the world and it is indeed time that China should be given a place in the educational curricula more adequately proportioned to its significance in the world and especially in its potential relationships to Canada."

"For Chinese studies," he pointed out, "the University of Toronto is more favourably equipped than most educational centres, for not only has it the beginnings of a good practical library in the Professor H. H. Mu Chinese Library with its 50,000 volumes, but the Chinese Collection of the Royal Ontario Museum, associated as it is with the University, is probably the most outstanding on the continent for both material and facilities for archaeological and cultural research."

In the University of Toronto lectures in Chinese culture have been given to students in the department of Fine Art in both the first and fourth year courses and the question of similar lectures for the second and third years has been raised. Chinese Studies have been pursued also in the School of Graduate Studies.

for home consumption as well. FATS—Lard is cheap and plentiful. Left-over drippings when clarified also make excellent shortening. FRUIT—Use Canadian fruits. They add variety and health to meals. Use all you can in season. Process them for winter use. FRUIT JUICES—Tomato, rhubarb, cranberry, apple, and grape juices are Canadian grown. MEAT—Britain needs bacon and ham. Eat 50 per cent less and use beef, lamb, veal, poultry, liver and fish. MILK—Can be freely used. SUGAR—There is plenty of sugar at present. VEGETABLES—Use Canadian products in season. Store for winter use. Canned and dehydrated vegetables can be used in winter and are reasonably priced. Pickles and relishes dress up simple meals.

Buying Hints Increase the purchasing power of every dollar: 1. Use Canadian foods in season when they are fresh and most reasonably priced. 2. Buy in as large quantities as can be stored. 3. Bulk foods are usually cheaper than packaged goods, but care in home storage is necessary. 4. Cheaper cuts of meat are as nutritious as steaks and chops; beef and pork liver are good. 5. Certain foods are cheaper at times—fresh fruits in summer, canned in winter. The price of eggs varies with production. 6. Watch war-time markets. Do not use those products Britain needs. The situation changes. 7. Read market reports in local newspapers. 8. Watch for sales, but be sure you are getting good value. 9. Keep nutritional values in mind in making your food purchases. 10. Buy by grade and buy the quality best suited to your needs.

Kapuskasing People Have Four Sons in the Army

Mr. and Mrs. R. Keown, of Kapuskasing, have the distinction of having four sons in the active Canadian Army. Although there are a number of cases with four members of a family on service, it is generally considered as a special distinction, even in a patriotic town like Kapuskasing to have four sons serving in the Fighting Forces. One son, Pte. Calvin Keown has been in England for some time, and has just recovered from an attack of pneumonia contracted while on duty. Two other sons, Privates Allan and H. Keown are with the Algonquins at Camp Shilo, while the fourth son, who recently signed up for service, Pte. Basil Keown, formerly a delivery man for the Kapuskasing Bakery, is at Camp Borden.
