

Two Careless Drivers are Fined Ten Dollars Each in Police Court on Tuesday

Magistrate Doesn't Believe the Stories of Two Men Charged With Driving in a Reckless Manner. Charges Were the Result of Accident Investigations.

Two men faced charges of careless driving in police court this week and after the magistrate heard the evidence of both sides he fined each of the men ten dollars and costs. One of the accidents from which the charges arose happened on the highway and the other happened in Timmins.

A Sauey, 27 Cambrai Avenue, faced one of the charges as a result of an accident at the corner of Cedar street and Kirby Avenue. He handled his own defence and questioned the three crown witnesses and then presented his case. He showed the court a sketch of the accident but the magistrate still couldn't see the evidence heavy enough on the man's side to give him the benefit of the doubt.

Rupert Arno, appeared as the first crown witness and said that before the accident happened he was travelling west on Kirby Avenue with a load of wood on his truck. When he was into the intersection of Kirby Avenue and Cedar Street, he was struck by the car that Sauey was driving, the witness said. The force of the impact turned his truck in the opposite direction and he swore that Sauey had failed to stop at the stop street.

Second witness called to the stand was Mr. Arno's son, Richard, and he had more or less the same story. He added that he first saw the car when it was about half a block away and he said that it was travelling quite fast and had not stopped at the stop street.

Constable Thompson took the stand and said that he had been called to investigate the accident. He produced a sketch to show the position of the cars and said that it would have been impossible for the truck to be turned completely around if Sauey had stopped and started again at the intersection. The accident happened only about twenty feet from where the car had to stop and it would have been impossible for the car to gain enough momentum to turn the truck around in that short distance, was the opinion of the officer.

Sauey explained the matter of turning the car around by saying that it was heavily loaded with wood and that when he hit the front end of the car the truck had pivoted on its own wheels. He said that he had stopped at the stop street and had started again but it was slippery at the spot and all the sudden the wheels of his car found traction and he lurched ahead, striking the truck. He produced a sketch to bear out his argument but the magistrate fined him ten dollars and costs just the same.

Arnold Scharfe, a Timmins miner, also faced a charge of careless driving and he was also assessed ten dollars and costs. He was involved in an accident on the highway. Archie Lamb was the first witness to be called and he said that he had been travelling on the highway when he was just about to pass a parked car. Just as he was passing the parked vehicle, Scharfe started to pass him and in passing, Lamb said that Scharfe had hooked his bumper and rammed his car into the parked machine.

Henry Ladouceur, the driver of the car that was parked on the highway, said that he saw the two cars approaching and felt the bump when the car was rammed into his machine. He said that when he saw the cars coming, he thought that Lamb's car was in front.

Scharfe then took the stand for himself and said that he had hooked the bumper of the other car when the other car had tried to pass him. The magistrate reminded him that the other witnesses had sworn that his car was in the rear and that he was trying to pass but he maintained that he was in front and that Lamb was the one who had committed the offence. The magistrate didn't agree with his diagnosis of the accident and passed sentence.

Besides openings in the active army there are vacancies in the Reserve battalion of the Algonquin Regiment "D" Company of the regiment is stationed in Timmins and there are openings for about fifty men in the local company.

Timmins Police Charge South End Man Yesterday

Arden Lewis, 81 Golden avenue, will face a charge of being drunk in charge of a car when he appears before Magistrate Atkinson on Monday afternoon. He was apprehended by the Timmins police yesterday afternoon shortly after five when he was involved in a slight accident at the corner of Third Avenue and Pine Street.

Police were right on the spot when the accident happened and they immediately went over to investigate and claim that they found the driver of one of the cars very drunk. Police said that there was very little damage in the accident and that traffic was light at the time. Lewis is a barber by trade. Jim Stewart, a soldier, will face a serious charge before his commanding officer in the near future. He was apprehended by Timmins police on Tuesday morning about one o'clock. At the time of his arrest he was wearing an arm band of the Provost Corps. He was taken to the police station and while there the police learned that he was a member of the Royal Canadian Signal Corps of Camp Borden. The man had no pass or anything that he could identify himself by. He was also in possession of cap badge of the Provost Corps.

The man is still being held at the Timmins jail waiting for an escort to come from Camp Borden to return him to his company where he will probably be paraded before his commanding officer to answer charges. Chief of Police Leo Gagnon, said that the arrest of Lewis was the second of this kind in Timmins. Two trucks were also charged yesterday and one man, Alex Stefanoff, 6 Maple street north, faces a charge of assault causing actual bodily harm. The charge was laid by his wife, who claims that he assaulted her leaving several bruises and marks.

Five Inches of Snow Fell This Morning Early

Weatherman Expects Today's Snow to Turn to Rain or Sleet, Though.

Indications are that this morning's snowfall will turn into sleet before the end of the day, according to Mr. S. Wheeler, the Hollinger weather observer. A total of five inches of snow fell this morning and at eight o'clock the temperature was twenty-six degrees. Mr. Wheeler said that he expects the weather to turn mild and the snow will probably turn to rain or sleet. Since last Saturday a total of thirteen inches of snow has fallen in Timmins and the temperature has kept around the zero mark except today when it took a jump ahead. Saturday three inches of snow fell. Another two inches fell on Sunday and one inch fell on Monday. Tuesday's snowfall amounted to two inches.

Temperatures for the past week were: Thursday, max. 3, min. 6 below; Friday, max. 8, min. 5 below; Saturday, max. 16, min. 5; Sunday, max. 16, min. 7; Monday, max. 24, min. 16; Tuesday, max. 26, min. 3 below; Wednesday, max. 26, min. 4 below; this morning at eight o'clock, 26 degrees. The weather for today and tomorrow is expected to be mostly cloudy and milder with a possibility that the snow will turn to rain or sleet. It will probably clear up for the week-end, however.
