

Dome-Ankerite Game Ends In Free-for-All

Entry List of Fifty Rinks in McIntyre Curling Trophy Competition Now in Progress

Big Trophy is Up for Third Time. Won Last Year by Jack Gauthier's Rink and Won the First Year by L. Redford's Rink. Personnel of Rinks Competing.

An even fifty rinks have entered the big McIntyre Trophy Curling Competition that is being played at the McIntyre Curling Club this week. It was expected that a large number of entries would be received and the rink officials were well prepared to meet this difficulty and made the draw early and got the curling started on Monday afternoon.

Winners of the event will be the possessors of the beautiful McIntyre Trophy for the next year. Last year the trophy was won by the rink skippered by Jack Gauthier while the year before, the first year the trophy was up for competition, it was won by L. Redford.

Both Redford and Gauthier have rinks in the competition again this year and both are eager to be the first to make it a double win. Competition is expected to be very keen throughout the entire event.

The following are the rinks in the competition. The name of the skip is given first, then follows vice-skip, second and lead, in each case.

Day Shift
G. Mihm, skip; J. Taylor, vice-skip; N. A. Auger, second; E. Duxfield, lead. T. Tod, H. Mackey, F. Nelson, M. Cavanagh. A. Fulton, W. Hannigan, G. Byers, F. Klisanich.

W. C. Arnott, P. J. Dunlop, F. W. Skene, F. Stonehouse. W. Rinn, C. Kennedy, F. H. Bailey, C. Browncombe. W. R. Lafferty, R. K. Kilborn, F. Furlong, G. W. Prout. J. R. Hall, D. McNabb, C. Abrams, Rev. N. Healey. Dr. O. Stahl, J. Collins, A. Skelly, R. Crinklaw. A. P. McDowell, J. Dalton Jr., Dr. Dupuis, R. Boutet. Dr. R. P. Smith, F. Dafeo, S. MacMillan, R. Sullivan. J. M. Seubert, C. Davies, M. K. Smith, Dr. G. Armitage. T. E. Newkirk, W. P. Byron, W. Willis, H. E. Straford. M. E. Welt, R. Stewart, A. Watkins, L. Cooper. G. C. Wood, B. M. Robinson, A. Fortier, W. MacElwee. W. D. Ferguson, W. B. Sparks, Dr. J. Stiles, C. Lafferty. R. Fleming, L. Difant, R. McAdam, W. Avery. E. Olive, N. D. Adams, L. Kelly, A. Parliament. D. Clutchey, H. Moscoe, J. D. Brady, R. Thompkins. R. E. Heath, W. Small, W. Firth, J. Amos. J. P. Dick, J. F. Miller, L. Thomas, C. Boland. M. MacMillan, G. Webber, M. Cybulski, J. E. Brunette. J. L. Fulton, W. J. Doyle, F. Bramner, F. Corris. A. Hays, S. Platus, F. Evans, E. W. Gagan. A. E. Lake, G. L. Chenier, H. Leng, D. Sutherland. W. Jamelson, A. W. Jacob, H. J. O'Neil, I. Fraser. S. R. McCoy, J. Skelly, J. A. Elliot, H. Beck. W. H. Burnes, P. Jenney, S. Salminen, B. Thompson. Dr. H. Hudson, S. Shippam, F. A. Kelley, M. W. Adam. T. Searle, M. Collins, C. Desaulniers, G. E. Stewart. D. Prior, G. R. White, A. Armani, G. Gordon. L. Redford, O. Atkins, E. Monaghan, J. E. LaCourciere. R. Stecki, D. Fitzjohn, N. Cousineau, F. H. Bowman. J. T. Gauthier, Gilly Chenier, C. W. McDonald, T. Clarke. K. Eyre, R. Asselstine, Dr. J. Scholes, A. Fournier. J. S. Kitchen, H. Wheaton, T. E. Roberts, Dr. A. C. McKenna. I. A. Solomon, H. P. Cybulski, J. Connell, I. Rosner. A. Carson, J. D. Sutherland, B. Eyoftson, N. Ward.

Internationals Take Over Lead in Dart League

Wanderers Drop Two Points to Leave Internationals Alone at Top of Standing.

Marcel Diemer's International team has taken over the lead in the Timmins Dart League with a record of three wins, two ties and no losses. This strong team has been going well since the start of play for the Maitais Cup and will no doubt have a lot to say for itself before the issue is decided. During the past week they took two points from Goldbelt, who were the league leaders at the time and on Monday night they split with the United who were at the bottom of the heap.

Henri Morin and his Wanderers were at the top for a while but on Monday night they dropped to second place after being tied with the Internationals when they dropped two points to the Seven Up team. Imperials and Algoma held their positions in third place when they missed playing their games on Monday night. Each of these teams has a chance to catch the leaders by taking two points.

Seven Up took over fifth place from the O'Keefes' team on Monday while the O'Keefes' team was idle. Goldbelt also sneaked ahead of the O'Keefes, entry as they took a couple of points from the Legionaires.

St. Johns improved their position by going ahead of Legionaires and O.V.C.s while the United left the bottom spot to the White Labels. Uniteds took a point from the strong International team to get out of the cellar.

The scores for Friday and Monday and the present standing is as follows:
Friday, January 9th
Imperials 1, O.V.C. 1
Wanderers 2, White Labels 0
O'Keefes 1, Legionaires 1
St. Johns 1, Algoma 1
International 2, Goldbelt 0

Printers Still Leading in the Commercial Loop

The Advance bowling team rolled right along at the same pace as they have been travelling all season again on Monday night as they swept two points from the T. & N. O. team with a weakened team. Tommy Bonnah, the main reason for the team winning the first half, was missing from the line-up but in spite of this handicap the printers took the two points. None of their scores were outstanding and they were lucky to sneak out the pair of points with a grand total of only twenty-four hundred for their three games. Gambles took the two points from the Power entry to tie the rail-rollers for second place.

Davidson led the printers to their first point in the game when he turned in a score of 217 to top the sheet. Pirie's 209 offset the 209 turned in by Pritchard of the rail-rollers and the printers won by seventy-two pins. The rail-rollers lashed back in the second game when they turned in two fine scores of 249 for Fleming and an even 200 for Armstrong. Hornby's 218 helped the printers but Davidson's 81 clinched the verdict for the rail-rollers. Pirie rolled 226 and Alton turned in a 221 in the last game to give the printers their second point. Fleming with 235 and Armstrong with 228 were the best rail-rollers had to offer but the other three small scores kept them below the printers.

Johnny Moss and Jack Gagnon turned in games of 222 and 200 for Gambles as they took the first point from the Power boys. The Power's only threatening score was 227 rolled by Dawson. In the second game Gambles turned the heat on full blast to take the verdict by 203 pins. Nicolson led the parade with a score of 290, while Lambert had 225 and Gagnon 219. Nicolson's Power score topped two hundred. In the final game the electricians were getting the range and they trimmed the frusters by twenty-four pins. Salomaa led with 246 and Doner turned in a 210 count while Towers rolled 291. Gambles had two scores over two hundred but they still finished on the small end of the total. Johnny Moss rolled 226 while Lambert scored a 210 count.

The honour roll was: Nicolson 666, Lambert 632, Armstrong 609, Salomaa 605.
The standing is: The Advance 5, T. & N. O. 3, Gambles 3, Power 1.
The scores were:
T. & N. O.
C. Armstrong 181 200 228 609
E. Fleming 111 249 235 595
S. Pritchard 209 197 128 534
J. Toal 139 141 129 409
J. Doe 144 81 122 347
Total 784 858 842 2494
F. Hornby 150 218 182 540
W. Dunn 138 182 146 466

McIntyre Trophy Draw for To-day, Saturday, Sunday

Also Draw for Night Shift at Four O'clock To-morrow Morning.

The draw for games in the McIntyre Trophy curling competition now in progress at the McIntyre Curling Club was released this week and the draw for today, Saturday and Sunday follows:

THE MCINTYRE TROPHY—DAY SHIFT
Thursday, Jan. 15, 1942—4:30 p.m.
Ice No. 3—J. L. Fulton vs A. E. Lake.
Ice No. 1—R. Stecki vs T. Searle.
Thursday, Jan. 15, 1942—6:30 p.m.
Ice No. 3—T. W. Tod vs W. C. Arnott.
Ice No. 2—M. E. Welt vs R. Fleming.
Ice No. 6—M. MacMillan vs A. Hays.
Ice No. 1—L. Redford vs D. Prior.
Thursday, Jan. 15, 1942—8:30 p.m.
Ice No. 2—Dr. O. Stahl vs J. R. Hall.
Ice No. 5—J. M. Seubert vs Dr. R. P. Smith.
Ice No. 1—W. D. Ferguson vs C. C. Wood.
Ice No. 4—S. R. McCoy vs W. H. Burnes.
Ice No. 3—G. S. Drew vs J. J. Dutton.
Saturday, Jan. 16, 1942—4:30 p.m.
Ice No. 5—E. Newkirk vs A. F. McDowell.
Ice No. 4—M. MacMillan vs A. E. Lake.
Ice No. 3—J. T. Gauthier vs K. Eyre.
Ice No. 6—W. R. Rinn vs J. R. Hall.
Saturday, Jan. 16, 1942—6:30 p.m.
Ice No. 4—W. S. Jamieson vs Dr. H. Hudson.
Ice No. 2—A. G. Carson vs A. W. Pickering.
Ice No. 5—J. E. Kitchen vs I. A. Solomon.
Sunday, Jan. 17, 1942—3:00 p.m.
Ice No. 4—A. Fulton vs W. C. Arnott.
Ice No. 5—Dr. O. Stahl vs W. R. Lafferty.
Sunday, Jan. 17, 1942—4:00 p.m.
Ice No. 4—J. T. Gauthier vs J. S. Kitchen.
Ice No. 2—K. Eyre vs I. A. Solomon.
Ice No. 6—J. M. Seubert vs T. E. Newkirk.

Penalty Shot Sets Up the Tying Goal in Overtime of Friday Night's Game

Ankerite Squeezes Out a 2-2 Tie With Dome When Allen Scores on a Penalty Shot. Game Produced Very Little Good Hockey. Neither Team Could Score Till the Final Period.

Hughie Allen was Ankerite's fair-haired boy on Friday night of last week as he scored a goal on a penalty shot to give the Bisons a tie with the Dome in a regular league game at the McIntyre Arena. Dome had come from behind to tie the score at 1-1 and send the game into overtime and then had scored their second goal after a 15-minute intermission. The penalty shot was awarded to Ankerite when Bill Maki tripped Allen as he speeded in towards the goal.

Awarding the penalty shot to the Bisons was a heart-breaker to the Dome who had put up a nice fight all night. It was the second time that Kemp had been called upon to stop a penalty shot. He had previously stopped one that Ossie Carnegie took but Allen's shot hit the top crossbar and bounced down into the net.

Neither team was able to score in the first or second periods as the defence on both teams closed up tight and refused to allow a decent shot on goal. The Dome's defence of Allard and Linton especially played a splendid game, bouncing everything that came their way. Four penalties were handed out in the first two periods but neither team could show any kind of a power attack.

In the third period Kemp tossed the rubber into the crowd early in the session and the Ankerite was awarded a penalty shot. Carnegie took it but got tangled up near the blue line and made a mess of the shot. With the period about eight minutes old, Hughie Allen scored on a power attack when he took a pass from Jack Young. Dome were two men short at the time and the Bisons were one man short.

About four minutes later Normie Woon slapped in a pass from Bill Maki to tie up the game. It was a nice play and it took place during a power attack. McIntyre had just been chased for tripping Linton.

The overtime had just got well started when the Dome rapped in their last goal and what looked like the winning marker. Bill Maki scored on a pass from Les Nevins. Brownlee was flat on the ice and didn't have a chance to stop the rubber as Maki flipped it over him. Three minutes later Allen did his last bit of work as he scored the penalty shot. Three penalties in the overtime gave each team a good chance to score but neither of them could dent the twine with the winning marker.

Dome: goal, Kemp; defence, Allard, Linton; centre, Maki; forwards, Nevins, Woon; alternates, Murdoch, Bruce, McGinn, Myles, Lever.
Ankerite: goal, Brownlee; defence, Bob Young, Morris; centre, Jack Young; forwards, Cloutier, Allen; alternates, McIntyre, Ladds, O. Carnegie, McCann, Hebert, Lahti.
Referees: Pete Ullman, Jack Wilder.
Scoring — First Period
No scoring.
Penalties: Linton, Myles, Maki.
Second Period
No scoring.
Penalties: McIntyre.
Third Period
1. Ankerite, Allen (Jack Young) 8:14
2. Dome, Woon (Maki) 12:37
Penalties: Allard 2, Carnegie, O'Mara, Linton, McIntyre 2, Bruce.
Overtime
3. Dome, Maki (Nevins) 2:50
4. Ankerite, Allen 5:10
Penalties: Hebert, McIntyre, Allard, Woon.

McIntyre Trophy Draw for To-day, Saturday, Sunday

Also Draw for Night Shift at Four O'clock To-morrow Morning.

The draw for games in the McIntyre Trophy curling competition now in progress at the McIntyre Curling Club was released this week and the draw for today, Saturday and Sunday follows:

THE MCINTYRE TROPHY—DAY SHIFT
Thursday, Jan. 15, 1942—4:30 p.m.
Ice No. 3—J. L. Fulton vs A. E. Lake.
Ice No. 1—R. Stecki vs T. Searle.
Thursday, Jan. 15, 1942—6:30 p.m.
Ice No. 3—T. W. Tod vs W. C. Arnott.
Ice No. 2—M. E. Welt vs R. Fleming.
Ice No. 6—M. MacMillan vs A. Hays.
Ice No. 1—L. Redford vs D. Prior.
Thursday, Jan. 15, 1942—8:30 p.m.
Ice No. 2—Dr. O. Stahl vs J. R. Hall.
Ice No. 5—J. M. Seubert vs Dr. R. P. Smith.
Ice No. 1—W. D. Ferguson vs C. C. Wood.
Ice No. 4—S. R. McCoy vs W. H. Burnes.
Ice No. 3—G. S. Drew vs J. J. Dutton.
Saturday, Jan. 16, 1942—4:30 p.m.
Ice No. 5—E. Newkirk vs A. F. McDowell.
Ice No. 4—M. MacMillan vs A. E. Lake.
Ice No. 3—J. T. Gauthier vs K. Eyre.
Ice No. 6—W. R. Rinn vs J. R. Hall.
Saturday, Jan. 16, 1942—6:30 p.m.
Ice No. 4—W. S. Jamieson vs Dr. H. Hudson.
Ice No. 2—A. G. Carson vs A. W. Pickering.
Ice No. 5—J. E. Kitchen vs I. A. Solomon.
Sunday, Jan. 17, 1942—3:00 p.m.
Ice No. 4—A. Fulton vs W. C. Arnott.
Ice No. 5—Dr. O. Stahl vs W. R. Lafferty.
Sunday, Jan. 17, 1942—4:00 p.m.
Ice No. 4—J. T. Gauthier vs J. S. Kitchen.
Ice No. 2—K. Eyre vs I. A. Solomon.
Ice No. 6—J. M. Seubert vs T. E. Newkirk.

Senior N.O.H.A. League Standing

Team	W	L	T	P
Ankerite	13	3	3	18
Hollinger	13	7	5	15
McIntyre	13	5	7	12
Dome	13	3	9	17

Games Played Last Week
Friday, January 9th, Dome 2, Ankerite 2.
Monday, January 12th, McIntyre 4, Hollinger 3.
Wednesday, January 14th, Ankerite 5, Dome 3.

Coming Games
Friday, January 16th, Hollinger at McIntyre.
Monday, January 19th, Hollinger at Ankerite.
Wednesday, January 21st, McIntyre at Dome.

Nevins and Hebert Touch Off Powder Keg Just After Final Bell. Spectators Also Fight

Ice is Cluttered with Would-be Battlers as Game Ends. Nevins and Hebert Had Tried to Start Trouble Earlier in the Game. Spectators Climb Over Boards to Get Into the Scrap.

The game at the Porcupine Arena last night between Ankerite and Dome ended in a free-for-all on the ice between players of both teams and a large number of spectators climbing over the boards to get into the scrap. The Dome team lost the game by a five to three score and just after the bell rang to end the game Hebert and Nevins met in centre ice and took up their scrap that they had started early in the third period. It wasn't long before the rest of the players got into the fight, and then the crowd started to surge over the boards and they got into it. Even Bill Maki, who has been keeping wonderful control over his temper this year, got mixed up in it and after he started there were plenty of those on the ice that felt the sting of his punches.

It took the referees more than fifteen minutes to stop the massacre and eventually get the players to their dressing rooms. Nobody seems to know just why the fight started but there wasn't any doubt as to the fight getting started. Some of the spectators were already on their way out and turned back to see the finish.

The game produced very little good hockey, the only good hockey being shown came in short bursts and when either team decided to settle down and play hockey they usually scored. Dome took the lead early in the game but before the first period had ended the Herd was ahead and from then till the end of the game they were never headed.

Norm Woon pumped in the first counter about three-quarters of the way through the first period when he took a lovely pass from Bill Maki at the blue line and shot a backhand drive past Brownlee. It was one of the nicest plays of the night and was typical of the play that the Dome front line has been pulling on lately.

Kemp looked bad on the first Ankerite goal when Lahti took a shot from away off to the side and the rubber got through Kemp's legs to settle into the twine. Four minutes later Cloutier scored when he took a shot and Kemp stopped it only to have it drop near the goal mouth. Cloutier skated in and flipped the rubber into the net.

Ankerite scored a fast goal past Kemp in the first forty-seven seconds of the game. Cloutier was the marksman. About halfway through Hughie Allen made it four for the Herd when he drilled a hard shot past Kemp. With four minutes left to play Les Nevins scored a goal on a pass from Maki. This goal was disputed but the referees allowed it.

The third period was more than three-quarters gone before any scoring.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

When Raven Sherman, platinum-haired heiress in Milton Caniff's comic strip, Terry and the Pirates, met an untimely death, thousands of the strip's fans registered their sentiments by telephone calls, telegrams, sympathy cards, quotations from the Scriptures, and even flowers. A New York newspaper, deluged with tearful and angry protests, devoted an entire letter department to them. A Chicago bowling team wore mourning bands and a small boy in Dayton, Ohio, tending a cigar box, received contributions to defray the funeral expenses.

Bowl For Fun

It's Good Exercise Too For Young and Old

EMPIRE BOWLING ACADEMY

11 Balsam South Phone 2145

Clutchey's Rink Wins Special Events Prize

D. Clutchey's rink was declared the winner in the Special Events' curling competition concluded at the McIntyre Curling Club last week. In the Sunday afternoon finals Clutchey's rink came through with a total of eighteen points in three four-end games to clinch the competition.

Jack Fulton's rink fought hard all the way through the competition and finished up three points back of the winning rink with fifteen points. E. Dixon and H. Hudson were tied for third place with fourteen points each while the other finalists finished in the following order: W. Rinn 12; W. D. Ferguson 9; J. Collins 5; T. Searle 4.

KNOW HOW SHE FELT

The new Swedish cook, who had come into the household during the holidays, asked her mistress:

"Where bane your son? I not see hem 'round no more."

Mistress proudly: "My son? Oh he has gone back to Yale. I miss him dreadfully though."

Swedish cook: "Yes I know yooost how yo feel. My brother, he bane in yall six times since Thanksgiving."

—Reader's Digest

Senior N.O.H.A. League Standing

Team	W	L	T	P
Ankerite	13	3	3	18
Hollinger	13	7	5	15
McIntyre	13	5	7	12
Dome	13	3	9	17

Games Played Last Week
Friday, January 9th, Dome 2, Ankerite 2.
Monday, January 12th, McIntyre 4, Hollinger 3.
Wednesday, January 14th, Ankerite 5, Dome 3.

Coming Games
Friday, January 16th, Hollinger at McIntyre.
Monday, January 19th, Hollinger at Ankerite.
Wednesday, January 21st, McIntyre at Dome.

McIntyre Miners Trim the Hollinger Green-shirts to Keep Ankerite in the Lead

Drummond Scores Winning Goal in Overtime. Hollinger Players Argue that Puck was Deflected into Net off His Skate. Game Was Rough and Thrilling.

The McIntyre Miners turned back a strong Hollinger threat on Monday night when they defeated the highly-rated Hollinger Green-shirts 5-4 after ten minutes overtime. The winning goal was disputed but the referees allowed it