Hail "Go West, Young Lady" as Musical With Lots of Oomph

On Big Double-Feature Programme With "The Devil Pays Off."

Seven hit tunes, each capturing the haunting sweetness or light-hearted gaiety of range rhythm are heard in Columbia's "Go West, Young Lady," new musical with oomph at the Goldfields Theatre. The film, featuring Penny Singleton, Glenn Ford and Ann Miller, also has Charlie Ruggles and Allen Jenkins in its comedy cast.

Six of the songs, penned by Sammy Cahn and Saul Chaplin, are sung by the Misses Singleton and Miller both of whom starred in musical comedies on Broadway. Their numbers are "Doggie, Take Your Time," "Gentlemen Don't Prefer a Lady," "I Wish That I Could Be a Singing Cowboy," "Rise to Arms," "Somewhere Along the Trail" and "Go West, Young Lady." In addition both Miss Miller and Miss Singleton dance and clown their way through the Cahn-Chaplin compositions.

"Ida Red" seventh of the musical routines in "Go West, Young Lady" is introduced by Bob Willis and His Texas Playboys, a hill-billy band exceedingly popular on the airwaves in the southwest. The Poursome, another radio favorite, also is heard in "Go West, Young Lady," which was directed by Frank R. Trayer and produced by Robert Sparks.

"Go West, Young Lady" is on the double feature programme at the Goldfields, starting last night and playing to-night (Thursday) and Friday, March 11th, 12th and 13th.

The other picture on the double feature programme is "The Devil Pays Off" with William Wright, Margaret Tallichet, Oss Massen and J. Edward Bromberg. A swift-paced, streamlined drama of intrigue and espionage, it deals with the attempts of an unscrupulous shipping magnate to turn his vessels over to an unfriendly foreign power, and the counteracting efforts of a young naval intelligence officer to prevent his so doing.

Lana Turner and Clark Gable in New Film, "Honky Tonk"

"Honky Tonk" is on the double feature programme at the Cartier Friday and Saturday of this week, March 13th and 14th. The other feature is "All-American Co-Ed," with Frances Langford and Johnny Downs.

Here is one review of "Honky Tonk": "When Gable kissed Turner the first time in "Honky Tonk," the audible sighs emitted from the mouths of envious maidens in the audience at Lowe's, Toronto, sounded almost like Niagara Falls from a distance of a few feet. That was evidence enough that a new star team had been born. Picture is rough, tough and sexy, and certainly isn't for juvenile consumption, but boy-oh-boy will the adults eat it up. It should be just about the biggest grosser on the Metro list this season.

Film opens with confidence men Clark Gable and his pal Chill Willis, barely escaping being run out of town on a rail. Gable declares he is fed up with being run out of towns for cheating at cards, etc., and is going to find a town which he will run, instead of it running him. . . out. They land in Yellow Creek, Nevada, but in the meantime Gable has met Lana Turner, also a passenger on the train. He has made his play, but has been politely put in his place. In Yellow Creek Gable meets Lana's father Frank Moran, justice of the peace, and believed by his daughter to be highly respectable, but known by Gable to be another confidence man. Gable saves Moran from a tight spot, but in doing so tangles with Albert Decker, who is top man in Yellow Creek. After the engagement Decker is no longer top man.

"Gable decides this is the town he has been looking for, and goes to work on it. He opens a saloon and gambles ing casino in opposition to Decker's and by running his games straight (the percentage is always with the house anyway), he makes a success of it. In the meantime, he continues his pursuit of Lana. Of course, he is not a marrying man, and his intentions are strictly dishonest, but Lana crosses him up by getting him drunk, and married. After the marriage, Gable continues to acquire power and wealth, chiefly by graft and other dishonest methods. Frank Morgan opposed to Gable's marriage to his daughter, sides with the townspeople when they finally rebel against Gable and his gang's graft. Morgan is killed, and Gable once more leaves town in a hurry, but this time, he is followed by Lana, and this usual happy ending.

The cast is terrific with Clark Gable, Lana Turner, Claire Trevor, Marjorie Main, Albert Decker, Chill Willis and the others all registering 100%.

Real Fighting Men in "49th Parallel"

Men Who Took Part in Making of Picture Now Widely Scattered in War Effort

Britain's active service forces provided most of the technicians, executioners and performers in the motion picture expedition to Canada a year ago to film "49th Parallel," the war picture which has been hailed by London critics as the best film of the year and has upheld their reviews by establishing new attendance records for every theatre it has played in England. The picture, one of Columbia's major 1942 offerings, will be seen at the Palace Theatre, Sunday midnight, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, March 16th, 17th, 18th and 19th.

Scattered now all over the Empire where war has sent Britons, members of that party are busy fighting democracy's battles. The story is told in letters received by Canadians who became fast friends of many of the members of the group.

Lawrence Olivier writes from the Fleet Air Arm, and humorously remarks he is the only man who ever died the same day he passed his medical for active service—he plays the role of a French-Canadian trapper who is killed by Nazis. Assistant producer Roland Gillette writes from Devon where he flies in the same service. His co-worker, George Brown, is in the R. A. F.

Osmond Borradaile, cameraman, lies in a Cairo hospital, recovering from serious injuries suffered when his plane was shot down in Libya. Captain Borradaile was head of the R.A.F. aerial photography units in that sphere of action. Dick George who played the part of a Nazi sub-commander is now hunting the kind of subs that appear in the film. Leslie Howard, inviolated in 1917 from the last war, was turned down for this one so works as an official of the Ministry of Information. Niall McGinnis, also a movie Nazi, is a physician of the Medical Corps.

When Canadians see "49th Parallel" they see men in action who now are fighting for Britain in the Far East, Africa and Britain. The film, released by Columbia is at the Palace theatre from Sunday midnight to Thursday of next week.

Mattawa Pioneer Passes on Sunday

Death of George Louis Lamothé, Well Known in the North.

Mattawa, March 11—The death of one of Northern Ontario's best known pioneer citizens occurred Sunday evening, with the passing of George Louis Lamothé, in Mattawa General Hospital.

Fifty-eight years ago, the late Mr. Lamothé came to Mattawa where he was captain of the first boat to run between Mattawa and Temiskaming on the Ottawa River. A member of the town council from 1898 to 1933, he was the mayor for many years and was also Justice of the Peace. He was one of the first presidents of the Liberal Association when it was organized in this district. During his lifetime, Mr. Lamothé worked as an operator for the Canadian Pacific Railway at Bonfield, and for many years he was known as a merchant and bakeshop proprietor in Mattawa.

Funeral on Wednesday
Funeral services will be held (Wednesday) morning at 10 o'clock from the family residence to the Roman Catholic Church. Rev. J. N. Duquette officiated and interment was made in the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

Born in Sutton, Quebec, in 1864, the late Mr. Lamothé worked in Actonville before coming to Mattawa. He was married in 1884 to the former Miss C. Genevieve, who predeceased him in 1927.

For 58 years a resident of Mattawa, Mr. Lamothé was known throughout the North Country. In poor health for the past year, he suffered a stroke two months ago, and was moved to the hospital where he succumbed Sunday evening.

Surviving him are five children, George E. Lamothé, Mattawa; Mrs. E. J. Rapsey, South Porcupine; Mrs. M. Bessette, South Porcupine; Charles Lamothé, South Porcupine, and Phil Lamothé, North Bay. Twenty grandchildren and two great-grandchildren also survive.

Sudbury Police Did All Possible to Solve Case

Labour men in Timmins and Hamilton having called the attention of the Attorney-General to the case at Sudbury where the C. I. O. office was wrecked and two officials beaten up, thorough investigation was ordered. Inspector Loughheed reported to the Attorney-General that the Sudbury police did all possible to bring the guilty parties to justice, but were handicapped by the C. I. O. officials who withheld vital information. Although promising to give further information the officials left the city without doing so or without laying charges, though they told police that they knew the guilty parties. The police had not sufficient evidence to present any case in court. The whole procedure suggests the plausibility of the theory of the police at the start that the whole affair was a game arranged to win sympathy for the C. I. O. officials. The officials left the city without cleaning up the mess into which the C. I. O. office was thrown, furniture being broken and thrown around and documents and books scattered all over.

One of the Absurdities of Gasoline Rationing

In his column in the Toronto Telegram, Thomas Richard Henry touches on one of the absurdities of the present plan of gasoline rationing. There are other inequalities and injustices which may be ironed out as the facts become apparent. Here is the one case, as Thomas Richard Henry details it:—

Two Car People
"Mother of Five" writes
"My husband is a Scot and loathes publicity—also he is well known in Toronto, so for the first time in my life I'm writing an anonymous letter! Now, here's my story:

"The first week the Government called for voluntary reduction in the use of gasoline we sold our big car and only kept the little one. Now what has happened! I bought my Class 'A' ration book, allowing 60 gallons of gasoline a year for the use of a family of seven people. But next me in line was a friend who has four cars for her own use. She told me quite frankly that she would be able to use a different car each day—and that the Government must approve or they wouldn't sell her four ration books! And she is only one of many I know.

"Later I asked the Motor League 'How about it?' and was referred to the Oil Controller's office.

"I went there this morning and asked them, 'Have you enough gasoline to supply a book for each car in existence in Toronto—so that it is right for me to go and buy one or more additional cars?' The man I saw said, 'You can have a book for every car you own indefinitely, but one should save gas from patriotic motives.' I said, 'I certainly agree, but the Government that allows gas for four cars for one woman's use is really saying, 'We have plenty of gas.'

"Now I can well afford to buy another car or two but it does seem to me that it is not fair to the general public for the Government to officially ration gasoline on the basis of how many cars can you afford to buy."

Going Back to His Own Profession After the War

An instance of the Old Land's "All-Out" war effort is suggested by the case of "Sammy," as he is known, and calls himself, "Sammy" says that he was the best burglar in London before the war, but that he felt he had to drop his "profession" for the duration and do his bit for King and Country. He is a stoker in a merchant ship and has won the praise of the crew as an honest and fearless worker. Asked how he liked the work, "Sammy" said that he didn't like it at all but that everybody had to do their part in the "present dirty mess" in the world. He says he is going back to his own profession after Hitler is trimmed.

Exchange—This is certainly a war of liberation. Many people have been liberated from the making of future auto instalment notes.

TEN YEARS AGO IN TIMMINS

From data in the Porcupine Advance Files

In The Advance ten years ago: "The Timmins Gold Diggers, or Huskies, champions of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association, left yesterday (Wednesday) at noon for Toronto in their first step after Canadian amateur hockey honours. There was a large crowd at the T. & N. O. station, despite the stormy day, to wish the boys the best of luck on this, the first visit of a Timmins hockey team to the Queen City. The team arrived in Toronto this (Thursday) morning, a work-out will be arranged for them sometime during the day in the Maple Leaf Arena where the N. O. H. A. champions will meet the O. H. A. champions. Arrangements are also being made to have a short work-out on Friday, if at all possible."

"Considering the amount of purchasing done through the transient peddler in this district, these peddlers paying no license or tax to the town or municipality and in no way helping the municipality or its people," said The Advance ten years ago. "The Kiwanis Club of Timmins is inaugurating a campaign to encourage the public of Timmins and district to purchase at home thus making it possible for more employment through the increased purchasing and keeping money in circulation in the district. By the plan adopted by the Kiwanis Club it is hoped that merchants will be able to stimulate and create enthusiasm in their locality by offering special sales to the public and also increasing bonuses to the employees as well as the employment of extra help."

Timmins had been singularly free from epidemics of contagious diseases and the credit for this was given to the good work of the board of health, the doctors in general and the medical health officer in particular, ten years ago. It was pointed out, however, that the public must also give full support and co-operation for the best results. Through the activity and advice of Dr. H. H. Moore, medical health officer, this town was fairly free from chance of any smallpox epidemic. By the work carried on in immunization against diphtheria, Timmins was in little danger of any outbreak of that disease. "The town could be in the same happy position in regard to all other communicable diseases if all co-operated to this end along the lines suggested by the medical health officer," said The Advance at the time.

In The Advance ten years ago: — "Last week bills were distributed around town urging the workers to get out on the streets on some sort of "hunger" demonstration, as well as announcing a meeting of unemployed workers to be held at the Finn hall here at 2 p. m. on Thursday. The bills suggested another of those "fool parades" as Mayor Drew aptly termed them and the police visited the Finn hall informing the leaders of the aliens there that no permission had been asked for that parade, and that consequently any parade, held would be unlawful and all in it would be liable to arrest. Recently there have been persistent rumors of illegals planned by the paraders and the police were prepared for any eventualities. At three o'clock the paraders, who had assembled in the Finn hall, marched out on the street with banners and placards. The police were prepared to deal with such a situation and the paraders had only gone a few hundred yards when the police cars overtook and passed the parade. The police poured out of the cars and ordered the parade to stop and disperse. Most of those in the parade immediately started to run when the police arrived, banners being dropped and all haste made to get away. Three of the leaders were picked up and the parade broke in disorder."

At the Ontario Legislature ten years ago the Northern Development bill for $5,000,000.00 for the work in the North was given its second reading. In speaking on behalf of the bill the other Northern Development "Bill," Hon. Wm. Finlayson took occasion to reply to a statement by Earl Hutchison, Labour member for Kenora who had claimed that Manitoba potatoes were being bought for the highway camps. Hon. Mr. Finlayson said that the concern was to the play a short concert was held with the Wilson Thompson Quartette taking the lead.

Local items in The Advance ten years ago included: J. E. Newton, who left recently for a trip to the South, was compelled on account of his health to stay over at Toronto for some days, taking treatment at St. Michael's Hospital there. "Mrs. J. Edwards, of North Bay, was a visitor to Timmins last week the guests of Mrs. R. Richardson." "Born—in Timmins, Ont., on Tuesday, March 8th, 1932, to Mr. and Mrs. Ian Gordon, of Timmins—a son."

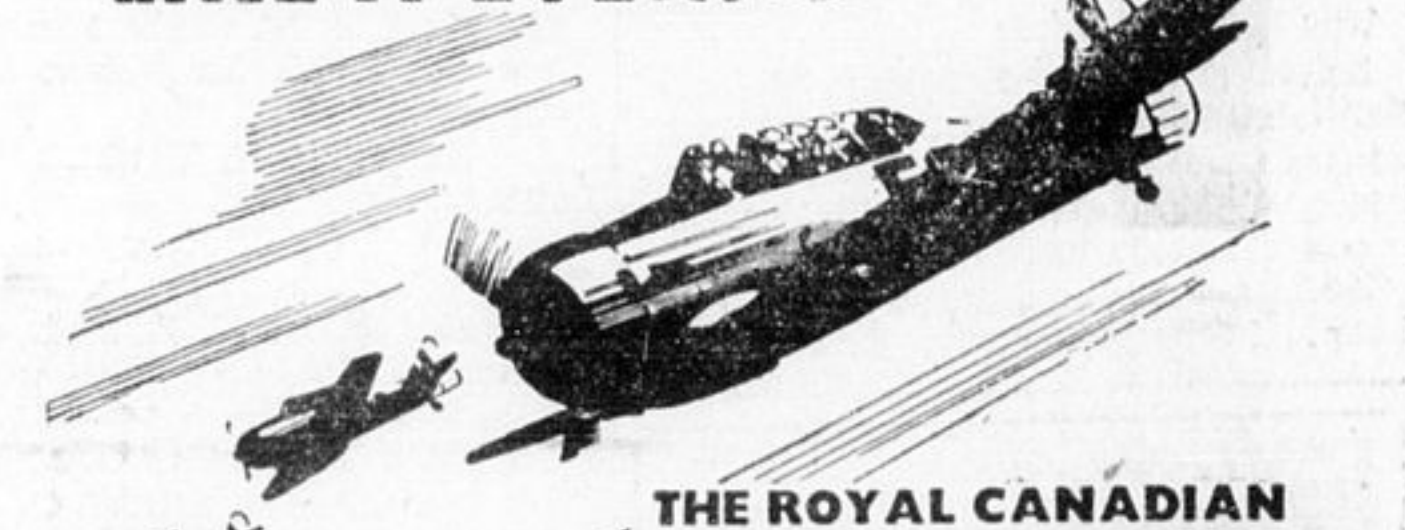

PECULIAR COW
"Oh, what a strange cow!" exclaimed the short-sighted old lady. "But why hasn't it any horns?"

"It's this way," replied the farmer patiently. "Some cows is born without horns and never have any. Some sheds their, and some we dehorn. There's a lot of reasons why some cows don't have horns, but the big reason that cow ain't got horns is because it ain't a cow—it's a horse!"—Kamloops Sentinel.
