South Porcupine to be Canvassed for Salvage Next Week

Other Items of Interest from South Porcupine and the Dome.

South Porcupine, Sept. 3rd. Special to The Advance.

Salvage collection in South Porcupine has not been very active during the past two holiday months. We are told, however, that next Monday the whole town is to be covered by the Rover Scouts and the Boy Scouts. They ask you all to co-operate, and will you please place your collection on the sidewalk in front of your house. No paper or cardboard is needed now, but base metals, rags and of course rubber. In connection with the latter, a story comes to us of two girls—one a Girl Guide, who, while on a fruitless search for berries, travelled on bicycles out beyond the old Beaumont mine. There they came upon a heap of old rubber, thrown out some years ago from the mine buildings. They brought in a sample to a Rover Scout and upon being assured that, although old, the rubber could be used in the war effort, the girls made the long ride back and brought in the pile on their bicycle carriers.

Sometimes our younger generation shames us in the individual effort they make, and the work they do in the drive for Victory. To date our young people have gathered 129452 pounds of salvage.

Yesterday we were given the sum of 50 cents by a lady, who had been asked to do so by a group of small children who had "made" this sum by their own efforts. It was only a small amount they said, but would we give it in for them to the Fund for the British bomb victims. We would, and we did. These children had presented two plays to an enthusiastic audience in the basement of Mrs. Farnen's house on Connaught Hill—(one cent admission); had furthermore entertained proceedings by songs and duets in between acts, and had even given a door-prize as an inducement (won by Clarke Smith). These young people were: Jeanie Farnen, Lydia Barilko and Nina Barilko, Erma Lafurgy and Bill Hill.

South Porcupine Boasts of Several Notable Gardens

Harvest of Table Corn and 'Sand Cherries' Also Mentioned.

South Porcupine, Sept. 3—(Special to The Advance)—After seeing the wonderful horticultural display at the McIntyre Arena many of our townfolk are sorry that they did not enter some of their garden produce for competition and exhibition and are fully determined to try next year should the "show" be a feature.

Gardens in South Porcupine need take second place to none in the North, being given this year a long summer, plenty of sunshine and rain and few frosts. Our Kiwanian Victory Gardens look wonderful at the north end of town, and some of the flower gardens are at their best.

Mr. Bert Longworth, of the Dome, tells us that he has picked 300 cobs of table corn from his Victory patch at the Dome School Gardens, planted from seed in the open, all well-filled perfect ears.

Several other amateur gardeners have corn but Mr. Longworth's seem to be most prolific.

bushes. These bushes are three years old, and last year bore about 20 cherries.

The cherries have been made into delicious jelly with a flavour resembling Old Country blackberries.
