Dome Mines Limited last week-end issued its annual report, for the year ending December 31st, 1942, and despite the many handicaps of wartime, the report shows that the Dome and its subsidiaries have been so well conducted as to offset in some measure the present untoward conditions.

Bound with this report you will find the Annual Report of Sigma Mines (Quebec) Limited. This mine, while suffering from the conditions now confronting all gold mines, is in splendid condition and Sigma shares held by your Company will be a valuable asset for many years to come.

Sigma Mines (Quebec) The annual report of this company is bound with this report. Mr. James G. McCrea, General Manager, Mr. J. B. Redpath, General Superintendent, and their staff deserve credit for the excellent work done.

ENLISTMENTS: at Dome Mines "Well over two hundred employees have joined the armed forces. A few of these men have been discharged for medical reasons but the great majority are on active service and are scattered all over the world.

WAR WORK "This mine, in co-operation with the other mines and machine shops in the district, continued active in this work. The volume of contract work has been increased and at present, we have contracts for many months ahead.

GENERAL "The year 1942 was full of difficulties for operating gold mines. The labour shortage which developed during the year resulted in a sharp reduction in the tonnage treated and in the production of gold.

"The supply situation is getting increasingly difficult. Necessity has driven us to improvise and substitute in many ways not thought possible previously.

It would be well to keep these dates in mind, Monday April 26th, to Saturday, May 15th.

Preliminary arrangements are now well under way for the Cochrane Unit. Elsewhere in this issue will be found details of the organization built up to handle the loans and the sale of war stamps and certificates.

2. Pour into clean, wide-mouthed can. It is best to pour into a wide-mouthed can, such as a coffee or vegetable shortening can. Be sure the can is spotlessly clean. And strain your fat's as you pour them in, so that all foreign matter is removed.

3. Keep in refrigerator or a cool place until the Scouts call for it.

Things Not To Do 1. Don't put your fats in glass containers or paper bags.

2. Don't let fats stand so long that they become rancid. If they do, the glycerine content is reduced.

This Fats Collection is not just a spurt drive. It must be sustained for the duration of the war. Explosives will be needed in increasing quantities by all branches of the Armed Forces of the United Nations as the war spreads and intensifies.

Timmins Boy Scouts to Start Collection of Fats on Saturday of this Week

Forty tons of waste fats is the quota for Timmins this year, and if the Boy Scouts get the right response, they will reach the amount without difficulty.

The whole town has been divided into areas, with two Scouts responsible for each section. Last week the Boy Scouts distributed multigraphed circulars giving particulars as to the collection of fats.

These circulars (in French and English) read as follows: Save Your Fats for Timmins
