

Dropped Between Stitches

By Doris

They say she passed away but I think she died

she was always positive in what she did and I don't think she'd be rid of life so vaguely — passing away on any tide

I'd say she died.

Edna Ford writes this strang stuff, "death tide" and has no capital letters to point out the comparison of this woman who instead of passing away, is firmly positive that she died. . . .

The knitting circle of the Presbyterian church will meet Thursday (tonight), at the home of Mrs. R. Clelland, 41 Montgomery avenue, for their regular knitting meet. . . . All members are asked to take note of this date and attend.

Henry, field secretary of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind in town this week in connection with the campaign, and is accompanied by his daughter, Miss Henry who acts, as his assistant and secretary. . . . Remember the tag day Saturday, also.

Reports from the Arbutus Chapter Order of the Eastern Star, rummage sale, say that the sale was particularly successful on Saturday morning. . . . The sale opened at 9 a.m., in the Masonic Hall, and by 10:30 a.m., practically everything was sold out. . . . Mrs. F. Friends extend congratulations to the lovely bride of yesterday and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Gauthier, who were wed at 8.30 a.m., at Notre Dame De Lourdes Church. . . . The bride is the former Miss Aline Lapalme, one of our local renowned singers, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Laplame, Timmins. . . . Your social correspondent visited the house yesterday, and gazed at all the beautiful gifts the bride received from both the shower and for the wedding. . . . The bride was entertained at a shower Monday evening, where there was 105 guests present, and the gifts she received were breath-taking. . . . Pyrex, beautiful glassware, lovely linens, lamps, were only a few of the presents received. . . . The bride is a very lucky girl and so is her husband, and best wishes are extended to the two.

Monday, June 28th, is the date set for the wedding of Miss Peggy Shaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Shaw, of Timmins, and Mr. Eric Ormston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Ormston, Timmins. . . . The scene of the wedding will be at the First United Church. . . . At present the bride-elect is being well-entertained with showers, having been a guest at one on Monday evening. . . . Here is a novel idea, if you are ever in need of one. . . . The bride was presented with a large watering can, (the gardening type), and hanging from the spout were coloured ribbons, in the appearance of water flowing from the spout, and attached to the ribbons were the assorted gifts. . . . Rather good, eh? . . . We congratulate the hostesses for this brain-wave. . . . An account of the shower appears elsewhere in this issue.

Change in Sleeper Service on T. & N. O. Railway

The T. & N. O. Rly. announces a change in sleeping car services on Trains 47 and 46 effective Sunday May 23rd. The changes referred to are as follows: the sleeper which up to the present has operated Toronto to Timmins on Train 47 will, effective the 23rd, operate to Swastika, only, except on Saturday when it will run through to Timmins.

The sleeper which heretofore operated Timmins to Toronto Train 46 daily except Saturday will operate Swastika to Toronto daily except Saturday. On Sunday this car will operate from Timmins. There will be no change in the sleepers now operated Timmins and Noranda to Toronto on Train 46 from Timmins and Noranda Saturday nor from Toronto to Timmins and Noranda on Train 47 from Toronto Saturday.

The sleeping car service between Noranda and Montreal on Trains 47—48 and 51—46 will be discontinued but through sleeper will be operated daily through Swastika and Montreal on Trains 47 and 46.

The operation to and from Swastika provides over night occupancy. There will be no change at this time in the sleeping car equipment operated on the NORTHLAND. Trains 49 and 59 between Toronto, Timmins and Noranda.

The T. & N. O. Rly. states that these changes have been made necessary in order to make sleeping cars available for other services which must be provided for by the sleeping car companies. It is felt that the general public will readily understand and appreciate the unusual demands to-day for sleeping car equipment due to war conditions.

advantage of 4,000 miles of surfaced roads, 13,000 miles of improved earth roads, and 75,000 miles of other earth roads, and, of course, by far the largest amount of natural gas, coal and petroleum of any of the provinces of the Dominion is produced in Alberta."

Mr. Langdon dealt briefly but effectively with the history of Alberta and the details of its government structure. The province has 6 members in the Senate of Canada and 17 in the House of Commons. The provincial government includes an executive council of eight and a legislative assembly of 63.

"As you know," Mr. Langdon said, "the government of Alberta is a Social Credit Government, and was headed by Honourable William Aberhart, who went into power in 1935 and remained in power from that date until his death on Sunday last. . . . And just at this point may I interject the fact that statistics disclose that ordinary expenditures exceeded ordinary revenues each year from the birth of the province until 1937. Since 1937 the government has finished each year with a surplus of ordinary revenue over ordinary expenditure."

Reference was made to the various pieces of legislation of unusual character passed by the Alberta legislature and coming in conflict with the Lieutenant-Governor, the supreme Court of Canada, or the Dominion Government. In this connection Mr. Langdon said: "But make no mistake about it; the funds still exists between the provincial governments and the Dominion government, and will not end as quickly as the present world conflagration, nor until such time as the people of this Dominion of Canada not only realize that ten forms of government in the Dominion are wholly unnecessary and a wasteful extravagance, and militate against national unity and progress, but take steps as a whole to modernize and streamline the machinery of government. And I can assure you, gentlemen, and I stress the fact that such steps are requisite and necessary before Canada can hope to take advantage of the suggestions contained in the Beveridge Report, and the Marsh plan, and to further the provisions of the Atlantic charter." In concluding his address Mr. Langdon said:—"And at the same time, the position of the province of Alberta is improving steadily. The Alberta farmers enjoyed a cash income last year which was $11,000,000 higher than in 1929 (the banner year) and in addition there is a large quantity of grain in storage on the farms, which though not immediately marketable, has substantial value. Moreover, there has been a great increase in the live stock. Much more important still has been the trend in recent years to greater diversification of production. As a result, Alberta is in a sounder position than ever before. In fact wheat counted for only 24.2 per cent. of total crops in 1942, as compared with 64.9 per cent. in 1929."
