Seven Found-ins Pay $10 and Costs Each on Tuesday

For Illegal Possession of Liquor Occupant of House Taxed $200 and Costs.

At police court this week Albert Trudell pleaded guilty to having beer illegally and was fined $200.00 and costs. Then seven charged as "found-ins" when the police raided the house, each entered pleas of not guilty. They have various excuses for being present in the house when beer was being illegally consumed, but each was required to pay $10.00 and costs. One of them was a girl of seventeen. The house was made public for a year.

John F. Lupien was fined $100.00 and costs for illegal possession of liquor. He had a couple of bottles of whiskey on him when the police picked him up on the street.

There were four cases of dogs at large. One man said that it wasn't his dog. "Were you harbouring it?" asked the magistrate. "Oh yes!" was the answer. "$1.00 and costs was the final reply. Two of the other cases met similar penalty. The other case, that of the wife of a soldier on active service, was remanded till called on, the dog having been disposed of. A vicious dog was ordered to be destroyed.

There was a number of traffic cases. Henri Vachon paid $25 and costs for careless driving. A similar charge cost J. P. Bouvier $10 and costs. Overtime parking cost one lady $1.00 and costs. Making a left-hand turn was a $1 and costs for one motorist.

Three ordinary run of the mill drunks paid $10.00 and costs each.

Some charges in regard to gasoline coupons were remanded for a week, as was also a high-grading charge.

Wilfred Berube for failing to notify the registrar of a change of address was fined $25 and costs or thirty days. He took the time. Peter Kucherawi, on a similar charge, paid the fine.

A charge involving the theft of a suit of clothes was withdrawn and the young man accused made a very speedy exit from the court room.

Ephaim Bellaire, charged with the possession of a stolen radiator cap, had the case against him withdrawn, when he denied the charge and his accuser admitted that the cap was slightly different now from what he had been originally, though he held it could have been altered, but the only sure grounds was that he had for identifying it as his cap that he had only seen one other like it in Timmins. Assistant Crown Attorney Waters agreed that his was not sufficient identification to warrant the charge against Mr. Bellaire.

Armand Porrier and Paul Grant, charged with failing to re-register, were each given a day in jail, and then to be taken under escort to the nearest military recruiting centre.

Monteith Thanks Timmins Legion for Concert Party Sent

Artists at Legion Carnival Made Big Hit with Veterans at Monteith.

The following two letters from Monteith will be read with much interest, expressing as they do the appreciation felt by the Veteran Guards at Monteith for the recent visit to that Camp of the concert party appearing at the Legion Carnival:

Monteith, June 24th, 1943
President Canadian Legion Timmins, Ont.

Dear Sir:—I cannot let the opportunity go by without thanking the Canadian Legion Branch at Timmins, officially, for their wonderful gesture to us yesterday in bringing down the marvellous concert party who are playing at your carnival.

I might say that this concert party is the talk of the camp to-day and you have no conception just what it actually meant to the troops to be entertained in this manner.

The local talent from Timmins, singers and dancers, were excellent, and we will be looking forward in the future to having them back here again.

In having Lee and Sandra and Pat Bailey come down was certainly a wonderful move. Their own natural make-up was unaffected and so true that they appealed to everybody in the camp. They are truly three young, very talented Canadians and their unaffected and natural manner, to say nothing of their performance, is an inspiration to all young Canadians.

I wish you would convey the thanks of the whole camp to all of the party as it was, to say the least, greatly appreciated, and it will be a long time before the men forget the wonderful entertainment put on for them by this group.

Yours Sincerely,
R. Hamilton Bliss, Colonel,
Camp Commandant, Monteith,
Monteith, June 24th, 1943

Mr. Les Nicholson,
President Branch 88,
Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L.,
Timmins, Ont.

Dear Sir and Comrade: It gives me a great deal of pleasure to write and express the appreciation of myself and all the men in Camp for the wonderful show your branch presented to us on Wednesday, June 23rd.

The artists were of the highest order and a very fine treat for us who are in camp all the time.

It is such actions as yours that make the work the men are doing more bearable, and their time more pleasant.

I also thank you on behalf of the Canadian Legion War Services, as it is such co-operation as this that enables us to do a real job, and at the same time boost our organization.

This is not the first time that your Branch has favoured us, as we have received books and our billiard cues were re-tipped for us; our men receive a warm welcome to the club rooms when in Timmins; so we feel that we have real friends in Timmins.

THE HAT TRICK

The news wire this week carried a story of a Richmond, Va., hotel manager who thought he had seen all the tricks of souvenir hunters until a woman, unable to secure a wicker bread basket in her handbag, perched it on her head and walked out of the hotel dining room.

"And she almost got away with it," the manager was quoted as saying. "Women's hats are so crazy." — Edmonton Journal.

NORTH BAY REAL ESTATE

A man consulting a North Bay real estate agent for a write-up of the property he wanted to sell.

When the agent submitted his description of the property, the owner exclaimed: "Read that again."

After the second reading the owner said: "I don't think I'll sell. Been looking for that kind of place all my life, but until you read the description I didn't know I had it." — North Bay Nugget.

Midland Free Press Herald:— One cannot look a pig in the face these days without lifting his hat. The other day a gentleman porker was sold for $77.58 at Meaford. He weighed 640 pounds alive and dressed 526 pounds of pork. What one of us humans would bring that much on the hoof?

WELL, WHY NOT?

Boss (to applicant for job): "Aren't you the fellow we fired yesterday?" "That's right," replied the job seeker. "In that case," queried the other, "why do you come in here looking for a job?" "Why not?" demanded the applicant. "I lost it here, didn't I?" — North Bay Nugget.

HOUSING PROBLEM

Housing problem reported from the district last Tuesday: "Our hardware merchant was awakened at 6 o'clock the other morning by a customer who wanted to buy some wire. He wanted to tie his cabin to a tree to keep it from floating away on the flood waters." — Sudbury Star.
