Brunette Knows Your Problems

Miners! Farmers! Lumber Workers! Businessmen!

MINERS!

Mayor Brunette understands the outlook and the problems of the men who work in the North's mines. He was a miner himself shortly after coming to Timmins, working at the Hollinger both underground and on the surface. With that background he is a better miners' representative than a professional man.

J. Emile Brunette

LUMBER WORKERS!

Mayor Brunette's first job on coming to the North 23 years ago was as a worker in a shanty. He has skidded logs, chopped trees and wrestled timber. He understands the problems facing the workmen in this important Northern industry. In the Legislature he will know what he is talking about when he discusses these problems.

FARMERS!

"I haven't forgotten how to hitch up a team of horses," Mayor Brunette told his supporters at the nomination meeting last week. The Timmins mayor was born on a farm, understands farming and understands what Northern farmers want. He was chiefly responsible for the establishment and improvement of the farmers' market in Timmins. There will be more benefits for the farmers when he is at Toronto.

BUSINESSMEN!

Formerly the owner of one of the North's most successful taxi firms and later owner of a garage and auto sales business, Mr. Brunette is qualified too as the representative of Northern businessmen. He is a believer in private enterprise, the right of the man with initiative and ambition to take advantage of honest opportunity.
