

Dropped Between Stitches

By Phyllis

The Miss Canada young ladies are to be congratulated on attaining such a wonderful success last week, having filled one Depth Charge Sheet, in the "Stamp Out The U-Boat" campaign, the first one to be filled in this district since the commencement of the campaign. . . Mrs. W. A. Devine, who is in charge of these young ladies, is the lucky possessor of a letter from the National War Finance Committee, in which is stated the thanks of the Committee to the ladies on their diligent and faithful work in the selling of the War Savings Stamps. . . Only 25 Depth Charge Sheets are asked to be filled from this district, and all are asked to contribute their bit toward this worthy effort.

Our congratulations go to one of the loveliest brides to be seen and that was Marjorie Dalgarno on Monday when she became married to Russell Bentley. Both of them were very well known here in Timmings. . . Marjorie in her wide circle of friends, and Russ in his wide circle of friends and. . . hockey fans. The day of the wedding was bright and sunny (which is always a good sign) and the bride looked radiant in her pastel dress, subtly blended with the flowers with and about her. . . The couple are at present honeymooning down south for a time, after which Marjorie will be back with us. . . only as Mrs. Bentley now.

Even though we were denied the privilege of seeing Miss McLaughlin's wedding we can well imagine how beautiful it must have been from the descriptions given to us in the Toronto papers. . . St. Michael's Cathedral is magnificent at any time but with its altar banked with exquisite wedding bouquets, no setting could be more ideal. . . The Timmings High School was really very well represented too, for besides the bride and groom, there was Mr. Hartman taking an active part in the ceremony, and two others of the guests. — Miss Cunningham and Miss Unger.

There was quite a delightful reunion between two old Timmings friends in Bermuda not so very long ago. . . it all came about as a complete and quite amazing surprise when Art Ryan, now of the Civilian Service of the R.A.F. Transport Division, was part of the crew who had arrived on a trip stopping at Bermuda, and was just taking in a bit of the new country, when he saw a familiar face in this strange land. . . It was that of Joan Clemens, now nursing in Bermuda, but formerly of the Northland. . . Mr. and Mrs. Art Ryan were once of Timmings too but are now resident in Lachine, Que. . . Coincidence, don't you think?

Speaking of reunions there was one in North Africa too not so very long ago. . . It seems that in every town there is one place "where the gang all go" and in this case it was a little handy store that brought two boys together who might otherwise never have met. . . The Air Men in question were Babe Everard and Bob Campbell. . . Bob was reading aloud a few sentences from a letter he had received from an uncle of his who is from Timmings and the excerpts he had chosen referred to Andy's little store in question. . . a place the writer had frequented for years too. Babe on hearing this immediately spoke up and so it was like two old friends being united again which goes to show you that the world isn't such a big place after all.

Mrs. J. McChesney of Timmings, is one of the proudest mothers in town now. . . She has a new daughter-in-law, the wife of her son, Sapper Bruce McChesney, R.C.E. . . They were married in England on Tuesday, June 15th, at Ashford. . . The bride is the former Olive Bessie Gertrude Barton, and is a member of the women's division of the R.A.F. . . She wore the traditional white, and was attended by three bridesmaids, and two flower girls. . . Mrs. McChesney, the groom's mother, was the recipient of the complete details last week, including a sample of the materials of all the gowns. . . Not to mention a large piece of wedding cake sent over by the couple. . . and which can be vouchered for by yours truly. . . Sincere congratulations are in order for the groom on his good fortune, and the best of wishes are extended to the bride.

June is traditionally the month for brides but this year July seems to be outdoing its neighbour. . . It's not even a week hence that Miss Audrey Van Rassel and Mr. Charles Belec will take that all important step, July the 26th is the date set. . . Charles is employed at the Eldorado Mines, North West Territories, and after the wedding he will return to his position accompanied by Audrey. . . Say isn't that were they have all the Mounties. . . Wonder if Audrey wants any extra travelling companions. . .

Another bride of this month is Myrtle Knell whose all important day is a week from this Saturday in St. Mathew's Church. . . Myrtle was honoured at a grand shower last week with games, prizes and sing-songs, to say nothing of the beautiful comforter she received from her friends at the end of the evening. . . She is to marry Mr. James W. Morrow and we wish them both luck and happiness.

The Red Cross rooms had seven brand new volunteers on Wednesday morning, and every one of them working as diligently as though she had been at that very kind of work for years. . . At twelve o'clock anyone might have wondered what all the little we girls were doing coming out of the post office building, coming out quite reluctantly too, asking over their shoulders when it was they could come back again. . . The most amazing part about it was the fact that they were all such little girls, just between the ages of nine and thirteen, and as they folded each compress they were both conscientious and exact, and their enthusiasm in their work seemed boundless, such patriotism is really worthy of mention and the little girls, working under the patient and generous guidance of Mrs. J. McChesney and Mrs. Baxter were:— Miss Madeleine Weir, Ida Baxter, Kathleen Phizackles, Norma Bailey, Joanne Andrews, Betty McChesney, and Georgina Mullens.

Further mention must be made in favour of the Intercollegiate Dance to be held to-morrow night at the McIntyre. . . It's the seventh annual one held and if it is anything like the ones of other years and there is no reason why it shouldn't be, everyone will be present and having a wonderful time. . . If you haven't as yet obtained your ticket there are still a few left and they will entice you to a zowie of a time and having that assured there is nothing else but getting dressed and coming. . . From then on you'll be right in the "spirit" of things.

Here is something of interest, most especially if it turns out to be a nice day to-morrow, and it's for the lady golfers. . . A field day. . . It starts in the morning about ten o'clock and at noon luncheon will be served in the clubhouse. For great enthusiasts there will be golfing in the afternoon too. All members wishing to take part in the field day should notify the stewardess at the clubhouse or else have their names put on the list for the occasion.

Just a little reminder to the members of the Ladies' Guild of St. Matthew's Church that there is to be a work meeting on Friday evening, July 23rd, at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. F. Melville, 7 Borden Ave.

A popular young bride-to-be who is having much entertaining done in her behalf is Miss Helen Andruchuck who is to be married on August 2nd to P.O. Bill West at the Presbyterian Church. There have been two grand showers in her behalf this week at the homes of Mrs. G. Varteniuk and Mrs. J. Cowan, where everyone had a grand time and the guest of honour received many lovely gifts.

Our congratulations go out to Ruth McDonald and Earl Cavanagh who on Saturday last in St. John's Rectory, Hamilton, became Mr. and Mrs. . . Both were popular young residents of the North for many years and have a wide circle of friends here. . . We hope they both come back and see us again in the near future.

Lovely Wedding in Hamilton of Great Interest to Many Former Timmings Couple, Miss R. McDonald and Aircraftsman E. Cavanagh, are Married.

St. John's Rectory in Hamilton was the scene of a pretty summer wedding on Saturday, July 17th at 12:15 p.m., when Katherine Ruth McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. McDonald, John Ave., Timmings, became the bride of Aircraftsman Earl W. Cavanagh, son of Mr. Melvin Cavanagh, of Windsor, and the late Mrs. Cavanagh. Father Thomas B. Traynor officiated.

Gowned in a white, lace-bodiced gown with sweetheart neckline, short sleeves, and a full bouffant skirt, the bride was given in marriage by Mr. E. B. Loney. From the little halo of shirred net, fell her finger-tip veil and she wore lace gloves and carried a cascade of Talisman roses. Mrs. Len Godin attended her sister in a gown of King's blue net, with matching crown and shoulder-length veil. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. Mr. Leonard Godin was groomsmen. A wedding breakfast was held in the Crystal Room of the Pines in Hamilton, and the reception was held at the home of Mrs. Godin. For the wedding trip to Port Dover and other southern points, the bride donned a creamy wool suit with pink accessories. She wore a corsage of sweetheart roses and sweetpeas. Out of town guests present at the wedding were: Mrs. E. J. McDonald mother of the bride, Mrs. Ted Towers, Timmings; Mrs. Melvin Cavanagh, Windsor; Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Loney, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. John Tiffany, Toronto, and Second Lieut. Geo. Percival, Brockville.

Second Shower This Week in Honour of Miss H. Andruchuck

Last evening, the home of Mrs. Jas. Cowan was the scene of another shower in honour of Miss Helen Andruchuck. It was held by the joint hostesses, Misses Laura Varteniuk and Mae West. There were many guests present and the evening was spent hilariously with games of all sorts. They began with a nice quiet guessing game like "Who am I," and then progressed to bingo, but after that things were harder to control especially when the guests were
